LOADING SUPPLIES FOR STRICKEN GREECE—Bags of flour and crates of food are pictured being loaded aboard the vessel "SS American Victory" in Staten Island, New York, for shipment to Greece. This is part of a shipment of $35,000,000 worth of foodstuffs and automobiles, trucks and jeeps to help the country now in the throes of an invasion by guerrilla forces from Albania. Some of the shipment is also for use by the American embassy in Athens.

Ketchikan Assured of One And Possibly Two Pulp Mills--Is Elated

Congressional Action Brings New Lease of Life to All Southeastern Alaska —Petersburg Also Getting Plant

High elation existing in Ketchikan since "wonderful" news was received at the first of the week that United States Senate at Washington had passed a joint resolution of Congress which authorizes the Department of Agriculture to dispose of timber in Tongass National Forest which will result in the building of a $10,000,000 bleach-sulphite pulp mill at Ward's Cove, adjacent to the town of Ketchikan, was reflected by J. K. Beardman, secretary of the Ketchikan Chamber of Commerce, who was in the city aboard the Camosun last evening returning north from a trip to Seattle. Release of the timber is expected to permit of the construction of at least two mills at Ketchikan and also a $20,000,000 plant at Petersburg. Alaskans are estimating that the congressional action will create a $100,000,000 industry in all for southeastern Alaska. A new lease of life has been asured for Ketchikan and southeastern Alaska generally which have been waiting for twenty-five years for the passage of legislation to permit such development, said Mr. Beardman.

The Puget Sound Pulp & Timber Co., which had its leading officials on the ground at Ketchikan only two weeks ago, has been waiting only for the passage of the legislation before embarking plans for the building of the plant at Ketchikan.

[illegible] paper company allegedly interested in a site near Ketchikan and may send engineers to this vicinity later

Puget Sound concern will operate under a different name in Ketchikan area, but several stockholders will be interested in the new Alaskan venture and its officers will supervise the local operation.

Mr. Cavin, who visited Ketchikan a couple of weeks ago, is expected back soon to lay out the construction of the power facilities. So far as he is known at Ketchikan, concerns do not make any money available for construction of a power plant and the company will have to build its own hydro-electric system. This will mean that the initial mill cost of $8,500,000 will be increased by about $2,000,00.

Coming of the one mill it is expected will bring Ketchikan an increase of 2000 to 2500 residents, or as much as 50 per cent, although many of the mill and logging camp employees probably will not live in the city limits. Officials of the company hope to build the plant in an area where the Tongass highway can serve or be extended to the mill.

They will bring in about 250 new family men and the balance will be single men or men who have their families behind for the time being. The mill will employ 300 to 500 men and the camps will employ an additional 300 to 500. Single men will live in barracks to be built by the company but private capital will build many of the homes for families.

BUILDING BOOM DUE

Coming of the mill will assure Ketchikan of a large expansion in private construction. Officers of J. R. Heckman & Company have said they will try to get bids on construction of the Revilla Hotel, a half-million dollar extension of the Ingersoll Hotel in Ketchikan. At least one new apartment house is contemplated, costing an estimated $150,000 and the school board and city will have to undertake expansion costing upwards of $1,000,000. Plans for the new high school building will have to be revamped.

Engineering on the plant will take 90 to 120 days, but in that time a contract for the timber may be made with the forest service. Work on the plant could begin by December 1, if all goes well.

The Alaska native service has been asked to train workers for the plant and mill at its Sitka industrial school and will proceed along that line.

TWENTY-MILLION PETERSBURG PLANT

The D & F company of Los Angeles, headed by Emmett Dougherty, plans a $20,000,000 newsprint mill at Thomas Bay, near Petersburg, with work also to begin late this year. It is controlled by newspaper publishers' capital with work to be done by Foley Brothers of New York, who will operate the 55-ton per day plant.

Warfare In Palestine

British Troops on Rampage In Tel Aviv—Jews Attack Regiment Headquarters

JERUSALEM, (AP) — An attack was launched yesterday on headquarters of the Hampshire Regiment. Hand grenades and mortars were used and one of the attackers was killed. No announcement was made concerning military casualties, if any. The regimental headquarters is only 200 yards away from the building of the Jewish Agency.

The attack came after British soldiers and Palestine police had launched a twin investigation of shootings Thursday night in the all-Jewish metropolis of Tel Aviv when five Jews were killed and scores of others injured.

