FREE CHINA'S BIGGEST DAM—The Wu-Sheh Dam, 374 feet high, built with American aid, nears completion in central Taiwan's (Formosa) rugged, cloud-filled mountain country. Building the dam required construction of two 13-mile-long aerial cableways from Pu-Li to carry every bit of construction material—cement, rock aggregate, machinery, tools, wood, and men—a job almost as spectacular as the dam itself. Each cableway carries 45 tons of concrete per hour. Here, construction workers in Free China travel to the work site in this concrete bucket, high over the 374-foot-high dam.

ONTARIO LIBERALS PICK LEADER

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario Liberals began arriving in Toronto today for a two-day party convention to produce a new leader from a field of at least six candidates.

No new party platform is to be drafted. An estimated 900 voting delegates will concentrate on electing a leader.

The leadership contest appears to be splitting into two camps—for and against Walter Harris, 54-year-old former federal finance minister who has the backing of retiring leader Farquhar Oliver.
