ENGLISH CASH WILL CONTINUE TO BE INVESTED IN CANADA

SIR JAMES KNOWLES SAYS THE DOMINION WILL HAVE NO TROUBLE RAISING NECESSARY FUNDS FOR HER DEVELOPMENT

London, July 8.—In view of the recent criticism it is significant that in today's Statist, the leading financial review, appears an article covering several columns dealing with Canada's financial standing. It is understood that the writer is Sir James Knowles, editor of the Statist. He points out that Canada's heavy borrowings mostly have been for what may be termed foundation purposes, such as building main lines of railways:

"It has been pointed out," the writer continues, "that the weakest spot in the financial situation in Canada lies in borrowings by small municipalities. Doubtless these borrowings will ultimately prove of great advantage but it would certainly have been wiser for the small municipalities to have waited and as it were have muddled along with any heavy burden of interest until they were in a position to borrow without any embarrassment. But even municipalities which have borrowed larger sums than their rateable value in a period of depression may warrant, may succeed in getting through without any serious difficulties. In gauging the strength of these small municipalities it should not be forgotten that the Canadian government is alive to the necessity of assisting in the protection of the credit of the country wherever it may seem in need of such assistance."

In proof of this contention the writer quotes the guaranteeing the mortgages of th e Grand Trunk Pacific and Canadian Northern Railways.

When Summer Stops the Swing

Most of us can remember the school lesson in the law of accumulated motion—momentum.

If you exert a pound of pressure against a man in a swing, you'll start him moving slowly "to and fro." If you continue to exert a pound of pressure against him every time the swing makes a trip, you'll soon have him going so high that he almost turns the whole circle. If you stop pushing, the momentum will die out and the swing come to rest at "dead centre."

Winning trade follows the same natural laws.

Advertisements are the force behind the swing of public favor. Each new advertisement increases the momentum. Finally, the accumulated force of these numerous impulses swings indifference to the buying point.

If you stop Advertising, you lose momentum.

The moral of which is:

Don't stop the business swing in Summer.

Keep adding the pounds of Advertising pressure.

Advice regarding your advertising problems is available through any recognized Canadian advertising agency, or the Secretary of the Canadian Press Association, Room 503 Lumsden Building, Toronto. Enquiry involves no obligation on your part—so write, if interested.