FRIGATE HERE ON PORT DAY

Prince Rupert will be port of call for two warships on Port Day, August 21, according to latest word received at H.M.C.S. Chatham here. In addition to H.M.S. Kenya, which will dock on August 18, H.M.C.S. Antigonish, a frigate, will be on hand. Her exact arrival date is not yet known.

Antigonish, commanded by Lieut. Commander John Wolfenden, will carry a crew of about 175, including naval reserve trainees. The vessel replaced H.M.C.S. Charlottetown, a frigate which visited Prince Rupert under command of Lieut. Commander Wolfenden last year and is now in reserve.

'FLYING SAUCERS' SEEN BY CITIZENS

Prince Rupert saw flying saucers Friday. The deluge, however was unaccompanied by either cups or dinner plates. It fell from the sky twice during the afternoon and it was more than a coincidence that the Canadian Pacific Airlines Sandspit flight happened to be in the sky overhead at the same time.

The flying saucers, for some celestial reason, carried red printed labels plugging for the Port Queen candidature of Miss Lorraine Youngman. Observers were heard to express the opinion that the Junior Chamber of Commerce, undoubtedly, had more to do with the phenomenon than did the men of Mars or Mercury.

The flying paper discs actually did not fly at all but fluttered downward into the front lawns and rooftops where they were salvaged by curious citizens.

Originator of the idea was James Ham, Junior Chamber Port Queen committee chairman. Two hundred of the saucers were dropped from the C.P.A. outbound flight at 1 o'clock, and 200 more on the inbound trip at 4:30.

HONORED ON RETIREMENT

Presentations to Chief Engineer Alec Munro Aboard Steamer Prince Rupert

The friendships developed during 37 years of almost weekly visits to Prince Rupert as engineer aboard various Canadian National boats united in a solid front of esteem in the smoking room of the Prince Rupert Mondy night for retiring Chief Engineer Alec Munro.

For the jovial engineer, who was on the last voyage of a career that began in 1910 and included almost 2,000,000 miles of coastwise travel, it was the most memorable visit to Prince Rupert.

In the presence of more than a score of smiling friends, "Alec" received presentations from Divisional Superintendent C. A. Berner and heard speeches paying tribute to his friendliness and ability.

The presentation group included railway, wharf and dry dock officials and workers and members of the C.N.R.A. Lawn Bowling club of which Mr. Munro was an enthusiastic member. He received an electric toaster for his wife and an electric razor and a box of cigars for himself.

The brief ceremony was presided over by Howard Hill, with Mr. Berner making the presentations. Congratulations poured in from all sides. Capt. Ernest Caldwell of the Prince Rupert paid tribute to his retiring chief engineer. Mr. Munro replied.

An engraved card bore the following names of friends who honored Mr. Munro's retirement: W. L. Armstrong, A. L. Holtby, H. R. Hill, J. McPhail, D. Morrison, A. R. Nichols, W. Jefferson, C. A. Berner, Eric Berner, W. Cruickshank, P. Lakie, Percy Jones, J. A. Lindsay, A. Ronald, A. T. Ivarson, Bert Morgan, Jack Judge, L. Arrol, J. S. Irvine, W. Barton, Gordon Forbes, Neil Cameron, A. T. DEATH CAUSE WAS NATURAL

City Workman Expired While Rolling Cigarette

Gustav Erickson, who collapsed at 2:30 Thursday afternoon and died shorty before 3 at the city rock quarry on Eighth Avenue, was a naturalized Canadian born in Sweden.

For the last six months Erickson worked for the city but for some time prior to that he was an employee of the local dry dock. As far as is known Erickson, who was a bachelor, has no kin residing in this country.

Deceased, who was 46 years, 7 months of age, was, apparently, in the act of rolling a cigarette when seized with a heart attack. One of his working companions, T. W. Plant, noticed him tumble and went to his assistance. With the help of another workman Erickson was carried to the shade of the pit while E. Keehan went to phone the ambulance and doctor. The ambulance arrived a short time after followed by the doctor.

Coroner M. M. Stephens, who investigated Erickson's death, decided that the victim died of natural causes and that no inquest was necessary.

