GALE STILL RAGES OVER GREAT LAKES

ANOTHER PORTLAND CANAL MINE SOLD TO OPERATORS

Gale Still Raging on Great Lakes and Boats Arriving Fort William Covered Ice Foot Thick

Two vessels in danger breaking up but steamer Maritan may be released from point near Port Arthur

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., December 10.—Every rescue agency is being marshalled today to declare battle against the raging gale which continues to lash the Great Lakes and holds the fate of more than three score men shrouded in its fury. Mountainous waves and sub-zero temperatures frustrated the efforts of the rescue crews to carry aid to the steamer Agawa wrecked on Manitoulin Island and reports received this morning stated that the ship was breaking up. No word was received of the crew of 21 which was aboard the vessel.

The steamer Altodoc, which is ashore at Keewenanaw Point, is also in a precarious position with a crew of 35 supposed to be aboard. Numerous other vessels are overdue.

The steamer Maritan, which went ashore near Hare Island outside Port Arthur, is believed to be standing the pounding of the seas and will be released. Boats reaching here are sheathed with ice a foot thick.

PARLIAMENT TO OPEN JANUARY

Bennett Will Take Place as Leader of Opposition and Session Likely Notable

OTTAWA, Dec. 10.—Parliament opens on Thursday, January 26, Premier Mackenzie King announced today.

The approaching session will be the second of the Sixteenth Parliament and will be noted for many things. Hon. R. B. Bennett, the recently elected leader of the Conservative party will appear as leader of the opposition and new rules of the House of Commons will be applied.

It is assumed that the St. Lawrence power and navigation project as well as the general immigration problem will be the subject of some major debates.

It is expected that the Government will fill the six vacancies in the Senate before the opening.

WILL ENFORCE MARKETING ACT

Minister of Agriculture Says Growers Want it and its Scope Will be Extended

VANCOUVER, Dec. 10. — The B.C. Marketing Control Act will be extended to all kinds of production in the interests of the producers and consumers alike, if his hopes are realized, said the minister of agriculture, Hon. E. D. Barrow, at the luncheon of the Seed Potato Growers' Association.

Opposition to the act, Mr. Barrow said, comes more from the shippers than the growers. The great bulk of the growers are in favor of the act and want it continued and extended. He said, "Proper control of marketing farm products is as much in the interest of the consumer as the producer."

TEST CASE IN MARKET CONTROL BEING MADE

Hammond of Ashcroft Says He Expects Provincial Government to Pay Cost of Action

VANCOUVER, Dec. 10.—W. H. Hammond of Ashcroft, rebel potato grower, expects the provincial government to pay the expenses in connection with the case in which he is challenging the B.C. Market Control Act, should the case go to court.

Hammond claims that Oliver and Manson both intimated to the Legislature, when the Act was passed, that the government would have a test case. Therefore he thought the government should bear the cost. In the meantime the shipment is placed in storage here pending the outcome of the action.

STORAGE BATTERY FOR TRAINS INVENTED

LONDON, Dec. 10.—An electric storage battery, stated to be powerful enough to drive an express train over a long distance on any existing track without a third rail, or overhead wires, is being secretly tested in London, the Daily Express says. It is the invention of a Spanish Jesuit priest, Father Almeida of Salamanca, who is backed by a group of prominent financiers. The device can also be used on automobiles.

A company has been formed to develop the invention.

SUPPOSED TO HAVE DROWNED IN RIVER

HUNTINGDON, Dec. 10.—Ernest Porter, eighteen years of age, is believed to have been drowned in the Sumas River near Whatcomb Road. He was last seen taking milk to a cooling stand in the river. The strong wind which was blowing at the time is believed to have overbalanced him.

POWER INSTALLATION

As the industrial prosperity of a country is largely dependent upon the amount of mechanical power available to its workers, Canada's high average of 513 horse-power of hydraulic installation per 1,000 of population places her in a most advantageous position among the countries of the world.

RANGE OF JACK PINE

The jack pine (Pinus Banksiana) has a very wide range in Canada. It is found from Nova Scotia to the Rocky mountains and northward in the valley of the Mackenzie river to Great Bear lake. Its best development as a timber tree is reached in northern Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

STEPHENS IS IN THE FIELD

Third Candidate for Mayoralty is Announced Definitely Today

Ald. M. M. Stephens, authorizing announcement of his candidature today, makes the third aspirant already in the field for the mayoralty at the municipal elections next month. Those already announced are Ex-Ald. S. M. McMordie and Ald. Joseph Greer.

Coming here in 1908, Ald. Stephens can qualify as a real old timer of Prince Rupert. He is a prominent local broker and insurance man and has served four years on the city council, two of which he has been chairman of the finance committee. He has always been regarded as one of the strongest councillors and there is no doubt he will make a hard fight for the laurels which Mayor S. M. Newton is relinquishing.

LABORER AT MINE PASSES

Robert Swanwick Has Fainting Spell on Porcher Island and Succumbs Soon After

Robert Swanwick, laborer at the Porcher Island mine, fainted and died in the mine camp. The body was brought to the city and the provincial police took charge. An enquiry held this morning by Deputy Coroner J. R. Tannock established that death had been from natural causes.

