SPECTACULAR TRIAL OF EVANGELIST

WASHINGTON STATE PEOPLE ASK RECALL OF GOVERNOR

EDITORIAL

SKEENA RIVER ROAD IS NEXT MOVE

It is announced that the Legislature will be asked to authorize a loan for road building during the coming year. This will doubtlese be apportioned to different parts of the province and Northern British Columbia will get her share.

Hon. T. D. Pattullo, member for Prince Rupert, has promised that the Kalen Road to Galloway Rapids will be completed next year and doubtless part of the loan will be used for that purpose.

The next step is the continuation of the Skeena River road at various points to connect up Prince Rupert with the outside world. This work is a large one, so large that it is only within the last year or so that it has been looked on as within the realm of practical politics.

ASSET TO PROVINCE

It will be a hard struggle to get enough money for this gigantic work. Part of the construction will be very difficult but when completed it should be one of the finest scenic roads in the world, a great attraction to tourists and an asset to the whole province.

Those most interested in the building of this highway are the residents and property owners of Prince Rupert and points up the Skeena and other valleys between here and Prince George. With the idea of aiding the members of the constituencies, particularly Prince Rupert, Skeena, Omineca and Prince George, in their efforts to bring the claims of the highway forcibly before the people of the south there should be formed either a Skeena River Highway Association or a union of the Boards of Trade of the various places concerned in order to gather all necessary data in connection with the route and to give due publicity to the movement with the idea of enlisting the sympathy of the people in the south.

BEGINNING IS MADE

This is the time to get the work under way. A beginning has been made at this end and a good deal of work has been done at various places along the valley. The Terrace bridge was a great factor in making the highway possible. Active construction has been going on near Hazelton and also work at other places. With the road through to Terrace it will be possible to concentrate on the lower canyon section.

If we are to succeed, it will be well to try to avoid any party politics or bitter discussions that would likely antagonize those connected with the work. What we need now is results and to attain that we must work as a body to the desired end and not try to make political capital at the expense of the cause we have at heart.

SEES FUTURE OF PACIFIC

THREAD OF BRITISH EMPIRE RUNNING THROUGH COUNTRIES BINDS THEM TOGETHER

VANCOUVER, Oct. 14.—"Europe is nothing but a shell; this is the day of the Pacific," said Dr. Lyman Wilbur, president of Stanford University, who is en route to Japan to attend the Pan Pacific Congress, when addressing the Canadian Club yesterday.

"The pendulum of power has swung to North America, southern and central American countries, New Zealand, Australia, India, China, Japan and the island of these with the thread of the British Empire running through and binding them together."

PROSPECTORS ASK FOR BURIAL FUND TO PROTECT ESTATES OF DECEASED

NELSON, Oct. 14.—At a meeting of the B.C. Prospector's Association a resolution addressed to Hon. Wm. Sloan, minister of mines, was adopted urging the Government to set aside a fund from which the funeral expenses of deceased prospectors whose estates consisted of mineral claims could be met so that the claims would not have to be sacrificed to the prejudice of the heirs at a forced sale to meet the funeral expenses.

Prohibitionist Claims Prosperity of States Due to Its Dry Laws

Rev. W. W. Peck at federation convention slates present system of liquor control and points to infractions

MONTREAL, October 14.—The prosperity of the United States is credited to prohibition and the heavy Canadian taxation to government liquor control, according to Rev. W. W. Peck, of Vancouver, educational secretary of the prohibition federation of Canada addressing the third annual convention of that organization here yesterday.

Peck refuted the claim that government control reduced taxes and made light of the non-prohibitionists' idea that "we can drink ourselves rich."

The speaker said that taxes on his own property in British Columbia had increased more than 100 per cent which he characterized in Canada and United States as being "ridiculously out of proportion."

Rev. Mr. Peck further claimed that the liquor laws undermined respect for all laws and he pointed out that liquor law infractions in British Columbia jumped from 894 to 3,864 under government control.

BANDITS GOT OFF WITH $160,0000 IN PAYROLL ROBBERY

ELIZABETH, N.J., Oct. 14.—Bandits armed with sawed off shot guns held up a mail truck in the business section here this morning, killed one man, wounded two others and escaped with a payroll of $160,000 consigned from the bank and intended for the Singer Sewing Machine Company.

MINING MEN AT SPOKANE

MEETING OF AMERICAN INSTITUTE OPENS WITH ADDRESS BY PROMINENT MEN

SPOKANE, Oct. 14.—Calling attention to the growing importance of the mining industry, a number of speakers, including Charles Banks, chairman of the British Columbia division, opened its eighth annual regional meeting of the American institute of Mining and Metallurgy here today.

Lewis Stockett, president of the Canadian Institute, discussed Canadian cooperation in mineral matters with the United States.

Past President Philip Moore of the American institute said the mineral production with the exception of lead had doubled in the United States every ten years for the past three or four decades. In the last five years, however, a reduction had been noted in the production of coal, pig iron, copper, zinc, attributed to scarcity of the deposits and the use of more scrap and slackening of production methods.

Recall of Governor Hartley of State of Washington Demanded at Meeting by Four Thousand

SEATTLE, October 14.—A resolution demanding the recall of Governor Roland H. Hartley was unanimously adopted at a meeting of four thousand persons here last night. The resolution accused Governor Hartley of violating his oath of office by using the Governorship to obtain his personal ends, seeking to wrest the legislative power from the State Legislature, attempting to defame his opponents and attempting to gain control of the state school system and of stooping to the low political device of appointing members of the Legislature to state positions.