FORMER ARMY GARAGE BURNS

Structure on Eleventh Ave. Beyond McClymont Park Destroyed by Fire Yesterday Morning

Fire which might have been of incendiary origin destroyed an old open Army garage building on Eleventh Avenue just beyond McClymont Park about 10:20 yesterday morning. The structure was located in the former anti-aircraft camp. An unofficial watchman who lived nearby was unable to account for the starting of the fire which, although well under way when the fire department arrived, was speedily put out.

H. G. Perry is arriving in the city by tonight's train from Prince George on one of his periodical business visits and will also attend the annual convention of the Associated Boards of Trade of Central British Columbia next week.

Committed For Trial

Former American Soldier to Answer to Killing Charge at Assizes

A six-hour preliminary hearing of William Harry Eckels on a charge of murder culminated late Friday afternoon in Magistrate W. D. Vance ordering the 24-year old former American soldier to stand trial at the next court of competent jurisdiction to answer for the death of Patrick Joseph Meehan in a hotel room on July 25.

Eckels was committed for trial after 13 witnesses presented Crown evidence in a session that began at 10:30 Friday morning and ended just before 6 p.m. The Crown's case was conducted by J. T. Harvey.

During the hearing, Eckels sat stolidly in the accused box, occasionally conferring with his counsel, Mrs. Willa Ray. Mrs. Ray cross-examined Crown witnesses but waived an offer to have any defence testimony presented at the preliminary.

The committal for trial means that Eckels will come before a judge and jury at the next Assize Court session which starts here on September 29.

The afternoon session of the preliminary trial was taken up with the presentation of testimony by police and medical witnesses whose accounts of the events of the early morning of July 25 were similar to testimony they gave at an inquest into Meehan's death on Thursday.

During the morning session, evidence was given by two native girls who had been with the accused and Meehan in room 72 of the Central Hotel immediately prior to Meehan's death. James McKinnon, a guest at the hotel, who was aroused by a fight in room 72 and turned in an alarm, and Theodore Hagblad, hotel proprietor, also were on the witness stand in the morning.

NATIVE CHILD PASSES AWAY

Benjamin McKay, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McKay of Port Simpson, died Thursday while enroute from a fishing camp on Zayas Island to hospital here for treatment. The ailing child was brought in by the parents in a trolling boat, but succumbed before reaching Prince Rupert.

Dutch Agree to United States Mediation Offer

LAKE SUCCESS (CP)—Dr. Elco N. Van Kleffens, Netherlands' Ambassador to Washington told the United Nations Security Council today that his government had accepted the United States offer to mediate the undeclared war in Indonesia. He had been authorized by his government to say the Netherlands would glady accept the mediation offer and that his government stood ready to enter into consultations with United States officials immediately. His announcement came as a surprise.

The United Nations called on the Security Council today to order immediate cessation of hostilities and prepare the way for American mediation of the undeclared war. Herschel V. Johnson, deputy U.S. delegate, made this demand after Dr. Elco Kleffens had made the Dutch offer at The Hague, the Dutch cabinet has been called into extraordinary session to consider the United Nations Security Council demand that both sides cease fire in the Indonesian warfare.

Meantime at Batavia the Dutch Army announces that mopping up and consolidation operations are under way through Java to day while in Sumatra they claim new gains in the drive southward on the Medan front. These reports were contained in the communique issued just after news reached the colonial Dutch capital that the United Nations Security Council would ask both the Dutch and Indonesian republic to cease hostilities in progress since July 20.

The Republicans, by their own admission, were anticipating intensification of the Dutch push toward the capital of Jogjakarta in south central Java.

FIRST BLAST ON PULP MILL SITE

A dynamite explosion with considerable significance to Prince Rupert let loose with a roar Thursday afternoon at Watson Island. It was the first blast to signalize the start of construction work on the Celanese Corporation of America's $15,000,000 textile pulp mill at the former American ammunition dump near Port Edward.

The explosion was set off by arthur Arneson, powder man working with M. J. Saunders, local rock contractor, and it was set of fto allow removal of rock for the placing of oil tanks for the Imperial Oil which will supply fuel for the construction project.

The main rock removal project, a $400,000 jobs, is to be done by the B.C. Bridge and Dredging Co. which will level off an area large enough for the mill. This should commence next week, three carloads of heavy rock removal equipment, which arrived yesterday being unloaded today.

