AIR FORCE ASSAULT ON NAZIS

Heavy Attacks Kept Up During Week-end

LONDON, October 14:—A heavy daylight assault by the Royal Air Force yesterday on the French coast was centred on Dunkerque, Calais and Boulogne. Nineteen Nazi fighter planes were brought down in the course of the battle. Thirteen British planes were lost.

The Royal Air Force staged one of its greatest assaults of the entire war Sunday night on Bavaria, the Rhineland and Northern Germany, centering on the great cities of Bremen and Nurnberg. Eleven British planes failed to return. The night attack was followed up yesterday when several squadrons of Royal Air Force bombers and fighters passed over Ramsgate enroute to enemy occupied territory.

The Royal Air Force was engaged in widespread raids throughout the week-end including shipping off Norway, northwest Germany and the French coast. Large fires were started at Emden which was among German centres raided.

It was announced last night that British bombers had crippled a German warship in a Norwegian fjord.

There was an extensive daylight sweep Sunday over Northern France. Shipping in the harbor of Boulogne and the dropping of bombs could be heard at Folkestone.

There were light and scattered raids by the enemy on England and Wales. Manchester and Hull were visited.

There were small scale German raids on north and east England last night. There was some damage and casualties. One German plane was shot down.

FALLS OVER CLIFF, DIES

Robert Rae Comes to Untimely End Here Sunday Morning—Body Found by Boy.

Robert Rae, well known employee of the provincial public works department and a resident of Prince Rupert for years, fell to his death early Sunday morning over the bluff near Wayne Place, back of the Prince Rupert Hotel, into the railway yards. He fell of distance of some seventy feet, it is estimated. His neck was broken and he had sustained extensive chest injuries. Death was probably instantaneous.

The body was found at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon by an Indian boy, Walter Wilson, who was collecting bottles. Death is believed to have taken place at least eight hours previous. Police, doctor and coroner were called and, as far as can be learned, death was accidental.

Deceased was seventy-four years of age and was born in Ontario. He resided on Fraser Street.

TUNGSTEN IS READY

Riverside Property Closed With $45,000 of Concentrates Awaiting Shipment.

J. H. Scott, managing director of the Riverside mine, who was in the city aboard the Prince Rupert Saturday night returning south after a visit to the Portland Canal tungsten property, announced that it had now been closed down for the winter. Thirty tons of tungsten concentrate, valued at $45,000, is now ready for shipment from the property. It is anticipated that United States shipping laws will be so amended as to permit the shipment of the concentrate through Prince Rupert to Cleveland, O. The Riverside mine and mill employed a crew of 28 men this season. Operations will be resumed in the spring.

Prize Bro[illegible] Into Bo[illegible]

BOSTON, October 14:—The United States naval vessel Surveyor arrived here today with a German Gestapo agent taken when a Nazi radio station was found on the coast of Greenland together with a Norwegian vessel. Charges of illegal entry into United States defence zones will probably be laid.

MCINNIS JUSTIFIES WAR AIMS

Can Be No Freedom In World If Nazis Win, Says C. C. F. Speaker

Completely justifying the British war cause as a fight to keep the lamps of freedom burning and to maintain democratic rights and liberties which had come down after hundreds of years of struggle, Angus McInnis, C. C. F. Member of Parliament for Vancouver East, speaking at a public meeting Sunday night in the Oddfellows' Hall in supoprt of the candidature of George Weaver in the forthcoming provincial election, declared that, if the Nazis won the war, all possibility of building a free social system in this or any other land would be gone and the light of liberty would be extinguished. It was essential that a military victory be won, declared Mr. McInnis, but that was only half of the battle. The rest would be the building up of a new social order more beautiful than the world had ever before seen.

Mr. McInnis, in the course of his address, said: "The person who says it doesn't matter who wins the war or the election is already prepared for Nazism or Fascism. Such a person is ripe fruit for Hitler because he will put up no fight. He is just paving the way for Hitler."