Swanwick was about fifty-six years of age and came from Vancouver only a few weeks ago. Few personal details weer obtained by the authorities.

Minister of Lands Would Have 300,000 New Settlers of Right Kind Brought Into Canada Yearly

New Citizens Should be Given all Privileges but Should be Ready to Live or Die for Country of Adoption

"I see no reason why three hundred thousand people a year should not be brought in to Canada and scattered throughout its length and breadth and be readily absorbed," declared Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minister of lands, in his address on immigration to the Women's Canadian Club this afternoon." The minister said that these could not all be British but he strongly urged that British traditions be maintained and new citizens should be ready not only to live for Canada but also to die for her if need be.

Mrs. G. A. Woodland, president of the club, introduced the speaker, expressing the pleasure of the club at being able to have him address them. At the close a vote of thanks was proposed by Mrs. S. P. McMordie, seconded by Mrs. R. F. McNaughton and carried in the usual manner. The gathering opened with the singing of "O Canada" and closed with the National Anthem.

The minister said that the question of Immigration was an all important one, and one in which the country generally is evincing a very decided interest. Only a few years ago, public sentiment generally, was opposed to a vigorous policy of Immigration. "Today, public sentiment is in support of a policy of Immigration, but I think it may be said upon a selective basis, said Mr. Pattullo. During the past two generations, both public policy and private endeavor have been based upon the assumption that Canada was going to expand industrially, and increase in population; and railroad construction

Halibut Boat Owners Decide to Provide Own Bait During Season With Seining Outfits

For the purpose of in future ensuring a steady supply and price of fresh herring bait during the early portion of the fishing season, there was a joint meeting in the City Hall last night of halibut boat owners and fishermen and seineboat operators. The meeting succeeded in an agreement whereby two seinboat outfits, which will be decided upon later, will supply bait at something less than $15 per ton while herring seining is on and for $25 a ton after seining is over and the live fish have been impounded. Thus it is hoped to avoid uncertainty of supply and price which has in past seasons prevailed. The seining outfits will guarantee to provide the bait subject, of course, to the herring being available. This will take care of the early part of the season, the halibut fishermen using frozen bait after the supply of fresh is exhausted.

The meeting was presided over by David Ritchie, president of the Prince Rupert Halibut Vessel Owners' Association, with J. M. Morrison, local agent of the Deep Sea Fishermen's Union, acting as secretary. There was a good representation of fishermen. Speakers included Charlie Wallace, R. Gammon and Ole Skog, representing the seineboat operators, and Charlie Edwards, Leon Sandvar and J. H. Meagher, halibut boat skippers.

BRITISH SHIP DONE LOADING

Steamer Warlaby Will Sail Tonight or Tomorrow for U.K.-Continent With Full Cargo

Loading of the British steamer Warlaby with a full cargo of grain for the United Kingdom or continent was completed at the Alberta Wheat Pool's Prince Rupert elevator at 2 o'clock this afternoon and it is expected that the vessel will sail either tonight or tomorrow morning. This is the fourth boat of the season.

The steamer Ainderby, which is going on dry dock first, will not start loading until about the middle of next week.

No further advices had been received at the elevator today as to the sixth vessel, the Ohio Maru, which is expected next week.

Railway offices this morning reported the arrival of 47 carloads of grain here during the past twenty-four hours. There were 225 cars on the division enroute to Prince Rupert.

DAILY EDITION Saturday, Dec. 10, 1927

PACIFIC GREAT EASTERN

Hon. T. D. Pattullo shed some light on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway situation in his address to the Rotary Club Thursday. He showed that many people went into the country served by it or that should have been served by it and it was unfair to those people to say the line would not be completed. He also explained that the original idea of the line was to serve as a southern branch of the transcontinental line which was built to this port.

Probably it may be taken for granted that no matter what government is in power the railway will not be scrapped and it cannot remain in its present condition. It must be completed as far as Prince George, which was its first objective.

Mr. Pattullo also favors what the Daily News has always advocated, the building of a line to the Peace River from the Canadian National line. Whatever we may think of the P.G.E. we are all agreed in Prince Rupert that the way to get to the Peace is from some point along the line of the C.N.R., the line to be built by the National Company so that it may become a part of the present system.

The building of the P.G.E. was unfortunate. It has cost the province a huge lot of money and it must be dealt with in the best possible manner in order to give the people of the province as much as possible for the money expended. The provincial government is wrestling with that problem now and the minister of lands says no one today knows what will be the outcome.

If Alberta is to be relieved of its railways by the Canadian National, then British Columbia must be treated the same. That is one thing on which we should insist. We are both in much the same condition. We think the provincial government will have to make considerable sacrifice in turning over the road to any purchaser and it would probably be good business to get rid of it at almost any price. The main point is that any company taking it must agree to operate it and probably no concern could do that as economically as the Canadian National.

LAND GRANTS TO RAILWAYS

While discussing the P.G.E. it might not be amiss to mention the question of land grants to railways. When the C.P.R. was built the railway was given millions of acres of land and this has been practically all settled. The possession of the land made the railway company not only a transportation concern but also actively engaged in land settlement. Through its widespread organization it was able to do more in the way of land settlement than anyone else could have done.