CONVICTIONS IN NANAIMO STRIKE

Twenty-two Women Laundry Workers Fined $1 Each

NANAIMO, (CP) — Twenty-two women workers, striking from the Imperial Laundry here since June 9, were each convicted Friday of participating in an illegal strike and each fined $1 and $1 costs.

Magistrate Beever-Potts dismissed the three bargaining agents of the Nanaimo Laundry Workers' Union (C.C.L.), finding them not guilty of the charge of having authorized the strike.

Magistrate Beever-Potts said the new provincial labor legislation, under which the prosecutions were launched, needs clarification.

VICTORIES FOR DUTCH

Situation Continues Tense In Indonesia

BATAVIA, (AP)—The Dutch claim sweeping new gains in mid-Java and both the Dutch and the Indonesians spoke of scattered Republican counter-attacks as this Dutch colonial capital waited for possible new United Nations intervention in the 12 days old East Indian war.

Virtually the entire population of Batavia sat beside their radios in anticipation of whether or not the United Nations would decide to take a hand.

MUST STAY IN FRANCE

Jewish Immigrants Will Not Be Disembarked in Palestine or Cyprus

LONDON, (AP)—A Foreign Office spokesman said yesterday that the British government will not transfer 4500 illegal Jewish immigrants in ferry ships now lying in convoy off Port du Bouc, France, either to Palestine or detention camps in Cyprus if they fail to disembark and accept France's offer of asylum. So far the Jews resolutely refuse to leave the ships and their disposition has become a vexed problem. They insist upon being taken to Palestine.

POLIO THREAT LOOKING BAD

VANCOUVER—An ugly threat of polio has reappeared in the Dominion, with the west so far bearing the brunt of the latest attack. Up to the present, only a couple of deaths have been recorded, but the total number of cases has reached more than 200. British Columbia has a record of 91 cases since the start of the year with 67 persons stricken in Vancouver compared to one up to July 31 last year.

Hills and Creeks Honor Service Men

OTTAWA—Hills and creeks in the Cypress Hills district of Saskatchewan, previously nameless, have now been named for three Canadian servicemen who perished in World War Two. Moorhead Creek is named for Cpl. Donald Moorhead; Underdahl Creek for te. G. T. Underdahl and the Wilde Hills will forever bear mute testimony to the sacrifice paid by Sgt. Allen Wilde of Regina. The former two came from Mape Creek. They died at Normandy and Dieppe.

Ketchikan's Good News

KNOWING OURSELVES the thrill and satisfaction of anticipating major industrial development, Prince Rupert can understandingly congratulate Ketchikan which, as a result of legislative action at Washington in the making of territorial timber available, seems assured now of a $10,000,000 bleached sulphite pulp plant.

We are happy for Ketchikan. We can appreciate what it will mean for the "First City" which had been having some reverses this year such as loss of halibut handling business due to the Seattle fleet tie-up, the removal of the coastguard and the closing down of the fisheries research bureau and had been feeling in the dumps quite generally.

From all accounts, Ketchikan, as a community, had to work hard to gain congressional approval of the resolution which authorized the Department of Agriculture to dispose of timber to paper mill operators under fifty-year contracts. They had to do a lot of agitating in the right places to organize the support necessary. But the Americans have the knack of getting things like that done.

A big pulp mill project will, of course, set Ketchikan up as a city of no little importance, the principal metropolis of Alaska quite likely, and that will mean considerable to Prince Rupert which has some time since come to realize the increasing significance of its position in respect to Southeastern Alaska and Ketchikan in particular.

BOARD OF TRADE WEEK

NEXT WEEK WILL indeed, be "Board of Trade Week" in Prince Rupert. The big "B.C. Products" show is coming on Wednesday when important business men members of the Vancouver Board of Trade will be here to show many of the wares that are made in British Columbia. From all accounts, it will be an impressive enough display and, during the afternoon and evening of Wednesday, the citizens will, no doubt, be out in large numbers to see it.

Then on Thursday and Friday the Associated Boards of Trade of Central British Columbia will be here in annual convention to discuss problems concerning the welfare and development of the district as a whole and to decide on taking such action and making representations as are deemed necessary. Prince Rupert will be welcoming men of affairs not only from this district but from Alaska and from the important centres down south. Beneficial mutual understandings and fellowships should, as a result, be developed.

The Chamber of Commerce or Board of Trade movement will be seen in action here next week.

