Italian Centre Is Bombed By British

Six and Half Tons Of Explosives Released By British On Fiat Works

Wilhelmstrasse in Berlin Visited by Royal Air Force and Italian Centres Also Feel Weight of British Bombs

LONDON, August 27.—Heavy bombardments of a number of enemy centres were undertaken during the night and today by Royal Air Force planes. Among the targets, it is announced, were the government buildings along the Wilhelmstrasse in Berlin. A number of other German points were visited and aviation centres were struck and hangars destroyed.

While Germans make light of these bombings and declare that no important miliary objectives have been injured, the Italian government admits that raids over their cities have done serious damage.

Royal Air Force raiders dropped six tons of bombs in forty minutes on the Italian industrial targets including the Fiat works at Turin, one of Italy's most important armament factories, the air ministry announced. The flyers saw a number of fires started which could be seen for many miles.

Word has been received here that British bombers visited Somaliland centres and bombed the Italian troop concentrations and hangars.

Cariboo Road Is In Poor Condition Says Smithers Man

L. H. Kenney Comments on Value of Improved Highway Leading to Central B.C.

SMITHERS, Aug. 27.—L. H. Kenney returned to Smithers on Thursday afternoon after several weeks holiday in Vancouver and Victoria.

Misses Marjorie and Lorraine Kenney of Terrace made the trip south with him but returned by way of the C.N.R. boat and train.

It was noted during the trip through the Fraser canyon that the road was well filled with cars from the Prairie provinces and also from many of the States and gas stations in the south report the tourist traffic as being very heavy. These tourists do not get very far north, however, as they refuse to travel over poor roads and as soon as they get off the pavement they turn around and go back.

Many parts of the Cariboo Highway are in the same condition as they were 10 years ago, there being no improvement since that time over hundreds of miles of the roads. Until such time as there is a big improvement over this road, by having the road straightened out, widened, graded and the brush cut along the sides and around the corners, we need not expect to see tourists "this far north," says Mr. Kenney. In places the road is nothing but a poor trail and a person not acquainted with the road begins to wonder if he has gotten off the main road.

A few dollars could be spent to the greatest advantage in cutting the brush along the road in many places.

GIVING IN ALUMINUM

British Women Respond Nobly To Appeal For Metal

By Gladys Arnold
Canadian Press Correspondent

LONDON, Aug. 26: (CP)— The Tea Kettle Squadrons soon will be telling Hitler what they think of him, said a woman the other day.

She was referring to the airplanes in the making from hundreds of aluminum kitchen utensils sacrificed by housewives of Britain. "I've always had the urge to throw a saucepan," she went on. "Now I'm going to get indirect satisfaction."

We were standing in front of the Women's Voluntary Service's windows in Tothill Street where some of the more interesting contributions are on exhibition. A poem in large letters is posted up at the back. It reads:

"The stress of modern warfare brings,
Glamor to unexpected things.
The common kettle now contains,
The stuff to fashion Hurricanes,
And 'tis the shoe-tree not the oak
Defends us from the tyrant's yoke."

The aluminum tea and baking sets of Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret are there, sent by themselves from the Royal Lodge at Windsor. Pots and pans from Buckingham, Sandringham, Windsor and St.James palaces; bits of souvenir shrapnel, of airplanes and zeppelins shot down in the last war fill one corner.

Other Relics

Several bits of shrapnel had a card "I carried these around in my leg once. Please send them home."

The aluminum shoe-trees of the Queen are in the centre along with the fuselage and bits of three airplanes shot down by "Cobber" Kain, the New Zealand ace who was killed in a crash.

At the back a cartoon shows one woman with her nose in the air while passing two of her neighbors. One whispers to the other. "It's the stuck-up thing she is since Lord Beaverbrook brought down two Dorniers with her frying pan."

