PREMIER KING REPLIES TO TOLMIE

MORE GRAIN BUSINESS HERE EXPECTED

Directors of B.C. Packers Bring Optimistic Message in Regard to Future of Prince Rupert as Port

One Speaker Declares Outlet of Peace River Is to Be Here and Pictures Marvellous Hinterland

Wheat Trade to the Orient Is Likely to Increase Very Soon

Say That Pool Officials Look to Trade With Orient As Price Allows Competition With Rice

That the price of wheat would go even lower and that this would result in a great deal more of it being shipped through Prince Rupert to the Orient was the view expressed by outside visitors at a banquet given to directors of the B. C. Packers by the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce last night. This was mentioned specifically by A. T. Williamson of the Winnipeg branch of Wood, Gundy & Co. and a director of the B. C. Packers. George E. Kidd of the B. C. Electric stated that he was in China a few months ago and it was his opinion that as soon as the government of that country became more settled, it would be a great consumer. It was wheat against rice. As the price of wheat went down, and it would go down owing to the large production possible by the use of modern machinery, it became more and more a competitor with rice and would be consumed in the Orient to a far greater extent than today. This would mean the greater development of western ports.

Stanley Burke, president of the B. C. Packers and referred to jocularly as "our strong, silent president," told of having flown in an airplane to the headwaters of the Fraser, the Parsnip and the Peace Rivers and seen Prince Rupert's wonderful hinterland spread out before him. There was no doubt of it—Prince Rupert would be the outlet. He had then visited the Ingenika mine and seen the tremendous spruce forests many miles in extent. He saw a wonderful future for Prince Rupert and assured the Chamber he would do everything he could to help the port.

Mr. Williamson said his firm had become interested in the B. C Packers in order to keep the company in Canadian hands. He was interested in the grain trade and a director of two milling companies and was particularly interested in marketing in the Orient. When wheat went up in price, their business went down but, with the drop in price, their Oriental business increased. And producers were anxious to develop this Oriental trade and he looked for much more shipping from Prince Rupert. He also mentioned that the officials of the Wheat Pool were also look-

CORPSE OF MAN FOUND

Body Discovered in Bush Back of McClymont Park Yesterday Believed That of Joe Bussinger

The dead body of a man, presumed to have been Joseph Bussinger, old time prospector of this city and Telkwa, was found yesterday about noon on the hill back of McClymont Park about two hundred yards off from the trail that has been built by the Power Corporation of Canada in connection with transmission line construction. The discovery was made by one of the employees of the Power Corporation. The provincial police were at once notified and, after the surroundings had been inspected by the coroner, the body was brought in to the city late yesterday afternoon and is now in charge of the B. C. Undertakers.

The man had apparently been dead for four weeks more or less. The body was fully clothed and there were no marks of violence as far as outward appearance, at least, would show. An inquiry will be held by Coroner C. L. Monroe, probably this afternoon.

The late Mr. Bussinger was about 67 years of age and had lived in the north for many years. He had been missing for the past few weeks and some concern was expressed for his safety. A son resides in Telkwa and is expected in town at once.

It is presumed that the aged prospector had taken to the hills for a stroll and was overcome and died.

The body was positively identified today as that of Joseph Bussinger by William Burken with whom deceased stayed up to the time of his disappearance.

In a pocket of the dead man's clothes was found a copy of the Daily News of May 22. It was about the end of May that Bussinger disappeared.

Identification was made by clothes and effects contained therein. The body was in such an advanced state of decomposition that recognition of the face was impossible.

Seventy Ridings Nominate Their Candidates In Preparation For General Election at Month End

OTTAWA, July 15:—In 70 ridings candidates were nominated yesterday for the federal elections. There was only one acclamation, this being for Robert Gardiner of Acadia, Alberta, leader of the Progressive group. Nominations indicated that three-cornered fights would be common, particularly in the western provinces. In three Quebec ridings which nominated candidates yesterday but one three-cornered fight developed, this being in Pontiac where two Liberals and one Conservative were nominated.

In 15 Ontario constituencies which nominated, the only three-cornered fight will be in Fort William where Dr. R. J. Manion is the Conservative candidate. Here there is an Independent Conservative and a Liberal in the field besides Dr. Manion.

