PRINCE RUPERT PROGRESS DURING YEAR IS REVIEWED BY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Was Like Voyage on Uncherted Sea to Unknown Destination—Pulp Mill Organization, Ore Sampling Plant, Federal Building Among Accomplishments

"Looking back over the year just passed gives one the impression of a voyage which was started on an uncharted sea," said the report of J. J. Little, retiring president, submitted to the Prince Rupert Chamber of Cmmerce at the annual meeting last night. "As we left port, in passing out of the bays and past the islands and headlands, we appeared to be making rapid progress, and, as time went on, we would clear for the open sea. Then, without the sight of land, our progress appeared much slower but we were still proceeding to our destination. Then we approached land again and once more we began to progress or appeared to progress much further than we were at sea.

"So does the work of the Chamber progress. At times we appear to be going along rapidly and at other times more slowly but still proceeding along towards our destination. Whatever the destination may be, only the future will show. Many become impatient and leave the ship at the first port of call but others, more optimistic and perhaps due to circumstances, must still stay with the ship in the hope that she will arrive eventually in a safe and secure harbor when they can lay down the task and have a well merited rest ashore.

"Looking back over the pages of our log book we can enumerate many incidents of our voyage and see some of the work done by our officers and members.

Highlights of Year

"The highlights included our endeavors with reference to the construction of a pulp mill on Kaien Island. Considerable time and energy was spent in collaboration with Mr. Buckley, his engineers, the provincial government and the city in the assistance given by the chamber in preparing and passing a by-law granting concessions to make this area more attractive to the financial people who were prepared to go ahead with such a project. This was an entirely live proposition during the middle of the year and fall. Unfortunately, just as all the data and information was co-ordinated and collected, the collapse of the security markets placed the question of construction in abeyance. If the market had held up for two months longer, I am assured that we could have had the pleasure of seeing the mill under construction. It is, however very much alive and, as soon as conditions return to normal, we can look forward to this project being started and rushed to completion. In connection with further assistance to Mr. Buckley, your Chamber raised by subscription the sum of $485.60. This may seem a large amount but it is small in comparison to the time and effort spent and the valuable advertising given to the city on the suitability of this area for such projects.

"At the early part of the year, I hoped to have the pleasure of looking back and being in a position to say I occupied the chair when the pulp mill was started. While I have not had that privilege, I earnestly hope that my immediate successor may be in that pleasurable position during his term of office.

"The second highlight of the year was our success in having the ore-sampling plant constructed. As time goes on, this should become a very valuable asset and service to the prospector and small operator.

"Many of the regulations and requirements were at variance with the wants of the prospector but I am informed that these are being corrected and, as time goes on the Department of Mines, assisted by our District Engineer, will be in a position to increase the value and assistance to these operators.

"The re-organization, rearrangement and the appointment of a mining engineer to the portfolio of the Department of Mines should be, and no doubt will be, of material benefit to this great industry particularly seeing the minister appointed is a representative from this northern area.

New Federal Building

"Our next endeavor was to make representation to our government for a new federal building in Prince Rupert and, before the end of this year, we will have this in physical form to show this objective has been attained.

"The representation of your Chamber to have the provincial government recommend to the federal government the appointment to the International Halibut Commission a man from this area met with success in the appointment of L. W. Patmore K.C. to that position—a man who has spent his life in this area and who has a thorough grasp of the requirements of this industry which will, we believe, accrue to the ultimate benefit of this our primary industry contributing to the welfare of this port and its citizens.

"One of the principal items that require our continued attention and aggressive action is the completion of our plans to eliminate discrimination of this port particularly as it affects ocean-going vessels leaving and entering from the Pacific. Your port committee still have this in hand. Their meeting with the recent visit of members of the marine service of the Department of

SURVEY OF FISHERIES

Research Board, At Annual Meeting in Ottawa, Hears Reports On Investigations

OTTAWA, Jan. 8: (CP)— An initial survey has been completed by Dr. A. L. Pritchard in connection with Skeena River salmon fishing problems and plans are being made for intensive work in that area, it was learned yesterday following conclusion of a three-day conference of the Canadian Fisheries Research Board. Pink salmon research work on the Queen Charlotte Islands, also directed by Dr. Pritchard, was reviewed.

