Wing Tip, Oil Slick Only Clues To Jet Plane Lost From Comox

8,000 Square Miles Covered in Search

VANCOUVER (CP)—What appeared to be the wing-tip of a plane jutting up out of the water near Willow Point, about 10 miles from Campbell River and an oil slick not far from Powell River across the Strait of Georgia from Vancouver Island were the only two clues discovered today by an air and sea armada seeking a T-33 jet trainer with two men aboard missing since yesterday morning.

The two signs were still being investigated this afternoon as 14 aircraft took off at dawn in an attempt to blanket the area 100 miles northwest of Vancouver where it is believed that the plane went down.

Since this morning the searching planes had covered 8,000 square miles of the area between Vancouver Island and the British Columbia mainland.

The RCAF's No. 121 Search and Rescue Squadron at nearby Sea Island sent four Canso amphibians, two Expediter reconnaisance planes, one single-engined Otter and a helicopter.

The air force base at Comox, on Vancouver Island, contributed six aircraft, four-engined Lancasters. It was from the Comox base that FO G. S. Stubbs and FO J. E. Miller took off in their two-seater jet early Thursday on a training mission.

REPORT HEARING CRASH

The tug Salvage Queen and the towboat Hecate Strait reported a low-flying jet in the area about noon. Then they heard a crash in the fog.

Two Lancasters from Comox patrolled the Georgia strait area throughout the night, looking for flares or other traces of the plane and fliers.

An RCAF spokesman said the helicopter should be particularly useful in today's search.

"If the plane is down on land, then the helicopter would be the most likely to spot it, since it can go in close," he said.

It was not known whether the plane crashed on land or water. The area is heavily spotted with islands. The search is centred in the area of Cortez and Raza islands.

FO Stubbs was originally from Winnipeg and FO Miller from Victoria, but both were married and living at Comox.

In addition to aircraft, two government vessels—the HMCS Cedarwood and the transport department tender Ehkolt—patrolled the waters of the strait. Other non-government craft were expected to join in today.

Cassiar Road Job Halted

Further Work To Await Survey

VICTORIA (CP)— The provincial government has decided to halt all construction work on the controversial Stewart-Cassiar road this year.

The decision was made pending a thorough engineering survey of the proposed 350-mile route and a decision by the cabinet on whether the road will be built to arterial standards or left as a mining access road.

Charges that construction of the road in the northwestern corner of B.C. had been marked by waste of public funds, political patronage and mismanagement raised a storm during the recent legislature session.

Mines minister Kiernan Thursday made these disclosures:

● The present contractors, Wade and Wells Ltd. of Trail, have been informed their contract will not be renewed this year.

● Three firms who bid for the construction of 30 miles of the road along Dease lake have been told their tenders were not accepted.

● Only money to be spent on the road this year will go for detailed engineering surveys.

If it is decided to build the road to arterial standards, an appropriation of $2,000,000 a year will be needed for the next five years.

Heroic Eskimo Youth Meets Governor-General

FROBISHER BAY, Baffin Island — A 17-year-old Eskimo youth who braved Arctic blizzards to save a starving family of five was presented to Governor-General Vincent Massey Thursday.

The tough Illywalloo was one of the patients in a government hospital which the governor-general visited on his northern tour.

Mr. Massey moves on today to Hall Lake, on the northernmost tip of the Canadian mainland north of Hudson Bay. He arrived at Frobisher Bay, 1,200 miles north of Montreal, Tuesday on his 17-day 10,000-mile tour of the Arctic that will take him over the North Pole and to other spots never before visited by a governor-general.

SUFFERED FROSTBITE

Young Illywalloo appeared in excellent spirits despite a case of frostbite he suffered during his ordeal. He was accompanying the afflicted family on a dog-sled trek when they ran out of food and spent seven days without provisions or fire.

Illywalloo, the strongest of the little party, struggled through sub-zero storms until he was sighted last week by an Eskimo hunter from Frobisher Bay.