The feeling against Hartley came to a head with the dismissal of President Suzzallo as head of the University of Washington recently.

Yukon River Steamer Dawson Struck Rock Yesterday and Many Passengers Taken Off

DAWSON, October 14.—The river steamer Dawson, last boat up the river from Dawson to Whitehorse, with a large list of passengers bound for the outside, struck a rock in the channel of Rink Rapids between Carmacks and Yukon Crossing, 255 miles south of Dawson, yesterday morning. The passengers were immediately taken off and are being moved in trucks and cars overland to Whitehorse. All the mail and baggage was saved and was loaded on a barge. The scene of the wreck is twenty-five miles from a telegraph station and details will not be available until this evening. It is feared, however, that considerable damage was done to the vessel. The purser of the steamer is Kenneth Fife.

The following were among the Dawson's passengers:

For Prince Rupert—Mrs. B. Cunningham, Mary Cunningham, Margaret Cunningham.

For Victoria—E. Schilk, B. R. Elliott, Frank Kaifolz.

For Vancouver—C. H. Bermingham, Mrs. G. H. Sharp, James A. Scougale, G. F. Johnson, Sergt. J. Daley, A. H. Eskridge, William Neville, John Kein, R. J. Johnston, Mrs. Johnston, Andy Ristogi, Mrs. Ristogi, G. A. Jeckell.

Weird Complications in Case of Los Angeles Conspiracy; Woman Perjurer Declared Paid

LOS ANGELES, October 14.—A hint that a blind attorney had been done to death following his revelations at the McPherson kidnapping investigation startled the court at the evangelist's hearing yesterday on charges of criminal conspiracy. R. A. McKinley, the sightless lawyer, was found dead several weeks ago with two other men under an overturned auto in a mud hole beside the Long Beach-Wilmington Road.

Yesterday Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman Sielaff, prosecution witness, said she had heard the attorney's secretary, Bernice Morris, voice a suspicion that it might have been done on purpose.

Following the announcement of the kidnapping theory in explanation of Mrs. McPherson's absence between May 18 and June 23 last, McKinley stated he had been approached by two men representing themselves as the kidnappers and demanding $500,000 ransom for the return of the evangelist. After McKinley's death it was announced at Angelus Temple that he had been negotiating with the kidnappers to clear up the case. His sudden death closed that chapter of the mystery.

Mrs. Sielaff declared she had been paid by the evangelist in her role of perjurer to support the abduction theory.

EARTHQUAKE WAS FELT AT DIGBY

ROAD PROGRAM TO BE BEFORE LEGISLATURE

REAL BUSINESS WILL COMMENCE JANUARY 10 FOLLOWING AN ADJOURNMENT FROM DECEMBER 16

VICTORIA, Oct. 14.—Premier Oliver announced yesterday that the annual meeting of the British Columbia legislature would have a one-day session on December 16, but that the regular business session would commence on January 10.

The opening session when the Lieut. Governor's address will be given outlining the sessional program will probably last less than an hour.

The most important measure to come before the House this winter will be legislation authorizing a loan for road construction.

ADEN MARU IS DUE ON SUNDAY

CAPTAIN REPORTS HE WILL ARRIVE AT TRIPLE ISLAND AT NOON THAT DAY IF WEATHER PERMITS

The master of the Japanese freighter Aden Maru, which will be the first vessel to load wheat at the local grain elevator, reports by wireless that, if weather permits, the vessel will arrive at Triple Island at noon on Sunday. It may be a little later, however, as the vessel is reported to be experiencing heavy weather. In any case, she should arrive here Sunday evening some time.

Capt. Larry Thomson will meet the Aden Maru at Triple Island and pilot her in. She will anchor in the harbor to pass quarantine and will then proceed to the dry dock to be lined before going to the elevator to take on cargo. The Aden Maru will probably be in port a week or more.

TWO MEN SHOT ONE BULLET

WERE FOUND DEAD IN PORTLAND CLASPED IN EACH OTHERS ARMS IN TRUCK

PORTLAND, Oct. 14.—Clasped in each other's arms and both killed by a single bullet, the bodies of H. W. Knoss, 30 years of age, and Enrico Carr, both of Portland, were discovered last night in the cab of a truck parked at the curb of an unfrequented street. Death resulted from a bullet fired from a rifle cunningly rigged on the sox beneath a pile of leaves on the rear of the truck. A man evidently pulled the trigger.

DO AS YOU LIKE BECAUSE OTHERS DO THE SAME.

In a recent magazine article Hannen Swaffer, the well known English writer, says: "I have done in my life all those things I wanted to do because all of us always do that. And I have not done any of those things I did not want to do, which is true, I think, of us all. If you want to do anything in this world very much, you can always do it; if you don't want to, nothing on earth can make you."

At first glance a good many people will say that it not true but on more mature reflection they will realize that this writer was quite correct in his statement. We do things because we want to do them and we leave things undone because we do not want to do them.

The statement made by Swaffer applies just as much to the unselfish person as to the selfish. The unselfish person is unselfish because he wishes to be. His consideration for others is stronger than his consideration for himself and so he sometimes says he refrained from an act when he wanted to do it.. As a matter of fact he refrained because he wanted not to do it more than he wanted to do it.

TRAIN OURSELVES TO A NEW VIEWPOINT.