ROUND UP OF UNREGISTERED

Police Will Immediately Commence to Deal With Those Who Failed in Their Duty Recently

OTTAWA, Aug. 27: (CP)—Federal provincial and municipal police will immediately begin an "intensive campaign" to trace persons who have not registered, the department of national service announced today. Letters have gone out to the attorney generals of each province requesting their co-operation in running down the defaulters.

TOMMY GUN'S MECHANISM EXPLAINED TO PRIME MINISTER

DEFENCE BOARD IS SITTING

Mayor LaGuardia Thinks They Will Have Something Worth Bragging About Before They Conclude

OTAWA, Aug. 27.—The deliberations of the United States-Canada Permanent Joint Defence Board opened its deliberations here yesterday and at the close of the first session Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York, chairman of the United States section of the Board, stated that the setting up of the board was just the transplanting of the Munro doctrine into action. "We havn't much to brag about but we will have in a few weeks," the mayor said.

The idea of the board is to create a common front against all aggression. The sessions of the board are held behind closed doors. It is understood in some quarters that the Canadian section will try to secure a modification of the neutrality laws in so far as Canada is concerned.

War News

ATTACKED CONVOY

LONDON—German bombers attacked a ship convoy off the Scottish coast today for over an hour.

BOMBINGS OF EIRE

DUBLIN—Three German planes bombed Eire yesterday. One of these dropped a bomb on a creamery at a little village in Wexford County, destroying the building and killing three girls who were employed there. The DeValera government has asked for an apology.

NAVAL ATTACK ON LYBIA

CAIRO— British naval blows against Bardia and Bomba in Italian Libya are reported to have inflicted a severe setback to Italy's North African forces. The navy announced that on August 24 for a second time in the week it successfully bombarded both points making the Bardia attack "at point blank range." Full details of the attack are not announced but it is understood the entry of the British vessels into the harbor at Bardia was not opposed.

Big Garrison At Ketchikan

KETCHIKAN, Aug. 27: — A United States Army transport ship arrived here at the first of the week with 800 soldiers who will form a garrison here in connection with the expanding United States defence program.

Bulletins

CONSCRIPTION BILL

WASHINGTON — The United States Senate is expected to pass the conscription bill tonight or not later than tomorrow unless some new effort is made by the opponents of the measure. The American people seem to be getting the idea that the opposition to the bill is actuated by sympathy with the Nazi or Fascist powers and this will be bitterly resented.

BOMBS DROPPED

LONDON— British planes last night invaded Berlin and Milan and dropped bombs on military objectives. A number of other centres were bombed.

BRIEF RESPITE

LONDON—Britain had a respite from bombing today and people went about their business in the ordinary way. Scarcely a plane came over and everything was quiet. The shelters were deserted.

TREATY WITH EGYPT CLOSES FOURTH YEAR

Anniversary of Signing Took Place Yesterday with Countries Still Co-Operating

LONDON, Aug. 27.—The celebration of the fourth anniversary of the signing of the treaty with Egypt took place yesterday. Four years ago the country was given its complete independence and the first thing it did was to sign a treaty of mutual helpfulness with Britain. The latter country did its part recently when it purchased from that country the whole of the cotton crop, two-thirds of which it had to resell. Just now the two countries stand ready to help each other against the common enemy.

TWO RAIDS YESTERDAY

Little Damage Done By Germans When They Attacked City Of London

LONDON, Aug. 27:—There were two air raids on the city of London yesterday. The first of these was driven back without any damage being done and the second was not much more successful. In each case the Germans lost planes. The invaders were flying too high to be at all sure of their objectives and it seemed evident that the only aim was to kill and frighten the whole people.

Border Clash Results In Death Of Several Hundred Russians And Rumanians

BUDAPEST, August 27.—Diplomatic despatches from Bucharest today reported bloody border clashes between Rumania and Russian troops resulting in hundreds of dead on both sides and the loss of at least two fighting planes.

The fighting was reported to have started late Sunday north of Dorohoi in Northern Moldavia. The foreign minister who wrote the despatches estimates that more than three hundred soldiers were slain.

