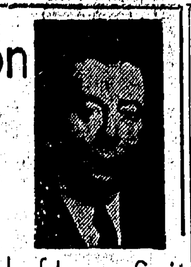
BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE



By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Leading Fourth Highest Card of Long Suit Helps Partner Count Rule of 11

The defenders can help each other to count a hand by making the accepted leads (like the fourth highest card from a long suit, etc.) and by following suit and discarding in an orthodox manner. False carding, with the idea of misleading declarer, is sensationally successful now and then, but usually it does more harm than good.

Mr. Muzzy neither counts a hand nor helps his partner to count. This is not always disastrous as you will note from today's hand.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 NT	Pass	3 NT	All Pass

Mr. Muzzy decided to lead a spade against the three no trump contract. Since all cards below a ten look alike to him, he chose the eight spot. He had no particular reason for this but, of course, Mr. Champion was already taking inferences.

It appeared to him that Mr. Muzzy was leading the top card from a worthless holding of three cards or less. Nothing that was played on the next few tricks changed his mind. Mr. Abel was permitted to win trick one with the ten of spades. He returned the jack and this also won. Mr. Muzzy playing the four.

When the queen of spades was now led, Mr. Champion won with the ace, discarding a small heart from the board. Mr. Muzzy dropped the deuce.

It now seemed crystal-clear to Mr. Champion that Mr. Muzzy's original spade holding had been 8 4 2.

Therefore Mr. Abel must have two good spades left and it appeared essential to keep him out of the lead.

"I could probably make more, partner," remarked Mr. Champion at this point, "but I'll play it safe for nine tricks." So saying, he led to dummy's king of diamonds, returned the nine and finessed it. Looking puzzled, Mr. Muzzy won the lone queen and cashed the king and six of spades to put the contract down one.

For a moment Mr. Champion was paralyzed with amazement. Then, "What kind of a stupid lead was that eight of spades," he bawled.

"Why, I just made my normal lead," Mr. Muzzy replied. (It was normal for him.) "And let me ask you one thing. How many would you have gone set if you had played this hand recklessly?"

The Perils Of Teenage Promiscuity

Adolescent boys seem to have a great need to prove their manhood — often by succeeding with the town child-harlot or an older woman.

In July Reader's Digest, Toronto's Dr. Marion Hilliard tells why promiscuity is sure to make a shambles of a boy's adult life . . . and how parents can help their son cope with this teenage danger. YOU AUTO KNOW!

Strictly small talk today—want to remind you that if you are planning a trip out of the country during the weekend you'd be well to drop down to see us at Rupert Motors to have your car checked over particularly if you aren't driving a Plymouth. Never know what those odd makes of cars are going to do just when you need them most.

If you are dropping uptown Saturday make sure you have a penny or so put aside to purchase a flag for Monday's big show.

And as my friend Jake mentioned the other day —it's very easy to tell a coal miner—you just look for the slack in his pants.

If you are driving Highway Sixteen on the holidays be charitable while covering "Gagliardi's Gravel Gamble" east of Rainbow Lake—somebody goofed again and reports have it that something is being done to undo the wrong!

Nobody picked up the $100.00 cheque mentioned in my last column—it's been hidden for four days now. Chap came so close yesterday that felt he should have been given at least half so took $50.00 off the price of the car he bought. Went home that night convinced of of the old adage "There's more pleasure in giving than receiving."

See you Saturday with complete Dominion Day details—in the meantime I'll be at Rupert Motors.

Art Murray.
