Britain Stands By Obligations

Unless Germany Withdraws Immediately From Poland, Ambassador Will Be Withdrawn—Hitler's "Senseless Ambition"

LONDON, September 1: (CP)— Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain read to an emergency session of Parliament at 5 o'clock this evening a note sent to Berlin warning that, unless Germany suspends aggressive action and withdraws from Poland, Great Britain will unhestitatingly fulfil its obligations to Poland. If the reply to this last warning is not favorable, the British ambassador to Berlin will be instructed to ask for his passports. The Prime Minister said that he did not suggest that the German reply "is likely to be anything else than unfavorable." He added: "The time has come for action."

Mr. Chamberlain placed the responsibility "for this terrible catastrophe" on Hitler. "Mussolini has been doing his best," Chamberlain added. He said that "Hitler has not hesitated to plunge the world into misery in order to serve his own senseless ambitions."

Then the Prinme Minister continued: "No man can say that the government could have done more to try and keep open the way for an honorable and equitable settlement of the dispute between Germany and Poland. Had there been the least desire on the part of the German government, the crisis could have been averted."

The Polish ambassador had earlier notified the Foreign Secretary, Lord Halifax, that Poland invoked the provisions of the British-Polish mutual assistance treaty on the grounds of German aggression.

Chamberlain announced that a bill would be introduced making military service ages between 18 and 41.

Even before the session of Parliament, the King signed an order-in-council for the complete mobilization of the navy, army and air force. Complete black-out throughout the country was ordered for tonight. Complete application of air raid warnings have also been ordered. Censorship has been imposed on postal correspondence directed to "certain foreign countries." First aid stations have been brought up to full strength. Distribution of gas masks is being made complete. Evacuation of children, mothers, invalids to the countryside is being rushed to completion. One million youngsters left London yesterday, many of them leaving their parents behind. Despite the gravity of the situation, the people remain cheerful.

All newspapers today emphasized the British obligation to Poland. Attention was drawn to the speed of Hitler's move. The suggestion was made that the publication of his sixteen demands and the statement that Poland had rejected them was an attempt to place Poland in the wrong light at the eleventh hour.

Italy To Stay Out

ROME, September 1: (CP)— The Italian cabinet announced today that Italy will refrain from starting any military operations. However, the nation is taking full defensive measures and is taking all precautions against any eventuality. The position of Italy in the event of a prolonged conflict is a mystery. King Victor Emmanuel, as spokesman for the nation, has insisted that his government has done everything possible to bring about peace with justice. This was reiterated in a message by Premier Mussolini to President Roosevelt. There have been numerous messages between Rome and Berlin.

Offensive Of Extreme Violence Under Way Along Full Frontier; Four Cities Under Air Attack

FRONTIER VIOLATED AT MANY POINTS AS DER FUEHRER STRIKES, PRECIPITATING WHAT SEEMS INEVITABLE MAJOR CONFLICT

DOES NOT DECLARE WAR BUT ORDERS ARMY TO MEET FORCE IN SUDDEN MOVE—BRITAIN AND FRANCE OBLIGED TO ACT

Germany and Poland are at war and Great Britain and France will undoubtedly be drawn into the vortex of conflict with little delay. Hostilities commenced early today with Germany's invasion of Poland at several points. Air raids of the Polish capital, Warsaw, Cracow and other cities were early reported. There has also been artillery attack.

There was no formal declaration of war by Germany. Adolf Hitler, Fuehrer of the Reich, ordered the German army to meet force with force. His order of the day to the Army read: "The Polish state has rejected my efforts to establish neighborly relations and, instead, has appealed to weapons. Germans in Poland are victims of a bloody terror, driven from house to house. A series of border violations unbearable for a great power show that the Poles no longer are willing to respect the German border. To put an end to these insane incidents nothing remains for me but to meet force with force from now on. The German army will conduct a fight for honor and the right to the life of the resurrected German people with firm determination. I expect that every soldier, mindful of the great traditions of the eternal German military, will do his duty to the last. Remember always you are members of the National Socialist Party. Long live our people! Long live the Reich!"

A blockade of the Polish harbor of Gdynia soon followed Hitler's orders to the Army and, after a brief period of fighting in Danzig, the Free Port was declared a part of the German Reich by Albert Forster. Almost immediately Hitler gave his legal approval to the decree. The constitution of Danzig under the Treaty of Versailles was declared dissolved as far as Germany was concerned and Forster was named head of the civic government. Hitler thanked Danzig for its loyalty.