In Manitoba 12 out of 17 ridings nominated candidates. There will be two three-cornered contests, one four-cornered and one five-cornered.

In Saskatchewan, where 20 out of 23 constituencies nominated, there will be three three-cornered fights and one four-cornered.

In Alberta 12 out of 16 seats nominated with three three-cornered contests.

British Columbia, with seven out of 14 ridings nominating, will have but one three-cornered fight although many-sided nominations are promised in some of the urban seats which do not nominate until next Monday.

In the Yukon's one seat there is a straight Liberal-Conservative fight.

Nominees of the Western Provinces include:

Conservatives, 39.
Liberals, 35.
Liberal Progressives, 8.

The balance of the candidates include United Farmers of Alberta, Progressives and Laborites.

Received No Request From This Province For Employment Aid

Was Merely Suggestion of Co-operation—Prime Minister Was Again Victim of Organized Heckling at Meeting In Regina Last Night

REGINA, July 15:—After one of the most strenuous meetings of his campaign, Premier King left here late last night for Winnipeg where he will conclude his tour of the west. The Premier was heckled somewhat when he dealt with the unemployment problem but the unperturbed Mr. King pursued his outline of the campaign issues, answered questions and replied to communications submitted to him by unemployed men's associations of the city. Heckling was not unexpected here and there were stories of the disturbances being organized. For two hours the Premier dealt with unemployment, the budget and problems of and representation for the Imperial Conference to be held in London.

Again the Premier reiterated the government's policy in dealing with unemployment. When requested, he said, the federal government was prepared to assist the provinces "dollar for dollar" in unemployment relief.

In answer to statements made by Premier Tolmie of British Columbia and Hon. W. A. McKenzie, his minister of labor, Mr. King declared emphatically that no applications for assistance which could be placed before Parliament had been received. He read a communication from the British Columbia Premier asking for co-operation in view of representations made by the provincial government of Manitoba. A reply had been sent to Dr. Tolmie promising consideration of the request for co-operation. "But," adderd Premier King, "up to this very hour I have not received a single request from any province asking for federal government assistance."

Lief Erikson Ladies' Aid In Monthly Meet

The Ladies' Aid to the local Lief Erikson Society held its monthly meeting last night at the home of Mrs. Gjerstad, Hays Cove Avenue. Singing was enjoyed and much interest was taken in the reading of a continued story. The ladies decided to hold their annual bazaar toward the end of October. Before the meeting came to a close, delicious refreshments were served.

The Political Corner

Vol. 1. Tuesday, July 15, 1930 No.29.

Tory Deception

Messrs. Stevens and Brady are telling us that the Liberal Government has increased taxation because Canada now collects more taxes than when the Liberals came into power.

This is a half truth and is worse than a whole lie because it is made with the intent to make the electors believe the rate of taxation has not been reduced.

Mackenzie King says very justly that he is entitled to commendation for having continuously reduced the rate of taxation during the last six years, though the amount of revenue collected has increased materially.

As a country prospers and business increases more taxes are collected although the rate may be greatly reduced.

Mr. Brady once taught mathematics. Let us give him a simple problem in arithmetic:

"If a business man on a $20,000 turnover pays a 6% business "tax or $1,200, what tax will he pay on a $200,000 turnover when "the rate is reduced to 1%? The answer of course is $2,000. More "taxes, but rate reduced from six to one."

The Mackenzie King Government reduced the Sales Tax from 6% in 1923 to 5% in 1924; to 4% in 1927; to 3% in 1928; to 2% in 1929 and to 1% in 1930, and all our other taxes have been similarly reduced by the Liberal Government and yet Messrs. Stevens and Brady continue in their attempt to deceive the electors into the belief that their taxes have not been reduced.

They cannot meet the government squarely on the big issues of the day such as the Imperial Preferential Tariff and the Economic Conference but fritter away the time of the people in discussing "five cent pieces" and "when is a tax reduction not a tax reduction."

Any port in a storm.

