Canada Marshals Her War Power

MANY SHIPS FIGURED IN AIR BATTLE

At Least One Hundred Participated In Big Fight Over Dover Yesterday

Raiding Today Not So Heavy

Germany Has Lost 319 Ships Over Britain So Far—Hard Hit By R. A. F. At Home

TODAY'S BOMBING

LONDON, July 30: (CP)—German war planes renewed bombing of Great Britain's coasts today, taking an undisclosed toll of civilian life. Heaviest hit towns were on east, north and south coasts and at the mouth of the Thames River. A new tally of wholesale sky fights yesterday over the English Channel harbor of Dover increased the unofficial toll of German planes brought down to twenty-five. Another was reported shot down today.

LONDON, July 30: (CP) — At least one hundred German planes participated in the air battle over southeastern harbor and port of Dover yesterday in which eight German bombers and seven escorting fighters—and possibly more—were shot down by Royal Air Force planes. One British plane was lost and some others, it is admitted officially, were damaged. Unofficial estimates of the number of planes brought down run as high as twenty-five.

The British Ministry of Information relaxed its usual strict regulation against announcing the identity of exact points of German air raids and disclosed that Dover was the scene of yesterday's gigantic but unsuccessful attack and major air battle. For half an hour wave after wave of German dive bombing planes came over. Evidently, it was the aim to strike at important military concentrations at Dover but there was failure in this respect. Houses were wrecked and there were casualties, the exact extent of which were not disclosed, among civilians in a working class district who did not take to air raid shelters. Some of these people may not have had time to get into the shelters. Others, no doubt, deliberately stayed in the open to watch the battle. The attack on Dover, it is believed by some, might presage the major assault upon and attempted invasion of the British Isles. Reports that the port of London had been closed to traffic were officially described today as "pure bunk." The Port of London Authority declared that the port was operating normally.

Three persons, including a woman, were killed and several were wounded in a northeast England town during a raid believed to have been carried out by a single plane.

The British Admiralty announced the loss of the 1100-ton destroyer Wren which was struck by a German air bomb. The Wren carried a crew of thirty-four. There was no estimate of the casualties. The statement also said that another destroyer, Montrose, had shot down two enemy bombers during an engagement.

German bombers were over the British Isles again during the night and early today in southeast and northwest England and Wales but little damage was done. Bombs were dropped in the working class district of a northeast town and there were casualties. Early reports indicated that one raider had been shot down early today.

Germans Hard Hit

It was estimated today that, since the war began, 319 German planes have been brought down over the British Isles, 241 since June 18 when the more intensive phase of Nazi air raiding commenced.

German seaplanes, painted white and marked with red crosses, are being used as reconaissance and communication ships, it was suggested by British authorities in explaining why one of these ships had been shot down. Another suggestion was that so many German planes were being brought down over England that the fliers insisted on being accompanied by rescue planes.

Meanwhile the Royal Air Force has been continuing its effective raids on oil tanks, docks, freight yards and air and naval bases at various points in Germany and Northern France. It was reported today that one German river was so cluttered with sunken craft as a result of the British bombing that a warning had been issued to shipping regarding the obstructions.

PLANES FOR GT. BRITAIN

Boeing Aircraft To Turn Out Attack Bombers Originally Ordered For France

SEATTLE, July 30: (CP)—Boeing Aircraft Corporation here announced that Great Britain has taken over orders for three hundred attack bombers which were to have been made for the French government.

OBJECTIONS BY BRITAIN

Three Points In Protest Which Has Been Made To Rumania

LONDON, July 29:— After the seizure at Port Said, of the three Rumanian ships by Great Britain the British government's formal protest to Rumania over its pro-Axis foreign policy notifies King Carol's government that Great Britain considers herself free to take other reprisals against Rumania. The protest consists of three points which Britain considers discriminatory and unnecessary to a neutral state. These are enumerated as:

1. Expropriation of the Austro-Rumane Oil Company, owned by British and Netherland's interests.
2. Expulsion of fifteen or twenty British engineers employed in the Rumanian oil wells.
3. Seizure of British barges on the Danube.

Local Military Units Smart In Church Parade

Members of the local military units— Irish Fusiliers, Canadian Scottish, Royal Canadian Corps of Signals and Royal Canadian Army Service Corps—with Col. J. J. Burton-Willison as ranking officer for the day—turned out for church parade on Sunday morning, presenting a smart appearance in march. The Irish Fusiliers bugle and drum band also took part. At St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral, the area padre, Capt. R.C.H. Durnford, had charge of the service, preaching appropriately to the occasion. About 150 men took part in the parade.

