EVERY GOVERNMENT IN CANADA PROMISES TO CONTINUE ENERGETIC FIGHT AGAINST DEPRESSION

CHARLES KINGSFORD-SMITH JR.

Unaware that his famous father, now conceded to have perished, was the object of an extensive search between the Indian mainland and Singapore, lieel Charles Kingsford-Smith jr. is seen in the picture immersed in the repair of a toy aeroplane at his home in Melbourne. Sir Charles, with Tom Pethybridge, was flying home to Australia from London when the plane disappeared. The curly-haired little fellow here was anxiously awaiting his father's return.

Olof Hanson Will Not Let Aching Tooth Get Best Of Him; Pulls It With Pliers

"North of 53 the people like their political leaders to be tough," writes Editor C. H. Sawle in the Omineca Herald. "They have a tough one in the person of Olof Hanson, the federal member for Skeena, and in Ed. Kenney, the provincial member for Skeena, they have one who can supply the goods."

One day recently, while visiting at Terrace, Hansn went into Kenney's hardware store and asked the latter if he could borrow a pair of long pointed pliers and a looking glass. The implements were produced and the federal member went to work, explaining: "I've had a bad tooth and last night didn't sleep at all. I just went to see the doctor but he's out so here's where I draw that tooth myself and do him out of a couple of bucks."

Olof is reported to have made a good job of it at that.

LONDON, Dec. 9: (CP)—The United States today proposed a twenty percent reduction in the world's great navies but Japan immediately rejected the plan as the naval conference opened.

Norman W. Davis, United States ambassador at large, told the conference that United States was not desirous of boosting its navy.

The program of naval replacements which the United States has under way could not be realized before 1942, Davis said.

The depression, the ambassador-at-large suggested, should make the nations desirous of putting money into industrial and agricultural development instead of into warships.

APPEAL IS REJECTED

United States Supreme Court Refuses Review of Hauptmann Case—New Evidence Denied

WASHINGTON, D.C., Dec. 9: (CP)—The Supreme Court of the United States today refused to review the conviction of Bruno Richard Hauptmann for the kidnap-murder of the Lindbergh baby. Thus Hauptmann loses what is considered to be his last stand against execution.

TRENTON, N.J., Dec. 9:—Official denial is given to persistent reports that have been current during the past few days, following a visit of Governor Harold Hoffman to the state prison where he met the convicted kidnap-murderer of Charles Augustus Lindbergh jr. in the death house, that new evidence had been found which might lead to the saving of Bruno Richard Hauptmann from the gallows. Not one whit of evidence which might establish the innocence of Hauptmann has been brought forward, it is stated, nor is there anything new to suggest that he may not have been alone in the crime. Unless his friends or attorneys are able to produce some new evidence along these lines, the authorities flatly assert, he will not be able to escape execution.

Reports that Ellis Parker, a country detective, had uncovered new information which might lead to the saving of Hauptmann's life, are officially discounted. Ellis, himself, denies such reports.

Salvation Army Makes Annual Appeal For Christmas Fund

The Salvation Army is making its annual appeal for Christmas cheer. The officers say that the need this year is greater even than last and that there are many families needing help badly.

Subscriptions will be received by the Daily News or they may be sent to the Salvation Army direct. All will be acknowledged in these columns and every dollar contributed will be used for the purpose for which it was intended.

We are all aware of the many claims on citizens at this time of year. However, the Salvation Army is able to get in touch with many people who otherwise could not be helped. They really act as agents for the donors. They make it their business to see that no deserving people are unable to provide Christmas cheer for their families and they go even further and provide sometimes for the undeserving. Let joy be unconfined at the festive season. We should like to have an early start in the subscriptions as we are a little late in making this first appeal.

FATHER KASSHAVAROFF

The death at Sitka last week of Father Kasshavaroff, priest of the Russian Orthodox Church and also known as curator of the territorial museum at Juneau, removes one of the picturesque figures of Alaskan life. He was intensely interested in preserving all the records of the early Russian and Indian life and persuaded the government of Alaska to make a grant toward the establishment of a museum at Juneau. He was curator of that museum until recently and it is a worthy monument to an outstanding man.

When the establishment of a museum at Prince Rupert was under consideration some years ago Father Kasshavaroff passed through the city and gave the local board valuable advice in regard to the possibility of the work here, a work which was held back during the depression days but which is now going ahead.

