Cousins meet after 49 years

Cousins who haven't seen each other since 1909 are enjoying a re-union at Digby Island.

Thomas Mynor of Van Nuys, California arrived Tuesday by bus to visit his cousin J. R. Sury at Digby Island for a few days. Mr. Mynor last saw his cousin when he was nine years old.

Remember When

By The Canadian Press

Lou Ambers, the "Herkimer Hurricane," won the world lightweight boxing championship on a 15-round decision over titleholder Tony Canzoneri at New York 22 years ago tonight. Two years later Ambers lost the title to Henry Armstrong, but regained it the following year, finally yielding to Lew Jenkins in 1940.

Talks on lepers to be given on three days

A representative of the Mission to Lepers, Miss G. L. Ament, will be guest speaker at a series of meetings to be held here Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.

Miss Ament, who spent 20 years in India as a missionary nurse to lepers, is travelling in British Columbia to present the needs of the leper missions.

She will speak on "The Work of the Leprosy Mission" and show slides on "Life in a Leper Colony" at the St. Paul's Lutheran church Thursday night, the Evangelical Free Church Friday night and at the Salvation Army Citadel Saturday night.

Instruments cost $2,983

Cost of instruments for the Prince Rupert Civic Band amounted to $2,983.84, band secretary, Arne Lien reported today.

Mr. Lien said that from a fund of $3,250.00 consisting of a $3,000 City of Prince Rupert grant and other donations of $250, a total of $2,983.84 was spent on band instruments, leaving a credit balance of $265.56.

He said the band now has a complete set of uniforms.

The band is in need of trumpet players and persons interested are asked to phone 4862.

BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

YOU'LL like bridge even more than you do now, if you learn and use safety plays That's because you'll win more. Is there a better reason?

Safety plays take many forms and starting today we will discuss some of them. Their main purpose is to increase the chances of making your contract. They come up most in the situation where you can afford to lose one trick in a certain suit—but not two or more.

Admittedly, there will be times when you can't afford to lose any tricks in a suit. In these unfortunate cases you simply have to forget about safety plays temporarily and hope the adverse cards are favorably placed.

There was a simple safety play that Mr. Abel could have used in today's deal but apparently it never occurred to him and the result was a one-trick set.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠
Pass	3 ♣	Pass	4 ♠
All Pass

Opening lead: Four of hearts.

The four of hearts was led and won with dummy's king. Mr. Abel then led a spade from the board and finessed the queen. Note that if the opposing spades had been divided 2-2, with the king in Mrs. Keen's hand, Mr. Abel's play would have been a winner. He would have lost no spade tricks at all and he would have made his contract with an extra trick.

But he was not in a contract of five spades. The extra trick was practically nothing compared to the importance of making the actual contract.

Mr. Dale won the first spade trick with the lone king and returned another heart. Mr. Abel won this in dummy and led another spade on which Mrs. Keen promptly played the six. What would you do now? Mr. Abel had a tough guess and he guessed wrong, going up with the ace. Thus he lost two spade tricks and two aces.

There was really no excuse for this result. The right play at trick two was a small spade to the ace—the classic safety play with this combination of cards. If Mr. Dale had as many as three spades including the king and the jack, the contract could not be made with any line of play. But if either the king or the jack happened to be a singleton in either opponent's hand, the play of the ace first would clarify the situation and automatically hold the spade losers to one.

No talent in sight for Kramer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—If promoter Jack Kramer goes shoping this year for fresh pro tennis talent he's sure to find the cupboard bare.

The two brightest prospects to fight it out with Pancho Gonzales and Lew Hoad—Australia's Ashley Cooper and Mal Anderson are not interested.

The United States is having trouble assembling a representative Davis Cup team, much less feeding anything to Kramer's pro troupe.

Ham Richardson, perhaps the best U.S. player, has a job in Washington as a senator's assistant. Barry MacKay, Sam Giammalva and Alex Olmedo haven't won anything of consequence.

Kramer has made overtures to both Dick Savitt and Vic Seixas without avail. Savitt is sticking to his oil job in New York. Seixas is a stock broker in Philadelphia.

Weekend Fights

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)—Allan Harmon, Jamaica, stopped Aman Peck, Tampa, Fla., in second round of 10. (middleweights).

Peruvian bids for place on U.S. team

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Peruvian Alex Olmedo, bidding for an unprecedented berth on the U.S. Davis Cup team, shot into the quarter-finals of the United States tennis champion ships Tuesday with two of Australia's powerhouses and American Dick Savitt.

Olmedo, the handsome Inca who holds the U.S. college championship, kept the cup selectors squirming by erasing Leslie Longshore, Jr., of Anniston, Ala., 6-2, 6-3, 6-3.

He was joined in the round of eight by Wimbledon champion Ashley Cooper and left-handed Neale Fraser, both of Australia, and Savitt, the East Orange, N.J. business man now playing tennis largely for fun.

Costly holidays

Because he was on holidays, RCMP Constable Herbert Single missed a chance to win a $5 cash prize offered by a Third Street real estate firm.

Constable Single's license number appeared in the Third Street real estate office window last week and would have netted him $5 if he had spotted it.

The prize will now go up to $10 or $20 if insured with the real estate firm.