Next developments were air raids on Cracow and other Polish cities. Later in the morning there was an air raid on a railway station eight miles from Warsaw.

Hitler, in a momentous Reichstag gathering, declared that he would achieve the return of Danzig and the Polish Corridor and halt Polish attacks on Germans or die fighting. "I am putting on a uniform and shall take it off only in victory or death."

Hitler has dwelt on numerous occasions of late with the possibility of his own death and he mentioned it again in the Reichstag speech. If he should meet death he mentioned Field Marshal Herman Goering as his successor. If anything happened to Goering Rudolf Hess, Hitler's deputy, would take over. If anything happened to all three, then the Senate would select a worthy leader.

Der Fuehrer spoke throughout as if war was already under way but he did not officially declare war.

Hitler went on to refer to recent proposals to settle the dispute with Poland by what he claimed was a moderate formula. The Poles had rejected this and he had answered with mobilization. His love of peace and his patience had been exhausted.

He had last night informed Great Britain, Hitler said, that negotiations were broken off and he had decided to talk as Poland talks — "with force."

Hitler said that he wanted nothing from the western powers (Great Britain and France) and "we have formally declared we have no claims against them. We do not want to wage war on women and children" he said but added, if an "enemy" dared wage "another" war of that sort he would answer "bomb for bomb, gas for gas."

Germany does not count on Italian support, Der Fuehrer said, while, on the other hand, Russia

Canada Is Wasting No Time In Emergency Of War; Call Parliament

Meantime Prime Minister Gives Assurance That Necessary Defence Measures Are Being Taken—Army, Navy and Air Force on Active Service Basis

OTTAWA, September 1: (CP)—The War Measures Act of 1914, giving the government extraordinary powers to act in emergency pending the assembly of Parliament, was proclaimed following a cabinet meeting today. Prime Minister William Lyon Mackenzie King announced that military, naval and air forces had been placed on active service footing. Parliament has been summoned for September 7.

The Prime Minister announced that Parliament will be asked to authorize the government to give the most effective co-operation possible to Great Britain.

The militia has been called out "for the defence of Canada."

Should a field force be necessary, volunteers will be called for as in 1914.

The Prime Minister said that instructions had been sent commanding officers of various military districts to call out additional

RALLY TO COLORS

Evidently the war is on and we have to face a term of war conditions. Canada, as a part of the British Empire, is implicated although no official declaration can be made for a few days.

What is needed now is men. The militia officers are asking to have the ranks filled up and we feel sure there will be a rapid response. A number of young men are already in uniform and others would be if they could get away from their work. It is to be hoped that employers will co-operate to enable Canada to carry out her defence plans without recourse to direct orders.

We can take it for granted that within a few days Parliament will assemble and Prime Minister Mackenzie King will ask Parliament to declare that she is strongly in support of the Empire. This is no time for holding back.

THE MILITARY POSITION

Great Britain, France and Poland seem to be in a better position today relatively than they have ever been before. The Japanese menace seems to have been removed in the Orient and, so long as Russia is involved against the Japanese, she may not be an important factor. The menace to France of Spain or some other country operating through Spain is also removed and Italy seems to be holding back in her support of Germany. In addition, it seems clear that Great Britain, France and Poland are fully prepared for anything, much better prepared than these countries have ever been before in the history of the world. We cannot see where there is any fear as to the final outcome.

At one time it was said that Germany would depend upon a quick victory because she was not able to stand a long war. A year ago that might have been possible. Today it is most improbable. Even Poland could hold Ger- day it is most improbable. Even Poland may hold Germany for many months alone. In spite of the present situation we feel that Canadians do not need to worry.

BERLIN, September 1: (CP) — A German radio concern announced that its broadcasting station at Gleiwitz in Silesia had been occupied by Polish attackers last night. Later the station was recaptured. Since the incident Gleiwitz has been a centre of German-Polish hostilities.

Pending assembling of Parliament, Mr. King said that the government was taking all necessary measures for the defence of Canada.

The announcements of the Prime Minister followed a cabinet meeting lasting several hours.

Mr. King said: 'It is now apparent that the efforts which have been made to preserve the peace of Europe are likley to be of no avail."

