Terrace

will will have a staff of nine and revenue this year was $35,000."

He said there was every indication that business would continue to expand as had the service, culminating in its present daily direct airmail service.

L. E. Pruden, president of the Chamber of Commerce said the new federal building was "one more milestone in the progress of the community." He said a lot had happened to Terrace since the "old" post office had been built five years ago. The new building was culmination of a lot of hard work on the part of the Chamber of Commerce and others. He wished the staff success in its new quarters.

Richard Toynbee, president of the Terrace Junior Chamber of Commerce congratulated all those who had a part in working towards getting the new federal building and those who had built it.

He said the new structure was the "most solid, permanent building in the community and situated where it was, a block off the main street, it should inspire confidence and encourage broadening of the business area."

The new $167,676 building was the work of C. J. Oliver Construction Company of Vancouver with Michael Pridie of Vancouver as superintendent on the job. Supervisor for the contractor was Ralph Cole and James Martin, clerk of works for the federal Department of Public Works was inspector.

Sub-contractors on the construction job were Davy's Plumbing and Heating and Houle Electric, both of Terrace.

Built on five lots the new building is 79½ feet by 65½ feet. It is one storey with a half basement containing an automatic stoker furnace.

Of Roman brick on the outside, the interior woodwork is of walnut and birch. The 16 foot bp 38 foot lobby is tiled in granite chips and the walls mosaic tiles. The night lobby which contains the post office mail boxes is roughly 22 feet by 9. Behind the counter there is 65 feet by 40 feet of working space including the post-master's office.

Postmaster is Philip L. Watson, who arrived in Terrace to take over at the old post office in June, 1956. His staff includes senior assistant Geraldine McDonald; Mrs. Allene Seaton, Mrs. R. Wold, Mrs. G. La Belle, Mrs. H. Shevalier, Miss Yvonne Wiley, Mrs. J. Perry and Mrs. R. Chandler.

"We expect to move into the new building within the next two weeks," Mr. Watson, formerly of Salt Spring Island said. "It will probably be on a Sunday."

Special guests at the opening of the new building were Norman Kilpatrick, postmaster of Smithers and Mrs. Kilpatrick and William McKenna, postmaster at Burns Lake.

Mr. McKenna was acting postmaster at Terrace from September, 1955, when Terrace postmaster S. N. G. Kirklady retired until June, 1956, when Mr. Watson arrived.

"I came for a month and stayed eight," Mr. McKenna said.

Standing guard during the ceremony were two members of the Terrace RCMP detachment, Constables J. I. Collar and P. L. Guinevan.

Shaking hands with the two constables, Minister of Defence Pearkes said:

"I'm always glad to see members of "the force" on the job. I used to be in it myself, you know." The former general joined the RCMP in 1908 before beginning his military career which began in 1914 and lasted until 1945.

Accompanying Mr. Pearkes were Lieut. General Chris Vokes, and A. deB McPhillips, member for Victoria.

Following the opening of the building about 200 persons who had attended the ceremony, followed Mr. Pearkes and his party through the building.

Master of ceremonies for the opening ceremonies was Reginald Bickford, district architect for the federal department of public works.

Shown here during flight tests out of the Canadair plant near Montreal is the second prototype of the giant sub hunter and killer. With a range of more than 4,000 miles and the latest electronic detection gear, the Argus is rated among the best of its type in the world today. It was developed for the RCAF from the Bristol Britannia. (National Defence Photo)

BERMUDA HORSE LAUGH? Not really. The pretty lady isn't a bit perturbed to discover a hat exactly like her own. And old dobbin doesn't seem to mind at all that his smart bonnet has no blue ribbons attached. This may be a simple case of "horsing around". But there's no kidding about the fact that this type of straw chapeau is the height of fashion in this mid-Atlantic resort.