A proposal has been made that Peace River lands should be given as a bonus to any person taking over and completing the P.G.E. If this is done the company that takes them over will become an active colonization agent. The lands in their present condition have no value. In any agreement that may be made, however, we are of opinion that there should be a proviso that after five or ten years the lands still remaining in the hands of the company should become liable to taxation. That would be an impetus to the company to get rid of the lands as quickly as possible.

BRITAIN'S DIGNIFIED POSITION

Britain has taken the position that in her shipbuilding program she will not be guided by the wishes of the United States but simply by the necessities of her own country.

It is difficult to say whose fault it was that no limitation of armaments was agreed upon between Britain and the United States. British Liberals say that if they had been in power a treaty would have been made. At any rate there was no treaty. When the British government was drawing up its plans for the building of naval vessels it began carrying out the spirit of what the United States asked. The program was decidedly a concession to American demands. Then comes President Coolidge and urges Congress to build armaments which would be daringly in contrast with the policy of the proposed treaty. Britain now responds that what is good enough for the United States is good enough for her.

We think Canadians will not agree with this policy of daring each other which has been adopted. Most people in this country think there could well be a treaty between the countries concerned which would prevent foolhardy expenditures on armaments. Without such a treaty the expenditures will continue and they will set a standard for other countries which must eventually end in war.

ELKS COLLECT FOR CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND

Few Families Discovered Who Are Not Able to Provide Good Things for Holiday

A hurry-up call is being made upon citizens by the local Elks' Lodge for donations towards its Christmas cheer. The lodge is asking that donations, no matter how small, be sent to the Elks' Home, Sixth Street, between the hours of 4 and 6 any day in the week except Sunday up to December 23, or arrangements can be made by the committee to call for it. Donations may be in cash, children's clothes, shoes, toys or groceries.

At the present time there are in Prince Rupert hundreds of children with happy and prosperous homes who are looking forward to the arrival of Santa Claus, but there are also a few less fortunate and it is for these the Elks ask aid. They know that the people of the city will respond readily to their appeal so they have made all arrangements to fill this need.

To further augment their Christmas cheer fund the Elks are putting on a dance in their Home on Wednesday next with Small's Merrymakers providing the music. Those who attend this event will be helping to make the Christmas season pleasanter for those who otherwise might not enjoy it.

SALMON WILL BE DISCUSSED

Fishermen Asked to Express Views on Specific Proposals

The following official announcement has been made in regard to the fisheries meeting to be held Monday.

The Director of Fisheries, W. A. Found, announces that the request submitted to the Minister of Marine and Fisheries some weeks ago by a delegation representing a large majority of the salmon manners as well as the B.C. Fishermen's Protective Association, for the appointment of a commission to inquire into the fisheries situation in British Columbia, has been receiving consideration by the Government. The result is that while the present time is not regarded as opportune for the appointment of a commission, in view of certain questions as to jurisdiction now being before the court, it has been deemed advisable that while he is on the coast, he should hold sufficient public hearings to enable niterested parties to express their views on certain specific proposals finally submitted by the portion of the delegation that represented the Canners' Association.

They explained that while the Department is taking adequate measures to prevent the depletion of the salmon fisheries, the keen competition in fishing that has developed in recent years has resulted in such an unnecessarily large amount of equipment being used as to make the cost of production unduly high for the quantities of fish allowed to be taken, and is consequently rendering the industry unprofitable for both fishermen and canners.

They further explained that while it might be expected that the canning interests should remedy such situation themselves, they had found it impossible under the existing regulations to agree on any effective plan, but expressed confidence that in the light of this year's experience fishermen, as well as canners, would favor certain modifications in the regulations, which, while not involving the refusal of licenses to any, would enable the industry, at its own instance, to make reasonable reductions in the amount of fishing equipment, and otherwise reduce the cost of operations.

The delegation claimed that this could be done if the regulations included provisions to the following effect:

(1) That the coast of British Columbia be divided into fishing areas of such proportion as to support the plants in these areas.

(2) That the maximum amount of gear to be fished in each area, before additional weekly or annual closed season would be added, be stated in the regulations.

(3) That salmon—except the catches of trollers or fish for export, fresh fish markets or cold storage—be processed in the area in which it is caught.

As was pointed out by the delegation, it is obviously a fact that such provisions in the regulations would simplify the difficulties of fisheries protection.

The delegation requested that an enquiry into these proposals be made to ascertain the views of the fishermen, as well as the canners, thereon.

As stated above, Mr. Found has been instructed to make such enquiry and to enable the views of all those interested to be obtained, he announces that public hearings will be held as follows:

Prince Rupert, Monday, December 12.
Alert Bay, Wednesday, December 14.
Campbell River, Thursday, Dec. 15.
Union Bay, Thursday, December 15.
Nanaimo, Friday, December 16.
Port Alberni, Saturday, December 17.
Pender Harbor, Monday, December 19.
Vancouver, Tuesday, December 20.
New Westminster, Tuesday, Dec. 20.