A report by Dr. Neal Carter, director of the Prince Rupert Fisheries Experimental Station, indicated a concerted effort there during the past year to improve the quality of halibut from the time of catching to delivery to the consumers in Canada or Great Britain.

Dr. Carter and John Dybhavn both of Prince Rupert, were in attendance at the conference.

Apostoli, being one pound overweight, could not claim Steele's title but his stopping of the champion proved his right to be called No. 1 challenger. Steele was thoroughly beaten and was helpless and out on his feet when Referee Arthur Donovan called off the fight to save Steele from further punishment. Steele weighed 158¾ pounds and Apostoli 161½ pounds.

NEGOTIATE TRADE PACT

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The United Kingdom and the United States took a step toward economic co-operation last night by announcing formal "intention to negotiate a trade agreement." The announcement here said that British colonies, protectorates and mandates including Newfoundland, would be included in the accord. While the Dominions, Ireland and India are excluded, it is expected that a new agreement between Canada and the United States will be announced shortly and that agreements with South Africa and Australia will probably follow later.

PARLIAMENT WILL HAVE BIG TASK

Many Problems Will Confront Coming Session — Plans For "Reconstruction Year"

Fight Recession

Readjustment of Production And Consumption Will Loom Large At Ottawa

(By Thomas Wayling)

OTTAWA, Jan. 8:—When Parliament meets on January 28 the Crown, the Commons and the Senate will be faced with new plans for "Reconstruction Year." An insistent demand has been rising in the provinces and Ottawa for definite constructive policies to take advantage of Canada's unique position in production and world trade and offset the recession which has set in down below the border, and which, like all American trends, has its reflection in Canada.

The readjustment of production and consumption, with the allied questions of employment and living costs, will engage the attention of Parliament. The financial situation, particularly with respect to the burden of taxation and the cutting of expenditures, will come up for review.

It is extremely unlikely that the Rowell Commission will have much to report that can be dealt with at the coming session of Parliament but there will be debates on some of the matters laid before the commission. The rejuvenation of the British North America Act will have to wait until the ensuing session when all the briefs and the conclusions of the commission have been made available and studied.

The session will receive the second speech from the Throne as from King George VI. Parliament never had a Throne Speech from Edward VIII. There will be references to the Coronation and tributes paid to the new King for this is the first session since his Coronation.

There will be references to the Imperial conference which followed the Coronation and to the defence issues brought up. Later there will be a full dress debate on defence with such information as may be revealed from the Imperial Conference. The trade question will also be a feature of the Speech, with references to the increasing trade and of the need for further expansion of overseas commerce.

There will be reference to what the government has accomplished with respect to employment and mention made of the Employment Commission which is now bringing its work to a close.

Increasing Production

Increasing production in the natural industries of agriculture, mining, forestry and fishing will be pointed out and the efforts made to obtain wider markets for their disposal. The success of the government's plan to care for unemployed young people will be spoken of and the co-operation given by the provinces in this respect.

Improved conditions in the drought areas of the west will be mentioned to Parliament with intimations that the coming year will see still further improvement and the probable end of the seven lean years which have stricken the west.

The transportation problems of the Dominion will loom large and Parliament will be called upon to take some action. The railway difficulties show little signs of

OPTIMISM PREVAILS

Chamber of Commerce Hears Some Brief Remarks by Members Last Evening

At the annual dinner meeting of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce last evening there were a number of brief speeches by officers, chairmen of committees and retiring members of the council. F. A. MacCallum, the newly elected president, thanked the board for the confidence expressed in him by placing him in that position. While he welcomed the younger members to the council he was sorry to see some of the older members retiring. He referred particularly to G. W. Nickerson.