BELLS OF FRAMLINGHAM

FRAMLINGHAM, England July 30: (CP)—Wartime ban on ringing of church bells has authorities of this Suffolk town worried as they have always been used as a fire alarm and every so many hours to play the tune "Home Sweet Home."

This Family Is Doing Its Part In War

Capt. David Ritchie, well known pioneer halibut boat owner and skipper of Prince Rupert, and his family may be fairly enough said to be doing their bit in the war. Capt. Ritchie and his four sons—James, Alfred, Jack and Robert—are in the Fishermen's Naval Reserve with their well known boat Finella. A sixth member of the family engaged in war service is Capt. Ritchie's daughter, Miss Jean Ritchie, who is attached to the military staff at Canada House in London as a secretary.

BRITAIN AROUSED

Protesting to Tokyo Against Arrests on Espionage Charges—Not Satisfied About Cox

TOKYO, July 30.—Two more Britons—one in Kobe and one in Nagasaki—have been arrested as Japan continues its extensive campaign against alleged espionage, it was announced today. Several foreigners have also been arrested in Korea and what appears to be a wholesale campaign, suggesting to some a general purge, against foreigners appears to be under way in connection with political and economic life of the country and in increased police power.

The Japanese Foreign Office declared yesterday that arrests of Britons on Saturday were made by the military police under direction of prosecutors "as a first step against an alleged British espionage network covering the entire country."

This explanation was made in connection with reports from Shanghai which said eleven prominent British business men had been seized for undisclosed reasons in raids in five Japanese cities.

Japanese newspapers suggest an organized British espionage conspiracy and fifth column movement throughout Japan with missionaries, foreign correspondents and business men involved.

In London British authorities have decided to make diplomatic representations seeking substantiation of charges of espionage against Britishers as well as an investigation into the death of Melville James Cox, Reuters News Agency correspondent at Shanghai, who is reported to have been killed as a result of a fall from a second story window following arrest by the Japanese.

British officials are inclined not to accept a purported farewell note from Cox suggesting he committed suicide.

Viscount Halifax, Foreign Secretary, made a statement today, saying that the British government had found it impossible to accept an explanation that Cox had committed suicide and that the government took a serious view of the incident.

It was thought that Prime Minister Winston Churchill might make a statement today in Parliament on the situation in the Far East and that an originally planned secret session of Parliament might be made public instead.

Public indignation has been aroused in Great Britain over the arrests of Britons in Japan. The Daily Express suggests that a similar number of arrests of Japanese be made by Great Britain and that an embargo be placed on Japanese imports.

IMPRESSIVE PROCEDURE

Full Military Honors Accorded Victims of Air Crash Here

With all local garrison services as well as the Royal Canadian Navy, British Columbia Police and Canadian Legion represented as mourners, impressive military procedure marked the escort provided yesterday afternoon as the bodies of Flight Lieutenant Allan Simpson of Vancouver, Flying Officer Robert McGee Halpenny and Leading Aircraftsman Robert Lawson Richardson, victims of last Saturday's crash at Aliford Bay, were conveyed in procession from the parlors of the B.C. Undertakers to the wharves for transport to their homes. The bodies of Flight Lieutenant Simpson and Leading Aircraftsman Richardson were taken to Vancouver aboard the steamer Prince George and that of Flying Officer Halpenny to Edmonton by train.

Eight officers of the Royal Canadian Air Force and the local garrison units comprised the pallbearers escort for Flight Lieutenant Simpson and Flying Officer Halpenny while Royal Canadian Air Force non-commissioned officers acted as pallbearers for Leading Aircraftsman Richardson. The flag-draped caskets, bearing poppy wreaths from the Canadian Legion, were borne on army trucks from chapel to wharf. The attendance of the bugle band of the Irish Fusiliers lent further solemnity to the procedure.

At a brief service in the undertakers' chapel preceding the procession, there was prayer by Capt. (Rev.) R. C. H. Durnford while Squadron Leader L. A. (Father) Upson of Vancouver, chaplain of the Royal Canadian Air Force, played the Dead March.