A NOTABLE ADMISSION

The admission of Stanley Burke, president of the B. C. Packers and prominent in the Peace River Outlet Association in Vancouver that the outlet of the Peace River country would be at Prince Rupert was a notable one. While it was not a considered statement but simply an aside it was intensely interesting to the people who heard it. It was given during the course of a brief address at the banquet given last night in honor of the directors of the B. C. Packers, who were present. It bears out the views which have often been expressed in these columns.

WHEAT VERSUS RICE

Another interesting thing made clear at the banquet was that the high price of wheat tends to injure western ports because wheat was in direct competition with rice and if the price of wheat is high the Orientals eat the cheaper commodity. With the price of wheat low much more business can be done with the Orient and that naturally will help Prince Rupert.

In the past we have thought that what benefitted the farmer benefitted us but it may not always be so. While we like to see the farmer prosperous there are compensations so far as we are concerned, if the commodity he sells is low in price.

THE PRICE OF WHEAT

The speakers at the banquet last night expressed the opinion that the price of wheat would go still lower than it is today. That is an interesting expression of opinion and we sincerely hope it is not correct. If it goes lower than 90 cents the farmers will have a hard time. At any rate it indicates something of the trend of opinion on the outside, one from Winnipeg and the other from Vancouver, and will interest local people.

HANSON'S MAJORITY

There was considerable discussion around the city last night in regard to the article on Hanson's majority and it proved somewhat of an eye-opener to some of those interested in politics who had been basking in the sunshine of a former victory and relying on its reflected rays to carry them over the present campaign. The question chiefly discussed seems to have been how large would be Hanson's majority. Some were of opinion that it would be only a small one while others felt that the word picture in the Daily News was not at all overdrawn and that when the ballots were all counted the Liberal candidate would be actually a thousand votes in the lead. At any rate the trend of public feeling is toward Hanson just now and if nothing happens to change it, he seems to be practically assured of election by a substantial majority.

FREDERICKS' STATEMENT

Peace River Editor Has No Doubt About Early Construction of Railway Outlet

(Vancouver Province)

"Peace River is coming ahead as never before. Its prospects never were so good. Newcomers are arriving in the country too rapidly. I don't mean that we are getting too many good settlers—that would be impossible. But we are getting a proportion of the wrong class of people, who hardly have a remote chance of making good."

In these words, Mr. C. W. Fredericks, leading newspaper proprietor of the Peace River district, summarized the situation. After spending several days in Vancouver, he left for home at Peace River, Alta., last night.

With unbounded faith in the land of his adoption, Mr. Freericks at the same time wished to issue a warning. It is not the first time he has said, "Be Careful." The lure of Peace River is a real factor in the colonizing of that interesting country, but you must make real preparations if you would go there and succeed.

"New settlers should have outfits and money sufficient to carry them two to three years," said Mr. Fredericks, who deplored the dashing in of people who virtually became dependent upon the community two days after their arrival.

Mr. Fredericks feels certain that in the Peace, as perhaps in other parts of Western Canada, the tendency during the next few years will be away from wheat and toward mixed farms. The Peace is admirably suited for coarse grains, hogs and dairying—these will be the dominant products of the country as Mr. Fredericks looks at the picture a decade hence.

Coast Outlet Certain

No doubt exists in Mr. Fredericks' min concerning the construction of a coast outlet. He regards it as very significant that the C. P. R. this year has several survey parties in the field looking for the best route through the mountains westward. Results of these surveys will be known within a few months, he feels certain.

With the spirit of the real pioneer, Mr. Fredericks never tires of extolling the outlook for the great north country. There is a wide variety of land to suit the ideals of every bona fide settler. In winter, there are sections of light snowfall and belts where the fall is heavier. There are districts noted for the number and variety of their wild game; other sections where there is hardly any wild life. Almost everywhere the land is rich and fertile. And north of the Peace the country is limitless. Possibly it possesses four times the extent and resources of the more settled country beween Edmonton and the great river.

Mr. Fredericks owns papers at Grand Prairie, Fairview and Peace River and is planning other journals on the British Columbia side of the line. He is a man of great energy and spends much of his time driving between his various properties, covering as much as 500 miles weekly by motor. When E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, visited the Peace River region Mr. Fredericks personally directed him over much of the country.