Mr. MacCallum spoke of some of the developments that were going on in the district, mentioning particularly the mining operations on Porcher Island where forty or more men were employed regularly. He urged that members visit this operation and take an interest in what was going on there and at other points in the district.

He read a new year message he had received from the Canadian Chamber of Commrce as follows:

"Instead of realizing that our confederation afforded us a place to store some of our wealth so that we could count on a certain stability year in and year out and comfort and security in our old age, we have regarded it as a convenient place to plunder. We have been so greedy for federal benefits that we have anticipated our respective shares for years to come. Reform will only come when the public mind appreciates the situation and, instead of clamoring for expenditure, insists on thrift and prudence in the conduct of our public affairs.

Commissioner Alder

City Commissioner W. J. Alder said he considered the Chamber of Commerce the most important organization in the city. If all worked together they would get results. He considered that they had made progress in the past year and if they kept working they could obtain other things that they desired.

Mr. Alder referred to the new year message received from F. L Buckley, a copy of which was read It spoke quite confidently of the pulp mill operation proceeding soon and the hope was expressed that it would be well under way before the end of the year. Greetings to the board had also been received from Premier Pattullo and the new minister of mines Hon. W. J. Asselstine. All the messages received indicated that the eyes of the province were on the north. He mentioned the progress made in the city on the waterfront where there had been such development.

The speaker spoke optimistically of the future and urged hearty co-operation in their efforts in behalf of the city and district.

J. C. Gilker, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, remarked that, while some of their members had always attended meetings of the senior chamber this had not been reciprocated. He urged that either one of the officers or some member be specifically nominated to attend each of their meetings. He promised co-operation from the juniors and asked the same from the seniors.

The new vice-president, J. T. Harvey, thanked the members for their confidence in him. He felt happy in having Mr. MacCallum as his superior officer. He had known that gentleman in Prince George and had married the daughter of his chief opposition in that city.

Others who spoke were G. W. Nickerson, C. G. Minns, W. R. McAfee, H. F. Pullen, D. C. McRae, W. H. Tobey and John Bulger.

Japanese Train Their Rifles Upon French In International Shanghai

Several Officers are Roughly Handled—Protest Considered—Chinese are Laying Waste Another Falling City

SHANGHAI, January 8: (CP)—Japanese soldiers trained rifles and machine guns on French troops in the French concession for an hour and roughly handled a member of the French police today in the second critical incident in the international Shanghai area in two days. This incident followed the beating of two Britishers yesterday. French officials are strongly considering making a formal protest against the incident.

Chinese press reports meanwhile said that wharves, the railway station and public buildings had been destroyed by Chinese forces at Haichow in Kiangsu Province, carrying out China's scorched earth policy of leaving only the ruins to the Japanese.

NO BALLOT REQUIRED

Officers and Executive Council Of Chamber of Commerce Chosen Without Vote Last Evening

For the first time in many years, if not in the history of the organization, the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce, at its annual dinner meeting last night, elected all its 1938 officers and the executive council without a ballot. There was only one candidate for each position until it came to the council. There seventeen had been nominated from which to pick fifteen members. It was announced by the chairman, J. J Little, that D. G. Borland had already withdrawn his name. Then G. W. Nickerson rose and stated that he had served in that position for a long time and he would withdraw in favor of the younger members. This made a vote unnecessary. The elections were confirmed as follows:

Honorary President, Premier T. D. Pattullo, M.L.A.

Honorary Vice-President, Olof Hanson, M.P.

President, F. A. MacCallum.

Vice-President, Jas. T. Harvey

TERUELANS SURRENDER

Safe Evacuation Provided Two Thousand Persons Barricaded In Hospital

MADRID, Jan. 8: (CP)—Through arrangements made by the International Red Cross, two thousand insurgent soldiers and their weakened women and children, who had been barricaded in a hospital at Teruel, provincial capital and object of battle for the past few weeks between loyalists and insurgents, are being surrendered in safety, it was reported here last night. They are in bad shape from cold and hunger.

