Saturday Sermon

By REV. ALEXANDER HART,
Pastor, Bethel Baptist Church

"And whatsoever ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus." Colossians 3, 17.

A faithful Christian can be compared with an ambassador. An ambassador does represent the interests of his king or government. What he does is more important than that which other people do, because behind all his action the people see the representation of his king.

The same is a Christian, he represents the interests of his great and beloved king, Jesus Christ.

Indeed there is a great difference between an earthly ambassador and one who is an heavenly ambassador. And earthly ambassador can, beside his official duties keep a private life too, in which he can carry on his own interests. But all that, what a Christian does with words and works, he does in the name of Christ. What he does or does not do, what he speaks or does not speak, or what he suffers, all this cast a light or reflection of his king. How important all his deeds are! How important his trespasses too. It is impossible to sin in the name of Christ nevertheless it will be so interpreted and understood. A Christian can not keep a private life. The influence which proceeds from faithful Christian is the recruiting power for the increase of the kingdom of heaven.

"In the name of Jesus," that shall be our watchword for this year 1957. Oh how it deepens our responsibility and how it sharpens our conscience! Joseph said: "How could I do this great wickedness and sin against God?" when he was tempted, because he realized what an influence his life had upon others of his day. How could I as an ambassador of Jesus Christ be anything less?

The confidence that we are ambassadors of the Lord Jesus gives us power to pray and to live in his name.

Christian Life Begins at Cross Says Minister

Christian life begins at the cross, the congregation attending the fifth session of the "World Week of Prayer" services was told last night.

Addressing 100 persons in he Presbyterian church, Rev. J. A. Roskam, on the theme "How to Make A Success of Christian Life," said that to begin right, a person must have the conviction of sin.

As Christians, people must make an open stand to the world by reading and meditating on God's works, Mr. Roskam said. God's word is the spiritual food, just as necessary to the soul as food is to the body, he said.

Mr. Roskam said that prayer, the medium between God and man, is necessary as it makes possible fellowship with God.

Rev. W. T. McFerran, minister of the Presbyterian church, presided over the service. Layman A. A. Wood read the scripture.

Salvation Army Senior Major Cyril C. Clitheroe led the prayer.

The final service in the "Week of Prayer" will be held tonight at 8, in the Salvation Army Citadel with Senior Major Clitheroe presiding.
