Pastor Bergen Addresses Prayer Week Gathering

"Prayed as a Conflict" was the theme of a challenging message given by Pastor J. Bergen at last evening's Week of Prayer service held in the regular Baptist church.

The pastor of the Port Edward Gospel Chapel further emphasized the fact that "prayer is a conflict against the individual's greatest foes—"Satan and self." It was pointed out that "when we don't pray evil forces prevail." Making a more personal application, the speaker suggested that each member of the congregation think seriously of the words of our Lord Jesus Christ when He said, "If any man will come after Me, let him deny himself . . ." Pastor Bergen stated too "that if a man prays in a perservering way he becomes less selfish." Then the pertinent question was asked, "Have our prayers touched 'ourselves'." In conclusion the statement was made that "we need to pray TOGETHER" and that "prayer accomplishes the greatest victories."

Rev. L. E. Jackson, pastor of the host church was chairman of the service. Mrs. N. Scott and Mrs. C. Marshall sang a duet entitled "Hiding in Thee." A male quartette formed from the Ministerial Association sang "Crown Him Lord of All."

Host church tonight will be the Port Edward Gospel Chapel with Sr. Capt. T. Smith bringing the message.

Bella Coola Requests Landing Strip

VICTORIA (CP) — Establishment of a landing strip at Bella Coola was requested Wednesday by Tony Gargrave, CCF member of the legislature, in a telegram to transport minister Hees.

Mr. Gargrave said a transportation crisis has been caused by the termination of Union Steamship passenger services on the B.C. coast and immediate relief is needed at Bella Coola and other mainland points between Powell River and Ocean Falls.

Mr. Gargrave said a subsidized services by Canadian Pacific Steamships only skims the best paying business off the Union routes, leaving pioneer communities with no service.

BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Mr. Abel Allergic to Bullying Partner, Does His Worst With Mr. Champion

Holding two good, long suits of your own, it is usually better to overcall rather than to double for a takeout. Bid your higher ranking suit first and hope for a chance to show your second suit on the next round.

In today's deal, suppose Mr. Dale had doubled after the opening bid of one club. He might then have heard "three clubs" on his left, followed by "three spades" or "four clubs" on his right. After such a sequence he would have had to start showing his suits at the four level or stay out of the auction altogether.

The chief strength of his hand lay in its distribution. With only 11 points in high cards it was extremely unlikely that none of the other three players could find some kind of a bid over the one heart overcall. By overcalling immediately, Mr. Dale got half of his story told at the one level and was in a position to complete the picture of his hand with a diamond bid on the next round.

Mr. Abel was no star in this hand. He is allergic to a bullying partner and always does his worst with Mr. Champion. You could hardly charge him with an error for his choice of an opening lead but let's say that he made the unfortunate decision to lay down the deuce of clubs instead of spades.

Even with the favorable club opening Mr. Dale had to time and guess the hand correctly. He ruffed at trick one and cashed the ace of diamonds. Noting the fall of the jack on his right, he elected to play Mr. Champion for a singleton trump.

At trick three he led a small heart to dummy's king, cashed the queen of hearts and returned to his hand with a trump to the king. Now he played the ace of hearts and discarded a spade from the board.

Next he ruffed a heart in dummy, clearing that suit. A club ruff put him back in his own hand again to lead a good heart. Mr. Abel ruffed the heart with the queen of diamonds but another spade was discarded from the board. Mr. Dale then lost a spade but was able to ruff his second spade and spread the hand for five odd.