Canada Will Soon Have Two Full Front Line Divisions In British Island Fortress

OTTAWA, July 30: (CP)—Hon. J. L. Ralston, minister of national defence, told the House of Commons yesterday that "the front line is in the island fortress of the British Isles" and Canada "will shortly have a corps of two complete divisions and ancillary troops in that front line." The minister said that the real demand was for equipment, not men, and so the government does not intend at present to send more troops overseas or mobilize further for Canadian Active Service Force units. He announced that recruiting for the non-permanent active militia will be suspended August 15 and that thereafter men will enter the militia on call under the National Resources Mobilization Act. He said he believed a call would go to men of twenty-one and twenty-two years to start training October 1. Thereafter thirty thousand men a month are to be called and trained. The third and fourth divisions will be trained and equipped in Canada. Thirty training centres, each with capacity for 30,000 men, are being established in Canada.

Col. Ralston announced that an eastern military command would be established in the Maritime Provinces with jurisdiction over all Canadian troops in that area on outpost duty in Newfoundland, the West Indies, Iceland, Greenland and elsewhere. Provision is being made in the general plan with a view to protecting Canada against possible attack.

Col. Ralston stated that men to be drafted under the new plan will be treated exactly the same as those who now volunteer. They will receive pay on the basis of $1.20 per day with identical allowances for dependents, etc.

There are at present 133,000 men in the Canadian Active Service Force, Col. Ralston said.

The minister also announced that a large modern rifle factory would be started in Canada.

Compulsory Training

Hon. J. G. Gardiner, minister of war services told the House of Commons today that every unmarried man in Canada medically fit and between the ages of twenty-one and forty-five may be compelled to take thirty days' military training within one year. There is no reason why Canada should not train a million men under this system and still operate state industry and primary production to meet the demands, Mr. Gardiner said.

Department of National Defence requirements may be set by calling up during the first year only those single men who are from 21 to 35 years of age.

Employers must furnish lists of male employers between the required ages and, under penalty, must put the employees back on their jobs on completion of training.

Turning Out Arms

Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of munitions and supply, told the House that Canadian factories were expected to turn out planes at the rate of 360 per month early in 1941 and "Mark III" tanks at the rate of thirty per month as soon as plants and equipment are complete. The minister outlined plans for rifle and artillery plants to make weapons up to 25-pounder cannons and naval artillery, the latter plants to cost $10,000,000 and to be the largest and most modern in the British Empire.

SURRENDER BADGES

YORK, Eng., July 30: (CP)—Included in the mass of scrap metal collected by the London, Midland and Scottish Railway are 450 "war service" medals issued to employees of the Lancashire and Yorkshire Railway in the First Great War.

TOO GREAT SPEED

If what the Nazis claim were true, it would mean that by this time the British navy should be almost annihilated. Fortunately, it is not true and the British navy today is stronger than ever it has been. Destroyers have been getting most of the casualties because they are used most extensively for defence of convoys and other risky jobs. They have speed and are well armed. So they are in the thick of the fight most of the time. Losing a destroyer is quite different from losing a cruiser or a battleship. Possibly it is necessary to let the German people think they are winning ing all the time. So it is with Italy. If Mussolini could win the war by over-statement he would soon have us all beaten.

TAKING HEAVY TOLL

While enemy losses announced by the Royal Air Force are heavy, there are probably many more losses than those counted as such. When an airplane goes off limping, it is often stated that a German plane was badly injured and probably may not reach home. It is not counted as a victim. Many of these planes do not reach home. The only ones announced are those which are seen fall into the sea or smash to pieces on land or are blown to pieces in the air. It is enough to let the people know that German losses are very heavy, so heavy that they are being acutely felt. Another source of loss is the machines destroyed when on the ground at or near the airdromes which are bombed. Dozens also are restroyed at the German factories bombed by the British airmen in various parts of the country. On the whole the actual losses are possibly twice as large as those announced as having been shot down.

NO UNEMPLOYED

Inquiry at the City Hall shows that at the present time there are no unemployed in Prince Rupert receiving doles from the city except those who are physically unable to do a day's work. Many quite young lads have been securing employment here lately, some for the holidays and some going to work permanently.

CHINA AND RUSSIA

Russia is unofficially supporting the Chinese campaign against the Japanese and is supplying that country with a great deal of her needs. Evidently Russia is treating China better than she is treating Germany. Hitherto Britain has been supplying China with much food, arms and ammunition. To avoid friction at a time when Britain is being pressed by Germany, the British have closed to munitions traffic the road through Burma for three months, at a time when it is little used because of weather conditions. Now the Japanese have arrested a number of British subjects which is likely to prove an irritation. Russia, in the meantime, sits tight in her huge territory and gives encouragement to China to continue the war against Japan so that the power of Japan may be lessened in the Orient and the manace to Russia be less. What we must remember is that Russians do not love the Chinese except to the extent that they can serve Russia's purpose. Stalin has used Bolshevism because it has served his purpose. He also is using China as long as China can serve his purpose.

