TO PRESERVE OLD HALWILGET BRIDGE

Citizens' Association Takes Action to Preserve Antique Relic for Benefit of Tourists.

A few nights ago the matter of repairing the old Indian bridge which crosses the Bulkley at Halwilget was under discussion among some of the citizens. It is only a small matter at present to renew one or two pillars and the bridge would be made good for a number of years yet and at the same time the appearance would in no wise be affected. It is acknowledged on all sides that this bridge with its historic value is an important asset to the town when the tourists begin coming through. The Indian bridge with what it represents in native ingenuity and the extreme labor required by the primitive methods employed represents to the tourist one of the wonders of the world, and they will come thousands of miles to see it.—Omineca Herald.

BIG GAME OF ALASKA BEING WANTONLY KILLED FOR SPORT

CARCASSES OF MOOSE, CARIBOU AND MOUNTAIN SHEEP NUMEROUSLY FOUND ROTTING AND WASTING—GOVERNOR STRONG TO TAKE ACTION.

Juneau, Alaska, Oct. 5.—Ruthless slaughter of game in the Scouli Pass country by cheechakos and big game hunters is reported in letters received in Juneau from reliable sources.

Platnigian lie scattered about like pebbles on a sandy beach, while carcasses of moose, caribou and mountain sheep are numerous found rotting and wasting, according to this information. The big game, it is said, is stampeding into the Yukon Territory for protection. No charges or blame is attached to the real prospectors for this sort of vandalism, nor are the Indians accused of violating the game laws, for it is conceded that they kill only what they need and use.

At the governor's office it was admitted that complaints had been received charging violations of the game laws and that the matter is now being investigated. Governor J. F. A. Strong says that he is making an effort to get an appropriation for more game wardens.

"A party of Seattleites passed along the mountain range where there is a very dangerous stream," says one letter. "Seven caribou were seen grazing on the opposite side of the river, where it was impossible to recover them. Yet this party shot every one of the animals just for the sport of watching them fall. The carcasses rotted where they fell."