TONE IMPROVING

There was a time when residents of Prince Rupert were doubtful about the wisdom of bringing up boys in the city. There was a tendency for them to take to drinking habits and become anything but model citizens. The general tone of the city has improved since those days. Today we find many young men cutting clear of the wild crowd and taking up serious studies and interesting themselves in those things which make for the betterment of the community. It is a hopeful sign and deserves the encouragement of all right thinking people. There is no reason why a healthy environment cannot be created in Prince Rupert.

A young man does not necessarily have to be religious or sanctimonious in order to be decent. He does not have to be a prig. What is needed is a healthy sentiment in which the elders might do well to lead the way.

Young Halibut Fisherman Dies

Henry Larsen Passed Away at Hospital This Morning—Had Been Last on Sea Maid

Henry Larsen, 29-year old local halibut fisherman, whose last boat had been the Sea Maid, passed away at 2 o'clock this morning in the Prince Rupert General Hospital after having been in ill-health for some time. He was a native of Norway, unmarried and had been seven years in Prince Rupert, coming here from the Old Country. He resided at 113 Seventh Avenue West. Deceased was a member of the Deep Sea Fishermen's Union and of the Moose Lodge. Funeral arrangements are in the hands of the B. C. Undertakers.

IN SERMON TO MASONS

Bishop Rix Special Preacher Last Night at St. Andrew's Cathedral

"The Bible is the greatest book in the world. It is to be found in the centre of every Masonic Lodge and this is as it should be. In the Bible we find the greatest inspiration. It is the book of greatest power over the lives of nations and the lives of people."

So declared Rt. Rev. G. A. Rix D. D., Bishop of Caledonia, in a special sermon at evening service in St. Andrew's Cathedral yesterday with members of Tyee Lodge A.F. & A.M. and other lodges, to a total number of about sixty under W. R. McAfee, worshipful master of Tyee Lodge, in attendance.

The oldest book in the world, the Bible dealt with all things that really mattered, the Bishop declared. It recorded the events of the past and discussed the future. It dealt with life. It dealt with death. The message of God ran throughout the Book. God rode through the Bible in all his majesty and all his glory from beginning to end.

No nation, declared Bishop Rix, dare ignore God, the Great Architect of the Universe.

No man should be a Mason who had lost faith in God.

Bishop Rix digressed to discuss briefly man's duty not only to God but to his fellowmen and to himself. He made an appeal for assistance to those in less fortunate circumstances. A man who had lost the feeling of love for his fellowmen was beyond the pale of both church and lodge.

If any order should believe in God, it was the Masonic Lodge. Possibly too few, the Bishop feared, appreciated that God was the supreme ruler of men's lives. It would make a great difference in the lives of many men if they would remember this.

Bishop Rix appealed to his listeners to establish their faith in God not only when they attended church and lodge but in every day life.

The service was in charge of Dean Gibson. Scripture was read by George Hill, chaplain of Tyee Lodge, and E. B. Baker, secretary. There was special music, including an anthem, by the choir and Masonic hymns, including "Lead Kindly Light" and "Abide With Me," were sung.

FILM ALL IN COLOR

"Becky Sharp" from "Vanity Fair," With Miriam Hopkins, at Capitol Theatre

A full color feature, "Becky Sharp," based on Thackeray's famous fiction classic "Vanity Fair" and starring Miriam Hopkins in the title role, comes to the screen on the Capitol Theatre here at the first of this week as part of a double bill, the other end of which is a romantic comedy-drama "Don't Bet on Blondes" with Warren William and Guy Kibbee.

True to the novel in treatment, "Becky Sharp" deals with the London of the early nineteenth century, embracing the meteoric career of a clever beauty who uses her wits and loveliness to conquer the hearts of men and to overcome social barriers. Settings and costumes are brilliant, being much enhanced by the natural color. A number of spectacular historic episodes are depicted. Others in the cast are Frances Dee, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Billie Burke, Allison Skipworth, Nigel Bruce, Allan Mowbray and William Faversham.

"Don't Bet on Blondes," in light comedy vein, is the story of a big-time gambler. Supporting William and Kibbee are Clare Dodd, William Gargan, Vince Barnett and Hobart Cavanaugh.

Merely routine business was taken up at a regular meeting of Moose Lodge Saturday night. Dictator Bob Elkins was in the chair and there was a good attendance of members.

The Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce, at its regular monthly meeting Friday night, referred to the civic committee for report a request from the board of directors of the Prince Rupert General Hospital that endorsation be given the movement to secure from the provincial government financial assistance in connection with the proposal to establish a new 100-bed hospital here at an estimated cost of $300,000.