BASEBALL AUTOMATIC

Modern Game Monotonous to Old Timer Who Played It Back in 1860

OAKLAND, Calif., July 30: (CP)—Few baseball players of today pound their hands on the ground preparatory to catching a ball. Still fewer stand at the home plate and tell the pitcher to put the ball exactly where they want it and that they'll wait there until he does.

Yet these were ordinary features of the game when Walter Mathews played it back in the 1860's. Mathews, who is now 90, quit the game some 70 years ago but the memory of when he played against the immortal Cincinnati Red Stockings, and of the time he individually scored 14 runs in a single game, is still keen.

"The game seems so monotonous now," he complains. "The players never miss a ball. Everything's so automatic. They're too perfect."

"The reason we patted the ground with our hands was that we wore no gloves in those days and if we didn't keep our palms warm we'd get a terrible sting," he explained. "The ball was just as hard as it is today and a good deal livelier. Practically every ball player I remember suffered broken fingers."

The happy position of the batter in early baseball was due to the fact that no balls were called. The batter got three strikes, but he could "wait for 'em" as long as he wished. Pitching was underhand.

"Naturally the games were longer," said Mathews. "They lasted all afternoon, and it was nothing for one side to score 30 or 40 runs."

Owing to rain and wet grounds, Ladies' League softball games, scheduled for last evening, were postponed.

SPORT CHAT

Singles and doubles lawn bowling championships of the Canadian National Recreation Association's Lawn Bowling Club are now in progress. In the final of the men's singles are Dave MacPhee and Duck Parkin who were prevented from playing over the week-end owing to the showers and damp greens. Play in the doubles is well under way but has not reached the finals stage as yet.

With North Star apparently due for one of the berths as a result of a double-header victory Saturday, one game at the expense of Dominion Dairy and the other over Fraser Street, Fraser Street and Dairy will now vie for the runner-up position and play-off right in the Intermediate Softball League. The Dairy is now in third place but is menacing Fraser Street which will have to buck up if it is to participate in the final. The second half ends August 3 and the finals will be played August 4. The line-ups in Saturday evening's game were as follows:

Dominion Dairy — MacLean, Hebb, Gomez, Schaeffer, Anderson, Laurie, Cameron, Blackhall and Keays.

North Star— Berg, Santerbane, Simundsen, Zburn, Bird, Mentenko, Pettenuno, Roy and Perkins.

Fraser Street—Gillis (3b), Arney (pitcher), Bill (ef), Postuk (catcher), Gurvich (1b), Killias (2b), Pavlikis (rf), Vuckovich (lf) and Scherk (cf).

Fraser Street's line-up for tonight's game against Dominion Dairy will be the same.

Ken Black of Vancouver, the wielder of a magic putter, realized a life-long ambition at Mount Bruno a year ago yesterday when he beat Henry Martwell of Edmonton to capture the Canadian Amateur Golf Championship.

Douglas Opperman practiced day and night through long winter months mastering the difficult shots that won the national marble tournament—and now he wants to be a baseball player. The 15-year old Pittsburgh high school boy came home from the competition at New York's Fair with two cups, a crown, some medals and $2.50—but he's even more proud of a baseball autographed by all the New York baseball Giants.

Will Ask Co-Eds Why Corset-less?

Makers to Campaign With the College Girls About Foundation Garments

BOSTON, July 30: (CP)— The corset-less college girl is the object of much concern to corsetiers. The plan seems to be that if you can get girl into a corset while she's still young and slim she'll be a confirmed corset wearer by the time she's grown enough to need more expensive all-in-one's.

Manufacturers will launch campaigns this fall to tell college girls what they think they should wear and why. A survey of three colleges, conducted by the trade paper, Women's Wear, shows that 50 per cent of the girls wear some sort of girdle most of the time and 25 per cent never wear them for dress-up occasions. That, corsetieres think, isn't enough. They want college girls, as well as their elders, to own a whole wardrobe of corsets— at least two pantie girdles for sports, a regulation girdles for classroom wear and an all-in-one for tailored suits and evening dresses. Above all they want to bring the rebellious 25 per cent who never wear corsets into the fold.

