Beginners art classes to start next Monday

An active year was indicated Monday night when the Prince Rupert Art club welcomed several new members at its regular meeting held in the Civic Centre common lounge.

High on the business agenda was the announcement that the regular instruction classes for beginners will begin next Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Civic Centre.

In other items, Mrs. J. K. Shaw, exhibition convener, reported that the B.C. Society of Artists Exhibition has arrived and was hung in the Booth Memorial High school activity room today for the benefit of the students.

The public showing will be early in November when Robin Pierce, art director of the University of British Columbia extension department, will act as narrator.

The meeting was chaired by president Mrs. T. M. Christie and Mrs. J. E. Dowdie recorded while Michael Marik, treasurer presented a financial report.

Following the session Fred Owen, arts and crafts director at the Centre, showed two films depicting mural and picture making by teenagers.

PICTURE LOAN

It was reported that there are still 25 outstanding paintings hung in the lobby of the Civic Centre which are available to persons wishing to loan them for one month through the Prince Rupert Picture Loan club.

Persons wishing to secure one of the paintings may do so by calling Mrs. J. T. Harvey at 2889 for delivery.

Mrs. Harvey said that a large serigraph, "The Impending Storm" just received from Orville Fisher has been added to the selection.

"This is as familiar as it was a favorite picture in a Canadian Graphic Arts Exhibition that was hung in the high school here several years ago," Mrs. Harvey said.

The Bessie Fry Symons watercolors and linocuts have been sent to a Kitimat exhibition, but will be returned in November, it was reported.

Women of Moose News

Committee reports by the Women of the Moose Publicity, Mooseheart, Home Making and Childcare committee highlighted the Wednesday night regular session held last week in the Moose Temple.

Date of the annual banquet was changed to December 10.

Childcare chairman Mrs. Walter Lundrigan received six volunteers to assist in the October 31 children's Hallowe'en party.

Mooseheart day will be commemorated by a costume party October 24 for both men and women, which will be free to all members.

The lucky box draw was won by Mrs. Lewis Holder. Mrs. Pilfold won the night's prize.
