"Treasure House" Will Be Project

Council of the leading chiefs of the Skeena River Indian nation have announced that their people will join in the B.C. Centennial celebrations next year and that a "treasure house" will be built at Hazelton to mark "one of the biggest occasions in the history of British Columbia."

Chiefs from Kitwincool, Kitsegukla and Hazelton discussed the part their people would play in next year's celebrations at a meeting at Hazelton earlier this week and decided that they would "go all out" to support the Centennial.

HISTORY PLANNED

"It has been agreed that full testimonial, historical and traditional treasure house be built at Hazelton, B.C., which is the central point of the Skeena district" said spokesman Harold Sinclair, district vice-president for Skeena District of the Native Brotherhood of B.C. in today's statement.

A history of the native peoples will also be prepared in time for the Centennial, he said.

Village spokesmen at the meeting were: Chief Walter Douse, Chief Albert Douse, President Peter Williams and Chief Fred Good from Kitwincool; Chief Bert Russel-Wegét, Chief Jacob Milton Malkan and Mr. Morice Williams from Kitsegukla; Chief John Smith, Chief William Wale, Chief Jeffery Johnson, Chief Joshua Campbell and Chief Andrew Wilson from Hazelton.

The meeting—which was well attended—was presided over by W. B. Bailey, Indian Superintendent. Mrs. Connie Sargent, Centennial secretary for Skeena district, was in the chair.

CLARIFIES STAND

This official statement clarifies the Skeena nations stand which was confused by Chief David L. Wells of Kitwanga when he announced that Skeena Indians would boycott the centennial celebrations.

Aston Villa Win English F.A. Cup

LONDON (AP) — Aston Villa defeated injury-hit Manchester United 2-1 today in the English Soccer Cup final before a sellout crowd of 100,000.

Manchester's hopes of becoming the first team to win the English League and Cup double in 60 years faded in the sixth minute when goalkeeper Ray Wood was carried off on a stretcher.

After 10 minutes of the second half he returned and played on the wing. Wood took over in goal seven minutes from the end, but it was too late.

McParland got both Villa goals—in the 67th and 72nd minutes.

Manchester rallied strongly and centre forward Tommy Taylor scored for United in the 83rd minute.

City Woman Wins $1,000 Bingo Prize After Just Returning From Holiday

A city woman who has just returned from a five-month holiday in Scotland and her son last night shared the "Swimming Pool Bingo" $1,000 grand prize held in the Civic Centre under the auspices of the Prince Rupert Kinsmen's club.

Mrs. James Brown, a resident of Prince Rupert for 30 years, played two cards, one for herself and one for her son, George J. Brown of 224 Fifth Avenue West, to take the $1,000.

A total of $1,850 was given in prizes for 15 games.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown returned to the city Thursday morning by train from Scotland.

Mrs. Brown said today that she had a lot of practice for last night's big win during her stay in Scotland, where she played and won "fairly regularly."

The second prize of $200 was won by Victor Smith. Receiving prizes of $50 each were Mrs. C. Knutson, Mrs. N. Howden, Mr. Van Summerin, Mr. Peter Postuk, Mr. H. McKay, Miss Jean Stevenson, Mr. H. MacIntyre, Mr. Ted Morrow, Mrs. L. R. Gallens, Mrs. G. Strand, Mrs. J. Bergen and Mrs. Victor Smith.

Splitting a prize of $50 was Mr. M. Gomez and Mr. J. MacTier.

Proceeds of $1,630 will be added to the present swimming pool fund of some $5,000.

More than 700 cards were in play, Kinsmen publicity chairman W. H. Fudger said today.

"We are very pleased with the results of last night's bingo. Having paid $270 in expenses, $75 for rent and $1,850 in prizes, a profit of $1,630 is very rewarding," Mr. Fudger said.

Victoria Day Ball Games For Villages

Indian villages of Kitsegukla, Kitwincool and Kitwanga will join to commemorate Victoria day instead of holding separate celebrations as they have in previous years.

This was announced today after a meeting of leading chiefs of the three villages at Kitwanga.