Brassieres haven't changed much. The fashionable bustline is still "lifted, high, round, youthful, well separated." But there are more types of bras for different figures. For a size 34 brassiere, for instance, they can find three or four different engineering plans for achieving the outline described above.

Sweden Surveys Its New Genius

Much Of Its Trade Cut Off Nation Takes Stock Of Inventions

STOCKHOLM, July 30: (CP)— Present conditions with many of the most important trade routes cut off has caused the Swedish government to institute recently another state organization—"The Board of Inventions." The aim will be to exploit to an increasing extent one of the Swedes' most valuable resources, their "inventive genius," whereby it is hoped to bring out valuable contributions for the solution of many current crisis problems.

The chairman of the Institution, Helge Ericson of the Swedish Telegraph Office, explained some of its functions. The board is established to promote and utilize inventions and technical ideas which, in so far as they can be realized with necessary despatch and at reasonable cost, are of value for the national economy and the defence of the country.

In the first place the board has to give consideration to the utilization of Swedish raw materials in any of the plans submitted and in that way bring out substitutes for commodities which are difficult to obtain from abroad.

The Board is composed of three members, appointed by the government, but will have the power to call on outside collaborators and advisors for assistance in judging specific cases. All documents relating to inventions will be kept secret and matters will be dealt with in the simplest and most expeditious manner.

Coming Of Windsors Stimulates American Interest And Recalls Other Days

LONDON, July 30:—One report yesterday said that the Duke and Duchess of Windsor would sail this Thursday aboard an American liner from Lisbon for the Bahamas where the Duke has been appointed Governor General. Another report said they would spend a few days in London before crossing the Atlantic.

NEW YORK, July 30: (AP)—The fond hopes of Gotham hostesses once more are directed toward the Duke and Duchess of Windsor. Aspirations to entertain the famous pair alternately blossom and wilt as the theme song shifts from "Now they're coming" to "Now they aren't."

The hardier hostesses, thwarted in 1937 when the Windsors cancelled their scheduled American tour, are playing a patient, waiting game. If the new governor-general of the Bahamas, and his American-born wife for whom he gave up Britain's throne, don't come to the United States pretty soon, the would-be hostesses will play Mahomet and go to the Bahamas.

Many, however, are frankly discouraged, and have ceased figuratively scanning the eastern horizon with the expectation of seeing the star couple in the romance of the century swoop down soon in a clipper plane.

A number of invitations were dispatched to the couple at Lisbon, attempting to persuade them to pause here on their way to the Duke's new post. One was from a valiant patron of a benefit for refugee children. He wired inviting the Duke and Duchess to attend the show, and said, "Your presence may solve entirely the child refugee problem here."

Former Partners Married

Few of the invitations came from the Long Island gold coast families with whom the Duke dined when he was last here in 1924 as a gay young bachelor and Prince of Wales.

The reason was that time and the tide of events—which changed David Windsor's prospects in those 16 years from King-Emperor over one-fourth of the earth's inhabitants to governor-general of a small chain of islands — also wrought many changes in the households he visited. The pretty girls who danced with the young prince in 1924 are married and some have children in high school.

Alice Winthrop, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rogers Winthrop, who were his official hosts during that three-week visit, is now Mrs. Robert G. Payne.

Diana Guest, to whom he gave his finest polo pony before he left for Canada, has been married twice since then. Her father, Frederick E. Guest, who was one of the Prince's hosts, has died. So has Will Rogers, whose wit delighted the Prince, and who turned out in a blue serge suit to occupy a place of honor at the Prince's request at an ultra-smart stag dinner at Long Island's Piping Rock Club.

C. H. MacKay, communications magnate who played squash racquets with the Prince, and gave a great ball in his honor at "Harbor Hill," his Long Island show place, has died. The great house, a copy of a French Chateau, surrounded by rose gardens—the house that glowed that night with flowers and lights, and with the MacKay gold dinner service—is now unoccupied and for sale.

Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Sr., on whom the Prince called at her Sagamore Hill home, still is active She's coming from Connecticut next week to celebrate her 79th birthday August 6 at the same house.

But in general the scene has changed in that 16-year lapse of time in the course of which Edward Windsor ascended—and renounced—a great throne.

ITALIAN PRISONERS CAPTURED IN AFRICA FIGHTING

Being marched away to an undisclosed destination, these Italian prisoners, including many officers, were captured during fighting in Africa between British and Italian forces.

