Doug Small tops on Labor Day

12-year-old wins Daily News trophy

Twelve-year-old Doug Small stroked to three first and one third place in the Labor Day swim meet yesterday and added a second place in diving to rack up a grand aggregate of 19 points, tops among more than 60 competitors.

Approximately 400 spectators who packed the Gyro pool bleachers for the last swim meet of the season, watched Doug dominate the junior, intermediate and senior fields to carry off the coveted Daily News trophy, presented by Charles Giordano.

In addition, Doug won the Parks Commission trophy for the best junior point-getter with 10 points. Bill Kincaid, co-ordinator of the meet, made the presentation.

HARRIS RUNNER-UP

Runner-up to Doug in the grand aggregate competition was Trevor Harris who handily took three first places for 15 points.

Points were awarded on the basis of five for first place, three for second place and one for third place.

Frank Fogarassy, one of Hungary's representatives in the 1936 Olympic Games at Berlin, established himself as the fastest swimmer in Prince Rupert, winning the 100-yard open freestyle race in 1::11.5 seconds, outdistancing Al Gaitens (1:17) and John Murland (1:27)). The grand challenge trophy for this event was donated by the Prince Rupert Labor Council and presented by E. P. O'Neal.

JUNIORS TOP DIVERS

The open diving competition was an all-junior affair, with Harold Small taking first place with 130 points, followed by his twin brother Doug (133 points) and Bill Fielding (120 points.) Sponsor was Local 708 of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers.

One of the highlights of the meet was the novelty wash tub race. All but one of the 25 competitors managed to paddle their tubs only a few feet before sinking. Only Bill Feilding mastered the trick, made 22 yards of the 25-yard pool length, then tried to do it in a spurt and promptly sank.

For his feat Bill was rewarded with the biggest round of applause of the day, the wash tub, and more than a dozen toilet utensils.

More than 800 spectators witness Algoma track meet

Early morning threats of rain couldn't quell the enthusiasm of about 800 spectators and contestants who turned out to the Prince Rupert Labor Council's track meet at Algoma Park yesterday.

The crowd laughed and cheered through tripping sack and three-legged races and fumbling women's egg and spoon contestants while urging the various other athletic track contestants to victory.

Thirteen - year - old Marlene Phillips lead the more than 100 competitors in athletic abilities by taking four first prizes and one third while eight-year-old Douglas Morris was runner-up with three firsts and one third.

Special prizes which featured the oldest person, won by Jimmy Parks (68), the largest family, Mrs. Carl Simunds (5) and the couple married longest, captured by Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Macphee, (42 years), provided the variety to complete a successful afternoon of excitement and fun.

Outboard races success despite threat of rain

By MIKE WAYMAN

Despite poor weather the Prince Rupert Outboard Association made a complete success of their fourth races of the season last Sunday.

Three new hydroplanes were unveiled and proved to be winners. The "Dragonfly" a "class B" hydro, owned by Lucien Langlois, swept its class.

Bob Yamada came in second in his "Scat Cat" although he was forced to drop out of heat No. 2 because of steering trouble. Ron Stewart's new "Wetback," a "Class C" hydro, appears to be very fast and will give Frank Baldwin stiff competition when he returns from the Kelowna races.

Norm Kinslor had the fastest boat and the biggest "roostertail" on the lake as he drove his new "Class D" hydro to victory. Henry Seppa edged him out by less than a foot in the thrilling finish to the second heat.

In other races, Bob Armstrong and Mike Wayman topped "Class B" and "Class D" utility races respectively. Jack Martin and Jim Wauldbauer shared the honors in the "Class A" combined utility and hydro race.

The field was cut down because of vacationing racers and the Labor Day weekend. However, the final race of the season will be held Sunday at Taylor lake. More thrills are expected with the return of Frank Baldwin, Wally Ballinger, Chris Harvey and Dave Yule.

SYDNEY, N.S. (AP)—Young Beau Jack, 164, Brockton, Mass., outpointed Gary Simon, 161, New Glasgow, N.S., (10).

Fisherman nets $60 at CCC derby

A 17-pound cohoe salmon won Russell Nelson two prizes totalling $60 in the Columbia Cellulose Company Limited fishing derby for employees Saturday.

Nelson captured a prize of $50 for the largest salmon caught and also won $10 for the largest fish of any species.

Alex Wood won $10 for the smallest fish of any species with a three and a half pound Cohoe.

A total of nine entries weighed in eight fish at the Kloiya Bay weighing station 8 p.m. Saturday. Roy McIntosh was the official weigh-in man.

In the separate derby held in the harbor, Dave Blackstone won a total of $20 for the largest and smallest fish of any species caught.

He caught a three pound Black Bass to win $10 for the largest fish and a three quarter pound flounder for the smallest fish to give him another $10. Blackstone was also the official weigh-in man, and only contestant.

16-pounder gets prize in all-day fish derby

First prize of $100 for the largest salmon in the Labor Day fishing derby yesterday was won by Bill Mortensen with a 16-pound cohoe caught in the Kasiks River.

In the separate troll derby Clifford Martin became automatic first prize winner landing the only fish. He caught an 11-pound cohoe in the waters off the British Columbia Packers plant.

More than 50 persons participated in the combination derby that got underway at 5 a.m.

Mortensen caught his 16-pounder with a crocodile lure. He also caught a 13-pound cohoe.

Tied for second prize of $30 King with 13-pound cohoes, both caught on No. 4 Gibbs T-spoon.

A total of eight salmon ranging in sizes from seven to 16 pounds were weighed in at the Metropole hall between 7 p.m. and 8 p.m. closing time, for the derby.

All of the fish were caught in the Kasiks river

Derby judges were Game Warden Clifford Walker and assistant supervisor of fisheries William Winsby.

Angus Macphee, derby official, presented the $100 cheque to Mr. Mortensen.

NBA picks Patterson for honor

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The National Boxing Association today chose heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson as its boxer-of-the-month for August and took notice of a newcomer among boxing's big boys.

Patterson won the nod for stopping Roy Harris of Cut and Shoot, Tex., in the 12th round of their heavyweight title bout at Los Angeles Aug. 18.

The newcomer to the heavyweight ratings is 26-year-old Sonny Liston, a St. Louis boy now fighting out of Philadelphia.

Liston has a 19-1 record. His only loss was to Marty Marshall in a four-round decision.

Toronto's George Chuvalo, ranked 10th among the heavyweights by Ring magazine, didn't make the NBA ratings although Alex Miteff of Argentina, held to a draw by Chuvalo this summer, was placed eighth.

Yvon Durelle of Pale Ste. Anne, N.B., held his third-place light-heavyweight spot. Harold Johnson and Tony Anthony are ranked first and second contenders for Archie Moore's title.
