Isolation

He said that the Wenner-Gren interests, who had already spent $8,000,000 in investigating the Rocky Mountain trench, would start work this fall on their program that would "electrify the province."

Development of power on the Peace River would allow for international negotiations on the downstream benefits on the Columbia River. In the meantime, cyclical storage would be provided by a 700-foot clay-filled dam in the Peace River canyon. The new site, chosen after the original Wicked River site had proved unsatisfactory, will mean rerouting the Pacific Great Eastern railway.

PGE REROUTED

Construction of the PGE was halted temporarily on its way to Fort St. John while engineers surveyed the Wicked River site for dam purposes. When drillings as deep as 80 feet proved the site unfeasible, the PGE was continued. Later the Wenner-Gren interests found what they believe to be a perfect dam site in the Peace River canyon to the east.

"This rerouting of the PGE will not cost us one cent, the Wenner-Gren interests will foot the bill," Mr. Williston said.

Mr. Williston said that the proposed dam, adjacent to Findley Forks, offers a key to B.C.'s power problem.

He said the potential 4,000,000 horse-power project would provide a firming agent, a balancing reservoir and permit the use of double the power estimated elsewhere in B.C.

No licence will be granted the Wenner-Gren interests until an agreement had ben drawn up to benefit the whole of the central interior.

"These people haven't got a water licence. They have an interim agreement. This fall you will see the start of a project that will electrify B.C.

"What's good for anyone, is good for all."

Two Hawks top dogs in scoring

MONTREAL (CP)—Two Chicago Black Hawks players who used different routes lead the National Hockey League scoring list with four points apiece after the first partial week of play.

Tod Sloan collected his points on four goal, and ranks ahead of Eddie Litzneberger who has four assists. Litzenberger finished the 1957-58 season in sixth place, Sloan in 37th.

Official NHL statistics were released today for the first time for the 1958-59 season, which opened Wednesday.

Gerry Toppazzini of Boston Bruins leds the list of seven players with three points each on the strength of his three goals. Like the other eight top scorers in the young season, he has played in three games.

Camille Henry of New York Rangers and Bobby Hull of Chicago share fourth place with two goals and one assist.

Provost is the only player in the top nine to represent Canadiens, who held the top four berths in last year's first-of-season statistics.

Boston's Norm Johnson ranks in the top nine with three assists.

Twenty-five players are tied with two points each.

Cagliari, Sardinia (AP)— Piero Rollo, 117¼, Sardinia, outpointed Mario d'Agata, 117, Rome, 15, (for European bantamweight title).

WINS AWARD—Toronto's new $18,000,000 city hall will be curved 23- and 28-storey skyscrapers. A structure looking like two saucers one inverted over the other in which will be located the new city council chambers will be between the skyscrapers. The architect's model is shown in this photo by Panda Photography. The design is by a Finnish architect, Viljo Rewell, who won a $25,000 award when his design was picked from 532 entries in an international contest. The architect also stands to receive $1,000,000 for construction of the building which will rise in a downtown city square. —CP Photo.

Rosi overcomes early knockdown for 28th win

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Veteran lightweight Paolo Rosi climbed off the deck in the third round Monday night and slammed home a hard right hand to knock out Irish Bobby Scanlon and hand the baby-faced San Francisco boxer his first loss in 33 fights.

The knockout was the 12th in Rosi's career which includes 28 victories against four defeats and a draw.

He last beat Johnny Busso in New York. After that he underwent surgery to remove scar tissue from above his eyes in an effort to be less susceptible to cuts.