In order to cultivate what we know as unselfishness, we have to change our viewpoint. We emphasize the unselfish viewpoint. Take this as an instance. A religious woman has ten dollars. She wants a new hat but the need of Christian missions is so forcibly presented to her that the question arises shall she give the ten dollars to missions or spend it on a new hat. If the desire for finery is stronger than the desire for the upkeep of Christian missions she will buy the hat. If the religions phase is uppermost in her mind she will please herself by giving the money to missions and doing without the hat. In each case she did as she liked. Probably she liked to think she was denying herself whereas she was really pleasing herself. All depends on the viewpoint of the person. So if we wish to make a person what we call unselfish, we must train the sympathies toward those things which we consider unselfish. Possibly the hat dealer might not have agreed with the suggested unselfishness of the woman with the ten dollars.

SACRIFICES ARE NOT AS REAL AS THEY LOOK.

People make sacrifices because they like to do so. Something impels them to do so with the result that they like making the sacrifice better than any other line of action. In time of war people are swayed by a wave of patriotism. A mother would rather give up her son to be killed on the battlefield than have him thought a coward. A girl will give up the attractions of wedded life in order to stay at home and nurse her old mother. She does so because her mother-love or desire to do what she considers to be her duty is stronger than the desire to have a husband and a new home. She does what she likes best of the two lines of action when taking all the factors into consideration.. It is the thought or the viewpoint that is noble rather than the person. If the thoughts and desires are high and noble, the actions will be high and noble. The person will want to do high and noble things and will get more joy out of them than out of the low course of action some other person may take.

GETTING IN TUNE WITH HIGHER THOUGHTS.

There was once a noted clergyman wrote a book which he called "In Tune With The Infinite." The title indicates that the idea was to so raise the thoughts and desires that the actions would always be noble and true. People who seem to have low desires in some respects often have high ideals in others. A business man who will steal from customers by tricky dealings is often an ideal parent. In any event they all do as they like and their course of action is guided by their likes and dislikes. Train their desires and you change their actions. Give them an ideal and they are likely to live up to it.

INTERESTS OF EDMONTON AND RUPERT COMMON

STIPENDIARY MAGISTRATE FROM ALBERTA CAPITAL ADDRESSES GYRO CLUB HERE

DEPLORES SECTIONALISM

SERVICE CLUBS MAKE FOR GREATER INTEREST AND BETTER UNDERSTANDING

That Edmonton and Prince Rupert have a common interest just as the province of Alberta has an interest in the development of its logical ports on the Pacific coast in the province of British Columbia was a statement made yesterday by Lieut.-Col. George B. McLean, stipendiary magistrate of Edmonton, in addressing the Gyro Club. He referred to the fact that the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway had given a direct opening to both cities after many years of waiting during which time Edmonton was on a branch line and at the mercy of the one great railway.

Col. McLeod deplored sectionalism in Canada. He felt, however, that talk of British Columbia's cessession on account of discriminatory freight rates, the prairies' cessession on account of the tariff and talk of cessession in other parts of Canada for various reasons did not come from the heart of the people. The citizenry of Canada he felt sure was, on the other hand, most destrous for a united Canada.

Referring to the work of the Gyro Club in building playgrounds, the speaker stated that the Edmonton Club had a similar objective. In working for the children, the objective of the Gyro Club was similar to that of Masonic organizations such as the Shriners and Knights Templars.

The speaker discounted the feeling that the people of the world were getting careless and loose. In spite of the effects of the Great War he felt that man had a greater interest in man today than ever before. There was necessity for such interest and understanding as was developed by the service clubs.

The luncheon served the club in the Commodore Cafe took the form of a game dinner, the meat being venison secured earlier in the week by nimrod members of the club. The gathering was presided over by President Stan Taylor and there was a large attendance of guests.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

OCTOBER 14, 1915

It is charged that all canneries on the Skeena River with the exception of one have never recognized Prince Rupert in connection with their business. The only exception is the Gosse-Millerd cannery at Sunnyside of which the manager is J. Field Strang.

The G.T.P. dry dock at Hoys Cove will get its first job next week. Yesterday a party of twenty-two master mechanics arrived from the south to get the dock ready for the taking on of a 10,000 ton ship.

Prince Rupert will celebrate National Fish Day on October 31. A banquet will be put on by the Board of Trade.

PRINCE OF WALES MAY HAVE A VILLA AT BIARRITZ COURSE

The Prince of Wales may have a villa near Biarritz-Anglet, the new millionaire's golf course between Biarritz and Bayonne. It is in the heart of the wealthiest district in France, for the promoters of the club are selling property only to millionaires.

The golf course, when finished, will be one of the show places of France. More than 25,000,000 francs already have been expended. A pine forest was uprooted and 200,000 tons of soil and sod have been laid.

LIFE AND WORK OF CLERGYMAN

RURAL DEAN MARSH DID SUCCESSFUL MISSION WORK AMONG INDIANS BEFORE SETTLING IN TERRACE

More than passing notice should be taken of the resignation from active duty as a clergyman of the Church of England of the Rev. Rural Dean Marsh of Terrace. Few men in any church have had more strenuous lives or have done greater things for the church in which they have served and for the uplifting of the people than he has done in the fields in which he served.

Upon graduation from Wycliffe College, Toronto, he accepted an invitation to undertake what was perhaps a difficult a task as the Church in Canada had to offer at the time. He undertook the establishing of a mission among the natives of the far north Hay River district in the divide of the Mackenzie River. He was the only white person in the whole district, the nearest railway being at Edmonton which was 800 miles away.

