PROVINCE TO BUILD THOUSAND FOOT WING DAM ON BEAR RIVER

TO PREVENT OVERFLOWING AND TEARING OUT OF BANKS DURING PERIOD OF SPRING FRESHETS — BRIDGE ALSO IMPROVED

With a view to further protecting the banks of the Bear River from the encroachment at certain seasons of this turbulent stream, which has already caused considerable damage from cutting out acres of land on the east side within a few miles of the townsite, Superintendent C. J. Gillingham, of the Provincial roads department, has received instructions to build a 1,000 foot wing dam at a point nearly opposite Cameron's camp, less than four miles from town. A large crew is now on the ground under the foremanship of Dan McPhee, with two teams, and quarters have been provided this force for several weeks to come.

The wing dam will be of solid structure calculated to divert the force of the water back to a centre channel particularly during the period of the spring freshets and thus prevent the overflowing and tearing out of the banks. Though the cost will be large the expenditure is a necessary one, and follows the plan formulated two years ago by the superintendent for protecting the river by similar wing dams, several of which have already been built.

Last week saw the completion of the work for the repiling and general strengthening of the main Bear river bridge, which is now in a splendid condition to stand the winter snows and the high water of next summer.—Portland Canal Miner.

ASHBURTON TREATY CLEVERLY DEFENDED BY ADAM SHORTT

SAYS LORD ASHBURTON NOW STANDS ACQUITTED, VINDICATED AND EVEN EULOGIZED FOR THE FIGHT HE MADE

In case there may still be some lingering doubt in the minds of some unregenerate and ignorant Canadians that the interests and development of this Dominion were in any way militated, Dr. Adam Shortt informed the Toronto Canadian Club that he had gone all over the documentary evidence again. "I have studied a thousand documents if I have studied one," he observed. "And Lord Ashburton stands acquitted, vindicated—more, eulogized. He fought to the last point and got for us many more than we were entitled to," was the summing up of the speaker.

The belated vindication lacked nothing in wholesome thoroughness. It was accompanied by a plea that Canadians should make a more careful study of the development of Colonial relations and exhibit less of the factional spirit in dealing with the solution of the present problems and the developments of the future than they had done in the past.

"We talk about Downing St. domination and all that sort of thing, but the truth is that the British Government is simply supporting one element in Canada which is giving it all its ammunition. The fight has always been between two Canadian elements, stuffing the home government with all kinds of stories pro and con. We never ask the British Government to take responsibility if we can get unanimity at home."

MINING OUTLOOK BRIGHT

Investors Had Many Scouts this Way During Summer

British Columbia is on the eve of the greatest mining development the province has known. Scouts for investors have been numerous this summer. The difficulties they meet with are the scarcity of developed properties on the market, and the excessive prices placed on prospects which might otherwise justify development. That the province may have the full benefit of the promised renewal of mining activity it behooves every man who has the interest of the mineral industry at heart to do his utmost to keep it clean and free from wildcat promotions. There are enough resources and opportunities for legitimate work without wildcatting. Then the mineral industry may be expected to undergo steady and prosperous development till British Columbia takes its place among the leading mining countries of the world, is the opinion of The Mining, Engineering and Electrical Record.

WILL OPERATE BY TELEPHONE

With the arrival on Thursday of District Superintendent Frank Dowling, of the Government telegraph service, arrangements were completed to operate the wire from Granby Bay into Stewart by telephone, and Local Manager H. Birch will be transferred to Swamp Point with the government launch so as to be better able to maintain the line. The office will be transferred next week to the Stewart Trust Company and C. T. Baker will have charge of the wire. This arrangement, said Superintendent Dowling, will not only effect a considerable financial saving at this end, but will permit a better service in so far as the maintenance of the line is concerned.—Portland Canal Miner.

INTERESTING POINTS ABOUT THE RAINFALL

The Ocean Supplies Only Two-Ninths of the General Precipitation

It is commonly thought that the moisture which forms clouds and falls as rain is almost entirely due to evaporation from the ocean, but scientific investigations show that seven-ninths of the rain which falls over land area is supplied by evaporation over such areas, the ocean supplying only two-ninths of such precipitation. Dr. Raphael Zon, one of the foremost investigators in America, states that "the forest evaporates more water than any vegetable cover and much more than free water surfaces." In fact, it has been estimated by Dr. Fernow, of the University of Toronto faculty of forest, that 75 per cent. of the rainfall over forested areas is returned to the atmosphere as watery vapor, which does much to increase the amount of moisture carried by air currents passing over such forests.

In Canada the prevailing winds blow from the west and the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan are largely dependent for their rainfall on air currents which come over the Rocky Mountains. It is a well known fact that winds passing over high mountains become cooled to such an extent that they lose most of their moisture, which falls in the form of rain, and hence the land areas for many miles to the leeward of such mountains receive so little rainfall that they are often arid. But if the leeward slopes of these mountains are covered with forests, as is the case in the Rocky Mountains, these forests will evaporate and render again available a large amount of the rainfall over these mountains, which might otherwise pass off through underground channels, and by re-loading with moisture the winds blowing over the prairies, such forests make possible a much greater rainfall than might otherwise occur. Should the east slope of the Rocky Mountains become denuded of tree growth, it is likely that much larger areas in Alberta and Saskatchewan would be arid than is now the case.

BIG SMELTER PROFITS

Dividend Last Month Amounted to Four Per Cent.

The Spokesman-Review has stated that notice was posted on the Spokane Stock Exchange bulletins announcing that the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co., of Canada, one of the largest operating corporations in British Columbia, had declared a dividend of $2 a share, payable September 30, on the issued capitalization of 55,000 $100 shares. The amount of the dividend is $111,000 and brings the total disbursements of the company since profit payments were inaugurated up to $1,125,061. The last dividend declared by the company was on October 1, 1912, when $4 a share was distributed to stockholders. It is expected there will be another declaration before the current year ends.
