BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

Slam Bid By Mr. Champion Looks Shakey, Made Easily

"Trapped," said Mr. Champion when he saw the dummy in today's deal. "You needle me into a small slam and when I bid it, you go on to seven."

"I've got a big hand," countered Miss Brash. "Maybe you shouldn't have jumped all the way to six spades. And besides you haven't been set yet."

"That's because I haven't even played to the first trick yet," Mr. Champion growled.

It did, indeed, look like the chances were slim. There would have to be a lucky break in the trump suit, with four trumps outstanding, including the queen and jack. And even if the trumps were 2-2 it appeared that a 4-1 heart break would wreck the hand.

The bidding:

1 ♦	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	6 ♠	Pass
7 ♠	All Pass

Mr. Champion got over the first hurdle by good luck and over the second by good play. He won the opening club lead with dummy's ace and discarded a small heart from his hand.

Now if he had taken two rounds of trumps and then depended on the hearts breaking 3-2, he would have lost his contract. Instead, he took precautions against the hearts breaking badly and as you see, that was necessary.

Beginning at trick two he cashed the ace of diamonds, led a small diamond and ruffed it. Then he cashed the king of spades and led a small spade to the ace. The 2-2 break kept his hopes alive. Next he led another small diamond from the board and ruffed it, noting that both opponents followed suit again.

Now he led a small heart to dummy's king, played the good king and nine of diamonds and got rid of two more hearts from his hand. He led to the ace of hearts and ruffed his last heart with dummy's last trump.

"Now," said Miss Brash, "don't you feel silly about criticizing my bidding when the hand was a laydown all the time?"

Water Safety Notes

By BILL KINCAID
Water Safety Instructor

This is another of a series of "Question and Answer" columns on the proposed Civic Centre indoor swimming pool. If readers have any questions regarding the Swimming Pool, they are asked to send them to the Daily News or telephone James Kilgour at 2135.
Daily News Correspondent

An enormous stack of lost and found articles has piled up at the Gyro swimming pool office. Parents are urged to tell their children to pick up their towels, shoes, watches etc., at the pool.

Children should leave their dogs and other pets at home or outside the pool. It would also be appreciated if calls in and out of the office could be kept to a minimum.

The additional burden for the staff of looking after these things takes up too much time that should be devoted to instructing and water safety.

Swimmers of all ages are making excellent progress. On Wednesday, 43 awards were issued, bringing the season total to 143. It is hoped that there will be at least 350 awards earned and given out by the end of the season.

For those who have passed all preliminary courses, water safety instruction classes will begin on Wednesday.

"Do Or Die" Ball Game Tonight

It will be a "do it or die" affair for the Esquires tonight when they battle Gordon and Anderson for their last chance to gain third spot in Prince Rupert and District baseball league and avoid meeting the feared Terrace Loggers in the semi-finals of the playoffs.

Officials of the baseball association decided at a specially convened meeting last night to give Esquires this chance of vacating the league cellar rather than play all the rained-out games after the regular schedule.

Present standings are:

	W	L	GL
Terrace	14	1	3
G & A	6	6	6
Hotelmen	6	10	2
Esquires	3	12	3

Mathematically, Esquires still have a chance to catch either Hotelmen or G & A. Since this possibility is almost neglegible, league commissioner Arthur Murray, secretary, Nick Pavliks and treasurer Alek Bill have decided in accordance with the Esquire management to match Esquires in a "last ditch stand" against Hotelmen. If Esquires lose, the playoffs will start Sunday with Esquires playing at Terrace and Hotelmen and G & A at Roosevelt Park in doubleheaders. Semi-finals are decided by two out of three wins, the final by three wins out of five games.

Should Esquires win tonight, all rained-out games will have to be played until Esquires are either out of contention for third place or catch up with another team.

The game tonight will start at 6:30 p.m. at Roosevelt Park.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Hitting: Stan Musial, Cardinals—Had a pair of two-run homers and two singles in four trips in 8-0 victory over Giants that hoisted Redbirds into first place.

Pitching: Sam Jones, Cardinals—Gained his second shutout with a six-hitter, walking only one and striking out four, in 8-0 victory over Giants.

PIPELINE'S PATH — This map shows the Westcoast Transmission Company's $170 million pipeline that will carry natural gas through 650 miles of rugged country from the Peace River area to Vancouver and other B.C. points. The line will link the Pacific Northwest Corporation pipeline, shown by the broken line. The circles show the El Paso Natural Gas Company's territory. Through these lines, Canadian natural gas will be available for expanding U.S. markets. (CP Photo)