"Your only guarantee of a new social order is your own will to bring it into being. The time to begin a new social order is here and now. The issue in this election was who can and will be the most effective in bringing that social order into being."

He questioned the ability of the Pattullo government to co-operate with the federal government in the light of past events such as the sabotaging of the conference on the Rowell-Sirois report. He also questioned the ability of the Pattullo government to bring about unity and security on the home front. If a C. C. F. government came into power the first thing it would do would be to go down to Ottawa and clean up the mistakes of the Pattullo government there and, if possible, make an agreement such as had not been made in January 1941 when Hepburn, Aberhart and Pattullo had scuttled the Ottawa conference.

The C. C. F. program and policy were similar to those of the labor parties of Great Britain, New Zealand and Australia.

Mr. McInnis pleaded for unity in trade unionism and organization for political action.

James S. Black presided over the meeting and George Weaver, the local C. C. F. candidate, also spoke briefly. This was an election of exceptional importance, Mr. Weaver declared, since the world was at an important turning point in its history. The old order being in its death throes, the next government would have the responsibility of bringing order out of chaos. The present ruling class had failed both in peace and war. In British Columbia there was the opportunity today to vote for the party of tomorrow, a new social order of society. Control of the Dominion should be obtained as rapidly as possible.

At the close of the meeting there was a question period.

A collection resulted in $36.51 being taken up.

War News

HALT 65 MILES WEST OF MOSCOW

LONDON—Authoritative sources today reported that German advance units have been ejected by the Russians after reaching Mozhaisk, 65 miles west of Moscow. This, apparently, was the high-water mark to date of the German offensive against Moscow but heavy fighting continues. Great mechanized battles west of Moscow with the Germans throwing in fresh quantities of tanks and mortars were reported today by the Red Army newspaper Red Star which said the Germans were thrown back 10 miles in one local sector. Graphic dispatches to the Soviet press pictured the battle as one of growing intensity as the Germans were admitted to have forced the Russians out of Vyasma, 125 miles directly west of Moscow. In Berlin a Nazi spokesman claimed that German artillery, moving up behind advancing mechanized forces, was within range of Moscow's outer defences today as the Nazi high command reported continuing destruction of big Red Army units it claimed were trapped west and south of the Soviet capital.

WESTERN GERMANY BLASTED

LONDON—Royal Air Force bombers blasted targets at Dusseldorf, Cologne and other objectives in western Germany last night in a revitalized air offensive. Five British aircraft were lost.

AXIS VESSELS SUNK

LONDON—The Admiralty announced today that British submarines had sunk two merchant vessels and heavily damaged a third in the Mediterranean. Another Axis supply vessel was sunk by a Netherland submarine.

NAZI CO-OPERATION SOUGHT

BRUSSELS—The German-controlled Brussels radio last night appealed to Belgians to co-operate with Germany against any possibility of a British victory.

RUSSIA GETTING FULL AID

WASHINGTON—President Franklin D. Roosevelt said last night that enormous quantities of war supplies were being rushed to Russia in the endeavor to avert a Nazi victory there. Russian requests for aid in October has been met both by Great Britain and the United States. Mr. Roosevelt expressed confidence that Russian armies could continue their resistance to Germany even should Moscow fall.

BULGARIA AND GREECE

ANKARA—The Bulgarian air force is reported to have carried out bombing attacks on two Greek villages near the frontier in reprisal attacks of guerilla bands of Greeks on Bulgaria. Reports of general Bulgarian mobilization are not confirmed by Reuters.

BRITISH EXPEDITIONARY FORCE

LONDON—A Helsinki dispatch to the Stockholm newspaper Aftenbladdet said yesterday that a British expeditionary force of 40,000 men had been landed at Archangel on the White Sea.

