TWELVE RESTAURANTS

Doing Business at the New Railway Town of Smithers.

Harry Hanson, the plumber, writes from Smithers that there is a great deal of building activity in the new railway divisional town. There is a plentiful supply of labor, but building materials are scarce. Good meals are served at 50 cents. There are twelve restaurants, a drug store and a branch of Frizzell's meat market. According to Mr. Hanson, George Frizzell is the busiest man in the burg.

The weather is cold at night but the days are bright and warm. At the time of writing there was an inch of snow on the ground, making everything very muddy. Long rubber boots are in great demand.

There are two churches under construction. Money is scarce but tramps can get a meal by splitting wood or pumping water. Smithers is no place for duds and dandies.

Let the small boy make the noise of the neighborhood and he cares not who does the work.

TERRACE NOTES.

(Special Correspondence to Daily News)

Terrace, Oct. 29.—The warning whistle of the train at the crossing on Sunday was a welcome sound. For the greater part of the week the track had been impassable and the telegraph lines down. Now that better weather conditions prevail we may expect normal conditions again.

Among recent visitors to Terrace was A. Davidson, G. T. P. agent at Prince Rupert. He was accompanied by his wife and little son.

Mr. Johnson, who recently arrived here from Prince Rupert and intends to make his home in this vicinity has rented Mr. Marsh's office building as a temporary residence.

Miss Best, of Seattle, is the guest of her sister Mrs. Little. She intends to remain here for the winter, and will shortly undertake the duties of postmistress.

Shipment of Salmon.

Chief Owen, of the Provincial police, who returned this morning from Naden Harbor and Masset, reports that the whaling station at the former place is closed for the season. The Prince John loaded 1,700 cases of salmon at the Naden Harbor cannery, operated by the Wallace Fisheries.
