CROWN IN GAZA—This could be Florida, or for that matter, California, but the clothes of the workmen give away the fact that this is a more tension-packed part of the world—the Gaza Strip. The piles of oranges, grown in the Strip, are being readied for rail shipment, and are scheduled to be exported to Yugoslavia. Judging by the numbers of the fruit piled up, even invasion, occupation by Israel, and current occupation by U.N. troops hasn't hurt the crop.

LEASH ON THE FUTURE — A young man with the world on a string, 16-year-old Michael How of London strolls through the garden of his home with a pet mink, named Chippy. The expensive little animal is one of 200 mink that Michael is raising as the youngest mink rancher in the country. With his stock valued at some $14,000, Michael's "pet project" has turned into really high finance.

HOUSING

gives a "target rental" of $45 and the average is not less than that. "So some of the higher bracket incomes are subsidizing the lower," Mr. Brown said.

He stated that under the subsidy plan, the Housing Authority is inclined to bear rather heavily on tenants.

"Why set a minimum of one hundred dollars?" asked Alderman R. G. Large. "Wouldn't this rule out old age pensioners?"

"Well, they're looking for couples, not single people," Mr. Brown said. "So far they have no means of looking after the singles."

Mr. Brown said no extensive slum clearance in large cities can be undertaken until some method is worked out of taking care of single persons.

On reply to questions by Alderman Kay Smith on how many units would be required, Mr. Brown said the unit overhead runs a little high and the smaller the project the greater the unit cost.

Questioned by Alderman T. Norton Youngs on whether the government might make available some of the present low rental units for purchase, Mr. Brown said he thought this was a possibility.

"Are the taxes equivalent to those on private homes?" Ald. Youngs asked.

"Veterans homes have fixed tax rates," Mr. Brown said. "CMHC homes are on full taxes."

He said the government has to decide in the case of Prince Rupert, to what extent it is going to meet the waiting list of people for houses.

Ald. Smith said there were presently 70 names on the list with Prince Rupert Housing Authority.

City has already determined to press the Federal government for 50 more economic rental units and possibly 25 subsidized low rental units.

Accompanying Mr. Brown to Prince Rupert was Don South, planner for the Department of Municipal Affairs. Mr. South offered the city some recommendations concerning the new Town Planning bylaw. Mr. Brown and Mr. South left this morning for Terrace.

Council has now finished plowing through the first draft of the bylaw and it is ready for first reading.

Putting teeth in the plan to clear up a "potential slum" condition in the city, as set forth in report of a survey by Sanitary Inspector R. J. Scott, last February, city has ordered removal of two more condemned buildings, one in the Cow Bay district and the other on Ninth Street.

Alcan Plans Projects

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Aluminum Co. of Canada plans to build a transmission cable plant, a cannery-supply sheet mill and a foil mill in the greater Vancouver area, it was learned Monday.

Reports said the projects will cost several million dollars.

"It looks like continuing expansion for the aluminum business in B.C.," said Alcan's sales manager A. K. Jordan in an interview.

Mr. Jordan is on a business visit from company headquarters in Montreal. He will visit the Kitimat smelter while in British Columbia.

Mr. Jordan said "the only sensible way to run this business is to set up an integrated manufacturing scheme within easy shipping distance of the Kitimat smelter."

140th Strike Day

VANCOUVER (CP)—One of the longest strikes in B.C. history entered its 140th day Monday.

The 65 employees of the Simmons Mattress Co. went on strike March 27 to back demands for higher wages and a 40-hour week. The Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Workers' Union is claiming a basic wage of $1.25 for women and $1.50 for men. Present rates are 85 cents for women and $1.25 for men in a 44-hour week.

Union officials say the management has cancelled the employees' pensions benefits since the strike started. They say the Labor Relations Board has given the union permission to prosecute the company and lawyers are in process of preparing a case.

No meetings have been held between the two sides.

BIG MONEY MAN—The man who holds the most important set of pursestrings in the world, new U.S. Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson gets used to his new desk at the Treasury Department in Washington, D.C. The 47-year-old successor to retired George M. Humphrey isn't new to money, since he was once vice chairman of the Dallas Federal Reserve Bank, and managed a $300 million estate. He has previously served as Secretary of the Navy and Under Secretary of Defense.
