

THE CAPITAL OF ALASKA AS SEEN BY SEATTLE TOURISTS

SCOTT C. BONE, EDITOR OF THE SEATTLE P.-I., WHO WAS ONE OF SEATTLE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE PARTY ON ITS TRIP, DESCRIBES JUNEAU.

The following is part of an article by Scott C. Bone, editor of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, in which paper it appears. Mr. Bone was a member of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce party which recently visited Prince Rupert and the north country. The article reads:

Juneau, the capital of Alaska, is the most flourishing city in the territory at this time. The mines here and thereabout—the Treadwell, the Perseverance and other big properties—have abundant monetary support for successful operation and are turning out a large amount of low grade ore.

Looking at Juneau from the surrounding hills, or from the upper deck of the steamer entering the harbor, one could see many new houses, completed or under construction, and the closer range inspection furnished additional evidence of substantial growth.

It is no rash prediction to say that Juneau will double its population in a few years, for the mineral wealth of the adjacent country seems only to have been touched. Further development is sure.

The present capital of Alaska lacks the beauty, repose and romance of Sitka. Surrounded by water and mountains, its building area is restricted, but it is expanding, nevertheless, and is today an interesting and presentable if not a beautiful city.

Alaskans hold divergent views on many questions, but they are in perfect accord in indorsing the appointment of Governor Strong. He is one of them—a veritable sourdough, who pioneered with them and knows the country and its people as few others know them.

SENSATIONAL CHARGE MADE AGAINST TORONTO CHARITY

ALEXANDER CRUIKSHANK, AN OLD HIGH SCHOOL MASTER, SPEAKS OF CRUELTY TO INMATES OF HOUSE OF INDUSTRY.

Toronto, Aug. 4.—Penniless, a candidate for an old man's home, if such an institution existed in Toronto, Alexander Cruikshank faced a court audience here and told a story of cruelty practised upon inmates at the house of industry that compelled the attention of Magistrate Dennison and will result in an investigation by the detective department.

He said he had been ejected from the house because he knew too much about the meeting and the atrocities committed within its doors.

The old man has been in turn high school master, professor and lawyer, and has lately spent much time in institutions for the improvident.

PRINCE HENRY WILL HAVE TO DO CHORES LIKE OTHER BOYS

THE KING'S SON WILL HAVE TO "FAG" FOR HIS SENIORS AT ETON—HE MAY GET BIRCHINGS, TOO, IF DISCIPLINE DEMANDS IT.

London, Aug. 4.—When Eton assemblies in splendor after the summer vacation for the winter "half" the famous old public school for the first time in its history will have as a pupil the son of the King of England.

The "new berry" will be Prince Henry, third son of the King and Queen, who is 13 years old, and until this summer has been at St. Peter court school, Broadstairs. When the King, on his recent journey to Eton announced his intention of sending Prince Henry to the school, it was understood that the Prince would reside at Windsor, but he is really to be attached to the house of a house master as soon as he arrives. This is in accordance with the King's special wish that he should be treated like every other boy.

Rising at 6:45 a. m. on school days, he will have to be in school at 7:30 a. m. On full school days he will have to do six hours work a day and four hours work on half holidays. Like all the lower boys, he will have to "fag" for upper boys. That is, run errands, tidy the master's room, light the fire and keep it going, prepare tea, make toast, cook eggs, fruit and so on.

A house captain has two or three fags, with the privilege of applying corporal punishment if the needs of discipline demand it.

The question that is troubling the Eton boys above everything else concerned with the "new berry" is what they shall call him when he gets settled among them. Shall it be Prince Henry or plain, simple "Henry" or "Harry," as he has been called by his school mates at St. Peter Court. The majority are for "Henry."

Prince George of Teck, King George's nephew, is at Eton and is always called "Teck" by the other boys, while those who are intimate with him call him "George."

WAITERS IN BATHING SUITS SERVE MEAL

Coney Island Rathskeller Flooded but Patrons Insist on Being Served.

New York, Aug. 4.—The worst storm in many years at Coney Island flooded that resort late yesterday. Rivers ran in Surf avenue, the water rising over the curb, and rowboats were used as a means of escape by some of the thousands marooned in hotels along the thoroughfare, where they had fled for shelter when the storm broke.

STILL A BOY

Rockefeller Doesn't Feel the Weight of Age.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 6.—John D. Rockefeller, 73 years old, and Ebenezer Roberts, 105 years old, shook hands at the Euclid Avenue Baptist Church this morning and congratulated each other on their mutual good health.

Experience isn't much of a teacher when it comes to investing in gold bricks.

MERRIMENT ENDS IN HORROR; MURDER COMMITTED AT DANCE

YOUNG FARMER RESENTED ALLEGED ASSAULT ON WOMAN AND TOOK VENGEANCE—CUT THROAT OF THE OTHER MAN WITH RAZOR.

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 4.—Clarence Clawson was arrested in Lincoln yesterday, charged with the murder of Ross McKinzey, whose throat was cut with a razor at the Wilber street carnival last night. Jail Guard Gross found Clawson in his room a few moments after he had arrived from Wilber.

man was a farmer living near Dorchester, Nebraska. Clawson was returned to Lincoln for safekeeping tonight.

The prisoner, who is 20 years of age, was rushed to Wilber to appear at the inquest. He told how his wife had seen McKinzey strike May Craft, a Lincoln woman, while a dance was in progress.

His wife had rushed to the Craft girl's assistance and McKinzey had lunged at Mrs. Clawson. Clawson interfered, a fight ensued and Clawson cut McKinzey's throat, severing the jugular vein. All of the parties concerned hurried from the dance hall and McKinzey's body was discovered a short time later lying in the street.

Sheriffs of six counties searched for Clawson during the morning, after several women who had seen the cutting had told their stories. The murdered

Mexico is so anxious to be recognized that a kick in a soft spot might be accepted as a form of salutation. The consumption of ice water having failed to have any appreciable effect on some hundred million inhabitants of the North American continent, the doctors now declare that it does not injure the digestion. Next thing they'll be declaring hot biscuits not guilty.