PREPARING FOR HOUSE CLEANING

Cabinet at Ottawa Now Busy Preparing Legislation for the Coming Session

CONFLICTING INTERESTS

Minister of Finance Has Good Record so Far and Conditions Promise Well

(By R. J. Deachman)

OTTAWA, Dec. 10.—Time drifts towards the opening of Parliament. Things political are waking up. The dead, dull days of rain and mist slow the pulse and tend to tardy thought, but this week snow fell like a gift of grace on the mud of the earth, the weather cleared and now there is more snap to the step and increased mental action.

Politically, the temperature rises slightly, the appointment of a new leader for the Conservative party has had a stimulating effect. Governments are inclined to grow comatose and obese with age. This one has saved its form and figure by passing twice in one year through the fiery furnace of affliction. Still the leaderless state of the Tory party gave the Grits an unwonted sense of security. They are now awake once more to the fact that eternal vigilance is the price of continued tenure of office and that he who would wear the laurel must fight the fight.

Mr. Bennett is active. Energy is his great armament. He joys in public speech. He will flare up here and there throughout the country like a river in flood. In the main it will be devastating until it is answered. There will be ice jams in it here and there, for sometimes Mr. Bennett's words get ahead of his logic. Nevertheless, it will be interesting. Floods always draw crowds and Mr. Bennett will draw. Therefore, it must be answered. No doubt it will be. The common people ought to get a better run for their money in politics than they have had for some time.

A GOOD START

The cabinet has begun the work of preparing legislation for the coming session. It starts with many initial advantages. It will be recalled that last year Mr. Robb brought down his budget rather early. It was delivered on February 17. The fiscal year ends on March 31, so no complete statement could be given at that time of the final result of the year's business. Mr. Robb predicted a reduction in our net debt of $31,000,000. He spoke like a canny Scot. Estimates of total expenditures were given as $360,300,000—actual expenditures were $358,555,751. Revenues were were estimated at $394,800,000—the real figures turned out to be $400,452,480. Instead of an estimated surplus of $31,000,000, Mr. Robb wound up the fiscal year with a surplus available for debt reduction of $41,896,729. It is a most auspicious occasion for boasting. In 61 years, there have been twelve surpluses available for debt reduction—four of these have been in the last four years. The total surpluses from the first year of our history down to the time when Mr. Robb took hold, are very little more than the surplus which Mr. Robb had available for debt reduction last year.

This year gives promise of equally good conditions. The revenues are buoyant. Maturing loans have been paid off or re-financed at a lower rate of interest. Bountiful crops in the West will tend to increase the volume of exports. Expanding development in the mineral areas tends greatly to increase the volume of business activity. The employment situation was never better. Taking things by and large, Mr. Robb now faces a task much easier than that faced by any finance minister since the days before the war.

THE TROUBLES

So far as troubles exist, in a financial sense, they are due to a plethora of riches. Under the circumstances, Mr. Robb will be faced with a great deal of advice from two conflicting schools of thought. Rich men who pay income taxes will want the income tax reduced. Even now they are pouring out a long line of arugment, telling how the tax upon themselves is greatly checking the development of the country. On the other hand there will be those who favor substantial reduction in the tariff and removal or partial removal of the sales tax. In addition to this, there is a substantial thought throughout the country that some definite provision should be made for reduction of the national debt. This is receiving serious consideration by the government and may very possibly be acted upon.

Out of this medley of conflicting ideas, strange currents come to light. The Montreal Board of Trade is supposed to represent the extreme conservative viewpoint of high finance. Quite recently that body went on record, as supporting the income tax and direct taxation in general, instead of indirect taxes. The announcement created quite a sensation. It was as if the farmer organization of Western Canada had gone on record with a request for increased tariff. And still, it is not remarkable after all. It may be that the light has come to big business, it may be possible that even in Montreal they recognise that revenues must be raised, that the war must be paid for no matter how unpleasant the task may be and that the decision as to method is not a closed argument, but is still open to appeals to reason.

THE REVERSE SIDE

Meanwhile the National Dairy Council was presenting an appeal to the government for an increased duty on butter. The government must have had a hearty and joyous laugh. Straight thinking is more than straight acting. The paradox and enigma are still alive—self interest is still the great guiding principle in directing the affairs of men and that is true whether you live in a big city in the East or in the smallest hamlet of the plains.

VALUE OF DOG TEAMS.

What the camel is to the desert and the motor car is along macadamized roads, the "huskie" is to travellers over the snows of Northern Canada. The efficiency of the dog team as a means of travel is shown by the fact that a trained team can make a distance of 40 miles a day, and maintain this speed for days together.

CITY MANAGER ADVOCATED

Editor, Daily News.

The writer would like to see Prince Rupert adopt the City Manager plan of government, the city manager to be also Industrial Commissioner and the manager to be allowed an assistant manager, qualified to assume the duties of city engineer.

The assistant should be responsible to no one but the manager—who would have the appointing of his assistant.

The city manager plan is the only efficient way to conduct the business of a city successfully.

With our neighbors to the south, about 15 cities discarded the old way to adopt the newer plan and one never hears of them changing back to the old system.

