BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Stolid dependence on the old maxims of the game will get you nowhere as a bridge player. Take the one about always returning your partner's lead, for example. Mr. Muzzy is one who prides himself on never deviating from this "rule." It is no coincidence that he seldom wins.

Imagination, in both bidding and play, is one of the important elements in every fine player's game. When you, as a defender, win the first trick, do not blindly return your partner's suit. That may be the best procedure, but first take a good look at dummy, review the bidding in your mind and make sure there is nothing else you can do at this point which will clarify the later defense for partner.

A simple example of how this can be used to advantage is illustrated in today's hand. Mrs. Keen got off to her best opening, the seven of clubs. Mr. Muzzy won with the ace and automatically returned a club.

♣ Q 10 5

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
1 NT	All Pass

There were two reasons for this action on his part. First, he didn't take the trouble to think. Second, if the club happened to be a losing play, he could always fall back on the maximu for justification.

Look at the result. Mrs. Keen rattled off three more club tricks but then had to guess about her next play. She guessed wrong and led a spade whereupon Mr. Dale cashed four spades and four diamonds to make his contract with an overtrick.

It may be argued that Mrs. Keen made a bad shift, but the point is that she could have been "told" what to lead after cashing her clubs.

Mr. Muzzy should have returned his partner's suit—but not at the second trick. First he had more important work to do. He should have cashed the king of hearts and then led a club. Now there would have been no doubt in Mrs. Keen's mind that a heart shift through dummy's queen-ten was the best defense.

Two vessels at Exchange

Two halibut vessels landed their catches this morning at the Prince Rupert Halibut Exchange. Prices for medium, large and chicken size halibut in brackets are as follows.

Joan W 2—65,000 pounds, (21.4; 21.4; 14) sold to British Columbia Packers.

Elling W—96,000 pounds, (21.7; 21.4; 14) sold to Pacific Fisheries.

The Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-Operative association had one landing of 55,000 pounds of halibut by the "Margaret 1" besides the "Silver Bounty's" catch of 135,000 pounds.

No parking

People attending the Centennial Port Day races at the Canadian National Railways dock tomorrow will not be allowed to park their cars on the dock, RCMP at City detachment said today.

However, parking space will be available on the former Kelly Douglas and Malkins warehouses propertys across the CNR Railway tracks opposite the docks.

Cars owners will also be allowed to park their cars on First and Second Avenues and in the vicinity of the Prince Rupert Hotel on Sixth Street.

Six entered in $1,000 tournament

Five visiting teams will compete with Prince Rupert all-stars in the $1,000 baseball tournament starting tomorrow, league commissioner G. R. (Rusty) Ford said today.

A team from Houston that was expected to be here for the tourney will not be able to make it due to the Forest fire situation in that area.

Teams taking part in the tournament are from Prince George, Smithers, Hazelton, Kitimat, Terrace and an all-star team from Prince Rupert.

Mr. Ford said the only way they were able to make the draw so that it would be fair to every team is as follows:

Six teams will play three games Saturday and two of the three losers will be drawn to play the fourth game Saturday and the third loser will be out of the tournament. The winner of the fourth game along with the first three winners will be drawn for games Sunday. The two losers will play the seventh game for third and fourth prize. The two winners play the final for first and second prize.

The first game will start at 12 noon tomorrow between Prince George and Hazelton followed by game two between Terrace and Kitimat. The third game will be between Smithers and Prince Rupert.

Mr. Ford said that a professional umpire, John Hulbb, will arrive in time for the tournament tomorrow.

Tickets for the two day tournament are on sale at the Sport Shop or may be purchased at the gate.

Prizes for the tourney are: first—$500, second—$250, third—$150, and fourth—$100.