Though widely interested in the publishing business, Mr. Fredericks finds time to take a lively interest in public life. He was a candidate for the Provincial Legislature in Alberta at the last election. He held few meetings, made no speeches and came very near being elected. He ran on a non-partisan ticket, his platform being the sane development of the Peace.

Some years ago when the province of Alberta and the province of British Columbia seemed to be neglecting the Peace River country, Mr. Fredericks called a public meeting and launched a campaign for the organization of a new province in the north.

One of Mr. Fredericks' hobbies is the Peace River musical festival. He has donated valuable cups to the festival and has been one of the most energetic workers in bringing it to its present successful position.

SPORT CHAT

Sons of Canada and Elks will meet this evening in a City League baseball game postponed from Sunday. Should the Elks win tonight they will cop off first half of the season honors and will be entitled to play-off with the winners of the second half for city honors. A win for the Sons tonight however, would necessitate a play-off between them and the Centrals and, should it so come that the Centrals should win the play-off, a three way tie for the first half of the season would result.

Bluff, hearty, good-humored Sir Thomas Lipton, for all his 80 years, is as determined today as at any time in the past to carry home across the water the America's Cup, which since the first contest in which it was at stake has been in the custody of our United States cousins. One after another the doughty yachtman's four Shamrocks have crossed the Atlantic to go down to defeat that would have crushed or soured a nature less sterling in quality. It is his sportsmanship which has won him the good wishes of a whole world, now seeing reason in the recent victories and one warning defeat at trials to expect a contest worthy of its interest—an epic event outshining all previous races for the cup. It's only a funny-looking old jug, but how much it has come to contain!

Perhaps being born in Glasgow of Irish parents had something to do with it all? There is in heredity and environment that which shapes the future of a child. Maybe it's the Scottish climate that imparts that thrifty business good sense, that canny, persevering attention to detail, organization and commercial attack. Couple that with the roving, jovial Irish qualities and you have a Sir Thomas Lipton. It was the Irish in him, one would like to imagine, that sent him, a Glasgow stationer's errand boy, overseas at 15 to America, mythical land of promise, to work as a grocer's clerk, to drive a New Orlean's tramcar, to canvass for a portrait firm, and finally to find employment on a South Carolina plantation. He would need all his bubbling Irish humor and the endurance of the Scot to push on through these experiences, saving money to be able at last to return and open a small grocery business in the city of his birth.

The expansiveness of America having become part of his youthful growth it was only natural that one store should grow to more and more until the necessity of supplying his many retail shops all over the United Kingdom with provisions on the most favorable terms would lead the enterprising adventurer to become proprietor of his own Ceylon tea, coffee and cocoa plantations, a Chicago hog-packing plant, with fruit farms and canneries and bakeries in England. A friend of unnumbered royal and notable persons, the genial sportsman has been celebrated in many an anecdote and fathered as many more. But one seems particularly characteristic.

It was in the reign of Queen Victoria, the Good. There was a Nelson Anniversary. At her anchorage in harbor the veteran warship Victory lay—and for one glorious day was to live over again the thrilling past. She was to be furbished and made gay once more. For this great occasion the beloved admiral's famous "England expects" signal was to be bent to the halyards again that all England might remember. A combination of business acumen and Irish wit prompted the tea magnate to have a word with the man whose duty it was to hoist the code flags which would flaunt the slogan to the winds for wafting to an empire and the world. The morning sun of the great day rose and its rays shone brightly on the bunting that proclaimed to all who could understand the symbols that "England expects every man to drink Lipton's tea."

The "shot heard round the world" had nothing on that for reverberations. History is silent on exactly what happened to the signalman, but there was a feeling that for some time the tea baronet to-be was not altogether in high favor with the good queen.

ALEX YULE HAS PASSED

Picturesque Pioneer of Prince Rupert Dies in Spokane at Age of Over Eighty Years

A telegram received by M. M. Stephens from James B. Yule in Spokane announced the death on Sunday morning at fifteen minutes past six o'clock of Alex Yule, one of Prince Rupert's best known and picturesque pioneer citizens. News of Mr. Yule's death will be received by old timers of this city with a distinct sense of loss and regret. He was well over 80 years of age.