FIRST SUCCESS

In this isolated place Mr. Marsh started his work and with the great handicap of not knowing the language of the people, yet in a short time he won their confidence and with that confidence came some active help and before very long a good log house and mission school were built and the educational work in that region was started. Few can conceive of the tremendous physical strength, the planning and tact that was needed in this task.

After the house and school were ready there came to his assistance teachers and matrons sent by the missionary society of the church. But chiefly should be mentioned his sister, who for several years without any material remuneration looked after the home and the native children who were in residence. Then came Mrs. Marsh from her comfortable home in a large Ontario town to share the life and work of her devoted husband and together they worked on for years, putting up with exceedingly primitive conditions. Even in the matter of food for months at a time the only two things there were to eat were fish and potatoes, the latter of which they were able to grow on the mission property.

SETTLED AT KALUM

At last it was imperative that they should have a change from that exceedingly difficult task. Mr. and Mrs Marsh might have gone from Hay River to some parish or mission where all the modern comforts of life were to be found. But instead of that they heard of a new country opening up.—northern British Columbia—and like the strong characters they were that new and strenuous work appealed to them and in a short time they were settled at Kitsumkalum, where again a home had to be built. This Mr. Marsh, largely with his own hands, accomplished and that building stands today as an evidence of his prowess. It is the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. McIntosh, who purchased it from the diocese, as the final selection of what is now Terrace terminated the usefulness of the building as a clergyman's residence at Kalum.

The work of the pioneer missionary and his faithful wife along the line of the railway from Kitsumkalum to Hazelton is a conspicuous part of the history of the railway construction days and since. Mr. Marsh was known and welcomed in every camp where he not only carried the Gospel message but also the finest of good cheer and was everywhere recognized as a real man and a good Christian. This appreciation was shown on the occasion of a serious illness which overtook him when the construction men, both bosses and laborers subscribed largely for his care and for a vacation by which he might be restored to health.

REFUSED MANY OFFERS

Mr. Marsh had during his service at Terrace other offers of work, some of them most flattering to his qualifications, but he preferred to stick by the people who had stuck by him and long after his health no longer warranted his carrying on, he still efficiently performed his duties, which covered fifty miles of railway and a scattered community adjacent thereto. That district may forget what it owes to Mr. and Mrs. Marsh but whatever progress it may have in the future there is one thing certain, that the standard of life there for all time will be finer because of the life and work of these faithful people. The wish of the very numerous friends will be that they may both have many years of happiness, freed from the heavy duties they have always been ready to assume.

URGES OUTLET PEACE RIVER

(Edmonton Journal)

A direct outlet to the Pacific coast and branch lines to serve the Waterhole-Dunvegan district and the great arena to the west and north of Wembley are the pressing railway transportation needs of the Peace River country.

Energetic promotion has given wide prominence to the need of a coast outlet. But equally necessary to the districts mentioned are branch lines that would connect them with existing railroads.

Both districts have quite a substantial settlement and production. In the Waterhole-Dunvegan area most of the close-in land has been taken up, yet many farmers have a 30-mile haul to end of steel at Whitelaw. To the immediate west and northwest of Wembley, fairly close settlement extends over a block 35 miles square and from its outlying portions the haul to rail head is 50 miles or more. Still farther away is the fertile Pouce Coupe district wher 400 farmer families remain out of an original settlement of twice that number. They have an average haul to market of 95 miles.

There must be no easement of the pressure, for a coast outlet. It is the fundamental transportation need of the Peace River country. But extensions of the pfesent railroad from Whitelaw and Wembley are equally necessary in the areas they would serve. They should be authorized without hesitation by the next session of the provincial legislature.

B.C. SYSTEM AS ALBERTA MODEL

ADVISORY COMMITTEE ON TAXATION WILL PROFIT FROM STUDY OF VICTORIA

EDMONTON, Oct. 14.—More information about the way provincial finances are handled in other provinces has been brought back by Robert English, secretary of the government's advisory committee on taxation, an his return from Victoria, where with Dr H. M. Tory, chairman of the committee, he has been investigating the British Columbia system for the past two weeks.

Alberta will profit conisderably from a study of the coast province's methods says Mr. English, particularly in connection with the administration of the natural resources. The data secured in Victoria had largely to do with sources of revenue, application of revenue to services, and the distribution of revenue to municipalities. After interviewing the deputy minister of finance and getting the investigation under way, Dr. Tory sailed on September 30 for Tokio, where he will attend the Pan-Pacific scientific congress.

Comparative figures have now been secured by the taxation committee from all the provinces except Saskatchewan, which will be covered later. Several of the states across the line, New Zealand, and Australia have also been drawn upon for information.

BASKETBALL TO OPEN SHORTLY

FOUR LEAGUES WITH THREE TEAMS EACH WILL GET UNDER WAY ABOUT NOVEMBER 1

When the basketball season opens on or about November 1, there will be three teams in each of four leagues—Senior, Intermediate, Ladies' and Junior—and there is also a possibility that there may be a school league. This means that basketball fans of the city will have a full program for the winter and the resumption of the game after the cessation last winter gives promise of being most popular.

At a large and enthusiastic general meeting of the Prince Rupert Basketball Assoiciation last night, several new teams were entered and the offer of the Fair Board to allow the Exhibition Building as a venue for the games was accepted. It was also announced at the meeting that a new cup for competition in the Ladies' League would be put up by Max Hellbroner to take the place of the Benson Cup which was won outright two years ago by the Maple Leafs.