Long Nuisance Air Raid On London Last Night By German Flyers But Very Few Bombings

Forty-Six German Planes Shot Down — Many People Spent Six Hours in Shelters and Celebrated on Emerging Early This Morning

LONDON, August 27.—This city last night had the longest air raid of the war, thousands of people being in air raid shelters for six hours and when they emerged the streets of the city were quite en fete for a little while. The German planes came over mostly in ones and twos at regular intervals and they dropped very few bombs. It was something of a nuisance raid and seemed to be specially designed for that purpose.

Fierce raids took place in the Midlands, in the south and over Wales but there were only a few casualties. In all 46 German planes were shot down. The British lost 16 planes but the pilots of several are safe.

Among the British defending airmen were a squadron of Czechs, and some Canadian fighters. All did effictive work. The British Spitfires played havoc with the invading bombers.

When the air raid warnings were given early in the night a proportion of the people sought safety in the shelters but by far the greater number of people went quietly to their homes and to bed.

People of this city were warned last night by military headquarters that they must expect even greater raids and possibly and attempted invasion very soon. The German airmen are being assembled in France and at other points from which an invasion might be launched and something bigger than yet known may well be expected.

An encouraging note came from Lord Beaverbrook who said that the men and women who were manufacturing airplanes had turned out more last week than had ever left the factories in any previous week. The result was that at the end of a week of fierce fighting the country had more planes than at the beginning. There were also supplies coming from outside. American production is being speeded up and every week sees additions to the fleet coming from that country and from Canada.

During last night and yesterday there were estimated that 500 German planes came in from the east and 150 from the south. Hundreds of bombs were dropped in the fields and in country areas. No bombs fell in the central London area.

It is understood here that German flyers are being trained in night flying and that accounts for the increasing number of night raids over this country.

Tells Of Life Of Naval Officer Training In England

Local Lieutenant of R. C. N. V. R. Takes Up Life Entering Royal Navy; Meets Former Prince Rupert Lady

Lieut. James Bryant, who left here recently, having been transferred to the Royal Navy writes that he is now part of the training establishment for officers called H. M. S. King Alfred, located at an English Channel coast city. He has recently visited in Brighton and of that place he says:

"I hear it was a fishing village until King George III made it a resort headquarters. It is now the most famous resort city in England, corresponding to Miami or Catalina Island. Brighton and Hove have no distinguishable border, at least I have not found one. The twin cities are one big mass of hotels, stretching along the shore and back of it from seven to eight miles. It must have been a right flourishing tourist and resort centre before this show started. Now it is comparatively deserted because it faces France only sixty miles away."

Telling of his present place of residence, Lieut. Bryant says:

"The present training quarters was an almost completed indoor recreation house, comprising a large indoor swimming pool, bar room, private bath, etc. We eat there and the food is supplied by civilian caterers under contract. It costs about four shillings a day to feed each officer but we are only charged sixpence from our pay. We do not sleep there, however, but are billeted out in some of the hotels. The food we get is good considering the conditions and a very welcome change from the terrible ship's food we had coming over, but I sure miss our rich milk and the fresh fruits and vegetables we have so much of on the other side.

"The routine is pretty stiff and there is a long day of it. We are up at 7, breakfast at 8, divisions at quarted to 9, then classes until 1. Lunch and then fall in for classes at quarter to 2 until 4:30 followed by tea. From then on we are free, but usually carry on until 6 with voluntary study. Dinner at 7 for which we must go to our billets to change clothes and polish up. After 8 we are free until midnight at which time we must be in our billets.

"Of course there are no lights shown outside at night except small and dimmed ones. I have not yet been out after dark so I do not know exactly what it is like. I have usually gone walking and been in by 9 or so to study a short time and to bed early.

"Before landing at this side of the Atlantic we had a lot of excitement for a short time. I cannot tell you about it but possibly you will know what I mean when you see it published some weeks hence."