A city is a big business, the citizens are the stockholders. Therefore it should be managed as a big business, with one responsible head.

Take the case of a flour mill for Prince Rupert or some other industry suitable for the place. He could look over the mills in Vancouver, and elsewhere, obtain data, regard to cost, etc. His next step might be to see how much of the cost would be taken up by Prince Rupert people and after that get in touch with outsiders interested in the same lines in a big way.

MOOSE DANCE WHIST DRIVE

About 250 Present at Big Event Last Night Under Auspices of Popular Order

A very enjoyable whist drive and dance was held last night by the Moose Lodge in their hall about 250 people being present. Thirty tables of whist were played, the winners of prizes being as follows:

Ladies—1, Miss M. Extrum; 2, Mrs. James Sturgeon; 3, Mrs. O. Baggon.

Men—1, Frank Fortune; 2, L. Voge; 3 Alex. Mackenzie.

The first prize in both ladies' and men's was a five dollar gold piece. There was also a prize of a Felix Cat won by entrance number, the award going to W. Macey.

For the dance Miss Jean Currie's orchestra provided excellent music, Gillis Royer was master of ceremonies and R. Hoskins was at the door. The committee in charge consisted of L. R. Parry (chairman), S. Haudenschild, J. Priest, J. Bacon, O. Franks, B. Sampson and J. Squirchuck.

and the huge sums of money invested therein by the National Government evidence this fact. Continuing, the minister said in part:

Canada stands today in respect of Foreign Trade, as the fifth nation in the world, and with a country of such huge area and sparse population, it is essential that this trade must be maintained. More and more the various nations of the world are endeavoring to become self-sustaining. They desire to produce as many of the necessities of sustenance as possible within their own confines, and their aim is to export to other countries the surplus of their production. There are some countries of the world that are over-populated in relation to the extent and variety of their natural resources. This is pre-eminently not the case with respect to Canada. What we need in Canada is more population. With more population, it is quite obvious that there will be a larger home market. Given natural resources for human use, the real asset to the country is the Human himself. We are in the fortunate position, in Canada, of having the experience of other countries to guide us in the building up of ours. Notably we have the example of the United States, where standards of living and general conditions, are similar to our own, and we should not fail to profit thereby.

Several years ago, when opinion generally was decidedly opposed to a vigorous Immigration policy, I took it upon myself to advocate that a vigorous Immigration policy should at once be inaugurated. The opposition to this viewpoint said, "What is the good of bringing people into the country unless the people who are already here are profitably occupied."

POPULATION IS SURE

It seems perfectly clear to me that unless you have people coming into the country, and I am speaking of Canada now, not China, you will have people going out. It is people that create opportunity. What is it that lures a number of our young men to the United States? It is the opportunity to secure bigger prizes than can be secured in Canada, and when I say this, it does not mean that one will necessarily be better off in the United States than he will be in Canada. If you wish to make a hundred million dollars, you might made it in New York, London Paris, or other large centres of population, but you are not likely to make it in Prince Rupert. It does not follow however, that you would be happier in New York than you are in Prince Rupert. Personally, I believe that the average citizen on this side of the line is better off than he is on the other side of the line, but the fact of the matter is, that by getting more people into the country you will create new opportunity in every line of endeavor.

There is more opportunity in British Columbia today with its six hundred thousand people, than there was when it only had three hundred thousand nor is there more unemployment than there was then. There is as a matter of fact, less.

The periods of greatest expansion in the United States, the most rapid increase in wages and the greatest shortening of hours of work was the period when immigration was the heaviest.

NOT FAVOR DUMPING

I am not at all in favor of bringing people out in boat loads, and suddenly dumping them in huge numbers into a single section of the country, but I see no reason why, three hundred thousand people a year should not be brought into Canada, and scattered throughout its length and breadth, and be readily absorbed. That you would find a few derelicts in this three hundred thousand, and that these instances would be used as an argument against the general policy, goes without saying, but on the whole the three hundred thousand would carry their own weight, and would be a great asset to the Dominion.

There is a very considerable body of public opinion in Canada that the preponderance of people brought to the Dominion of Canada should be British. There is a very strong public sentiment that the traditions of this Dominion should remain British. In spite of the conglomerate population of the United States, the traditions of the United States are still British, and I believe that every citizen of the Dominion of whatever national extraction is heartily in support of maintaining British traditions. I do not think it would be possible to secure from the British Isles alone, a sufficient number of settlers each year to anything like make up a quota of three hundred thousand people a year. Yet so eminent authorities as Mr. Beatty of the C.P.R. and Sir Henry Thornton corroborate the opinion that Canada can readily absorb as many as three hundred settlers each year.

MAKE GOOD CANADIANS

It must be remembered that Great Britain does not wish all of its best stock to leave the shores of the British Isles, yet we do not want in Canada any of the unfit of any nationality. I am of the opinion that there are many nationalities of sturdy stock that would make excellent Canadians. In this respect there devolves upon those of Canadian birth a special responsibility. We must accord to those who come to our shores and become citizens, a most hearty welcome.