Insurgents are still fighting bitterly in the effort to recapture Teruel which for nearly eighteen months of the civil war was an important rebel line of communication.

UNPLEASANT SITUATION

It looks as if Japan was seeking a quarrel with the British people at this time when conditions are rather disturbed in Europe and it might be unwise for that country to send a large naval force to the Orient. The British statesmen are evidently trying their best to avoid a clash, but if it comes, they will be prepared to meet the crisis and deal with it in a satisfactory manner.

The present unsatisfactory situation shows the wisdom of the Canadian government in refusing to permit anything like wholesale immigration of Japanese to this country. It is to be hoped that there will be no war in which we may become involved but, should it come, doubtless Canada will do her part as becomes the largest and most influential of the British nations. At any rate we must be prepared to defend our own shores.

NEW OFFICERS

The Chamber of Commerce has new executive officers for the year 1938. President F. A. MacCallum has been vice-president for the last year and has shown considerable activity in that position. The new vice-president is a young man of ability if not of much experience in Chamber of Commerce work. By the time he is ready to take over the senior position he will have had a year of experience in the vice-presidency and should be able to handle the affairs of the chamber efficiently.

Prince Rupert is now in a position where an active Chamber of Cmmerce is very desirable. There will be a number of important subjects to be dealt with and it is important that they be dealt with wisely and vigorously.

NEED OF LOANS IN RUPERT

The federal government is planning to extend its loans to encourage new building. This will probably be done through the various loan companies operating in the large centres of population. Prince Rupert, having no loan company, is unable to take advantage of the government support. The Chamber of Commerce, representing the business and professional interests of the city, may possibly be able to suggest how to overcome the difficulty. Possibly it may be done by forming a local loan company or by inducing some outside company to establish here. Houses are likely to be needed and, if there is any money forthcoming from the government, steps should be taken to get some of it expended in Prince Rupert.

When shipbuilding was carried on in Prince Rupert, a loan company was organized and it was a complete success. It paid dividends every year and when closed out the people who put their money in were able to get all of it back.

Catholic Youth Club Holds Its Opening Dance

The Catholic Youth Club held its initial social in the Catholic Hall last evening. The hall was tastefully decorated in the club colors. There were seventy-five couples present and a very enjoyable time was spent by all. Kay's Orchestra was in attendance and Henry Montesano was master of ceremonies. At midnight delicious refreshments were served. Mrs. C. Harman was in charge of the kitchen and members of the club acted as serviteurs.

At the supper interval there was a short program consisting of Henry Montesano and Terry Fortune in baritone duets and Mario Bussanich in harmonica solos.

Dancing was in progress until 1:30 Dan O'Neill presided at the door. Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Lyons acted as chaperons.

PRINCE RUPERT PROGRESS DURING YEAR REVIEWED

Transport, their able recapitulation and representation at that meeting and the favorable attention and interest shown, should, we believe, produce some results in the very near future.

"The terrible destruction of life and property in the socalled "East" (but our West) going on at the present time with the possibility of our becoming involved has, we believe, brought forcibly to the attention of Ottawa the necessity for more continued attention to the need of he Pacific Coast, if not for aggression, at least for some protection.

"We are looking forward to some results from the Royal Commission under chairmanship of Mr. Rowell K.C. into conditions affecting the control, jurisdiction and relationship between the provinces and dominion. Taxation has become an increasing burden due to the various services now demanded by the citizens of Canada and also particularly to the duplication of governmental services. Every year shows industry, agriculture, forestry, mining and fishing contributing additional taxes to support increasing taxation. These taxes are paid by you and every effort and study should be made by governments—provincial, federal and municipal—to reduce this burden we are called upon to support and should be aggressively brought to their attention, particularly by Chambers of Commerce throughout the Dominion.

"It appears contradictory to ask the government to supply better roads and other facilities but we believe, after study and examination, that, by more efficient administration, elimination of duplication of governmental services, we can have our reasonable wants supplied with decreasing costs and taxes.