On arrival in London, Mr. Bryant says they went to the Strand Palace Hotel, about ten minutes walk from Piccadilly. He says he roomed with big Bill Leigh-Spencer from Calgary and he also met a sub-lieut. who was second in command of a destroyer at the second battle of Narvik and the evacuation of Dunkirk. He had some great and awful stories to tell.

Jim says he went visiting with the other officers, called at Canada House and the Canadian Officers' Club, met the wife of Hon. Vincent Massey and a Mrs. McIntosh, who says she was in Prince Rupert in the early days before the last war. She knew Jack Sloan and the McIntoshes. She and her husband were known as "The Wee Macs."

In concluding his long letter, Lieutenant Bryant says he considers it a privilege to be there training under R. V. officers. They are wonderful men, hard-working and serious about their important jobs but still able to crack a joke.

BRITAIN'S HOME GUARD

Britain now has a million and a half men trained and armed forming the home guard which is spread all over England and Scotland for the purpose of resisting any attack by the Germans. Only three months ago this guard was formed and it at once became so popular that no more recruits could be accepted for the present as it was difficult to arm and outfit them. Each man carried a bomb or bombs and a rifle. It is particularly designed to deal with parachutists should they attempt a landing. However they also take their turn at guarding bridges, factories and other possible objectives. The rifles are particularly suitable for dealing with invaders from the air, the bombs for tanks, if they should attempt to make a landing.

THE RAIDS ON BERLIN

What many Canadians have been wishing for is that Britain would raid Berlin. Now it has been done. While this may have been in response to the raids on London, the British make it clear that they are bombing only military objectives and cannot afford to waste munitions or possibly the lives of fine aviators in the useless killing of German non-combatants. This attitude is in marked contrast to the German policy of frightfulness, the killing of defenceless women and children, machine gunning of children playing on the sands and other useless brutalities.

Evidently on Monday morning the British aviators took time to select their objectives untouched by the guns of the German batteries which kept up an incessant bombardment. The three hours spent over the city was not only for the purpose of bombing but it was a period of observation. At any rate the Berliners now have their first touch of war and it is to be hoped they will get more of it.

JAPAN'S POLICY

Says the Hong Kong Press: "Japan's statesmen should realize, from what has happened in Europe, that warnings uttered by the democratic countries should not be treated lightly. In reply to the threat from Tokyo against the Dutch East Indies, the United States lost no time in making its position clear if Japan dared to violate the integrity of this Dutch colonial possession. Public opinion in America is strongly behind Mr. Cordell Hull's statement on this question and Japan would be well advised to take a realistic view of the situation instead of indulging in dramatics that impress no one at the moment. Faced with a crisis brought about by the failure of their expedition in China, this latest resort to a diplomacy, which may well have been prompted from Berlin, is a clear indication of the short-sighted policy of Japan's militarists."

Keepers Of The Moat

"The gratitude of every home in our island, in our Empire, and indeed throughout the world, except in the abodes of the guilty, goes out to the British airmen who, undaunted by odds, unwearied in their constant challenge and mortal danger, are turning the tide of the World War by their prowess and by their devotion. Never in the field of human conflict was so much owed by so many to so few."—Winston Churchill, August 20, 1940.

BOYS OF THE NAVY

Editor, Daily News:

We have just received some local papers from home and a little item in your issue of July 30 regarding a certain family doing its bit in this war has burned us up. If you think sitting on a halibut boat all day fishing is fighting a war you should go East my friend. How about a little propaganda about us fellows who are doing our bit. Three of the local boys serving with the Navy have recently left for Overseas—we didn't read anything about that in your paper. We left home and all it was, to fight for our country and we would appreciate a little support.

Another thing — all we read about in your paper is "Army"—the Fusiliers and the Scotties did this, the Service Corps did that—Where do we come in?