The late Mr. Yule was one of the very first men to come to Prince Rupert. In 1908 he established a blacksmith shop on the waterfront not far from where the house of W. H. Tobey now stands. On the extension of the railway grade eastward from the wharves, Mr. Yule had to move his shop elsewhere.

On the outbreak of the Great War, despite the fact that he was well beyond the age limit, Mr. Yule volunteered for service and went overseas. After the conclusion of the war he returned to Prince Rupert and for years conducted a fruit and curio store on McBride Street opposite Fourth Avenue. This store he eventually moved to the corner of McBride Street and Third Avenue and the premises are now occupied by Joe Slaggard.

Three or four years ago, Mr. Yule moved to Great Falls, Montana, to spend his closing years with his children. A few weeks ago word was received here that he was in a sinking condition and his death was not unexpected.

The funeral will take place on Thursday of this week in Great Falls, Montana, and the body will be laid beside that of deceased's wife who died many years ago. Before coming to Prince Rupert, Mr. Yule lived in the northwest states which he knew in the days before the buffalo disappeared and about which he could spin many an interesting anecdote.

Among other organizations, the late Mr. Yule was a member of the local Elks' Lodge.

B. C. and Saskatchewan Premiers Deny Statement That Aid Has Not Already Been Asked

VANCOUVER, July 15:—From two western provinces have come denials of Premier King's assertion that no request had been made to the Dominion by a provincial government for unemployment relief. Premier Tolmie and Hon. W. A. McKenzie, minister of labor, in British Columbia and Hon. M. A. McPherson, the attorney-general from Saskatchewan, have contradicted the Premier's statement.

British Columbia was officially represented at two jobless parleys this year—the national employment conference at Ottawa on February 26 and the Winnipeg conference earlier in the year—according to the British Columbia ministers. Premier Tolmie produced a telegram in which he had stated to Premier King that the "province earnestly desired that the Dominion co-operate in some way."

At Saskatoon, Mr. McPherson characterized Premier King's stand as untrue and claimed that twice the matter of unemployment had been drawn to the attention of Ottawa officials.

ing forward to doing a greater business through the port.

Prosperity Here

Mr. Kidd told how twenty years ago he had started from Toronto to Prince Rupert and had only just arrived. He had heard it was one of the most prosperous places in the province and that he thought was partly due to the money being spent by the Power Company and the possibilities of increased development following the installation of the power plant, something which usually followed.

J. P. D. Malkin, whose firm has a branch in Prince Rupert, felt that both he and Richard Gosse were also citizens. He saw a change for the better every time he came here. He wished the town every success and the general feeling was that it was going to be a great centre. There was twice as much business in Prince Rupert today as there was in Vancouver in 1895 when that city was the same age. He felt that the city would develop into a wonderful metropolis. In the fishing industry they had problems which could be solved only by co-operation. He asked support for the good of the whole industry.

Richard Gosse stated that the party was completely sold on the possibilities of Prince Rupert. The people were the salt of the earth.

At the close a hearty vote of thanks to the visitors was moved by Mayor Orme and seconded by George Nickerson and carried with enthusiasm. G. P. Tinker presided.

Taku River Field Is Not Played Out—Big Missouri to Take Over Riverside Mill—Premier Ships Ore From Porter-Idaho

C. M. Lee of Stewart strongly deprecates reports appearing recently in the press of Prince Rupert to the effect that "one hundred and twenty-five square miles of land has been staked, and some of it doubly staked, in the new Taku River mining area." Such a statement is very much exaggerated, Mr. Lee states. He says that the ground staked covers about twenty by four miles and part of this is still open. The largest individual holder is the Alaska Juneau Co. which has taken up property covering about two square miles including the Manville, Banker and Sparling groups. Values from these groups run as high as 450 ounces in silver. Recent discoveries on the Sparling group contain grey copper and galena but no information has been given out as to assay values. The Whitewater group, in which Mr. Lee is interested, has a lead of six feet of solid antimony with a quartz lead alongside twenty-two feet wide and carrying $16.12 in gold to the ton. This lead can be traced 5,000 feet. Mr. Lee and his partner discovered another antimony lead two-and-a-half miles southeast of Tulsequah which is seventeen feet wide, appears to be solid and carries $14 in gold. Very little work has been done on this ground. Early in June another discovery was made on the south fork of the Taku. This was a sixty foot lead of galena, the ore running $32.99 per ton with principal values in silver. Mr. Lee says that ground staked by Homer Ficklin looks very good. Ficklin struck a 32-foot lead containing gold, copper and silver but has not as yet given out any information as to values Transportation facilities on the Taku are good, Mr. Lee states, the Taku Trading & Transportation Co., owned by Prince Rupert interests, giving excellent service. Entire outfits can now be purchased at Tulsequah.