Hon. Norman Rogers, minister of labor, asked P. M. Draper President of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, to be ready to meet the government in connection with Labor's part in Canada's defence or war efforts.

James R. Wilson, former school teacher at Usk, arrived on the Catala last Sunday. He has spent the week visiting friends here and at Sunnyside and Claxton. He will return south on the Cardena tonight to resume his teaching duties in Vancouver.

was now the Reich's friend. He admitted, however, that there were definite limitations in the treaty with Russia which was ratified by the Soviet Parliament—both houses of the Supreme Soviet.

Hitler said that his aims were solution to the Danzig and Polish Corridor questions and arrangements for peacefully living together.

The German government Thursday night decided to publish the entire exchange of notes and communications between Britain and Germany and thereby acquaint the world with its sixteen-point proposals made to Poland. This attempt to state Germany's case to the world was made after the apparent breakdown in negotiations with England and by Polish and British mobilization. The proposals included the unconditional return of Danzig, a plebiscite in the Polish Corridor under an international commission, de-militarization of Gdynia and Danzig, exchange of populations and reference of minorities complaints to international arbitration. Soviet Russia as Germany's new friend figured for the first time in the negotiations in that it, together with England, France and Italy, it would conduct the plebiscite and be a member of the joint international commission governing the corridor during the year when the plebiscite is being prepared. According to the correspondence divulged, Poland, Germany charged, failed to reply to the proposals and the German government was compelled to draw the conclusion Poland had brusquely rejected the proposals.

Hitler's address to the special session of the Reichstag was submitted to the world by radio interpretation.

The Chancellor declared that he had waited for two days for Poland to answer his request that a minister plenipotentiary clothed with full authority be sent to Poland to negotiate a peaceful settlement but none had come. "How can we tolerate such temporization?" he asked. His proposals had been answered by Poland with further mobilization and heavy reprisals.

Referring to failure of British conciliation efforts, Hitler said: "If statesmen of the west feel that my action affects their interests, I can only say that I regret it." He inferred that he expected Great Britain and France to take action.

As far as his instructions to the Army were concerned, Der Fuehrer said that it was his order to attack military objectives only. If his enemies decided on other forms of warfare, he was ready to follow suit.

The Chancellor suggested the possibility of internal dissension in Germany when he made the threat to the members of the Reichstag: "Anyone who opposes me directly or indirectly is a traitor and will die." He appealed to German women and youth for their steadfast support.

Although Hitler's proclamation to the army was considered as amounting to a state of war, military authorities denied that it was a proclamation of war. The summons to the Reichstag to meet in special session followed five hours after the issuance of the proclamation to the Army. By that time the invasion of Poland had started.

OFFENSIVE OF EXTREME VIOLENCE IS STRATED

A Reuters dispatch from Paris to London was given with all reserve as follows: "According to unconfirmed reports, Germany has begun an offensive of extreme violence on the whole Polish front."

Four large cities of Poland—Cracow, Kaotwice, Tczew and Czestocohowa—were bombed by German war planes early this morning, Warsaw stated although there was at first no official confirmation the Polish Foreign office later confirming the air bombardment of Cracow. Fighting was reported at Danzig between Poles and Nazis. Warsaw was awakened at 6:20 a.m. by sirens as an air raid was awaited. The alarm was over in forty minutes and the people went to work as usual and the capital was normal. Later it was reported that firing had been heard some eight miles from the city. It was believed that a railway station was being air attacked.

A Reuters dispatch from Warsaw to London said that Polish radio had announced the German army had invaded Poland, attacking towns near the Polish Corridor and Upper Silesia.

At Gleiwitz, Germany, a resident reported artillery fire was heard in the distance at 5:30 a.m. Gleiwitz is but a few miles from the Polish-Silesian border. Later an ambulance carrying German wounded was reported to have arrived at Gleiwitz.

Reports from Holland said that Poland was threatened with joint invasion by Germany from the south and Russia from the north.

A Havas News Agency dispatch said: "The Reich started hostilities on Poland this morning.

Another early Havas dispatch said that the Polish embassy in France had announced "Germany has violated the Polish frontier at four points." Official German instructions have been issued to all shipping to keep out of Danzig. Aircraft have been warned to keep away from the frontier.