To continue with this letter—how about telling your local Service Club's and Women's Service Corps to buck up their ideas. Instead of treating the Army like kings all the time, how about getting them to send us a few papers, hampers, socks, etc.—"The Forgotten Division"—That's what we are.

We have the support of all the fellows serving with us, both on the East and West Coast—it is the same all over. Boys from other divisions say the same thing that we are stating in this letter.

All we ask is—Don't forget us. Some papers on this coast have a splendid idea regarding supporting their local boys. They put their pictures in the paper at different times along with a brief account of their local activities before the war—you should try it.

It would make us feel a little better treated as well as give our friends and parents the idea that we are gone but not forgotten. So don't forget, give us a good build-up. Let the people know that we still exist even though our division is no more.

Thank you sir, we have said our bit.

Very truly yours,
PRINCE RUPERT DIVISION,
R. C. N. V. R.

(The boys also say they are happy in the service and just wait for letters from home.—Editor).

APPEAL FOR ARTICLES

Editor, Daily News:

As Y. M. C. A. representative here in Prince Rupert I have the privilege of visiting various centres of military and air force activity throughout the area.

In the course of my visitationh I have been struck with the need of our lads in uniform and on their behalf I make this appeal to the residents of this city. in the confidence of their general support.

We are in need of the following items, and although they may not be in perfect condition, they will be appreciated—chesterfields, easy chairs, curtain material for windows, radios, rugs, playing cards, card tables, reading lamps, books, magazines.

You may be sure that any of these items will find a home among the men on active service hereabouts and will make their lives happier as a consequence.

Their appreciation will not be the less real, because they cannot voice it as I do now.

We will be glad to call and pick up any item that you may have. If you would phone 765.

You, sir, as editor of the Daily News, will be doing the Active Service a great kindness by publishing this appeal and will earn the gratitude of all concerned.

NORMAN McEWEN
Y. M. C. A. Director
War Services.

Mrs. J. H. Macey and sons, who have been visiting in Vancouver, will return to the city on the Cardena Friday night of this week, accompanied by Mrs. Macey's sister, Mrs. Robert Gillies, and son, who will visit here for a month.

THE LAUGHS ON ADOLF

This is how at least one Briton reacted to the pamphlets dropped by German planes in flights over southern and southwestern England the night of August 1. The paper contained extracts from Hitler's "appeal to reason" speech to the Reichstag in which the German Fuehrer repeated his reported desire for peace.

LOCAL NEWS NOTES

Man in the Moon

There was another Irish invasion Sunday night. Forty of them came in on a northbound steamship but so far there have been no casualties.

They tell me I have a rival column in this paper today. But it's not so funny as mine.

"Willie," asked the teacher, "what is the plural of man?"
"Men," announced Willie.
"And the plural of child?"
"Twins!" was the prompt reply.

Betty (just engaged): Doris, do you know what it feels like to be in love, what it feels like to sit next to the man you adore and feel your innermost soul vibrate?"
Doris: "Sure I do, I feel that that every time Joe takes me out on his motorbike."

Counterfieting has increased 40 percent in the United States during recent years. Lots of fellows find it the only way left to make money.

Betty: "I can't think what you see in Peter. He does not go in for sport or games and he does not like dancing. What is he interested in?"
Pam: "Me."

"Say, driver, you gave me the wrong change."
Well, you can't expect taxi drivers and accountants for one dollar."

"I met my husband on the street today."
"Yes, it's a pretty small world, after all."

The novice boxer had been badly battered in the first round. His second tried to cheer him up.
"Good boy," he said, "you're doing fine."
He fared even worse in the second round. Still his second remained optimistic.
"You were great that time," he said. "He barely laid a glove on you."
The novice looked puzzled. As he went out for the third round, he turned to his second:
Better keep your eye on the referee this time," he said. "Somebody is hitting me."

"What, you own a whole row of up-to-date houses and haven't got one to live in yourself?"
"That is so. You see, I've raised the rent so much that I cannot afford to pay it."