For the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce, which has been experiencing one of the most active and in many respects one of the most successful years in its history, the events of the ensuing week will be culminating achievements.

SOCIALIST VS. SOCIALIST

AN INTERESTING labor relation situation has arisen in Saskatchewan where the Woodworkers' Association strikers in a government box factory at Prince Albert have found themselves locked out after pulling a walk-out.

Oddly enough this is the same plant which Premier Douglas' government solicitously took over two years ago to protect the union after its management refused to sign a collective bargaining agreement.

Under the new British Columbia law, which has drawn such mighty protests from organized labor and the C.C.F. in particular, employers can be prosecuted for turning a strike into a lock-out just as the union can be prosecuted if it starts a strike before conciliation and arbitration provisions have been exhausted. Who is going to prosecute the owners at Prince Albert for the "walk-out?"

As the Vancouver Sun points out Saskatchewan is giving an object lesson on the regimentation aspects of socialism and the union is finding that a socialist government can stamp a lot harder on organized labor than any private employer would dare or desire to do. "Under the planned economy so highly extolled by political opponents of free enterprise, a union can have a pretty thin time unless it behaves itself as the government dictates."

LIFE in this Prince Rupert

by BIDDEE JINKS

I call her "my little Belgium bride" which doesn't make sense unless you know that she is a war bride. She is my near neighbor too, so that on wash days her line squeals protestingly in chorus with mine. Other times we drink tea together or she sits sewing while I iron.

Her married name is Mrs. Jack Ewart, but Yvette —"Vettie" to her husband—suits her dainty self to perfection. So does her speech. In a year's time, she has an amazing vocabulary, with an accent suggesting the perfection of Parision French.

The announcement of war on that Sunday in September, 1939, came as a great shock to the people of Belgium. On the whole, they were unprepared, with no thought of war. Once started, the ball rolled fast and soon Belgium was an occupied country, her people cold and hungry and receiving the "white paper."

The "white paper" was a call to duty, its German inventors would say. It was sent out to all classes and ages, summoning them into Germany, or some other place, to work in specified industries. Sometimes, officers followed on the heels of the "slip," breaking families asunder, dragging a free people into servitude.

Yvette tore her paper into fragments and heard no more about it. She was fortunate—for her brother-in-law was forced to flee before his captors and hide out until after the liberation.

The liberation is a thing of which we in Canada know next to nothing. When we do hear, we cannot fully understand what it meant. It was not quite the ending of cold rooms and poor food and little food. Long ago it was written that "man shall not live by bread alone," and therein lay the significance of the liberation. It meant that heavy chains might fall at last from the spirit of a country that loved, and had a right to life.

It was not done quietly. Listening to Yvette, I caught a little of the joy that transformed her country that day. Yet not "that day" for it covered a week and more, a period of constant rejoicing at home and in the streets. They sang, they laughed, they danced day and night. "You would think we were crazy," she said with misty eyes, "but we couldn't help it. When we saw a soldier—the British liberated us in Brussels—we ran up to kiss him!"

Of course it was not the end of all sorrow. Families were yet separated, some to meet no more. The evidence of bombing was all too sad a reminder of what had been, and of the effort needed for rehabilitation. And then there was still the black market, a full, flaunting demon of robbery.

Under its recognized system, you could get nearly anything if you had the money. Its prices tripled so that 1500 francs ($40.00 in our money) was the price of shoes that would ordinarily have cost $12.00, or less.

But even in the black market soap was an almost unknown quantity. When it was alloted, one thin piece per person, it was priceless despite its strong, green properties that removed the skin from the face.

Once a gift of soap reached Yvette from Canada. There were three perfumed cakes of gentle soap. Even in possession of such luxuries first thoughts are often of others. One cake went to her aunt who had mothered her since her own mother's death; one went to her sister for her baby's bath; one she kept for her own personal use.

In Canada now herself, it is still her pleasure to remember the needs of her kin-folk, all of whom are in her native land. Out of the abundance of this land, it is possible to alleviate a little the hardships of these brave people whom she left to come to us.

George Mitchell left yesterday to spend the week-end at Lake Kathlyn with Mrs. Mitchell and family who are in residence there for the summer.

Frank Dibb has been spending some time at Lakelse Lake lately, getting the benefit of the change from town, as well as improving property he has there.

