Co-ed Fails Strait

By JACK MORRIS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VICTORIA (CP)—A 22-year-old California co-ed today failed by less than a mile to become the fourth person to conquer Juan de Fuca Strait.

The last of 17 swimmers taking part in the second annual mass attack on the 18.3-mile-wide strait, Myra Thompson of San Francisco was removed from the water after 16 hours and 27 minutes, an endurance record for the chill waters.

Miss Thompson was within sight of the Port Angeles, Wash., beach when she started to drift back out to sea and was forced to give up.

SHOUT ENCOURAGEMENT

Huge bonfires were built on the beaches at 4 a.m. and Port Angeles residents walked along craggy Ediz Hook carrying flashlights and shouting encouragement to Miss Thompson.

But the swiftly-changing tides of the strait began rolling out again, carrying the young marathoner out with them. She was pushed about one mile out when a green flare rose from her pilot boat, indicating she was being pulled out.

She had swum alone for about four hours after outlasting the other five women and 11 men who started the assault noon Sunday.

Her time was almost five fours better than the Juan de Fuca endurance record set by Victoria's Ben Laughren who spent 12½ hours in the water in a previous try.

SOVIET SCHOLARSHIPS

Canada "Me Too" Country

NELSON (CP)—Canada must stop having a "me too" government which is often influenced by wishes of British, United States and other governments. She should "stand up and say 'this is our country,'" Herbert Bruch, MLA for Esquimalt, told a Social Credit day gathering here.

Mr. Bruch said Social Credit is not so much interested in achieving power as in establishing principles and policies.

If the Canadian people band together, they can get the results they want from the management of their affairs.

Social Credit believes that "that which is physically possible and desirable can and must be made financially possible."

In B.C. there are three dam sites larger than the biggest two American dams combined. Northern Alberta contains more oil than any other North American source. In spite of these and other facts her charged, Canadians are "sitting back and prepared to play second fiddle to someone else.

Canada must be prepared to distribute its excess wealth, abundance, and knowledge with other less fortunate nations.

THE LAST CANADIAN SOLDIER from Korea left for Canada this month. For the Korean veteran the campaign is ended. But the memories of fighting through mountains and rice paddy fields is embedded in their memories. The first Canadian unit to fight in Korea, 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, moved into the front line (1) on a march through small ruined villages. Pte. John Hoskin (2) of New Westminster, B.C., a member of the PPCLI, remembers those advances North. Pte. Heath Matthews (4) of Montreal, who served with the Royal Canadian Regiment, won't forget the exhaustion that followed a night patrol in enemy territory. And the South Koreans (3) will not forget Canadians who fought in their land as they tend with care the graves of those that will always be a part of Korea. (National Defence Photo)

Prince Rupert Edges Terrace In Softball

Prince Rupert All-stars took both ends of a double header from Terrace All-stars by scores of 16-8 and 11-1 in men's softball play at Algoma Park Sunday.

Between the two encounters, the All-star girl teams went into extra innings before Terrace could edge Prince Rupert 7-5 in the seventh.

The sequoia tree is estimated to live 2,500 to 3,000 years and attain heights of more than 300 feet.