The teams entered in the four leagues are as follows:

Senior—Native Sons of Canada, Elks, and Grand Terminals.

Intermediate—Grotto, Grand Terminals and Bankers.

Ladies'—Maple Leafs, Kaiens and Adanacs.

Junior—Stars, Colts and Tuxis Boys.

The following practice schedule has been drawn up:

Monday—7 to 8, Maple Leafs and Junior Colts; 8 to 9, Kaiens.

Tuesday—7 to 8, Stars; 8 to 9, Bankers; 9 to 10, Elks.

Wednesday—7 to 8, Adanacs; 8 to 9, Terminals (Int.); 9 to 10, Terminals (Sr.).

Thursday afternoon — Tuxis Boys; 7 to 8, Kaiens; 8 to 9, Grotto; 9 to 10, Native Sons.

Friday—7 to 8, Maple Leafs and Junior Colts.

Saturday.—7 to 8, Adanacs.

Sunday—10 to 11, Terminals (Int.), 11 to 12, Terminals (Sr.); 12 to 1, Grotto; 1 to 2, Bankers; 2 to 3 Elks; 3 to 4, Native Sons.

A FOOTBALL AUTHORITY ON AMERICAN GAME

CHICAGO, Oct. 14. — Amos Alonzo Stagg, full rank professor of Chicago, gridiron godfather of hundreds of celebrated players, and at 64 years of age the oldest active football authority in the United States, speaks on American Football in the new Britannica.

"Fortunately,' says Stagg in his resume of the development of the game, "offensive football will never be completely standardized, because the possibilities of maneuvering the players are so many that coaches of inventive genius are constantly lured into the multifarious forms of strategy always possible to a clever tactician."

SPORT CHAT

Iowa this year provided the youngest team manager in professional baseball. George ("Dutch") While, a widerange infielder and a .300 hitter, took over the management of the Cedar Rapids Club in the Mississippi Valley League for the last two months of the season after two previous leaders had failed to bring the club out of a slump. He was just 21 when he took the team in hand. He was sold at the close of the season to the Danville club of the Three-I league.

Kentucky race tracks may be the field of battle to settle this year's dispute as to the leading two and three year old thoroughbreds. Churchill Downs, with the Kentucky Jockey Club stakes, will be the scene of the two-year-old battle, while the Latonia course with its Championship Stakes, may determine the year's leading three-year-old. The Championship Stakes will be worth more than $30,000 to the winner.

A record that has stood for three collegiate generations challenges the kicking talent which the 1926 football season will uncover. Thirteen years ago, Mark Payne, a halfback on the Dakota Wesleyan university football team, made a 63-yard drop kick against Northern Normal of Aberdeen, S.D., on the latter's field, and none of the phenoms uncovered in the more recent years in football's greater popularity have come within seven yards of the mark.

REGINALD DENNY IN A SCREAMING FARCE

Picture Opening Tomorrow is Rib-Tickling Play from Start to Finish

Reginald Denny is to be seen in "What Happened to Jones" commencing tomorrow. This amazing young man is tireless it seems. His progress through the picture is one hilarious triumph. Every time he appears in a scene, it is accompanied by a roar of laughter from the audience and as the star is almost continuously on the screen, the picture is one long succession of outbursts by the fans.

If it is true that a comedian's troubles on the screen are funny, then Denny corrals his share of chuckles. His unfortunate experiences in "What Happened to Jones," are the rib-tickling kind and his mobile countenance and his remarkable sense of humor ably assist him in drawing the laughs.

He plays the part of a rich, young manufacturer of bibles who finds himself, through no fault of his own, in difficulties with the police. The picture is taken up by his frantic efforts to escape the authorities and save his name from scandal. Incidentally, he has to combine his attempts to clear himself, with the difficult task of reclaiming his fiancee who has "given him the air."

Denny is at his best in this type of photoplay. It is riotous farce all the way through. The hero's tempestuous troubles gain volume as the picture progresses, until at the finish, there is a smashing climax that sends the audience away with gales of laughter.

WHIST DRIVE AND DANCE LAST NIGHT ENJOYABLE EVENT

A very successful whist drive and dance took place last evening in the Boston Hall under the auspices of the Rebekah Lodge. There were some eighty or more persons present.

Prize winners at cards were: ladies' first, Mrs. J. Field; men's first F. W. Hart; ladies' second, Mrs. Eby; men's second, W. J. Kirkpatrick. Mrs. Eyolfson was the winner of a box of chocolates given for the holder of a lucky ticket.

After cards, refreshments were served and dancing followed. Music was by Arthur's orchestra and A. R. Phillips was master of ceremonies with P. J. Golem presiding at the door.

The committee in charge of the event consisted of Mrs. S. V. Cox, Mrs. Thomas Priest, Mrs. Harold Smith and Mrs. J. W. McKinley assisted by Mrs. J. Boddie, the noble grand.

PYTHIAN SISTERS HOLDING TEA AND SALE OF COOKING

PRESENTATION TO MR. AND MRS. TURNER

Farewell Social Last Night at Baptist Church Honor of Departing Pastor

At the Baptist Church last evening a farewell social was held in honor of Rev. E. G. Turner who is leaving for Nelson. H. M. Dagget presided over a large gathering and in his address paid a tribute of praise to the work of Mr. Turner and mentioned the high esteem in which he is held by all. A musical program ensued which was interspersed with speeches. Those contributing were as follows:

Vocal solos—Mrs. Algy Hunter.

Violin solo—Professor Pryce.

