MAN SHOT BY SPECIAL POLICE FINLANDER NAMED COMMENDI

SPECIAL CONSTABLE EDGAR THOUGHT HE WAS BANK ROBBER—INQUEST AT HAZELTON YESTERDAY

From a special despatch to The News from Hazelton today it appears that yesterday's story of the shooting at Skeena Crossing was substantially correct, and that an innocent foreigner was the victim of overzealous police work.

LATEST AT THE EMPRESS

Photoplays Shown How Manager Stevens Keeps Up With the Times

In close proximity to the Empress theatre during Saturday night and Sunday morning several stores were broken into by burglars. This manager Stevens rightly deducted would give the public an immediate though a transitory interest in burglary plays, so he put on last night one called "The Combination of the Safe," which is a thrilling drama of under and upper world adventures, and he follows it with another photoplay entitled "Algy the Watchman," and "Tom Boy Bessie." There are lessons to be learned from these, but the feature of the evening's entertainment is "The Better Man," one of those western dramas which are always popular. "The Lair of the Wolf" is a rural drama presenting several interesting climaxes. These will be repeated tonight which is the night when the weekly gold drawing takes place.

BRIDGE OVER BULKLEY

No Attempt to Build Road to It Worthy of Name

During the past week some of the local teamsters have done considerable work on the approaches to the new high level bridge over the Bulkley, near Hazelton, and now the bridge is in use for general traffic and the teamsters find a great difference in time and horseflesh consumed over the old road and the big hills. At that the new route is only through bush and over what was called snow roads last winter. No attempt as yet has been made to build a road that is in any way worthy of such a name.

WHITE HOUSE WEDDING TODAY

THE BRIDE AND THE BRIDEGROOM

(Special to The Daily News)

Washington, Nov. 25.—The marriage of Miss Jessie Wilson, daughter of President Wilson, to Mr. Frank Sayre of New York, takes place today and the city is enfevered for the occasion. Yesterday afternoon there was a distinguished gathering at the White House, and the marriage ceremony was rehearsed with full elaboration. In the evening there was a public reception, when moving through the rooms was a matter of some difficulty on account of the great throngs. The wedding gifts were displayed, and before these there had to be stationed guards to keep the well dressed throng moving so that the more might have a chance of viewing the beautiful collection. It came from all parts of the world, from rulers and subjects and ordinary citizens. Several of the States and most of the large cities were represented in special gifts of an elaborate and costly character; also the supreme court, the two houses of congress, all the departments and the army and navy. And one of the gifts which the bride says she treasures the most of all is a little bead purse worked by the hands of a little girl friend. They were set out along the east wall of the blue room and filled the whole of its length. The trains last night and this morning were crowded with distinguished visitors and there were many extra and special trains. It will be the most elaborate wedding that has ever taken place in the White House since the days of Dolly Adams.

WANT FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS MORE FOR THE NIGHT SCHOOL

THIS FROM CITY AND IN ADDITION TO SIMILAR SUM FROM BOARD OF EDUCATION—DEPUTATION WAITS ON COUNCIL

With a grant of $500 from the Board of Education in their hands, a delegation of six approached the City Council last evening and asked for another $500 from city general funds. The deputation was from the committee appointed at a public meeting recently to consider the question of opening a night school.

Rev. F. W. Kerr was spokesman. He said that the committee found the Provincial Department permitted night schools to teach certain subjects. In Prince Rupert there are many who desire an opportunity to improve their education in other than the elementary subjects. Hence it is proposed to add four other subjects to the curriculum. The school is proposed to run for five months.

The Board of Education are agreeable to the proposition and have made a grant of $500 towards the expense of the project. The delegation wanted a guarantee of $500 from the city also before they could go on with the organization of the school. It is expected the nominal tuition fees will pay only half the expense.

Mayor Naden did not know how the finance committee would deal with the request as the year's estimates are all passed. If they did not make the grant they would no doubt make a recommendation to next year's council. He realized that such a recommendation would not necessarily warrant the committee in going on with their preparation to open immediately after the New Year.