SATURDAY SERMON

SOWING AND REAPING

(By REV. JOHN LINNEY, Full Gospel Tabernacle)

Be not deceived; God is not mocked for, whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap. For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the spirit shall of the spirit reap everlasting life.

—Gal. 6:7-9.

There are some passages of scripture which are extremely practical. Experience proves the lesson right and, when all is said and done, experience is the best teacher.

If any scripture should work its way into our hearts it is this one—whatsoever a man soweth "That" shall he also reap.

It is a law of nature, if we sow potatoes we reap potatoes. If we plant cabbage we don't expect to grow sunflowers.

"He that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption."

If a man is careless and indifferent and allows bad habits to get a grip upon him so that he is not able to care for his business, or daily task, we expect that, as a result of his dissipation, he will be carried to his ruin.

The god of this world (Satan) hath blinded the minds of such, and so they go blindly upon their way sowing to the flesh and shall of the flesh reap corruption. This saddens our hearts when we know that Jesus Christ came to break every fetter which may bind one to his sin and set the "whosoeverwill" gloriously free.

It is hard for those of teenage to accept the lessons taught by experience. The boy of fourteen years of age believed he knew much more than father, or even grandfather, but by the time he had come to the age of twenty-four he said "I am surprised how much father had learned."

Even so, how many adults are slow to learn from the experience that God's Word teaches! "Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap."

Sometimes the reaping tarries a number of years, in other cases it may fall as lightning follows thunder, as in the case of a woman who made a purchase in a store of a small town in Southern England. The clerk gave her too much change. As she left the store he realized his mistake hurried after her and explained the matter to her. The woman replied "If I have stolen anything from you God strike me dead," and immediately she fell down dead on the sidewalk. The citizens of the town erected a monument on the spot, engraving particulars of the incident in stone and so speaking to all who would pass by, that "Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap."

"But he that soweth to the spirit shall of the spirit reap everlasting life." That makes wonderful reading. How precious it is to know that, when we confess our sin to Him. He is able and willing to forgive us our sin and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.

This scripture also makes known unto us that, "God is not mocked."

Take for instance those who may teach in colleges or institutes of learning and, through their personality and the wisdom of this world, seek to undermine the faith of young people in God's Word, or the case of a man who may leave the farm with a hay-rack to do chores and bring home a load of hay. Many things go wrong during the day, and as he nears home suddenly the load of hay falls over. Immediately the man shakes his fist toward heaven and challenges God to come down and fight it out beside the hay sprawled across the highway. Neither of these men are mocking God. All they are doing is making regular fools out of themselves. It is not possible for the created to mock the Creator.

Life is but a vapor which a sunbeam or a breeze, may destroy. Then after death the Judgment. So, dear reader, if you have not yielded your life to God, ponder prayfully the scripture at the head of this article and "Do It Now!"

BLIND WOMAN'S PLIGHT

Editor, Daily News:

On Monday last I had occasion to travel by the evening train East. The train was due to start at 9 p.m. Standard Time. On arrival at the station the information was given that the train would be 1½ hours late in starting. As there were quite a number of people waiting, far more than could be accommodated in the waiting room, it would mean that a number would have to stand. Among them was an elderly lady who was blind and who had been discharged from hospital that day. As there were no officials on duty except on the sleeping car section the unfortunate passengers had to stand for the 1½ hours. Surely some arrangements can and should be made to ensure the comfort of passengers who have already paid their fares.

AUGUST BRIDE IS HONORED

Honoring Miss Mavis Thain, whose marriage to Ray Hougan will take place late this month, a shower was held last night at the home of Mrs. Cherrill McIntyre, 545 Eighth Avenue East, at which 30 guests paid their respects to the bride to be and enjoyed a social evening.

The wedding will unite two well known Prince Rupert families. The bride to be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Thain while the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hougan.

A large simulated wedding cakee wheeled in on a tea wagon brought the gifts to the guest of honor as she sat on a decorated chair. The social evening included two contests, a "jumble" contest, won by Mrs. John Thompson, and a "Romantic Musical" won by Mrs. William Murdoch.

In addition, there was a bride's cake, with the name of Miss Thain on it. She also was presented with a corsage by the hostess.