Advertising is an investment

Forty soldiers, members of the Irish Fusiliers, arrived at the Queen Charlotte Islands this week on the steamer Camosun which arrived in port here early this morning. They are on outpost duty.

Papers Out Early During This Summer

It has been decided to get the Daily News out early during the summer months. That makes it very difficult to make changes in advertisements that come in late. All copy for new advertisements or for changes should be in the Daily News office the day before publication Reports of overnight meetings for publication should also be in early, preferably the night before, to insure publication.

RED CROSS News Notes

TORONTO, Aug. 27:—Five thousand parcels of food per week for British prisoners of war in Germany, to be purchased and packed in Canada for shipment overseas, are asked for in a cable received from London by the Canadian Red Cross Society.

This request will be discussed at an executive meeting of the Society in Toronto this morning, but unofficial statements made by officers of the Society indicate that the Canadian Red Cross will not hesitate in adding this important new branch of work to its many services.

In making public the cabled request, Mrs. H. P. Plumptre, chairman of war activities, said: "This is a great thing for Canada. It is another important job which the people of Canada can do in relieving the British Red Cross of some of the tremendous load which it is carrying. Britain needs all the food she can produce, and we can provide these food parcels for prisoners of war from our abundant supplies here in Canada."

Financing this arrangement will greatly increase our need. The parcel of food from Canada would be distributed in Germany under International Red Cross supervision.

It is understood that if the Canadian Red Cross does agree to supply the parcels, the British Red Cross will send over to Canada a representative of their packing department to supervise the packing of parcels in Canada.

The food contents of parcels will have to be purchased carefully with regard to rules governing parcels for prisoners of war. The weight and size of parcels are regulated and food is sent in small cans so that there will be necessary variety. If the Canadian Red Cross takes on the request from England, it may ask the help of the Canadian Medical Nutrition Committee in considering the nutritional value of the food.

The Canadian Red Cross has for some time past been sending consignments of food over to England, to be packed there and sent to British prisoners in Germany. These prisoners include some Canadians who enlisted with the British Forces, mainly the Royal Air Force.

"It will therefore be seen," Mrs. Plumptre said, "that by sending over these 5,000 parcels each week, as requested, we will be making sure that all our Canadian prisoners in Germany are taken care of. There are many of these Canadians of whom we have no information because they enlisted in England and gave their nationality as English."

Mrs. Plumptre emphasized that Red Cross is the sole agent permitted to send food parcels to prisoners of war. Hundreds of veterans of the last war had testified that the food parcels they received from the Red Cross saved them from starvation while they were prisoners in Germany.

"As an additional safeguard in this war," she added, "the International Red Cross Committee is sending its inspectors through the camps to make sure that the prisoners are properly treated and get their letters and parcels."

An urgent meeting of all women interested in Red Cross work will be held in the City Hall on Thursday August 29th at 8 p.m.

Important Users Say "Buy B.C. Products"

British Columbia thrives by its Industries, and its Industries are generous users of "B.C. Products."

Logging and Mining Camps were never busier than they are to-day. Employment and Purchases are steadily increasing, and Industrial demands for goods "made in British Columbia" are on a rapidly ascending scale.

The Provincial Government invariably specifies "B.C. Products" for the numerous Institutions which come under its care.

No housewife buys more carefully than the Purchasing Agents for these important users, who have found by long investigation and patient test that "B.C. Products" compare very favourably with imported merchandise.

Support the Product of our own Farms and Factories. Encourage the British Columbia Producer to develop and expand. Give employment to more of our own people. By far the major portion of your domestic needs can be supplied within the Province.

IF — Prince Rupert has not—through a most malignant trick of Fate—Hitlerism— . . . After a long long last—come into its own, as a Port —of great Import?

WHY—It required a war—a war that threatened all civilization, to bring to the attention of our government the the vital strategic value of Prince Rupert as a logical—and natural bulwark against invasion—from the west?