Nearing collapse, he was taken to the hospital here and the United States Air Force sent a helicopter to rescue his companions at the request of the RCAF.

Illywalloo and his companions, who are residents of Lake Harbour, Baffin Island, had been in hospital nearly a week and appeared completely recovered from their ordeal when the governor-general visited them.

The hospital visit was one of the governor-general's stops in an extremely busy day climaxed by attendance at an Eskimo dance held in a garage workshop.

Earlier he visited a new school where Eskimo children ranging from seven to 15 years of age were learning English under the tutelage of William H. Van Sickle of the education division of the Canadian department of northern affairs.

Mr. Massey chatted with the Eskimo small fry about their role as Canadians in a newly-appreciated region, his words being translated by an Eskimo interpreter.

The governor-general also visited a Hudson's Bay Company trading post where he was presented with a miniature of a dog team and driver fashioned in ivory by a native craftsman. Numerous exhibits of Eskimo art were displayed, ingenious artistic interpretations of Arctic animals and birds, fashioned from soapstone, serpentine and the tusks of walrus and narwhals.

Frobisher Surveys Start in May

VICTORIA — Detailed engineering surveys of the Nass river to clear the way for a $50,000,000 power project on the river will start in May.

Government officials have disclosed that Northwest Power Industries Limited will launch the program of "definitive studies" of the river's power potential with a view to establishing the huge project.

This company, connected with Ventures Limited, Frobishers and Quebec Metallurgical Industries is concentrating on the Nass as an alternative to its proposed $270,000,000 project on the Taku and Yukon rivers, farther north.

While surveys on the Taku and Yukon project will continue this year also, priority is being given the smaller Nass development. It is anticipated the Nass project will be the first step in the long-range plans to develop power in northwestern B.C.

Navy Vessels Visiting Here

Three ships of the Second Canadian Minesweeping Squadron arrived in Prince Rupert this morning and berthed at the southwest end of the Canadian National Steamship dock.

The vessels, HMCS Comox, commanded by Lt. Cmdr. C. G. Smith, RCN, HMCS James Bay, commanded by Lt. Cmdr. J. J. Coates, RCN and HMCS Fortune, commanded by Lt. Cmdr. P. P. Hinton, RCN are here in the course of an operational training cruise.

Union to Fight Appeal On Guards' Certification

An appeal against the certification granted Local 708 of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers (AFL-TLC) for the guards and watchmen employed at Watson Island has been launched by Columbia Cellulose Company, a union spokesman said this morning.

A hearing has been called by the provincial Labor Relations Board to hear both company and union arguments on the appeal.

E. P. O'Neal, president and Angus Macphee, financial secretary of the pulpworkers' local were delegated at a meeting of 275 to appear before the LRB to defend the guards' certification.

Date of the appeal hearing is not definitely known to the union, Mr. Macphee said today. Original communication from the labor department specified March 27. However, Mr. Macphee said, he understood the company had been informed by their solicitors that the hearing had been postponed until April 16. The union has had no further word from the labor department, he added.

In other business Wednesday, the meeting reaffirmed its patronage of the Civic Centre for the coming year and accepted a report on jurisdictional lines of demarcation covering extensive construction work which is scheduled for the Watson Island plant this summer.

Firemen, City Settlement Almost Certain

Agreement between city firemen and the city council on a 1956 contract appeared virtually assured today with the announcement that the fire fighters, members of the International Association of Fire Fighters, Local 559 had accepted a conciliation offer proposed by Robert L. Forgie, provincial labor relations officer.

The 10-man union was notified through its International secretary, Hector Wright that Mr. Forgie had suggested a 2 per cent across-the-board wage increase and $2.50 per off-shift call out as the main basis of settlement.

The offer was originally proposed by the city to the provincial conciliator as a basis of reaching a settlement without going to arbitration.

Also included in the offer is that the rest of the 1955 contract remain in force.

A meeting of the city's council wage committee approved the suggested settlement this morning, assuring almost certain passage when the proposal comes before city council Monday.