SPORT CHAT

War scares and international situations are forced to share a place with sport in the news these days. With the English League season started again, football is king and Britain is once more divided into three sections—players, fans, and pool betters. But the million enthusiasts who flocked to watch their favorite teams clash in the opening games last Saturday found the "national emergency" very much part of the program.

Missing from line-ups and stands were 20-year-old players and 20-year old fans called up for military service. Most of the players affected are part of club reserve strengths and those who proved they were needed by their teams were excused from training until the off-season. Appeals in connection with national service were also injected into the opening programs. During intermissions amplified patriotic music heralded the voices of famous sports personalities pleading for co-operation in the national effort to "make Britain strong" while displays of anti-aircraft firing and Air Raid Precaution drills were presented. The players too are "doing their bit." Some clubs have formed militia companies for various territorial regiments and have drawn recruits from their supporters' clubs.

There is still a lot of talk about gland treatments for footballers. Clubs, perhaps jealous of the pair of "gland" teams—Portsmouth, English Cup winner, and Wolverhampton, its opponent in the final—demanded an investigation. The Football Association asked the British Medical Association to find out if this type of treatment does any harm in its alleged process of developing "super-footballers." The B.M.A., in turn, appointed a group of gland specialists who are making clinical tests to provide the Football Association with evidence for a definite ruling. A B. M. A. official commented: "Making good by glands any deficiency in any particular substance, which has been diagnosed as existing in an individual, is a recognized part of medical practice. The real question on which the Association's opinion has been sought is the advisability of administering gland treatment to a collection of presumably healthy young men." Meantime, Dr Isaac Hipshon of Leeds told a football training school gathering large doses of glandular treatment taken by footballers must be harmful in after life and that, any how the results obtained had been purely psychological.

Second to this big question comes Bryn Jones. Arsenal paid Wolverhampton $65,000 for this Welsh inside-right last season. He was booked to step into the place of the famous Alex James but did not flash top form and played part of the time with the reserve team. Experts say he is "one of the best" and may adjust himself to the style of the expensive collection of Arsenal stars. More cynical writers said the two month's gland treatment he got before leaving Wolverhampton wasn't enough. Anyhow this fall will be a crisis in his career. Incidentally Arsenal has decided on a less expensive scheme of developing stars rather than buying them.

Southern fans are wondering who will fill the left-half position on the Portsmouth team made vacant by the serious accident involving Captain Jim Guthrie. While he recovers from a fractured skull suffered in a car crash several reserves will be tried. Meanwhile Manager Jack Tinn grabbed a lot of publicity by banning motoring for his players. He said in future they would walk and pointed to the healthy glow of some of his young rookies who daily footed many miles to and from the ground.

Britain's football pool — 10,000,000 of whom invested about $250,000,000 on forecasts last season—will probably be an even larger company this season. For the Trades Unions have decided to go into the business. They promoted a $270,000 company to distribute pools coupons to their vast membership.

CLOSING DISPLAY IS HELD

Activities Of Gyro Supervised Playgrounds Depicted In Novel Way Last Night

Taking novel pageant form, a closing display of the activities on Gyro Club supervised playgrounds during the summer vacation months was presented last night before a good-sized and interested audience in the Exhibition Hall. The program consisted of dancing, singing and gymnastics to represent various nations of the world on an imaginary tour. Thus was depicted various lines of endeavour which had been carried out for the children on the playgrounds during the summer by Instructor Neil Ross and his staff.

Another feature of the proceedings last night was the presentation of cups and other awards for sports and individual proficiency at the playgrounds during the season.

W. M. Watts, president of the Prince Rupert Gyro Club, was in the chair and there was a brief speech by City Commissioner W. J. Alder.

Mr. Watts expressed gratification of himself and the Gyro Club at the interest which had been taken by the public in the Gyro playground work. That the facilities provided were appreciated was amply indicated by the large measure of their use. He thanked the city commissioner for co-operation in connection with the work.

Mr. Alder suggested that parents and young people of Prince Rupert should consider themselves fortunate at having an organization such as the Gyro Club to provide such fine playgrounds as Prince Rupert possessed. On behalf of the city and its citizens, Mr. Alder thanked the Gyro Club.

Presentations of the evening included the intermediate boys' softball cup to Joe Davis, captain, for McClymont No. 1 team and the Soap Box Derby cup to Cliff Silversides. As the senior boys' softball league has not yet been decided, the cup could not be presented. A three-way tie exists between McClymont, Westview and Acropolis, necessitating a play-off.