IF — Now — that military and naval collaboration has been consummated with the States, Prince Rupert is not—and—will not, for all time—in war-time or peace-time — remain a thriving, bustling, evergrowing city, destined to dominate and guard this frontier of the British Empire and particularly the English speaking peoples of North America from all the Asias?

WHY—Local capital and property-owners are not displaying just a "trace" of the public spirit and confidence that prompted a group of the city's dynamic "kids" to step out and put over a three-day celebration—the success of which, pro-rata, this columnist has not seen surpassed—even in Hollywood with a galaxy of film stars to back up the efforts?

WHY—The business future of Prince Rupert would not be assured if the same energetic spirit of do it now was made the keynote of cagey property owners — rather than pessimistic doubt and procrastination?

WHY—When the government lays something in your lap—which it so seldom does—you do not realize they are doing so because there is a huge permanent plan to make this natural northern gateway to Canada invulnerable to potential invasion. So why not grasp the opportunity that is rapping —an opportunity that some of you have lived a lifetime in an anticipation of—and build, build, BUILD?

IF — You over cautious Do-Do's are going to wait until "sharp" American money comes in and steals the "gravy" as the States commence Alaskan operations for defence and future emergencies and utilize Prince Rupert as a by-base while doing so?

WHY—You don't realize, that once the barrier is down—as it is today—Prince Rupert will in spite of doubting Thomases always be an evergrowing, thriving city—IT IS THE DAWN OF A NEW ERA—an era you've been waiting for . . . Living for . . . Just why are you living if you're standing still?

DEFENCE OF CANADA REGULATIONS

Registration of Firearms

Order in Council P.C. 3506 passed at Ottawa on July 29th, 1940, required that all firearms including rifles and shotguns be registered by September 15th, 1940.

Owners of firearms according to their place of residence should present themselves at (a) a city or municipal police station; (b) a B. C. Provincial Police office; or (c) a Game Department office.

When applying for Certificate of Registration, the following personal details will be required:

Owner's name and address, occupation, racial origin, whether or not he is a British subject, purpose for which weapon is used.

Full and complete details must be given of the weapon or weapons, including serial number.

No firearm shall be sold or in any way transferred to any person who is not the holder of a permit; nor shall any person sell or offer for sale any firearm without having a permit to do so.

GORDON S. WISMER,
Attorney General.

SIGNALS DINNER

To commemorate the passing of the first years service in the C. A. S. F. the 9th Fortress Signal Company, R. C. C. S., held a dinner last evening in the Boston Cafe.

All personnel of the company not actually on duty attended. The banquet room was tastefully decorated in Signals colors and signal flags, while beautiful vases of blue and white flowers decorated the tables, tastefully arranged by the wives of the personnel of the unit.

Guests of the evening included Lieut. J. W. Kilpatrick, Area Adjutant, representing Lt.-Col. S. D. Johnston, who was unavoidably out of town on duty, and the Area Padre, Capt. R. C. H. Durnford.

It was a night of stories and reminiscences that followed from the hectic days following instructions to mobilize a year ago up to the present time. Major J. R. Low gave a very interesting word picture of the period, paying tribute to the first signal detachment to arrive in Prince Rupert, their trials and the work accomplished in the first few months they were here. Lieut. J. W. Kilpatrick spoke of the very important job that was the work of the Signals and how well that work had been carried out in this area. A toast to the first Signals detachment to proceed overseas from this unit was proposed by Lance Corporal Livingstone and responded to by Sgt. Weaver. Training of Signals in war was spoken briefly on by C. S. M. Smith, Lieut. J. G. James and C. Q. M. S. Sarginson took their audiences back to the trying days in the old N. P. A. A. in their "Do you remember when?" reminiscences. A toast to Signals overseas was proposed by Capt. R. C. H. Durnford in his own inimitable way and was ably replied to by Lieut. H. L. Hall.

The program was interspersed by songs.