There should be no reservations. When a man is a citizen he is a citizen and should be accorded all the rights of citizenship. All we ask in return is that he accept all the responsibilities of citizenship. That is, he must be ready not only to live for, but if necessary, to die for Canada.

When one of foreign extraction comes to this country, we cannot expect that he will immediately have no thought of the country of his origin. He would be a poor citizen of this country who could so soon forget his own, but by extending a most cordial welcome and inculcating ideals of Canadian citizenship, there is no doubt but that the settler born in a foreign country will come to love this country and look upon it as his own, while his children beyond all peradventure will be good Canadians, with strong British traditions.

I think that there are few countries more fortunate than the Dominion of Canada. I believe that no country on the face of the globe possesses a higher average of intelligence, a higher public morality than does the population of the Dominion, nor do I think that any people on earth live under healthier, happier and more fruitful conditions than do the people of Canada.

PRINCE GEORGE

Staff Captain James Merritt of Edmonton will be here for the opening of the new Salvation Army citadel in Prince George on Sunday.

A. E. Richards, supervisor of illustration stations for British Columbia, in his report on affairs agricultural in the Prince George district this season, cites the successful growing and harvesting on a commercial scale of a crop of clover seed as the outstanding feature. He urges the raising of more cows in the district.

The Ladies' Aid of the Giscome United Church realized $450 at its annual bazaar and dance.

The local Rebekah Lodge held its regular meeting in the Oddfellows' Hall on Thursday evening. A social gathering followed the meeting.

Miss Nellie Law, clerk in the Prince George Hotel, drew the horse Adieu in the Manchester handicap sweepstake which was conducted by the Quesnel Hospital. The horse finished second. Winners of first and second prizes respectively were Mrs. J. MacKay and A. Brentwell, both of Quesnel.

Machinery of the Allotte Mining Co., which was seized by Sheriff E. S. Peters to satisfy wage claims, is being allowed to continue its journey to Manson Creek. The creditors have consented to its being moved to the mine where it can be worked. A few days' employment on the company's ground is expected to discharge all claims.

Man in the Moon

THE wind was cold
It made him shiver.
The drink was warm
And made him quiver.
"I like the cold"
He said, "that brings
"With it a bracing
"Draught that stings."

I NEVER could quite understand how a woman could stand the cold. But then Jake says man never did understand women and never will.

SHE'S an angel in truth, a demon in fiction;
A woman's the greatest in all contradiction.
But she'll tackle a husband as big as a house.

She'll take him for better, she'll take him for worse;
She'll split his head open, and then be his nurse;
And when he is well and can get out of bed

She's faithful, deceitful, keen sighted and blind;
She's crafty, she's simple, she's cruel, she's kind.
She'll take him apart and make him a clown.

You fancy she's this, but you find she is that,
For she'll play like a kitten and bite like a cat,
In the morning she will, in the evening she won't
And you're always believing she does, but she don't.

School of Navigation to be Reopened Here—Activity in Shell Fishing—Scrap Fishing Deferred Until New Year

Generally gratifying is the announcement made by Capt. Lionel H. Lindsay, examiner of masters and mates from Vancouver, who has been a visitor in the city during the past week arranging for the classes, that it is the intention of the government to reopen the school for navigation in Prince Rupert this winter. Classrooms will be established in the headquarters on the waterfront of the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve and Capt. J. R. Elfert, harbormaster and port warden, will act as instructor. The classes will be opened in the very near future, a meeting having been held on Thursday night when an idea was obtained of the number of students offering. A navigation school was held in Prince Rupert two or three winters ago and was well patronized. There is no doubt that it will again prove popular, especially among the fishermen who, while the close season is on, will have the opportunity, with no cost to themselves, of qualifying as accredited navigators. Examinations will probably be held early in the spring.

There is considerable activity about Prince Rupert in crab and shrimp fishing, the market being reported to be capable of absorbing much more of the luscious shellfish than is available.

Capt. George Johansen of the troller Fox, known locally as the "Shrimp King," who is himself fishing shrimp in Tucks Inlet, has made arrangements to engage six other small boats in crabbing around Denise Arm, Skeena flats, and Metlakatla. They will start operations at once. Johansen assembles and prepares the crabs and shrimps at his headquarters on Digby Island, shipping considerable quantities to the prairies.

Capt. Claude Lee of the Koyosu is engaged in crabbing in Warke Canal, disposing of his output to the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co.

Prince Rupert fishermen who are interesting themselves in the possibilities of scrap fishing this winter will now defer commencement of operations until after the Christmas and New Year holiday season.

After having been out for three weeks off Dundas Island, Capt. Gus Slaney, with the boat Nuba, returned to port on December 7. Owing to unfavorable weather, Gus had little, if any, success but he plans on making another try at it after the first of the year. He is fishing for the Bacon Fisheries.

Capt. Peter Byrne, who will beam trawl for scrap fish with the halibut boat Dolphin, also for the Bacon Fisheries, has as well deferred departure until after the first of the year.

OFF TO VANCOUVER

The Prince Rupert halibut boat Cape Spencer, Capt. Richard Giske, left on Wednesday morning of this week for Vancouver where special engine work will be done on the vessel. Capt. Giske expects to return to Prince Rupert soon after the New Year.