Joint festivities will be held at one of the villages each year. Kitwanga will be host for this year's celebrations, slated to start May 20 and continue for three or four days.

"Previously the three villages have held their own celebrations on different days during May," says the village chiefs' statement.

The village leaders agreed that the separate celebration were a big time-waster, keeping people away from work and children away from school longer than necessary.

Preparations have already started to make Kitwanga ready for a large gathering of ball-teams, who will enter a Skeena Championship contest. A sports committee is to be elected at Kitwanga to organise the large sports program planned for the Victoria Day celebrations.

Tomorrow's parade will be one of hundreds held at churches across Canada in remembrance of those who died at sea during the Second World War.

LCB Asks Labor Council For Beer-Price Brief

Donald McGugan, chairman of the Liquor Control Board has asked Prince Rupert Labor Council to prepare a brief detailing their case against the increased beer prices advocated by local beer hall operators.

"The brief will be prepared next week and will be on its way to Vancouver by the week-end" said Labor Council secretary-treasurer Pat O'Neal today.

The request came yesterday in a letter from Mr. McGugan thanking the Council for their telegram opposing the higher prices.

"I would appreciate a brief from your organization presenting your case and refuting the justification of increases as advocated by the licencees" said the LCB chairman.

CANCELLED

Chairman McGugan cancelled a meeting scheduled to take place in Victoria yesterday between himself and two representatives of the seven Prince Rupert Hotelmen concerned in the price dispute.

"He felt that since he was meeting a delegation from the B.C. Hotels association to discuss beer prices throughout B.C. it would be inappropriate to meet Prince Rupert delegates at this time," said hotelmen's spokesman William H. Murray, MLA, today.

The Weather

Variable clouds today and Sunday with sunny periods in the afternoon. A few showers along the mainland. A little warmer. Southerly winds 15 decreasing to light tonight. Low tonight and high tomorrow at Port Hardy 45 and 60, Sandspit and Prince Rupert 43 and 58.

Driver Fined $50

Kenneth Isbister of Prince Rupert pleaded guilty at city police court today to a charge of impaired driving. He was fined $50 with an alternative of one month's imprisonment in default.

Defence Counsel Willa Ray explained that the accused, realizing he had drunk too much to drive safely, had stopped his car on Third Avenue, imagining that he had pulled into the curb. In fact, his car was five feet away from the curb.

Also before Magistrate W. D. Vance today was Manuel Castillio Viola, of Kitimat, who pleaded guilty to a charge of supplying an Indian with intoxicating liquor. He was fined $50 with an alternative of one month's imprisonment in default.

Arthur Garratt, 221 Fifth Avenue East, was fined $25 with an alternative of one month's imprisonment in default after pleading to a charge of driving without due care and attention.

Police said that the accused's car collided with another when he pulled away from the curb on McBride Street yesterday.

William Hornricks, 522 Fulton Street, was fined $15 with an alternative of one week in default, for failing to stop at a red light.

Police Help Man Find Castle Without Wheels

By PAT MONK
Daily News Staff Writer

A home may be a castle to some—but to gray-haired Emerson Desands it's a three-quarter ton truck. Emerson went along to Prince Rupert city Police court yesterday afternoon to plead guilty — with some reluctance — to the charge of unlawfully occupying a dwelling or lodging without the required minimum of 384 cubit feet of air spade.

"It's all quite sanitary and clean," he said. "I've fixed it up fine."

A BIT SHORT

Vital statistics of Emerson's home on wheels were given to the court by Skeena Sanitary Engineer R. G. Scott.

"The truck is 9'4" long, 4'6" high and 6'6" wide," said Mr. Scott. "It's capacity is 231 cubic feet—quite a bit short of the legal minimum."

"I've tried to get a room somewhere near the bus depot, where I sweep the buses and do odd jobs around," Emerson explained. "I fixed the truck up so that I could be handy to my work."

Magistrate W. D. Vance was sympathetic but firm.

"It just isn't healthy—this just can't go on you know," he said from the bench.

