BRITONS FROWN ON KISSING BY EUROPEAN SOCCER PLAYERS

HARROGATE, England (Reuters) — Soccer players who hug and kiss their goal scorers the way continental players do have upset Britain's soccer association secretary.

Before kicking off at an army game here, Sir Stanley Rous told 500 cadets:

"These ideas have crept into football since we began to play continental teams. We have copied some of their emotional style of expression.

"That is not the British method. I do not like to see footballers hugging and kissing a colleague who scores a goal."

Scourt troops were amalgamated with the Third and First troops.

"This move was necessary due to lack of leadership and the result has been a loss to the Scout movement of several fine Scouts and an added burden to the already overworked Scouters." He said he hoped the action would be only a temporary one.

The commissioner paid tribute to the fine work being done with and by the Miller Bay group. During the year the Miller Bay group, made up of young TB patients, had been presented with its charter. Mr Williamson also lauded the association for its co-operation, the Scouters for "unselfish devotion" and praised the "fine work done by the group committee members, who are the very backbone of the movement."

Treasurer P. F. P. Bird's annual report showed that the association enjoyed a satisfactory year financially.

Mr. Pearce, on behalf of Mr. Frizzell thanked those who had remained on the executive until the end of the year for their work and also expressed appreciation to Mrs. T. A. Johnstone and her special events committee for the dinner meeting

A Scout troop under the direction of King Scout David Ridsdale, provided a short entertainment interlude.

Offered Painting, Judge Takes Cash

WIGAN, England (AP)—Artist Jim Isherwood offered Wednesday to pay a speeding fine with one of his paintings assuring the court: "They'll be valuable in a few years."

The judge decided to take the cash—£2 10 shillings.

WITH MEN WHO CAN'T BE VAGUE

Men must continue to open and develop Canada's northern frontier . . . adequate staffs must stay on duty constantly at lonely outposts. Progress calls for determination, rugged endurance, quick decisions.

Perhaps that is why you find Haig & Haig in the picture with men who can't be vague. In ordering Scotch whisky, they naturally name the brand they know through experience to have singular virtues . . . the original Scotch flavour and gentleness that in 1627 set the standard for all to follow.