Pianoforte solo—Miss Aleta McKinley.

Recitation—Miss Adelia Thurber.

Accompanianists, Mrs. Lemon and Miss A. McKinley.

The speakers were W. W. Wright, W. J. Ledlie, and W. J. Sherman, all of whom expressed the feeling of the people in regard to Mr. Turner's work here. Mrs. Larkin, on behalf of the Ladies' Aid, presented Mrs. Turner with a silver bon-bon dish and P. H. Linzey on behalf of the church and congregation presented Mr. Turner with a gold fountain pen and pencil.

Mr. and Mrs. Turner acknowledged in words suitable to the occasion and spoke of the difficulty in leaving so many friendships that had been formed here.

The best wishes of the church and congregation follow Mr. and Mrs. Turner to their new field of labor.

LADIES' MUSIC CLUB STUDIED EVOLUTION OF MUSIC YESTERDAY

The Ladies' Music Club met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. A. Wakefield, Fourth Avenue West, and took as their sdudy "The Evolution of Music," on which subject Mrs. F. P. Kenny, who, with Miss Lorna Tite, was in charge of the program, read a paper.

The program included the following numbers:

Vocal solo — Purcell's "Passing By," Mrs. Donald Ross.

Piano solo—Bach's "Suite No. 6, Allemande," Miss Lorna Tite.

Violin solo—Gounod's arrangement of Bach's "Ave Maria," Miss Marjorie Lancaster.

Vocal solo—Schubert's "Where is Sylvia?" Mrs. Anderson.

Piano solo—Mendelssohn's "Folk Song Opus 53," Mrs. David Wilton.

Piano solo—Schumann's "Nocturne in F," Mrs. Russell P. Ponder.

Piano solo—Chopin's "Etude Opus 25 No. 1," Brahm's "Rhapsody Opus 79," Miss Lorna Tite.

LIMERICK PRIZES ANNOUNCED TODAY

Now that all party feeling in connection with the recent election is over it has been found possible to get the Limericks in the recent competition judged on their merits. The judges have awarded the first prize to Mike Hudema and the second to Mrs. C. Larken. The verses follow:

First Prize

A damsel whose first name is Sadie,
Said, "My vote will given to Brady.
In spite of all talk
I don't like the Stork—
Protection's the stuff for this lady."

Second Prize

There once was a candidate, Brady,
For Ottawa he was bound—maybe.
But Stork changed his mind
And like the Stork's kind,
Left Brady, behind, like the baby.

FRANCE IS LIKELY RATIFY AGREEMENT FOR BONDING DEBT

If that Country Does so U.S. Senate Will Probably Follow Suit

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 14.—Unless Andrew W. Mellen, secretary of the treasury, is badly advised, Frace is likely to ratify the debt settlement, and the feeling here is that if France ratifies the United States will do likewise. Ratification by both governments, it is believed in some quarters, will put to an end, or a partial end, the unfriendly talk and unpleasant demonstrations in France directed at the government and people of the United States.

Prompt ratification of the debt settlement by France would probably result in ratification by the Senate in the coming winter session. While there would be much discussion of the settlement in the Senate and some plain speaking about the French attitude toward the United States, a majority of the Senate would apparently vote for ratification.

But otherwise, should France delay ratification until well along in the coming winter, the whole matter would drift into the Congress which is elected in November. This will be the seventieth Congress and it begins its career March 4, 1927. Such a delay, many feel, would be unfortunate because it would probably mean the cancellation propaganda from France and elsewhere would be busy in the meantime and would not tend to stir up good feeling.

OPEN MIND ON MANY SUBJECTS

ONE WRITER MAKES PLEA FOR CONSIDERATION OF THE CAUSE OF SPIRITUALISM

A writer in the Manchester Guardian makes a plea for an open mind among British Nonconformists on the question of spiritualism. He tells of the experiences of some well known writers, among them being Dr. Albert Peel, formerly editor of the "Congregational Quarterly," who in a book now being republished, says:

The tremendous loss of life caused by the war turned the minds of many people toward spiritualism. While some of the most acute minds in the country have been investigating psychic phenomena for a generation, there have not been wanting charlatans ready to take advantage of the sorrows and superstitions of ignorant and deluded people. . . Most Nonconformists have an open mind on the subject, not venturing to assert that communication with the departed is impossible, but holding that the verdict for the present must be "Not proven."

Continuing, he says, I hope Dr. Peel is right when he says that "most Nonconformists have an open mind on the subject." I seem to have met some who were ready to brush the whole business aside with a contemptuous "Pshaw!" and even to silence anyone who dared to suggest that there might be something in it. But I am sure that his words indicate what ought to be our attitude.

CHARLATANS

Undoubtedly, there are "charlatans" who are ready to prey upon the "ignorant and deluded"; let tnem be exposed and suppressed without mercy and without delay. But it is worse than ridiculous to use such language where men like Sir Oliver Lodge and Sir Arthur Conan Doyle are concerned. They are not charlatans, but honest and earnest inquirers; if they are wrong there is no need to anathmatise them; it will be enough to show that they are wrong. Meanwhile the rest of us will do well to keep an open mind. For myself, I have no smallest shred of experience by which to confirm the conclusions of the Spiritualists, but if God has anything to teach us by them—I am not yet sure that He has—I want to learn it. And I should like to believe, with Dr. Peel, that most of my fellow-Free Churchmen are of the same way of thinking. But if there are those who still think that this is a case for a court of summary jurisdiction rather than for the patient hearing and weighing of evndence, I will ask them to consider two facts of a kind which, while they may not bring conviction, do at least cause some of us to pause.