ORGANIZING NAZI AIR ARMADA

LONDON—The Sunday Express stated that Marshal Goering, chief of the German air force, is at a little town near Genoa in northern Italy assembling a vast aerial armada of carrier planes and gliders intended for an invasion of Egypt. An alternative plan is an attack on the British Isles. Large fleets of gliders have been under construction by forced labor in occupied countries.

CONGRESS IS MOVING

Arming Of Merchant Vessels Is Expected To Be Authorized Soon

WASHINGTON, October 14:—In anticipation of the passage of authority by Congress in compliance with President Roosevelt's request, active preparations are being made for the arming of American merchant vessels. By November 11 it is expected the authorization will have been given by both House and Senate.

"Danger has come to us," declared Secretary of State Cordell Hull last night after he, with Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson and Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, had appeared before the House foreign affairs committee urging speedy authorization of the arming of United States merchant vessels. Hull also suggested that it would also soon be advisable to authorize the sending of the United States merchant vessels with war supplies direct to belligerent ports.

Union steamer Catala, Capt. Ernest Sheppard, arrived in port at 3 o'clock yesterday morning from the south, sailing at 7 a.m. for Stewart and other northern points whence she returned here at 11:30 this morning and sailed at 1:30 this afternoon southbound.

Remembrance Day To Be Observed

Canadian Legion Executive Is In Session To Consider Plans

At a special executive meeting of the Prince Rupert branch of the Canadian Legion the various sub-committees for the ensuing term were struck and preparation for the observance of Remembrance Day, the Poppy Tag Day and the Armistice banquet were got under way.

With George Cripps in charge of the Remembrance Day parade there will be no detail overlooked that will make the observance appropriate and complete. As was the case last year it is hoped to have the various naval, military and air force units adequately represented. The parade offers a common meeting ground for those who fought in the last great war and those who are carrying the burden in this.

The sale of poppies will no doubt have the general support of civilians and service men alike. There are still many suffering from the effects of the last great war whose only source of comfort is the allowance from the Poppy Fund. Already there are some men discharged from the present war who are benefitting from the proceeds of the Poppy Fund.

With regard to the Armistice banquet the Legion finds it necessary to confine the sale of tickets to members this year. There is no hall that will accomodate all ex-service men.

Those in attendance at the meeting were Jack Preece, W. J. Rance, G. W. Slater, H. A. Been, Dr. R. C. Bamford, J. J. Judge, J. M. Walker, Hugh M. Smith, C. L. Youngman and Neil Cameron.

CHURCHILL IS SILENT

Prime Minister Refuses to Be Drawn Out in Connection With Russian Situation.

LONDON, Oct. 14: (AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill refused to be drawn out on the question of aid to Russia at question time in the House of Commons today. He declined to discuss the course of the battle before Moscow, saying discussion now would do more harm than good.

"I don't see any reason at all for an early debate on the situation in the East," Mr. Churchill declared.

"You have not all the anxiety over the situation," said the premier in reply to a Labor questioner.

BUILDER OF FIRST HOME HERE DEAD

Peter W. Anderson, One Of Most Prominent Pioneers, Passes Away

Peter W. Anderson, pioneer Prince Rupert contractor and for years road superintendent for the provincial department of public works, died suddenly Sunday afternoon at 4:45 while visiting at the home of his son, S. J. Anderson, Atlin Avenue. News of his passing was received with a sense of great shock and deep regret by his many friends for there was no better known and more highly respected citizen.

Mr. Anderson two years ago had suffered a fractured leg and, after a life of remarkable activity, he had visibly failed since that time. A cardiac and bronchial condition had since developed. He had walked Sunday afternoon from his residence at the Government Wharf to the Westview home of his son. On entering the house, he remarked that he had found the walk somewhat strenuous. Soon after seating himself in a chair, he expired.

Born at Burnston in Renfrew County, Ontario, eighty-one years ago, the late Mr. Anderson came west and was engaged in Canadian Pacific Railway construction work for a time. He arrived here in 1906 from Anacortes, Washington, as the local manager for a Montreal concern called the United Supply and Contracting Co. In the following year he began business for himself. He had a contract for the clearing of 250 acres of the townsite here.