Skipper "Scotty" Reid is another who has decided that it will pay him in the long run to have his overhauling done early before the rush starts in about January 10. He is giving his halibut boat Marguerite a thorough going over at the Ward Ways.

The seineboat packers Anna S., Capt. Eli Skog, and Zenardi, Capt. R. Gammon, have been pressed temporarily into the service of the B.C. Towage and Lighterage Co. whose service boat Salvage Princess has been extra busy of late in connection with the salvage of the steamer Catala. On Thursday, the Zenardi went out to Triple Island with Capt. J. R. Elfert, pilot for the incoming grain ship, Ainderby.

With seven local men as his guests, Capt. John Wick returned to port early Wednesday morning with the halibut boat Johanna from a five-day hunting trip to the region of Gardner Canal. The fact that each member of the party averaged two deer as well as a number of geese and ducks testifies to the success of the trip and the marksmanship of the excursionists.

The entire fleet of the Rupert Marine Products Co. Ltd. is now tied up with the exception of the power tug M.T. 3, Capt. Reg. Green, which is finding considerable work to carry out between the city and the Big Bay sawmill at Georgetown.

On Thursday the M.T. 3 brought in a scow from Georgetown containing lumber to be used in the construction of the new sawmill of the Big Bay Co. at Seal Cove.

Yesterday a scow was brought in containing a carload of airplane spruce which was shipped by the steamer Princess Beatrice this morning to Seattle.

SWORD FISHING PROFITABLE

Cape Breton fishermen are making a good bit from a fish formerly regarded as a pest—the swordfish. This year, in the short season available, 1,693 fish were shipped from the Cape Breton Island waters to U.S. markets, principally Boston. The fish weighed close to 500,000 pounds, and realized a good price.

Swordfish are regarded as a great delicacy. The flesh is firm and pinkish white, and is excellent when fried. Retail prices in Boston were said to be 50 cents a pound, with a consistently growing demand.

An unusual haul was made by one of the swordfishermen last August. The schooner Flirt, Capt. W. L. Smith, of Terence Bay, Halifax county, was fishing out of Louisburg when a monster sea turtle was sighted. Careful manoeurering brought the boat alongside, and a harpoon was plunged in its back. The harpoon failed to pierce the armour-like shell, but it caught hold, and a hot battle ensued before the monster could be hauled on board. When measured, the turtle was found to be seven feet long, five feet wide, and 1000 pounds in weight.

Mackerel have been taken in fairly large quantities on the west coast of Vancouver Island fishing grounds recently, according to reports coming from the south. Whether mackerel, which is one of the finest of edible fish, will ever be found in commercial quantities in B.C. waters is not known. The increase in the quantity on the west coast has been quite marked this year, however.

Fish eating has been responsible for an increase in the birthrate in Japan according to Josef Washington Hall, an American author, and formerly private secretary to the Chinese war lord Wu Pei Fu.

During the course of an address in Moscow, while on a visit to Russia, Mr. Hall declared that Japan had become the greatest nation of fish eaters in the world, and simultaneously the birthrate in Japan has increased. The ratio works out, he claimed, at about 400 pounds of fish for each gain in the birthrate.

Failure of provincial public works department and railway engineers to agree on plans for the structure has caused delay in the completion of the new overhead connecting the foot of McBride Street with the west end of the government wharf for pedestrian traffic. It is hoped that differences will soon be settled so that the work may proceed.

Waterfront goers miss the stairway from the east end of the ramp leading to the Canadian National wharves which was taken down some months ago when repairs to the overhead were undertaken. It was a facility and short cut which it is hoped will be replaced before long.

LANDSMAN ON HALIBUT BANKS

(By Howard White)

The skipper locates the boat on the "spot" where gear is to be set and gives the word to throw the gear. Pole and buoy are then thrown into the water alongside, with the boat running full speed; the coiled buoy line is thrown out with a peculiar twisting motion which spreads the coils; the anchor is put overboard, and the gear commences to run out through the chute. The action of the gear running out snaps the baited hooks in an arc, up and over the chute. The hooks going out are unpleasant things to get caught on: it is said that a fisherman was once so caught under the chin, and either jumped or was pulled overboard. As he was alone on deck at the time, the accident was not discovered until the line had run out, and the man had long been drowned before the line could be hauled and his body recovered.

While one skate is running out, the bottom end is attached to the upper end of the next skate, while the buoy line, anchor, glass float, buoy and flagpole are got in readiness to attach to the last skate. As the end of one skate is about to pass over the chute, the next is shoved into position under the chute, timed so that there is no perceptible break in the passage of the hooks. While the last skate runs out, the anchor, buoy line, etc., are prepared to go overboard, going in reverse order to those at the other end: the pole being thrown last.

Helping to prepare and throw out the buoy line was one thing the "lubber" was finally allowed to do, and he felt pretty cheap once, when he attached the line to the second flag-pole in the rack where these are kept, and at the word from the skipper he threw out the first pole, with no line attached: but his chagrin was lightened next day, when one of the "regulars" did the same thing.