Outstanding Visitors

"We have had several outstanding visitors to our city. The visit of our Governor General and party was greatly appreciated by Prince Rupert people and was very much enjoyed by the renowned visitor and family.

"The visit of the Vancouver Board of Trade was welcomed and should enlarge the viewpoint of the Vancouver Chamber on the potentialities of Northern British Columbia.

"Other visits were paid and welcomes extended here by the members of your Chamber, the outstanding ones being the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and the Japanese Training Ship "Kaiwo Maru" which visited our port.

"The holding of the convention of the Associated Boards of Trade of Central British Columbia was also one of the highlights of the year. The business and friendly contacts made with our visitors from the interior will enhance the present cordial relations existing between us and the various chambers East along the Canadian National Railways. Everyone was enthusiastic and genuinely appreciated the way in which our business was transacted and the entertainment furnished to our visitors.

"When the convention is held in Smithers during August of this year as many members as possible should make the trip to become better acquainted with the district and its inhabitants.

Primary Industries

"Turning to our primary industries, upon which has rested and still rests the prosperity of the port and district, we find an increasing variety of fish marketed in this area. One item is particularly striking and has been brought about principally due to the efforts of our local fisheries experimental station. That item is production of halibut, black and ling cod livers—1456 hundredweight of halibut livers and 256 hundredweight of black and ling cod livers, having total values of $72,789.00 and $8,798.0 respectively. When one consider it is only within the last few years that this has reached its present place as a marketable and medicinal product, one begins to realize and perhaps visualize the increasing advantages which accrue to a proper scientific approach to the study of an industry and its by-products.

"While the total fish marketed through this port shows a reduction in tonnage, it is gratifying to note that the value increased from $3,812,025.00 during 1936 to $4,131,261.00 during 1937.

"Our sawlog output in this district shows an increase over 1936. While the market for high grade spruce for aeroplane stock continues good, the export of the soft woods such as aspen and cottonwood has been cut off completely by the invasion of China by Japan.

"The tie business was about the same as last year. The pole business was subject to fluctuations in prices, governed largely by conditions in Eastern Canada and the United States, but showed a tendency towards improvement near the close of the year and over 1936.

"Referring for a moment to our annual statement, while the surplus is not large to hand over to your incoming officers, we cannot with reason regret this as we have had extraordinary expense incurred in entertaining the various visitors I have outlined above. We would have shown a deficit if it had not been for the energetic efforts of your president-elect and it is to him that thanks should be tendered for increasing the membership of our Chamber which has, I believe, created a broader interest in our problems by old and new members.

Appreciation

"In conclusion, I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation for the honor conferred upon me in being appointed to the Presidency of your Chamber.

"Perhaps we have not accomplished as much as we expected but we have not spared any effort or time to make our objectives acceptable to your Chamber.

"The members of the council and committee have worked splendidly during the year. Many of the council meetings dealt with exceedingly difficult matters but, despite considerable differences of opinion on controversial subjects, our meetings were at all times amicable.

"An expression of appreciation is due your secretary for the able assistance and courtesy extended me during the year. This also applies to our City Commissioner who has ably assisted in all matters we have brought to his attention.

"Of my good friend Mr. MacCallum, your president-elect, I cannot speak too highly. I bespeak for him and his next year's council, your whole-hearted support, assuring him on all occasions I will gladly pledge him mine."

Mr. Little's report listed questions taken up during the year as follows:

Local Halibutters Engaged in Catching Dogfish for Liver Content—Capt. Alfie Jacobsen Back From Vancouver

Fishing for dogfish for their liver content is still engaging the Prince Rupert halibut boats Sea Maid, Capt. Henry Doiron; Joe Baker, Capt. Clarence Campbell, and Finella, Capt. David Ritchie. The livers are disposed of to the J. H. Carson Co. Ltd., which has developed a market for them in the United States where they are used in the manufacture of animal feed. With halibut fishing not due to open on the Pacific Coast this year until April 1, preparations for the season's activities are later than usual in getting under way and it will probably be well on into February before they commence in any appreciable degree. Plans for curtailment regulation in the interests of price stabilization as well as fish conservation are a general topic of discussion just now both among boat owners and fishermen with several meetings already held and others planned.