Present at the function were Miss Mavis Thain, Mrs. George Thain, Mrs. Sam Hougan, Mrs. J. Kaspar, Mrs. M. Thomey, Mrs. J. Kustus, Mrs. J. Thompson, Mrs. W. V. Tattersall, Mrs. A. Silversides, Mrs. McCormick, Mrs. L. Brewerton, Mrs. L. V. Tattersall, Mrs. Heel, Mrs. S. Alexander, Mrs. W. Murdoch, Mrs. W. Bussey, Mrs. W. Husoy, Mrs. O. Stegavig, Mrs. O. Giske, Mrs. R. Frank McDonald left this morning for the Frizzell hot springs on the Skeena River to be away for about a month. Mr. McDonald who has been troubled with rheumatism, is in hopes that the rest and change will be of some benefit.

THANKS TO UMPIRES

The ball had been hit hard to shortstop fielding fairly deep. However, he got it under control and made a fast throw to first. "Out," yelled the base umpire and his hand shot up in the air. There was a howl from the stands, mostly from the supporters of the side at bat, a cheer from the supporters of the fielding team and, generally speaking, a lot of heated arguments. All this was clearly heard but there was one comment not generally heard. It was made by the baserunner who had just been called out. He made it to the base umpire as he passed him on his way back to the players' bench. "It was a close call umps, but you were right. I was out." And the umpires are right.

One of the ever-present problems of an association is to get umpires. As far as the fastball association is concerned it has been fortunate in having been able to obtain the services of Wally Landon, George McWhinney, Alex Bill, Johnnie Comadina and, of course, Neil Ross, behind the plate. Others have helped with the base umpiring. These officials have given their time, and made use of their knowledge of the game in order to help the play along. Are the spectators appreciative of their work?

There are three kinds of spectators and, indeed, of players, as far as "baiting the umpire" is concerned. There is the kind who in a good-humored way criticize the decision. They want to know if the umpire is blind, one moment, and the next moment assure him that "that was a good call, umps." This is all part of the game and no one resents it, least of all the umpire.

A second kind of spectator is the one who can find fault only when the decision is against his own team. This type is a poor sport and is a handicap to the game. He is not helping his team, nor the sport.

Then there is the third type who is grossly bad-mannered and ignorant of the rules of the game. This person should be removed from the stands but, inasmuch as the Gyro Ball Park is not fenced in, so that this type of person might be fenced out spectators and players and the umpire have to put up with him. Yet when this same person is invited to come down and do a bit of umpiring, he declines.

But surely we can all be good sports and give the umpires a break. They deserve our support and we need them.

KNOW YOUR TREES

Douglas Fir

also known as Oregon Pine and Douglas Spruce.

A coniferous tree which prefers fresh, well-drained, porous, deep, loamy soils, avoiding saturated poorly-drained, heavy soils. Most gigantic tree of the Pacific Coast forests, with the exception of the great Sequoias of California. Commonly grows from 150 to 200 feet in height with diameters from 3½ to 6 feet. Has wide range in the interior of B.C., but chiefly confined to lower part of coastal region.

Very valuable for construction timbers. Also suitable for normal lumber products, finishing lumber, spars, veneer and pulp.

$94,000,000 is invested in the Pulp and Paper Industry in British Columbia. Greater than any other B.C. industry.

Assistant Fire Chief Battles With Hair Seal—Salmon Now In Mid-season—Another Mine Found

The chronicle of Assistant Fire Chief Earl Becker and his hand-to-flipper battle with a 160-pound hair seal may serve as an inspiration to young men interested in the conservation of salmon from those wily predators and also as an illustration of how anyone with a gun, a strong pair of arms and a rowboat may earn a casual $5.

Earl isn't particularly anxious to repeat the epic battle but he does admit that it was interesting while it lasted. Besides, he has a government bounty voucher for $5 which will be converted into cold hard cash at the convenience of the Department of Fisheries.

The story is a sort of marine companion-piece to the classic bear-by-the-tail yarn. It began while Earl was rowing in Cloyah Bay this week and shot a hair seal with a .30-30 rifle from a distance of 50 yards. He shot it through the head and rowed out to collect the nose which is worth $5. However, it wasn't quite that simple.

He approached the seal and grabbed the creature by its rear flippers, intending to heave it into the boat. The seal, surprisingly energetic, thought otherwise. Then began a classic tug-of-war in which Earl pitted his strength against the seal, meanwhile dodging its sharp teeth with which the seal used to bite chunks out of the gunwhale since it couldn't quite get at the determined fireman.