Mr. Anderson built the first home in Prince Rupert, occupying it in 1906. Mrs. Anderson, his widow, was the first white woman to take up residence in Prince Rupert.

Mr. Anderson left the private contracting business about 1917 to become road superintendent for the provincial department of public works, a position he held for many years. More recently he had been identified with the staff of the government wharf.

Deceased was closely linked with the public and political life of the city in the early days and for some years was a member of the board of school trustees.

An authority on early history of Prince Rupert, Mr. Anderson was one of the most prominent members of the Prince Rupert Pioneers' Association.

Besides his widow, Mr. Anderson is survived by two sons—Wallace of Vancouver and Sydney of Prince Rupert. The sadly bereaved will have the deep sympathy of many friends.

Wallace Anderson will arrive from Vancouver tomorrow morning to attend his father's funeral.

Fred Stephens arrived in the city on the Catala yesterday morning from Vancouver, having been called here on account of the serious condition of his son, Fred Jr., who is a patient in the Prince Rupert General Hospital suffering from the effects of a recent accident.

TERRIFIC GERMAN DRIVE TO REACH MOSCOW AHEAD OF WINTER IS UNDER WAY

Orel, Briansk and Vyasma Fall Over Week-End and Enemy Is Within 65 Miles of Soviet Capital—Is Being Checked Now

MOSCOW, Oct. 14: (CP)—The Soviet high command last night announced the evacuation to the Nazis of Vyasma, important railway point, 125 miles southwest of Moscow. Previously the fall of Orel and Briansk had been announced. Hitler's forces were racing toward the Volga River in the course of the three-pronged pincers drive on the Soviet capital. The fall of Vyasma from which, it was indicated today, they were only 65 miles distant at the nearest point is admittedly the most serious threat yet to the heart of the Soviet republic. A broad highway and double-tracked railway leads from there to Moscow. Although the Nazi drive was, according to Russian claims, being slowed up by steady reinforcements of freshly rested and well equipped troops with snowfall and bitter cold increasing the difficulties of the invaders, there was no attempt to minimize the threat upon Moscow and tremendous losses being sustained by the Soviet forces. In spite of the gravity of the situation, however, there was no sign of collapse.

Red troops were said to be on the offensive around Leningrad.

Berlin claimed that panic was growing in Moscow and that the government was planning to leave. Premier Joseph Stalin would, however, remain until the end.

The great battle west of Moscow was ebbing and flowing over the week-end as the Nazis continued their smashing drive evidently aimed at taking the Soviet capital before winter sets in. Early reports stated that Bryansk and Vyasma had both been captured by the Germans but a later dispatch to London newspapers said that the Nazi drive was slowing down and that Vyasma had been recaptured by the Russians. Later the evacuation of Vyasma was officially announced. Fresh Russian reserves are reported to have reached all sections of the central front.

Little change in the situation around the Sea of Azov or Leningrad is indicated.

The Soviet newspaper Pravda said that, while the battle on the central front increased in intensity, Russian forces were well equipped and well dressed for winter campaigning and their morale was never better.

Russian defenders have been ordered to withdraw to new positions. Massive tank divisions have been in conflict. East of Orel the German army has been checked, it is now indicated. The town of Ems has been recaptured. The fiercest fighting still continues on the central front around Vyasma and Bryansk.

Women and children are being ordered to leave Moscow as the threat to the capital city becomes more serious.

The concussion was felt for miles around.

Canada Defended . . .

Roused by criticism that the United States isolalationists have been directing towards Canada, the Royal Bank of Canada goes into detail in its regular monthly letter justifying the war position of the country. The letter states that more than 490,000 Canadian sailors, soldiers and airmen are enrolled and of this total 100,000 Canadian soldiers and airmen are overseas. On the basis of population this would be the same as five and a half million enlistment by the United States and the despatch overseas of over a million men.