Parson Pilot Grand Bomber

Clergyman Turned Air-Fighter In Service Over Desert Lands

SOMEWHERE IN THE WESTERN DESERT, July 30: (CP) — With a roar, the lean bomber came to rest on this British desert airport improvised on the red-brown stony flats and a broad-shouldered, mild-faced man climbed out of the cockpit.

"That's 'the Friar' back from his Sunday service," said a young airman. In a faintly-tired voice reminiscent of a country parson, the returning pilot pronounced the flight perfect but doubted whether the pictures he had taken on the reconnaissance were good because of the ground mist.

Brother officers gave him the nickname because he really is a parson. He learned flying while at university and, after ordination, became chaplain to the Bishop of Nyassaland. He joined the Royal Air Force at the outbreak of war and his first job at Cairo wasn't much of an introduction to it. He performed the marriage of his wing leader.

In the first big bombing raid on Libya after Italy entered the war, he flew in the centre of the leading wing but the commander complained his machine constantly kept bobbing up and down.

On landing he explained that he took his hands off the controls once or twice—"I was a bit excited at my first raid and was just clapping my hands and shouting to myself 'Grand show. Splendid show' as our bombs hit the targets."

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

Rufus White, who allegedly attempted to break into the city lock-up last week to liberate a friend of his who was incercerated there, was committed for trial by Magistrate McClymont on Saturday.

A special meeting of the Board of Trade has been called to discuss the sending of a deputation to Ottawa in connection with the proposed copper refirery which is to be established on the coast.

The council of the Board of Trade met yesterday afternoon to consider a letter from the mayor asking for the endorsation by the board of two money bylaws, one for the replanking of the city streets and the other for the construction of a plank roadway to Seal Cove.

On the third day since the opening of machine gun list at the Cold Storage plant, the sum of $650 was subscribed. The remaining $350 will probably be in shortly.

Whifflets From The Waterfront

Making her first call at this port since having been taken over by her new owners, the Union Steamship Co., from Canadian National Steamships, the steamer Cassiar, formerly Prince John, was in port from midnight last night until 10 o'clock this morning. Having come north via Rivers Inlet and Butedale with cannery supplies, the Cassiar loaded frozen fish from the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co. and proceeded from here to the Skeena River to load canned salmon for Vancouver. The Cassiar is in command of Capt. Alex McLennan, well known Union master, and other officers include Victor Hayman, chief officer; George Craighon, chief engineer; Joseph Barroclough, purser, and Walter Skinner, chief steward.

Arriving at 8:30 yesterday morning from Skagway and sailing at 3 p.m. for Vancouver, C. N. R. steamer Prince George, Capt. H. E. Nedden, had on board 105 passengers of whom four disembarked at this port. The most of the passengers aboard the Prince George were round trip Alaska tourists.

C. P. R. steamer Princess Charlotte, Capt. William Palmer, was in port from 9 a.m. to noon yesterday northbound from Vancouver to Alaska on a regular tourist voyage. There were 178 passengers, mostly round trip tourists, aboard the Princess Charlotte, nine disembarking here and none taking passage here for the north.

Union steamer Catala, Capt. James Findlay, arrived in port at 9:30 Sunday from the south, sail- northern points whence she is returning here southbound this afternoon.

No boats being in with catches, there was no sale of halibut on the local Fish Exchange this morning. Following the recent closing down of Area No. 2, there has been a marked diminution of number of boats landing catches here, these of course, being confined to the larger vessels operating in Area No. 3.

It's the cumulative effect of advertising that counts.

Sold Swastikas In South Africa

Government Takes Action To Round Up Bold Fifth Columnists

WORCESTER, South Africa, July 30: (CP)—When Dr. Colin Steyn Minister of Justice, made a statement here that immediate and effective action would be taken by the government against the "fifth column" and inimical propaganda, the gathering cheered him.

Worcester had a special reason for cheering. Even before the outbreak of war the pro-Nazi propaganda here was far too blatant.

The latest indication has been the sale of swastikas among local school boys. These are made of copper for use in button-holes. The swastika itself is worn inside the lapel of the jacket.

Several schoolboys were engaged in the sale of the Nazi emblem.

Southbound from Skagway to Vancouver, C.P.R. steamer Princess Alice, Capt. Robert Thompson, was in port from 4 to 7 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The vessel had on board 185 passengers, seven of whom disembarked here.
