FIRE ALARM

Instead of the museum, he said, City Council should have made a new sewage system its Centennial project.

Michael Krueger and Dr. W. B. Laing, Medical Health officer, also spoke, and impressed the need for a new sewer system.

All the candidates, with the exception of Alderman-elect Hills, urged taxpayers to vote for the money bylaws.

Mr. Carlson, replying to a question from David Yule, said he thought the firehall bylaw was the least necessary of the three.

None of the other candidates answered Mr. Yule's question.

GERMAN CARS

BONN (Reuters)—West Germany had 56 cars for every 1,000 inhabitants this year, compared with 49 a year previously. The total number of cars increased by about 500,000 to 2,813,000. Almost 60 per cent of all cars registered were made between 1955 and 1958.

Increase in unemployed not as bad as it sounds

Although the number of unemployed increased by more than 800 during the month of November, it is not expected that the employment situation will be tougher than last winter, Gordon Simpson, manager of the local branch of the National Employment Service, reported today.

Mr. Simpson said that there were 857 unemployed registered in November boosting the total amount of claimants to 2,236.

The 2,236 is an increase of 285 over the same period last year which was 1,951.

Mr. Simpson said that the increase over last year is attributed to the fact that seasonal benefit claims are being processed earlier this year.

"It is not considered an indication that the unemployment situation will be worse than it was last winter," Mr. Simpson said.

Of the 2,236 unemployed, 1,662 are men and 574 are women workers. Approximately 925 of the total live in the city and for the most part are seasonally unemployed fishermen and fish plant workers.

Benefit payments to local claimants during the month of November totalled $29,325.

Mr. Simpson said "This figure does not give a true reflection of payment to such a group as a large number of local claimants were not actually in receipt of benefit either because their claims were made in the last week of the month or they only qualified for seasonal benefit which is not payable until December.

BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Players who consistently get off to poor opening leads probably do not pay enough attention to the bidding. If you fail to draw logical inferences from the bidding sequence, you are missing many clues to successful defense.

Opening lead: Nine of diamonds

Mr. Masters is the kind of player who weighs the significance of every bid he hears. He never makes a random, shot-in-the-dark type of opening lead. True, his choice is not always the best one because, admittedly, the element of luck does enter into the opening lead problem. Sometimes he is not trying to accomplish the right thing, but at least he is consciously and thoughtfully trying to accomplish something.

Let's follow his reasoning in today's deal. Obviously Mr. Abel had a long and pretty good diamond suit. He had bid diamonds twice but had shied away from no trump. Apparently he didn't have much strength in any other suit.

Mr. Masters

He had only reluctantly raised hearts and there was a slim chance that he had just two cards in that suit. The diamonds would provide discards for Miss Brash's losers unless dummy's entries could be removed early in the play. Now if dummy's entries were limited to the diamond suit itself . . .

With those thoughts in mind

The bidding:

SOUTH	WEST	NORTH	EAST
1 H	1 S	2 D	Pass
2 H	Pass	3 D	Pass
3 NT	Pass	4 H	All Pass

and with the comfortable feeling that Miss Brash couldn't run away with the hand since he himself had the ace of trumps, Mr. Masters opened the nine of diamonds.

This turned out to be a killer. Miss Brash won in her hand with the jack of diamonds and led a trump. Mr. Masters took the ace and fired another diamond. At this point the dummy was dead.

Miss Brash was not in a position to discard losers on the diamonds yet because she had no more diamonds in her hand. With any other opening lead she would have had no difficulty bringing in 10 tricks.

Dibb Printing Company in basement of the Besner block also suffered extensive water damage.

Three tenants on the ground floor of the Besner Block, Miss A. Barbeau, Mrs. R. Sargent and Hazel Burrell escaped shortly after the blaze started.

T. B. Black, manager of the Northern B.C. Power Company, said that three poles and the wires that were knocked down when the wooden cornice collapsed were going to be removed as they have not been in use for quite some time.

YOU AUTO KNOW!

By Art Murray

While this column is mostly about cars, today we'd like to know what you know about swimming pools.

We'd like to know if you've been believing all this stuff being printed recently about the hordes of men and machines that are at work rushing to completion our water playhouse. Do you really think the grand opening is going to take place early in 1959? Do you really think its not necessary for you to go down to help because you'd only be in the way of all those rushing men.

Well the naked truth today is we're just about out of the Swimming Pool business. Never in history has a swimming pool construction job gone more slowly—Not since the building of the Pyramids has men been required so urgently.

This week you will have a chance to win an attendance prize put up by the Automobile Dealers Assoc. of Prince Rupert which is comprised of McRae Motors, Bob Parker Ltd. and who else? $25.00 will be won by some lucky worker and all you have to do is work one evening to get your name in the barrel. Draw will take place each Saturday afternoon.

Besides labourers, pipefitters and steelmen are required at the moment so if your pipe wrench is getting ruty loosen it up and head for the swimming pool. Besides Dad, your children will enjoy saying "My Dad is working on the Swimming Pool."

When I mention Bob Parkers Ltd. and McRae Motors Ltd. in this column you surely must sense the urgency of this situation—only for such a worthy project would I use such language.

And don't forget while all this swimming pool talk goes on that we sell the famous PLYMOUTH for '59 here at RUPERT MOTORS and VOLKSWAGEN, the outstanding buy in the small car field.

Things to watch for dept.: Don't be surprised if Gordon Carlson, who seems to be publicity conscious enough to speak to the people through the press, is a strong vote catcher on Thursday.

And in sports this winter watch for Prince Rupert to be once again the top Basketball power in the north coast after a few poor seasons. And if Alex S. Bill, CYO Coach and city All Star coach of long standing takes our team north to any big Alaskan tournaments he'll come back as he was in the past, with silverware denoting championships.

And my predictions are that the sarcastic editorial of this paper printed yesterday and referring to the now controversial Sewer By-Law could mean the kiss of death to the great effort put out by advocates of the measure. Voters are strange people—they somehow don't like being called stupid for asking questions about where their money is going. Perhaps if some newspapermen took a whack at trying to be elected to something they might find out.

FLASH Elk's Bingo Cards are still available if your present one is giving you trouble and the Crippled Children can use the money.

So go to the polls tomorrow and do your best to elect the most able of the flock. Make sure they are strong of both limb and mind as the way things are shaping up around the village square they may find themselves digging sewers before their term of office is over. And if Mayor Peter Lester had been with us in Vancouver over the Grey Cup fracas he would have read the riot act fourteen times before midnite on the Friday—perhaps it might be an idea to send out correspondents south for the next mixup so that they may file some riot news and send it to us for a change. We're tired of supplying the stories.

Our latest offer on '59 PLYMOUTHS is a fully equipped 4 door sedan for $2795.00—Fully equipped means all the necessities and never mind how we can sell them so cheaply—let us do the worrying, we're specialists at it!

$2795.00 with no catch phrases—a brand new 1959 PLYMOUTH Sedan.

So we'll see you at the polls tomorrow and furthermore our car lot is right beside the Civic Centre. Why not drop in?

SEA FLOOR STUDY

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda reports a converted Soviet submarine will set out soon to check on fish life and other aspects of the ocean floor. It is equipped with searchlights, TV cameras and tubes for testing bottom sediment.