Strings of gear are set either end to end, side by side or perhaps only one on a "spot", depending on the formation and extent of the "spot" where the "set" is made. The gear is given from two to three hours' "soak," or possibly an all-night-set, before being hauled in. Locating "spots" with the sounding-lead is quite a technical part of halibut fishing, as it is necessary to know the location, extent and formation of the grounds in order to set the gear efficently; and much depends on the skipper's interpretation of what comes up in the tallow of the lead. The bank is located, whenever possible, by taking cross bearings on points ashore. A log is kept of landmarks, etc., and much information is constantly checked up by the skipper, who notes carefully where good fishing commences and ends. The whole responsibility of operating the boat and getting fish is borne by the skipper.

What is known as "live" bottom is where there are plenty of fish of any kind—where the bait is eaten; "dead" bottom is where bait comes back on the hooks.

HIGH SCHOOL LOSES MATCH

Leaders of Intermediate Basketball League Beaten for First Time—Elks Lose to Native Sons Again

Losing to Big Four by a score of 48 to 22, High School last night suffered its first defeat of the season in the Intermediate Basketball League, this having been the feature game of the evening. The winners played all around the school boys whose ranks were weakened by sickness among members.

In the Senior League, the Native Sons of Canada continued their conquests by winning 27 to 21 over the Elks, it being a good tight game. The fact that three players—Will Lambie, George Mitchell and Doug. Frizzell—were ordered off the floor for personal fouls may have somewhat hampered the chances of the lodge men. Of the Sons, Clarence Thomson was ordered off.

In the third game of the evening, the High School had an easy 20-6 victory over the Girls' Drill Team in the Ladies' League.

Individual scoring was as follows:

LADIES' LEAGUE

High School—Sue Boddie, 6; May Ness, 2; Phyllis Harvey, 2; Muriel Vance; Nellie Gurvich, 6; Helen Sim, 4; Julia Walters. Total, 20.

Drill Team—Laura Frizzell, 2; Chrissie McLeod; Cathie Irvine, 4; Evelyn March; Evelyn Dalby; Ada Menzgohr. Total, 6.

Referee—R. B. Skinner.

WAS VERY WEAK
NERVOUS AND MELANCHOLY

Mrs. Geo. McKenzie, Campbellford, Ont., writes:—"A short time ago I was troubled very bady with my heart and nerves, the cause of it, I think, was my going through the change of life.

"I was very weak and melancholy, and so nervous I could hardly bear to hear a clock ticking, and I did not sleep well.

"I was advised to try MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS so I sent at once for a box; took them and got another, and before they were all gone I felt good, my nerves are fine, I do not mind any noise, and I can sleep well. I cannot recommend them too highly to those suffering as I did."

PEACHY RESIGNED FROM THE ARSENAL

Dispute Which Threatened to Disrupt Senior Soccer in England Has Been Settled

LONDON, Eng., Dec. 10.—Settlement of the Arsenal football club dispute which at one time threatened to disrupt the senior soccer league in England was announced recently. The Football Association after an investigation into the affairs of the club demanded the retirement from the board of directors of G. W. Peachy. Mr. Peachy objected to be retired and when other directors decided to issue new shares to themselves so as to control the club he went to the chancery court and sought an injunction. The trouble was finally ironed out by Mr. Peachy agreeing to resign and accepting payment from the club of his legal expenses.

During the arguments in the chancery court it was stated that a former chairman of the Arsenal board, Sir Henry Norris, had been ordered by the Football Association to repay £530, the amount received by him or on his behalf, as the wages of his chauffeur and other sums and he was further ordered to be permanently suspended from taking part in football or football management. Sir Henry still holds a large number of shares in the Arsenal Club.

It was understood Mr. Peachy, though his legal claim appeared sound, agreed to leave the board in the best interest of the club and football.

SPORT CHAT

Arrangements are now being made for the appearance at Smithers early in February, of a girls' team from Terrace, which will play a two-game series with an all-star Smithers team for the championship of the northern interior. The winning team it is planned will make a trip to Prince Rupert to meet the lady chompions here for the northern British Columbia title.

Alex. Wimbles has been elected president, J. C. Pidgeon vice-president and manager, and J. M. McLean secretary-treasurer of the Prince George Hockey Club. The executive is constituted as follows: George Williams, F. A. Matheson, R. S. Morrell, Terry Johnson and Richard Corless. There is said to be plenty of playing talent available, and an effort will be made to stage the opening game with the Cranbrooks on December 11. Later games may be played with Smithers, Jasper and possibly Vanderhoof.

The Omineca Ski Club dance and smoker at the Burns Lake community hall recently attracted a crowd that taxed the capacity of the building to the limit. Many of the fair sex enjoyed the boxing bouts, in which "Kid" Reid challenged all comers and finally met more than his match at the hands of Cecil Hartley. Hartley's superior weight, reach and ring generalship proved too much for the Edmonton Kid, who, nevertheless, put up a game exhibition. The dance was managed by Ronald Prosser and with Mrs. Jewell at the piano and Albert Bach on the guitar, the elite of the Lakes district was unanimous in pronouncing it the most successful dance of the season.