Shield winners for proficiency on the various playgrounds were as follows:

Acropolis—Beverly Barry, Hjordis Sorensen, Lois Thompson, Fay Ingram and Marjorie Shrubsall.

Westview—Rose Marie Hartwig, Helen Hibbard, Mary Strachan, Frankie Clapp, Donald Hartwig and Allan Hartwig.

Seal Cove— Isabel Gay, Rene Croxford, Annabelle Intermela, Janie Intermela, Jimmy Flaten, Alex Storrie, Jimmy Intermela and Norma Letnes.

McClymont Park—Alice Barba, Arlene Fitzgerald, June Berg, Dorothy Haide, Joe Davis, Aldo Campagnola and Kathleen Doherty.

Opportunity was also taken to introduce to the audience the supervisors and playground directors as follows: Neil Ross, supervisor, Miss Geraldine Cade, assistant director, and Miss Jean Krause, Miss Francis Roberton, Miss Betty Davey and Bert O'Neill, directors.

Miss Ethel Cousins was accompanist for the evening and Maurice Davey was announcer.

Countries represented in the stage pageant were: Canada, tap dance; New Zealand, singing games; Hungary, folk dance; Greece, pyramid building; Scotland, Highland Fling; Norway, high vaulting; Ireland, Jig; United States, mat tumbling; Poland, folk dance; Australia, springboard tumbling; England, Lambeth walk; Australia, Viennese waltz; Germany, folk dance; Africa, swinging rings; Prince Rupert, play parade.

The dances were well executed and most of them were featured by colorful costumes. The folk songs were also picturesquely carried out. The gymnastic numbers showed skill and agility in a degree that was appreciated by the audience as indicated by the measure of applause.