Capt. Alfred Jacobsen, former owner of the boat Clipper II, returned to Prince Rupert and January 5 after having spent several months in Vancouver. Capt. Jacobsen, who sold the Clipper II last fall to Capt. Emil Peterson, is still without a boat and his plans for the future are uncertain. It is his intention to remain in Prince Rupert indefintely.

"Piping Overboard"

The interesting ceremony of "piping overboard," reserved for naval men when they retire from service, was observed on Wednesday night at headquarters of the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve here for Chief Petty Officer Instructor John Anslow. The ceremony was one of the features of an enjoyable smoker given in honor of the popular C. P. O. who after serving thirty-three years in the navy, the past few years as instructor here, has now retired and who, with Mrs. Anslow, sailed last night on the Princess Adelaide to assume future residence in Victoria. The affair was staged as a tribute to Mr. Anslow by both officers and men of the unit. There were about forty present and the evening was informally spent in story telling and community singing with Russell Cameron at the piano. Another feature of the proceedings was the presentation to Mr. Anslow for Mrs. Anslow and himself of a handsome engraved silver tray and a framed picture of the unit and the headquarters building. The presentation was made by Lieutenant Commander Walter Hume, commanding officer. The committee in charge consisted of Harry Robb, Matt Harris, Bob Armstrong and Walter Smith.

Members of the executive of the executive of the Anglican Young People's Association were guests of Rev. Edward Slater aboard the Anglican mission boat Northern Cross at the floats of the Prince Rupert Rowing & Yacht Club last night. There was a business session with President Robert Yerburgh in the chair, matters taken up being of a routine nature. Mr Slater will be the speaker at next week's meeting of the A. Y. P. A.

Here to receive her annual overhaul at the local dry dock, C. N. R. steamer Prince Rupert, Capt. Edward Mabbs, arrived in port at 9 o'clock this morning from Vancouver after having steamed leisurely up the coast. The vessel proceeded direct to the dry dock where the overhaul work will commence next week. Capt. Mabbs and crew which brought the Prince Rupert north transferred to the steamer Prince Charles and left at noon with that vessel for Vancouver where she will soon go back on the Queen Charlotte Islands run to handle loggers returning to Moresby Island camps which will be reopening after the usual winter shutdown.

Northland Transportation Co.'s motorship liner Northland, Capt. Len Williams, arrived in port at 7:45 this morning from Ketchikan and, after spending the morning in port discharging five carloads of frozen fish for transshipment East over Canadian National Railways, sailed for Seattle.

George Eckerman, well known pioneer of the city and for years identified with the staff of Edward Lipsett Limited here, will be leaving at the end of this month for the state of Georgia where with Mrs. Eckerman, he will take up future residence. Two married daughters reside there.

Tom Annesley Superannuated

Well Known C. N. R. Man Retiring —Honored with Presentation Yesterday

Yesterday afternoon employees of the local railway shops gathered to honor Thomas Annesley who is being superannuated. A fitting speech was made by John Leach who, on behalf of officials and employees, presented Mr. Annesley with a handsome club bag and set of pipes as well as a suitcase for Mrs. Annesley. Mr. Annesley suitably acknowledged the gifts and the affair was brought to a close with the singing of "For He's A Jolly Good Fellow."

Charles McNab of McBride will arrive in the city from the interior on tonight's train to succeed Mr Annesley as car foreman here.

Mr. and Mrs. Annesley will leave on Friday evening of next week for Vancouver where they will locate at least temporarily.

Yuletide Season At Kitsequekla

Two Weeks of Celebrations Marked Christmas and New Year

KITSEQUEKLA, Jan. 8:—A two weeks' celebration of Christmas and New Year was marked by the special events in Kitsequekla. There were special religious services in the churches on Christmas Day and New Year's Eve.