The Canadian navy today includes more than 25,000 men and 250 vessels—destroyers, armed merchant cruisers, corvettes, minesweepers, patrol and anti-submarine craft. It went into action the moment war was declared and has performed valiant service.

Since 1939 the Canadian army of 4,500 men has become one of 230,000 volunteers enlisted for service anywhere. Scores of thousands of these men are on duty in England, Newfoundland, the West Indies and Gibraltar. In addition the non-permanent active militia, corresponding to the National Guard of the United States, has grown from 45,000 men to a reserve army of 170,000 on call for duty in Canada as need arises.

The Royal Canadian Air Force began with 4,000 men. Now it has 80,000, the equivalent of an air personnel of 900,000 in the United States with the British Commonwealth Air Training plan operating 120 separate establishments in Canada. Already thousands of Canadians and others trained in these schools have done heroic work, many at the sacrifice of their lives Men are now being graduated at twice the rate originally planned for this time as pilots, observers, gunners or radio operators for duty in fighters and bombers over embattled Britain or Hitler-controlled Europe. Canada provides 80 per cent of the students at these schools, the others coming from Australia, New Zealand, Great Britain and other parts of the Empire.

Defending Canada against the charge that conscription for overseas service has not yet been invoked the letter says that this would be a serious criticism if on that account needed manpower has not become available. It is, however, a fact that the air force and the navy, which so far in this war have proved to be the more dangerous services, have at all times had a large surplus of applications notwithstanding the spectacular increases in personnel which have occurred in these services. Voluntary enlistments in the army have kept pace with all requirements and if there has been proportionately less enthusiasm for the army than for the other services it seems to have been because so far the army has offered less prospect of active participation in the fighting.

Thanksgiving Service Held

Good Congregation in First United Church on Sunday.

Thanksgiving services were well attended in First United Church Sunday. In the morning Miss Ida MacKenzie, travelling secretary for the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada, gave an interesting and informative address. The junior choir gave an outstanding rendering of the anthem "Oh God, How Manifold Are Thy Works" (Barnby), with Miss Jean Derry and Miss Marie Lock as soloists. In addition to the usual organ accompaniment by Hiss Swanna Olafson there was piano accompaniment by H. T.L ock.

At the evening service Rev. J. A. Donnell was the speaker. Taking as his text the works of the Pharisee "I Thank Thee That I Am Not As Other Men Are," Mr. Donnell gave one of his usual thoughtful and thought-provoking addresses. There was a danger of the ordinary Christian suffering from an inferiority complex. There was an equal danger of his suffering from a superiority complex. There was a subtle temptation to think as the Pharisee. This temptation was also apparent in social, political and racial groups. There was justification for thankfulness that people were not as others in some respects but the thanks could only be justified if with them there was the sense of responsibility and of brotherhood. There must be an attempt to bridge the gap, an attempt free from condescension. This was the Christian attitude.

The church had been very tastefully decorated for the occasion. Special musical features of the evening service were an anthem by the choir, "The Eye of All Wait on Thee, O Lord," and a cello solo, "Ave Maria," delightfully and impressively played by E. J. Byfield, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. T. Dixon.

W. L. Armstrong, local freight agent for the Canadian National Railways, sailed Saturday night on the Prince Rupert for a trip to Vancouver.

H. W. Birch, managing secretary of the Prince Rupert General Hospital, sailed Saturday night on the Prince Rupert for Vancouver to attend the annual convention of the British Columbia Hospitals Association.

The help of every Canadian is needed for Victory. In these days of war the thoughtless, selfish spender is a traitor to our war effort. A reduction in personal spending is now a vital necessity to relieve the pressure for goods, to enable more and more labour and materials to be diverted to winning the war. The all-out effort, which Canada must make, demands this self-denial of each of us.