Wage increases will range from $6.70 for first-class firemen down to $6 for first-year men per month. Cost of the increase to the city for the year is $700.

A. D. Ritchie New President Of Rotarians

A. Don Ritchie will head the Prince Rupert Rotary Club for the 1956-57 term following the annual election of officers yesterday at the group's weekly luncheon meeting.

Other officers named for the coming year were Ken A. McIntosh, secretary; A. L. Bell, treasurer and Peter Bird, Jack Mussallem and Earl Becker, directors.

The meeting heard A. Bruce Brown, Prince Rupert MLA, outline highlights of the recent session of the Legislature.

Introduced were visiting Rotarian James Wood of Burns Lake and Roger Bell of Stewart.

Accepted with regret by retiring president T. Norton Youngs was the resignation of D. C. Stevenson, Prince Rupert General Hospital administrator who has accepted a similar post in Trail.

Boy's Condition Said Excellent

Condition of a Prince Rupert youngster who fell and fractured his skull while playing "cops-and-robbers" Wednesday was described today as "excellent."

In hospital with a lacerated scalp, concussion and a skull fracture is George Jansen, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Jansen, 215 Sixth Avenue East.

He is reported to have fallen from a wall Wednesday evening while on playing and was taken to hospital at 7:15 pm.

WOMAN FINED

MISSION — A woman was fined $10 Wednesday when convicted of letting two of her cattle starve to death. Mrs. Beatrice Stewart of Mission pleaded not guilty to a charge of cruelty to animals laid by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Minister to Continue Anti-Segregation Fight

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — A young Negro Baptist minister vowed he will continue his fight against segregation no matter how many times "they put me in jail" after he was convicted of violating an Alabama anti-boycott law.

Rev. Martin Luther King was convicted Thursday of violating the boycott law and fined $500. Thursday night the 27-year-old Baptist pastor addressed a mass meeting to continue his fight for "justice and equality" and to keep up his leading role in the protest movement.

King has been prominent in the months-long campaign against segregation practiced on city buses. He was convicted on a charge he organized a boycott by Negroes of the city bus system.

The bus company and King were expected to appeal the latest decision.

FOOD FOR HUNGARY

LONDON (AP) — The Canadian Red Cross announced Thursday an airlift of food donation worth $1,000,000 for 300,000 refugees in Hungary. A shipment of 31 cases, including 1,012 cans of meat, was to be airlifted to stricken areas in the Danube River Danube basin. The British Red Cross had [illegible] served notice of an appeal. The lawyers said they would take the appeal all the way to the United States Supreme Court if necessary in another test of segregation laws in the southern states.

Pastor King told his Negro audience that "freedom doesn't come on a silver platter."

"GROWING PAINS"

"Some of the things we have to go through are a necessary part of our campaign. There can never be growth without growing pains."

He was given an ovation.

In addition to the $500 fine, King was charged with court costs of approximately $500. This was converted into a jail sentence totalling about 386 days, since he chose to appeal rather than pay the money. He is free on bail meanwhile.

King, together with 39 other Negro leaders still awaiting trial on similar charges, had exercised his right to a jury trial.

The conviction was announced by Judge Eugene Carter at the end of a four-day trial. The state then agreed to postpone the trials of the other defendants pending King's appeal.

Local CWAC Corps Praised By Visiting Battery Officer

The Canadian Women's Army Corps attached to the 120th troop of the 5th West Coast Harbor Defence Battery, RCA, (M), was praised last night after an inspection by a visiting CWAC officer from battery headquarters in Victoria.

"I was most pleased with the appearance and enthusiasm shown by the 120th CWAC troop tonight," Capt. Doris Chudleigh, of Victoria said last night after inspecting the local CWACs and taking the salute at the march past in the city Armories. Capt. Chudleigh is visiting the local CWAC unit in company with CWAC training NCO Sgt. Geraldine Mumford from 5th West Coast Harbor Defence Battery headquarters in Bay Street Armories, Victoria.