Ald. Maitland and Kerr moved the matter to the consideration of the Finance Committee. Ald. Dybhavn favored granting the $500 out of this year's funds rather than see the school project dropped. "According to the reports in the papers the council has lots of money," said Ald. Kerr in concluding the discussion.

IRISH PLAY BIG SUCCESS

Westholme Opera House Packed from Floor to Ceiling

It is quite a time since the Westholme Opera House entertained such a crowded house as that of last night, and especially when "Only Movies" were the attraction. But the photoplay of "The Heart of Kathleen" was as thoroughly enjoyed as though the characters in life walked the boards and spoke their lines, and what added much to the enjoyment was the Westholme orchestra, which last night certainly surpassed itself in the floods of Irish melodies, both plaintive and merry, with which they flooded the auditorium. The Irish play will be given again tonight, as there were many last night who were unable to crowd in to see it.

ACTIVITY IN MINING

Ore Rapidly Taken Out of the Silver Standard and Harris Mines

The best reports from the mines of the district this week are to the effect that the properties are working steadily and that ore is being taken out very fast at the Silver Standard and Harris Mines, while at the Great Ohio George Jennings is making good headway with his tunnel work. At the Rocher de Boule a big gang is now at work preparing for the installation of the power plant.—Omineca Herald.

New Waiting Room Open

"As cosy as a drawing room" is a popular term applied to the new G. T. P. waiting room in the former Inn building. The lower floor of the building has been given over to waiting rooms and a restaurant. There is a large men's lavatory in connection and a separate ladies waiting and retiring rooms. The building has good plumbing and heating appointments and the public rooms are open for passengers waiting for all boats and trains. The signs for the direction of the public have just been put up.

Full of Strong Waters.

William Samson, a full blood from Port Simpson, was before police court this morning charged with being drunk. He was fined $10 and paid it with a cheerful smile. Phillip Morrison, a fellow Indian, did not get off quite so easily. He was replaced in the jug until he hints where and from whom he obtained the strong waters that defeated his weakness.

PRACTICISING THE DOG IN THE MANGER POLICY

Province Refuses to Complete Silver Standard Roads

Word was received from the public works department at Victoria last week by the government agent that the department would not permit the owners of the Silver Standard mine to put up the necessary money to complete the road to their property. Neither will the department complete the road. As stated before, the owners of the Silver Standard furnished the money to finish the job and asked to be allowed to use the government camp equipment. But the government says no, and as a result all the money that has been spent on that road has been wasted and will lie idle for another year while the mine owners are hauling ore several miles farther by the old road.—Omineca Herald.

MAJESTIC'S BIG BILL

Pathe's Marvellous Color Photoplay Should Not be Missed

The Majestic theatre put on last night an unusually large and attractive programme for the entertainment of its patrons. It opens with a fine photoplay in two parts called "Love and War." One of the interesting features of this is that it is a story of the recent war between Italy and Turkey. It tells of an Italian lieutenant who falls in love with a peasant girl and pledges to her undying devotion. A remarkably fine scene is the return of the victorious troops to Rome, the Holy City being more elaborately decked out than is usual at Mardi Gras even. The lieutenant has covered himself with glory, is promoted and decorated. Then he becomes engaged to a lady of title in whose palace the peasant girl is one of the maids. Then comes the denouement and the father of the fiancée, himself an officer, breaks off the aristocratic alliance, and orders the soldier to wed the peasant.

"The Moving Finger" is an entertaining piece, and then comes pictures of an old, old story retold in thrilling films, "The Lady and the Glove." There are gorgeous court scenes, the lions' den and the coquettish beauty who throws her glove for her lover to rescue at the risk of his life. He does so, and contemptuously throws the glove into the lady's face. The big bill concludes with "The Widow Casey's Return," the laughable farce of how a wake is turned into a rollicking wedding.