Rumors around Stewart to the effect that the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. is contemplating the installation of a mill at the Big Missouri property have been brought to a head with the announcement that the company has been in communication with the owners of the Riverside mine for the purchase of the mill and plant at Seven Mile on the Salmon River. Recently the Riverside Co. has had men on the property placing a valuation on the machinery. Big Missouri has responded to development in a big way, according to well informed engineers, but both Consolidated Smelters and the Big Missouri Mining Co. have been reticent regarding the importance of the value and amount of ore indicated. However, recent development must have been very satisfactory in view of the announcement that a pilot mill is to be erected to determine the best way of treating the ore and that development would be aggressively continued. A proposed site for the mill has also been discussed and it has meen stated that the mill will probably have an initial capacity of 250 tons. The title to the Big Missouri mine is held by the Buena Vista Mining Co., in which Consolidated Smelters has 53 per cent interest, and the Big Missouri Mining Co., 47 percent. interest. A meeting of the Buena Vista Co. is called for this month after which time it is expected complete announcement will be made as to the company's plans.

Some excitement was aroused around Stewart last week by a reported strike at the Premier of ore carrying free gold, several samples of which were claimed to have been seen. However, enquiry revealed the fact that the Premier management knew nothing whatever of the supposed strike and it was presumed that the specimens were from old workings in the mine where the ore occasionally carried a high gold content.

The Premier Gold Mining Co. last week shipped 250 tons of Porter-Idaho ore to the Tacoma smelter. This was the first shipment to be made from the Porter-Idaho since the property was taken over by the Premier and it is understood on good authority that this ore was taken out in the course of preparing stopes for regular mining from which good tonnage is expected. The fact that Porter-Idaho is at last going into production is welcomed as good news at Stewart.

Seventeen men are now being employed on the Mountain Boy property at Stewart on a development program which will keep them busy until the snow flies next fall. At present they are blocking out ore by drifting on the high grade vein and J. M. McDonald, engineer in charge, is well satisfied with results so far.

American Liner Dorothy Alexander Made Call Here This Morning With Special Party

To let off a party of 11 Boston people headed by Mr. and Mrs. H. Hornblower, the big Admiral Line steamer Dorothy Alexander, largest steamer plying in the Alaska trade with the exception of the Prince Henry, arrived in port at 7:30 this morning from the north on a special call. The Hornblower party has been on a trip to Alaska and proceeded from here to Jasper Park in a special car attached to today's regular train.

Mr. Hornblower is a prominent broker of Boston. He is also interested in trust companies, fire insurance companies, banks, fabric mills, sugar, lumber, traction, cement and steamship companies. He is an ex-president of the Boston Stock Exchange. Other prominent Bostonians were in Mr. Hornblower's party.

Railways Acquire Interest In Airways, Thornton Says; Will Make No Statement On Outlet

VANCOUVER, July 15:—Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, on his arrival here in the course of a western tour, refused to say anything yesterday regarding the Peace River outlet. Until the election was over, he stated,, he would say nothing whatever as to what progress the two railways had made in their joint survey of the situation.

Regarding aviation, he said that "The Canadian Pacific and ourselves have acquired an interest in the Western Canada Airways and the Canadian Airways which is the big aviation concern in the East. It is not a controlling interest but we have purchased it in order to be prepared for the day when the airplane will be used to complement the passenger service by rail."

Regarding tourist business, Sir Henry said that, although it was not as good as last year, it was fair and would be much better. "Jasper Park Lodge was booked to capacity when I left there," he declared.