Preparations and plans were initiated last night for members of the CWAC troop, which paraded under Sgt. Mae Eare, to attend CWAC summer camp at Mary Hill, Vancouver Island from June 18 to July 1.

Tonight Capt. Chudleigh and Sgt. Mumford will meet with the CWAC troop to discuss summer camp routines and CWAC training. Tomorrow the two officers leave for Terrace.

Today Capt. Chudleigh and Sgt. Mumford were taken on a tour of the Columbia Cellulose Company plant at Watson Island, through the courtesy of Capt. R. O. Evans, officer commanding the 120th troop of the 5th West Coast Harbor Defence Bty. RCA (M).

In 1943 Capt. Chudleigh served in the CWAC in Prince Rupert as Lt. Doris Lea, officer in command of CWAC personnel here.

WEATHER

Gale warning continued. Cloudy today and Saturday with a few afternoon sunny periods. Showers today. Rain Saturday morning becoming showers in the afternoon. Little change in temperature. Winds southwest 30 becoming southeast 40 early Saturday morning shifting to southwest 30 again about noon Saturday. The low tonight and high Saturday at Port Hardy 35 and 42, Sandspit and Prince Rupert 32 and 42.

TAIPEI, Formosa — Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, wife of the Chinese Nationalist president, celebrated her 55th birthday today.

FREED POLICEMEN TO BE GIVEN "IMMEDIATE REINSTATEMENT"

VANCOUVER — Three police officers, freed on a charge of assaulting a prisoner, will be "immediately reinstated" to full duty on the force, Mayor Fred Hume said Thursday.

Mayor Hume made the statement following a special meeting of the police commission to hear a "confidential report" on the case from city prosecutor Stewart McMorran.

Earlier, Magistrate Thomas Dohm dismissed a charge of assault laid against constable Peter C. Blaker, John M. Irwin and Gordon W. Corson by Gleniston R. Vegler, 43.

Vegler had alleged the three officers assaulted him in the city last December.

Magistrate Dohm said Vegler "either lied or was mistaken" in his testimony. Evidence given by rookie Constable D. C. Trehearne, who said he witnessed the attack, was discounted by the magistrate, who said the officer was "prone to exaggerate."

Mayor Hume said all three will be given back duties outside the sub. They were automatically suspended from duty when the assault charge was laid.

Reds Active in Armed Services Alsbury Tells RCAF Personnel

VANCOUVER — Labor Leader Tom Alsbury told an audience of RCAF personnel here Thursday night that Communists are carrying on subversive activities within the Canadian armed forces "at this very moment."

Mr. Alsbury, president of Vancouver Trades and Labor Council (TLC) and principal of Fairview High School of Commerce, was speaking at Sea Island RCAF station. He said:

"Communists carried on subversive activities in the Canadian army in the Second World War. Of that we have ample proof. And they are doing it this very minute."

The man who has several times come close to being Vancouver's mayor on a CCF ticket, said "It is later than we think with half of Europe, much of Asia . . . about 1,000,000,000 people — already behind the Iron Curtain."

"Communists infiltrate the armed services as well as unions and other groups.

"If war or some other national emergency comes, the Reds are ready to fight on two major fronts — military and industrial.

"The Reds have penetrated the Canadian armed service forces where party members are already in uniform, taking instructions directly from the party and reporting secretly their progress and successes."

Mr. Alsbury said these were not merely his opinions, but could be verified in official records. He said the Reds "constantly seek by subtle methods to spread disaffection in the armed forces, to break down morale and to turn the service men against their own country."

Pakistan Republic

KARACHI (AP) — Pakistan today formally became a republic within the British Commonwealth, amid joyful prayer and glittering ceremony.

Henceforth the Asian state of 80,000,000 people — 85 per cent of them Moslem — will be known as the Islamic Republic of Pakistan. Like India, it does not pay allegiance to the crown but accepts it as the symbol of its "free association" with the other Commonwealth members.