COMMUNICATED WITH WIFE

The frst I take from Dr. W. L. Walker's "Christian Theism and a Spiritual Monism." Dr. Walker is now a retired Scottish Congregational minister whose scholarly theological writings have made him known to a wide circle of readers. In the volume referred to he has a chapter entitled "The Possibility of Survival," and at the end of it this brief note is added:—

It is hoped that it is not out of place to state here that, shortly after the MS. of this book was sent to the publishers, the writer had the misfortune unexpectedly to lose a devoted wife. She was deeply interested in this subject, and before she passed away the writer promised to cherish her spiritual presence, and asked her (if it was right and not hurtful) to try to manifest her presence to him. He feels bound to say that he believes that she has done so.

MYERS' CASE

For my second illustration I turn to the very remarkable life-story of F. W. H. Myers, the author of the well-known religious poem "St. Paul" and of other writings both in prose and verse. In Myers' early years he was profoundly influenced by that noble woman Mrs. Josephine Butler. "She introduced me," Myers says "to Christianity, so to say, by an inner door; not to its encumbering forms and dogmas, but to its heart of fire." Under that influence he wrote his two poems "St. Paul" and "St. John the Baptist," the former of which still bears on its dedicatory page Mrs. Butler's initials. Then came disillusion, as it came to so many in the days of Myers' youth, when the tide of materialism was at the flood. Insensibly, he says, the celestial vision faded and left him to "pale despair and cold tranquility." Later, however, he fought his way back again, not indeed to the full faith of a Christian, but at least to a confident and rejoicing hope of immortality. I have only space for one quotation. Writing to a friend in 1900 Myers said:

My researches have at any rate made me very happy, and I want to make as many other people follow the same line of happiness as I can; though we are all booked for such a good thing in the next world that it matters comparatively little how we fare in this. . . .When after death you enter on the endless and unimaginable Happiness which I confidently anticipate for you you must give me the pleasure of coming up to me and saying, "Well, you told me of this when I hardly ventured to believe it!"

PSYCHICAL RESEARCH

And, incredible as it will seem to some, Myers reached this happy confidence along the line of psychical research. At first, he says, he had great repugnance to studying the phenomena alleged by Spiritualists; it seemed like trying to re-enter by the scullery window the heavenly mansion out of which he had been kicked through the front door. But he persevered, and the end was what we see.

Again let me say, says the writer, I do not mention these things as if they proved the truth of the Spiritualist's hypothesis; it may be that the facts upon which he builds admit of some other and different explanation; but at least let us not be in haste to condemn lest, like others before us, we be found fighting against God.

PIGMIE PEOPLE ARE VISITED BY U.S. SCIENTISTS

LITTLE PEOPLE WERE FRIENDLY BUT LIVED IN INACCESSIBLE COUNTRY AMONG MOUNTAINS

WELTERVREDEN, Java, Oct. 14—Smiling and playing with bright beads which they had given her, a tiny pigmie girl recently led United States and Dutch scientists of the Stirling expedition into a village of pygmies in the jungles of Dutch New Guinea's mountains. She was the first of a newly discovered race of pygmies to be seen by white men.

For four months, the expedition had negotiated the dangerous rapids of Mamberamo River, had climbed the towering Van Rees Mountains and had braved deadly tropical fever in their quest of the pygmies for ethnological study. Their success in finding the dwarf people after other expeditions had been turned back with heavy loss due to disease, was largely achieved by use of an aeroplane which flew over swamps and dense equatorial growth.

Pigmy land was found after five days of climbing of steep mountains, which rose to a height of 15,000 feet. First the party came upon the Rouffear River, which plunged down a deep gorge, with high cliffs on both sides. Across the gorge was a rattan suspension bridge.

RATTAN BRIDGE

The party crossed gingerly, half suspecting treachery and prepared for a hostile reception they had been told to expect. Instead, they met the smiling little black girl.

Following her they entered a village and soon were surrounded by the people of pygmie land. They were friendly. Smiling and making signs of good will, they brought presents of their primitive bows and arrows, ornaments and other crude implements of the stone age development to which they belong. In return, they expressed their delight with the murine shells of trifling value which the men of the expedition gave them. The pygmies spoke in low tones, were unobtrusive, but not timid. Ages of immunity among the mountain heights from the fierce Papuans of the plains had made them calm and cool, unafraid.

WERE TRUE TYPE

The scientists were able to make careful measurements and determined that they were of the true pygmy type. They studied them to fix their relationship to other negrito tribes and to collect ethnological data for the United States National Museum in Washington, D.C.

COURSE FOR BRIDES AT A UNIVERSITY

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 14. — A new course "for brides and girls about to be married" is announced by the College of Practical Arts and Letters of Boston University. In explanation of the course Dean T. L. Davis of the college and Professor Elizabeth MacDonald, who will conduct it, said "modern life moves so fast that special study is needed to keep pace with it."

Among the question to be discussed were listed the following: How many clothes to wear; social relations of husbands and wives; what to do about the neighbors; what and how much to eat and why; how to guard the family budget against the influence of neighbors' competition; and how to break "back-breaking habits" in the routine of housework.

ENGLISH UNIVERSITY VERSUS AN AMERICAN

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 14. — The debating team of Cambridge University will journey here from England this fall to meet the Havard University team. The date of the debate has not been fixed.