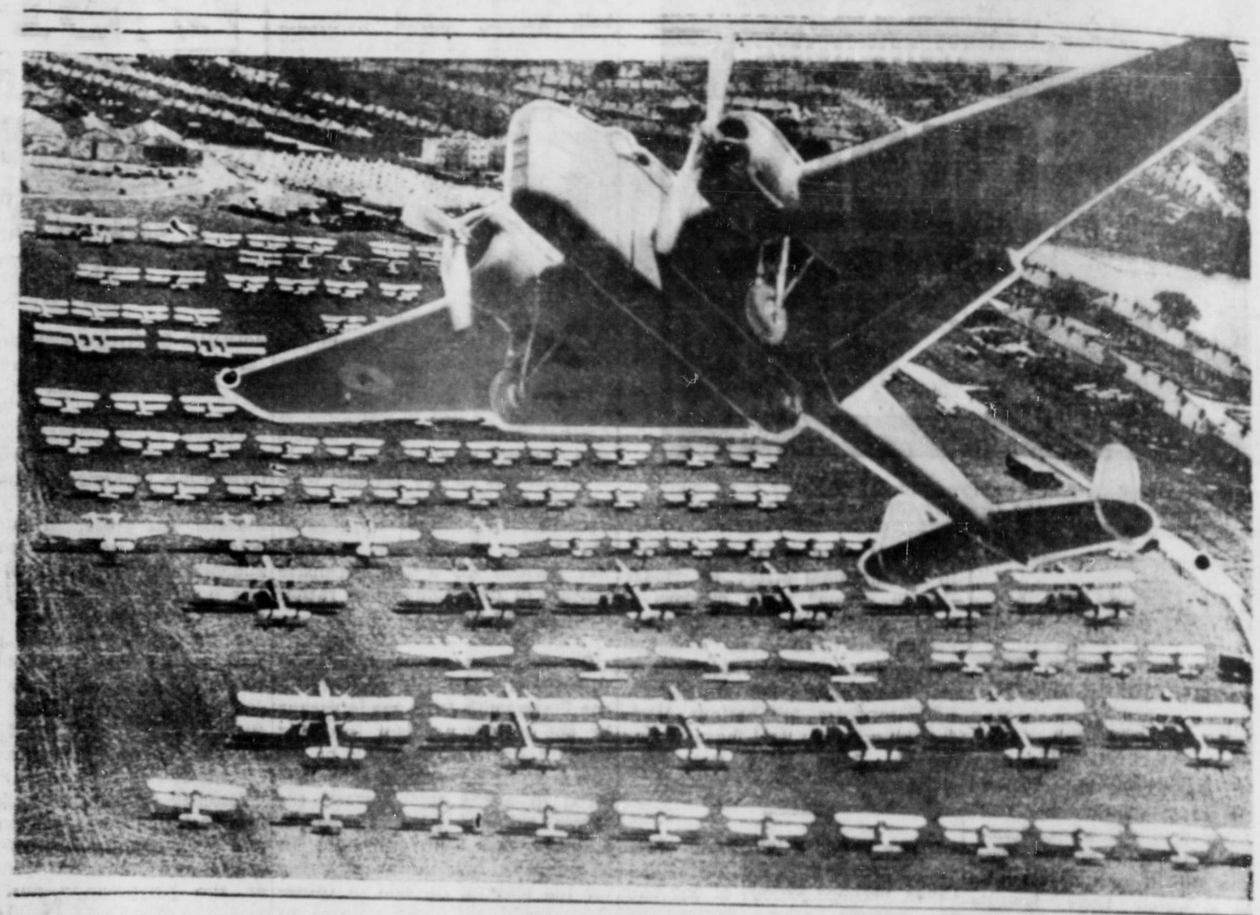
BRITAIN GATHERS HER HUGE AIR FORCE AT HENDON FOR REVIEW



This air view shows some of the hundreds of aeroplanes assembled at Hendon in readiness for the Royal Air Force display. All types were represented, many having been flown in from distant parts of the "tight little isle." England's ever-increasing air force ranks as an important factor in all discussions of martial strength in Europe. Inset above is an unusual "shot" of the new Handley Page bomber, built for the R.A.F. It is said to be the world's speediest bomber and is protected against small-calibre gun fire.

Mining Development Outfit Arrives At Burroughs Bay After First Stage of Trip

The mining development outfit for the Unuk Gold property up the Unuk River with which Thomas S. Mackay left here on Sunday arrived at Burroughs Bay in Behm Canal back of Ketchikan Wednesday. From there it will be taken into Mackay Lake by a Ginger Coote Airways plane which is coming north from Vancouver for the job. Packhorses will be used to complete the transportation from Mackay Lake, a distance of three and a half miles, up to the property. The outfit which left here by scow on Sunday for Burroughs Bay included three packhorses that will be taken in over the trail. Compressors and general supplies are being taken in. Capt. Paul Armour towed the scow from here to Ketchikan with the Cuprite. A Ketchikan tug took it on from there.

Camp buildings are to be erected and there will be a crew of ten men working on the property throughout the winter with Mr. Mackay in personal charge. The well known Sebakwe interests are identified with the venture.

FRANCE LAYS BLAME FOR PROVOKING WAR DIRECTLY ON REICH

Invasion of Poland and Air Raiding Entirely Without Provocation—Way Paved for Going to Mutual Assistance

PARIS, September 1: (CP)— The French government, in a statement broadcast to the nation, places the blame for the outbreak of hostilities on Germany. It declared that Germany, without provocation on behalf of Poland, crossed the frontier early this morning, at the same time bombing Polish cities. French sources said that the Polish ambassador had called on the German Foreign Minister, Joachim von Ribbentrop, in Berlin yesterday, advising him that Poland had agreed to direct negotiations. Shortly after, German authorities isued a communique listing demands and stating that Poland had rejected them.

The French statement followed the official notification to France and Great Britain as well by the Polish government, invoking terms of the mutual assistance treaties on the grounds of German aggression. Thus is paved the way for France to come to the aid of Poland. The statement followed a meeting of the cabinet late this morning.

German High Command Says it is Advancing Deep Into Polish Territory

Warsaw Raided

Attempt to Destroy Bridges at Danzig—Attack on Ammunition Depot Repulsed

BERLIN, Sept. 1: (CP)— The Army High Command issued a communique at 8:45 a.m. Pacific Standard Time today saying that the German army, which had advanced on Poland from East Prussia, is "deep in Polish territory" and that the German air force is "controlling Polish air."

The communique said that advances of German troops and air force which started from Pomerania, Silesia, also were well under way toward their objectives. The Germans reported advancing towards Neumark and Sucha from Maerisch - Ostrau. They crossed the Osla River near Teschen, heading for Katowice and Czenstowchowa in Upper Silesia, the communique said, adding that a battle was raging near Grudziacz. Official information said that German troops were driving in three main sectors from East Prussia in the strongest attack from Pomerania against Chojnice at the narrowest point in the Corridor.