"We'll help you find a nice cheap room close to your work, so that you can have a light to read at nights and enough air," he told Emerson kindly.

The case was adjourned until next Thursday to give the accused time to find another home.

And Emerson left the City Hall with a tall RCMP officer to help him in his hunt for his castle—without wheels this time.

Costly Delay

Prince Rupert fisherman Joshua McKay, 960 First Avenue West, was fined $50 at city police court today for failing to file his 1955 income tax forms. He pleaded guilty.

Warning him he could have been fined $25 for each day the papers were overdue, Magistrate W. D. Vance told the accused he was "lucky only to be charged with two days default—otherwise the penalty could have been very heavy."

Fifteen Enter For Roadeo

Fifteen teenage drivers will compete in the Safe Driving Roadeo at Roosevelt Park at one p.m. tomorrow.

The second annual teenage Roadeo to be organised by the Prince Rupert Junior Chamber of Commerce, the contest will be judged by four RCMP officers.

All the competitors are boys, mostly students.

The silver trophy, more than two feet high, will be displayed at the school of the winning driver during the coming year.

If he is not a schoolboy, the prize will be exhibited at the Civic Centre.

The first prize winner will be given a miniature replica of the trophy. Cups will be presented to second and third winners.

Three RCMP Promotions

Promotions for three RCMP officers of the City detachment and Sub-Division are announced today.

Sgt. J. W. Todd, NCO in charge of the City detachment is now Staff Sgt. Sgt. A. Wildgoose, patrol NCO Sub-Division, has also been promoted to Staff Sgt.

Cpl. J. E. Ruttan, second in command City detachment, is now Sgt.

TORRID DANCERS OF THE TROPICS by pulsating sepia sirens will be seen at the Civic Centre Tuesday and Wednesday night when the Calypso Jamboree, direct from The Cave Supper Club initiates a new show circuit. Above are the Don Strachan Dancers whose voodoo dances and songs of Jamaica set a two week attendance record at The Cave. This group has played the top nightclubs in the U.S. and was featured at the Pacific National Exhibition. First show is at 8 p.m. Tuesday night.

Calypso Jamboree Comes To Rupert Next Week

First of a series of shows, direct from the Cave Supper Club in Vancouver and other top clubs, opens in Rupert Tuesday night at the Civic Centre. The initial presentation features the Calypso Jamboree starring the Don Strachan Dancers.

This group set an all-time attendance record at The Cave and features voodoo dances performed by a ballet of sepia sirens and backed by the throbbing of the bongo drums and the Calypso music of Jamaica.

The Calypso Jamboree made its first appearance in Canada when it was featured at the Pacific National Exhibition. The show will play Terrace on Monday night and Kitimat on Thursday and Friday.

WON AWARD

Francine Perez one of the star dancers of the show received a Motion Picture Arts award for her work in the all negro film, "Let There Be Music".

Don Strachan, choreographer for the group says: "In Calypso Jamboree I have tried to interpret the moods of our people. If you find the dances basic and sensuous, it is because that is Calypso. As a choreographer I can set a pattern for a dance, but it will never be performed the same way twice for true Calypso is a portrayal of emotions—some of them cruel, some of them tender, some of them raw, some of them refined, all of them human.

"Basically the bongo player sends for his message. How the bodies and feet interpret that message depends on the individual and his or her mood.

"The Spanish girl interprets her love with a rose and a fan. The occidental with her eyes and her words, the true Jamaican with her dancing and her body," he continued.

"In Calypso Jamboree we will attempt to show in one of our dances a voodoo scene. This is what I witnessed many times as a small boy in the Islands.

"It could never be presented before a Canadian audience in its full basic wild abandon. We have tried to modify it and keep it within the bounds of what you term good taste. If it seems a little shocking, please try to regard it as artin its true form," he explained.

To bring out the full effects of the show, producer Don Strachan is bringing in a portable black light. First show is at 8 p.m. Tuesday with the second performance at the Civic Centre Wednesday night. Both performances are at the Civic Centre.
