Fire Season Cut Lightest Yet

VICTORIA (CP)—This year's official fire season, the lightest in B.C.'s history, has been cut short one month and will end Sept. 30, forestry officials announced on Monday.

Moist summer conditions throughout the province have made the forests relatively fire proof and the extended fire season is unnecessary.

The end of the fire season means that no camp fire or burning permits will be necessary after the end of this month.

Forestry officials say that up to Sept. 24 there had been only 753 forest fires in B.C., none serious and about half as many as usual.

Cost of fire-fighting was $38,509 this year, compared to $197,725 in 1953 and nearly $600,000 in 1952.