The following proposition has been approved by both universities as the subject:

Resolved, That this house opposes the growing tendency of governments to invade the rights of individuals."

Harvard debaters have begun preparation to defend either the affirmative or negative. The debate will be conducted under English rules which call for a decision by a vote of the audience.

EMPIRE PROBLEMS TO BE CONSIDERED BY IMPERIAL CONFERENCE ABOUT TO MEET

LONDON, Oct. 14.—All seas lead to England now for the imperial conference, that great cabinet of the British empire which will meet in the historic cabinet room at number 10 Downing Street on October 19. Prime ministers, maharajahs, delegates from the overseas dominions and representatives of the crown colonies are converging on London, the hub which unites the spokes of the British empire.

It has been three years since John Bull called a meeting of his "board of directors," and many questions have arisen to crowd the agenda. There are the usual problems of imperial growth—trade, immigration, defence and communications—but these will be dominated this year by a question which goes to the very roots of inter-empire relations.

The big question is the treaty-making status of the dominions in foreign affairs. The pact of Locarno, which made Great Britain the policeman of the Rhine, marked a new departure in British diplomacy. For the first time in history England has been explicitly separated from her dominions by a treaty.

Probably the next question of importance will be the discussion of the individual status of the dominions. General Hertzog, the fiery South African premier, in a speech delivered last May, urged South Africa's claims of a sovereign status and demanded that Great Britain join in declaring dominion independence for the union of South Africa.

It has been bruited about, however, that since his arrival in London, Gen. Hertzog's views have been somewhat modified, and only the conference itself will develop his exact attitude.

WATER NOTICE

Diversion and Use

TAKE NOTICE that H. D. Kyle, whose address is Wrangell, Alaska, and Telegraph Creek, B. C., will apply for a license to take and use 2,000 miner's inches flow of water out of Bucks Gulch, which flows easterly into Dease Creek. The water will be diverted from the stream at a point about two miles up the stream from its mouth into Dease Creek and will be used for hydraulic mining purposes upon bench placer claims known and described as leases No. 120 and 121. This notice was posted on the ground on the 23rd day of July 1926.

A copy of this notice and an application pursuant thereto and to the "Water Act, 1914," will be filed in the office of the Water Recorder at Telegraph Creek.

Objections to the application may be filed with the said Water Recorder or with the Comptroller of Water Rights, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B. C., within thirty days after the first appearance of this notice in the local newspaper.

The date of the first publication of this notice is September 14th, 1926.

FEW, IF ANY, MEN OUT OF WORK HERE

Satisfactory Conditions are Reported at Office of Employment Service of Canada

The employment situation in this district is very satisfactory at present and conditions look well for considerable work during the winter. Today tie makers for the interior, miners for Anyox and several men for a short job at the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage plant are wanted. The local branch of the Employment Service of Canada reports no local men out of work although there are, as usual, some transients seeking employment.

WEDDING TAKING PLACE TONIGHT

INTERESTING NUPTIALS TO BE PERFORMED AT 8 O'CLOCK FOR MISS MARGUERITE CASEY AND GEORGE HILLS

A most interesting wedding will take place this evening at the hour of eight o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. Evan Baker officiating, when Miss Marguerite Casey, second daughter of Ald. and Mrs. George B. Casey, will be united in marriage to George Hills, only son of the late Capt. and Mrs. Hills of Fifth Avenue East.

The bride, who will be given in marriage by her father, will be gowned in ashes of roses Canton crepe trimmed with silver beads and will wear the conventional bridal veil. Her bouquet will be of pink roses and carnations. The bridesmaid, Miss Aleita Johnson, will wear flesh crepe-de-chine and will carry a bouquet of carnations. The groom will be attended by Fred Grimble. The groom will present the bridesmaid with an an onyx ring and the best man with a pair of gold cuff links.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast will be served to the guests before the happy couple embark on the steamer Prince George for Vancouver where they will reside. The bride's going away costume will be a black seal coat with hat to match of black silk velvet trimmed with crepe-de-chine and roses.

To both bride and groom will go out the sincere congratulations and best wishes of their many friends in this community. Both have resided in the city since childhood and they are widely known and esteemed.

INDIAN CASES IN LOCAL POLICE COURT

City police court was in session before Magistrate McClymont yesterday afternoon to deal with a number of charges under the Indian Act. Cecil Ryan and John Haldane, Indians, were each fined $25 and costs for having liquor in their possession. Harold Enocksen was fined $50 and costs for supplying and a similar charge against William Beynon was dismissed. Thomas Black and William Morrison, charged with supplying liquor to Indians by giving them beer in beer parlors, were remanded until today.

This morning the charges against Morrison and Black were dismissed. It was stated in each case that the sale of beer to natives had been by mistake. The beer had been ordered by white men but consumed by Indians. In issuing a warning to accused in each of these cases, Magistrate McClymont expressed the hope that more care would be taken in beer parlors in the matter of serving beer. Indians should not be permitted to enter or remain in beer parlors His Worship declared.

STOMACH SO BAD CAN'T EAT EVEN FRUIT

"For years was badly constipated and troubled with gas after eating. Could not eat fruit and many other things. Adlerika has done me good—can now eat anything." (signed) W. H. Fletcher. Adlerika removes GAS and often brings astonishing relief to the stomach. Brings out a surprising amount of old waste matter you never thought was in the system. Stops that full bloated feeling and makes you enjoy eating. Excellent for chronic constipation. Ormes Limited, Druggists.