At the watchnight service in the United Church Moses Jones conducted the service and Henry Wilson of Cedervale gave the special address.

The outstanding event of the season was the choir concert given in McDames Hall on Saturday evening. The United Church choir did good service this year. It assisted at the school concert, then sang special anthems on Christmas Day and Christmas Sunday. It also paraded the town early Christmas morning, singing the usual carols. It gave special music at the home of E. Brown who has been sick for several years and confined to his bed.

Sarah Gilawagh of Kitwanga is Bride of Chief Stephen Morgan

KITSEQUEKLA, Jan. 8:—A very interesting wedding was celebrated in the Salvation Army Hall when Adjutant Mark Mackay of Kitselas united in marriage Chief Stephen Morgan of Kitzegukla and Sarah Gilawagh of Kitwanga. Attending the groom was his son Wallace Morgan and with the bride was Mrs. Wallace Morgan.

A reception was held in the McDames Hall, a sumptuous feast being provided by the people of Kitzegukla. The bride received many useful and beautiful presents.

Music was provided by the local brass band which played several stirring marches and some beautiful overtures. David Williams acted as conductor while Wallace Morgan gave a violin solo and Raymond his son, a tap dance.

Some complimentary speeches were delivered by visitors and others. Friends were present from Kitwanga and Hazelton.

STRENUOUS EXPERIENCE

George Little Brings His Staff From Usk to Terrace For New Year

TERRACE, Jan. 8: — George Little had a strenuous experience with team and sleigh to bring back to Terrace some members of his staff who have been working at the Columario Mine near Usk. It was just following the heavy snow of last week and Mr. and Mrs. Willson wished to get to their Terrace home in time for New Year. The trip was begun on Tuesday of last week. Soon after a start had been made at nine o'clock in the morning it became apparent that the two horses would be too heavily taxed and it was likely that there would be deeper snow in the neighborhood of the mine. A man was sent back for four more horses and the team of six plodded along on its way.

Progress was slow. Great masses of snowdrift were encountered so that the mine was not reached until ten o'clock that night although it was not more than ten or eleven miles in distance.

The next day, Wednesday, though the going was not quite so heavy because the road had been broken, was a trying journey for the whole party, especially for Mrs. Willson, who found such hard travel almost too much. Some of the men took turns walking in the snow and they wrapped her around with their coats, arriving in Terrace about five o'clock Wednesday evening.

abating and, as Parliament progresses, there will be demands on the government for definite action to deal with the growing taxation due to railway deficits.

The picture of air transport will be brighter with indications that the trans-Canada air mail service will be ready by July with possible link-up with a scheduled trans-Atlantic service by Imperial Airways. Later in the session there will be a debate on the public ownership policy of the airways: whether public ownership shall be confined to the main line from coast to coast or whether the government air service is to reach out and seize the feeder services which have been pioneered and developed by the private companies.

Progress with radio broadcasting under the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation will be reported and the corporation will be spared the heavy fire which fell on the old radio commission and ultimately wiped it out. The Corporation's recent decision to bring to Canadian networks the major commercial programs of the American network will have an excellent effect.

There will be two vacancies when the Commons meets. The by-election in Victoria and Lotbiniere have brought in two new members while the by-election in St. Henri will bring a member to replace Paul Mercier who went to the Bench. Argenteuil and St John-Albert vacancies will have not been filled before Parliament convenes.

Man in the Moon

Now that everybody is sober once more what about putting Prince Rupert on the map?

Jake says he's been sober for the past week. He says his bottle or two lasted only two days and, even on the second day, it was slim pickings.

It was during the Christmas holidays, I am told, that three men were aboard a train as it slowed down at the Wembley station in the Peace River country. Inquired the first: "Is thish Wembley?" The second replied "No its Thursday." The third joined in "So'm I."

An Irishman had been thrown over a fence by an enraged bull. He had just recovered when he noticed the bull pawing the ground and furiously tossing his head.

"If it wasn't for your bowing and schaping," said Mike, "I'd think you threw me over on purpose.