The communique reported successful air raids on military objectives in a dozen cities.

Polish Reports

WARSAW, Sept. 1: (CP)—Fourteen German war planes swooped over Warsaw this afternoon in the first actual attack upon the city, preceding the advance of three German armits invading the country. The planes were apparently attempting to destroy all bridges across the Vistula River and cut off communications with the coast and to the east. The planes, apparently tried definitely for military objectives and there was no sign of incendiary bombs.

A government communique said that a large number of women and children were killed when a refugee train was bombed at Kutno Station, seventy miles west of Warsaw.

The first air raid occurred near Danzig at 5:40 a.m.

It was announced that initial German attacks on Poland's Westerplatte ammunition depot in Danzig had been repulsed.

German reports said the cruiser Schleswig-Holstein was bombarding the depot.

SEVENTY AT DINNER

Interested Group of Horticulturists Listen To Address By Professor Buck

Seventy people sat down at the annual dinner in honor of the visiting judge of the Flower Show at the Commodore Cafe last evening with Professor F. E. Buck of the University of B. C. as the guest of honor. It was an interested gathering of garden lovers there to hear garden lore from the visitor and they were not disappointed. In an address on "The Cult of Gardening" the visitor spoke of the value of the garden as a part of every real home. Not only was it very desirable in every way but it had a real cash value. In many cases the garden sold the house. The garden helped to relieve the drudgery of business and made life in the city a better one.

People who lived in the city, the speaker said, had many advantages and, in return, they owed the city something in public service. One way in which they could repay this was in taking part in the garden movement, joining the Horticultural Society and helping to beautify the city.

Professor Buck said he saw evidence everywhere of garden consciousness. There were many fine gardens in Prince Rupert not entered in the competition and some of these might well have entered. He made direct reference to several gardens he visited and he had notes of a number of others which he did not mention. He mentioned visiting Bob Yate's fine garden and finding a perfectly laid out rockery with among other things some interesting berberis of the newer types and also primulas in large numbers predominating. Theo Collart's garden was unique in being built on the top of a rock. It was evident that he had had some wonderful effects throughout the season. James Boyd in getting some of the splendid results he saw had had the aid of a little greenhouse, something he noticed in connection with a great many of the Prince Rupert gardens. It was a great aid to the gardener.

Comments Individually

Jack Fuller had a fine lot of the newer polyantha roses which were very effective. Joe Naylor had won the prize last year for the best lawn and if he had entered this year he would probably have won. Walter Longwill had one of the finest rockeries in the city. Sam Wickdal's garden, although not entered this year, was extremely attractive. William Reid had some very fine flowers and the garden was well laid out architecturally. Many gardens could be improved in this respect. The Boddie garden to which he had to climb a long stair inspired Mr. Buck to quote poetry for it was high above the rest of the country and wonderfully well kept. There was also the Balagno garden which was very attractive but he had not time to tell of all he saw.

The speaker spoke of the fine work some of the horticultural societies were doing. He suggested that the local club organize a drive for better gardens in public places such as the C. N. R., the city, and the provincial government and said it was wonderful what could be accomplished by an energetic committee.

On motion of Mrs. J. T. Mandy, seconded by Charles Balagno, a vote of thanks to the speaker was carried by acclamation.

President H. F. Pullen made public recognition of the splendid co-operative work of the executive committee, mentioning particularly Mrs. C. J. Norrington, Mrs. Carter, Mrs. Winslow, Secretary Frank Warne, Charles Balagno, Percy Miller and vice-president C. G. Ham. Olof Hanson had donated the use of the hall, the provincial government had sent them a judge each year and the city commissioner had made a small grant to provide prizes. It was a fine co-operative movement.

UNIVERSITY IS VALUED

Professor Buck Gives Interesting Outline of Work Being Done At Point Grey

The University is the rock on which the Canada of the future will be built, according to Professor F. E. Buck of the University of British Columbia in his address to the Rotary Club yesterday. It is at the University that the builders of the nation will be trained. This training will enable them to keep ahead. Every hope for the future lies in the university.