"For a while I didn't know whether I was going to get it's nose or it was going to get mine," Earl recalled. "I would give a heave and drag it part way into the boat. The seal would give a lurch and get back into the water. Then it would turn and bite a chunk out of the boat."

As man and seal battled it to a finish, the boat drifted to shore, and Earl clambered to the rocks hoping to get his opponent on land. The seal kept pulling him back into the boat until he finally managed to get hold of an oar and beat it about the head. That settled things.

"My idea was put a rope about its tail and drag it into the boat but it began to fight before I got the rope attached," Earl said. "It's probably just as well I didn't put the rope on it, or it would have been able to use its hind flippers as well. As it was, I had it at a handicap. It was a lively 20 minutes."

Salmon fishing on the coast is now in mid-season and, while the pinks are showing better than previously, there is still no large run in sight. Sockeye fishing has been fair in most localities. Seiners on the Naas reported between 500 and 1,000 fish per day this week while in the Bella Bella and Bella Coola areas in the south, some 70 or 80 seiners have been averaging 1,000 pinks and chums daily. At Whale Channel on Tuesday, seie boats averaged 45 sockeye, 600 pinks and 200 chums. Gillnetters on the Skeena have been averaging 25 sockeye and 35 to 40 pinks daily while on the Naas, the daily average has been between 20 and 25 sockeye and 25 pinks. There are 125 gillnetters on the Naas. Rivers Inlet is showing the best gillnetting on th coast. Eleven hundred boats there have been averaging between 90 and 100 fish each day.

A port visitor of outstanding interest to Prince Rupert next week will be the United States submarine Blenny due on Friday and remaining until Sunday in the course of a naval reserve training cruise. Her exact time of arrival was not contained in the information received at H.M.C.S. Chatham nor where she will come from although it is presumed to be Seattle. The Blenny's visit will be the first to be made by a submarine to this port, although Prince Rupert has often played host to major warships of the British, American and Canadian navies. Under command of Commander E. P. Madley, U.S.N., the Blenny is 312 feet long, and carries a complement of six officers and 54 men. Her war record is not known here. The Blenny will be the third American warship to stop at Prince Rupert this summer during navy reserve cruises. Earlier in the summer, the destroyers John W. Thomason and John W. Bole made seperate visits. The Blenny's two-day visit will begin on the final day of the three-day convention of the Associated Boards of Trade of Central B.C., which will start on August 6 and she should be a point of interest to the visitors. The next warship which will come to Prince Rupert will be the British cruiser H.M.S. Kenya, which will dock here on August 18.

ANOTHER MINE IS REPORTED

Another floating mine has been found on the West Coast of Banks Island, this being reported by Capt. A. Enockson of the fisheries patrol boat Sonia E. The location given by Capt. Enockson is approximately 3½ miles southeast of Kinzwash, Shrub Harbor. The mine has been temporarily tied to shore with a log jam in front of it. On receiving Capt. Enockson's report today, marine and naval officials commenced preparations to proceed to the scene with a viw to demolition.

Pacific Coast salmon pack up to the week ending July 30 was 219,898 cases, according to the latest bulletin issued by the acting chief supervisor of fisheries, Vancouver. Sockeye still dominates the pack, 172,901 cases being produced. While 57,857 cases were produced in District One, all of the fish were caught in districts Two and Three. Naas and Skeena River pack for the season is 47,811 cases, with the whole district Two sockeye pack being 148,592 cases. Coho pack for the whole coast is 22,759 cases of which 8,112 came from the Naas and Skeena.

UNITED NATIONS MOVING TODAY

May Take Action in Balkan and Indonesian Crises

LAKE SUCCESS, (AP)—The United Nations moved yesterday to act on charges that the situation in Indonesia and the Balkans threaten world peace. There will be a meeting under emergency conditions when consideration will be given the proposal that hostilities cease.

The session is to be followed up by a council meeting to take up charges that Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania have committed acts of aggression and that a move has been instituted by Greece with United States backing to counter Russia's veto. The American proposal is to place United Nations trouble-shooters along the Balkan borders.

Mrs. F. S. Clendenning, the former Miss Lorna Tite of Prince Rupert, and Mrs. A. M. Clendenning of Vancouver are visitors following a tour through the interior country. They are making the trip by car.