Professor Buck told of the setting aside of the site for the University at Point Grey. He paid a compliment to Hon. T. D. Pattullo as the man who provided the land endowment which in the future would provide for the institution. Fifty years from now he expected there would be from forty to seventy-five thousand students.

Mentioning briefly the work that was being done in engineering, biology and agriculture, the speaker said that the industries of the province were being provided with trained men and for these were positions as fast as they became available. In agriculture alone 120 different phases of life were supplied with men. They found graduates in all the industries. People were demanding them.

Some of the work of the agricultural section of the university was then mentioned such as dealing with poultry diseases, in animal husbandry, artificial semination, in other branches such subjects as seed purification.

In order that they might improve the university the students have done wonderful work. In the first place they had brought home to the government the need of the new buildings at Point Grey. Later they had themselves raised the money with which to erect a gymnasium which was paid for in eight years. Then came the making of suitable playing fields, for the students and a grandstand costing $40,000. The money for this all was raised by the students and now they had in hand the erection of a union building, the centre for the social and recreational activities of the University.

Five thousand Prince Rupert people read the Daily News. It pays to let them know what you have to sell.

THRILLING PICTURES

"They Made Me a Criminal," a melodramatic romance starring John Garfield and Gloria Dickson, and "Nancy Drew—Reporter," another of a series of the exploits of a newspaper girl portrayed by Bonita Granville, are double-billed on the current program at the Capitol Theatre here.

"They Made Me a Criminal" is a dramatic and exciting story in which John Garfield plays the part of a professional prize-fighter. A murder by the fighter's manager enters into the tale and makes an involved situation which culminates on a California ranch with Gloria Dickson providing the romantic interest. Claude Rains and May Robson are also important members of the cast in which "The Dead End Kids" are included.

In "Nancy Drew—Reporter," Bonita Granville becomes a reporter by winning a contest at a school of journalism. She shows ingenuity when running on to the story of the murder by poison of a wealthy old woman. With the aid of her boy friend she proceeds to solve the mystery and encounters plenty of danger, adventure and excitement in so doing. Other leading members of the cast are Frankie Thomas and John Litel.

MAKE CITY BIG CENTR

Speaker at Rotary Luncheon Visualizes Prince Rupert as Centre, to Travel Instinct of World

The development of Prince Rupert as a tourist and travel centre should be the great aim of the citizens just now. This is the opinion of Prof. F. E. Buck of the University of British Columbia as expressed in an address to the Prince Rupert Rotary Club at its luncheon yesterday afternoon.

Professor Buck said he was most intrigued as he visualized the future of Prince Rupert. He was much pleased with the scenery along the hundreds of miles of coast line. There was an empire of forests, an empire of rock suitable for mining development and an empire of the sea with its fishing possibilities. There had to be a centre serving this Empire and Prince Rupert was not it, then some other place would be developed to fill the need. Such a city must be compact, unique in its setting, isolated, central and it must develop into a resort city, one of the top cities of the world. All developments and improvements should have this in view.

The visitor said that Prince Rupert must be connected with the world by highway, by steamship and also become a centre for the important air lines.

Developing his subject further the speaker said that, with shortening hours of labor, some outlet for activities was needed. This would be found in travel. The travel instinct would be developed. Prince Rupert should think in terms of providing for this. Otherwise she would be just like other places.

Professor Buck strongly approved the zoning by-law which provides a definite plan for development of the city. It was necessary that the city have a plan.

Timely Recipes

PEACH PIE

2 cups sifted flour
1 cup shortening
¾ tsp. salt
4-6 tbsp. cold water.

Sift flour and salt. Cut in shortening, using a pastry blender or two knifes, until the crumbs are about the size of beans. Sprinkle a little water over one portion and mix to dough. Add water to second portion. When all is blended, roll to ⅛ inch thickness. This method prevents the addition of too much water.

Line a 9-inch plate and fill with sliced peaches. Add ½ cup granullated sugar and 2 tsp. quick tapioca. Dot with 2 tbsp. butter. Cover upper crust and bake in a very hot oven 30 minutes. Reduce heat and continue baking for 10 minutes.

ROOKIE'S BIG DEBUT

CHICAGO, Sept. 1: (CP)— Bill Nichólson is only a rookie but, in his first appearance with the Cubs here, he made a sensational one-handed catch in the field, then went to bat and hit a home-run.
