British On Initiative

CAIRO—British forces ar ing the initiative in Egypt and have made advances. An important position was taken by Maoris of New Zealand. The Royal Air Force continues to pound at the lengthened communication lines of the enemy. The Axis is suffering heavy losses both in men and equipment and Berlin admits itself that the British have brought up sufficient reinforcements to turn the tide of battle at least temporarily. In addition to strong land, sea and air reinforcements, United States tank forces are now fighting alongside the British.

Drive On Rail Centre

MOSCOW—Moscow admits that the Nazis have advanced 125 miles to the Don River but have not yet conceded the German claims to having crossed that important stream. There is fierce fighting just west of Voronezh, important key railway city between Moscow and Rostov.

NATIONAL GOV'T IS HIS PLAN

Hon. H. H. Stevens Makes Proposal For Formation of New War Administration

VANCOUVER, July 7—"Canada is a democracy in the midst of a war and partisan politics should be abandoned in the one common task of preserving our democratic institutions," declared Hon. H. H. Stevens in a statement yesterday. "No one worthy of the privileges of Canadian citizenship should or indeed will question this.

"Such a national government could readily be formed in Canada at this time and ought to include three representatives of labor, three representatives of agriculture, representative leaders of industry and finance, together with four Liberals, two Conservatives, one C.C.F. and one New Democracy—the latter forming a fair cross-section of the existing House of Commons.

"It will be noted that in the foregoing recital I place labor first. I do this because in my opinion labor has been largely ignored since the outbreak of war, nearly three years ago. The industrial workers of Canada during that period have proven themselves to be highly skilled and efficient and, in the main, have acted as true Canadians in spite of the fact that several sweeping measures have been passed by order-in-council which directly affects their interests, and in some cases did violence to their most treasured labor principles; yet labor leaders had no place in the government nor were they consulted. This has been in definite contra-distinction to the course adopted in Great Britain. In Great Britain labor has been given an important and, one might say, vital place in the government. It is quite clear to anyone familiar with industrial labor conditions in Canada that Canadian workers have acted with admirable patience under exceptional provocation during the past two years. Therefore, the time has come when this important section of Canadian citizens should have a direct voice in the government of the country.

"Agriculture represents about 45 percent of the population of Canada and, with the exception of somewhat increased prices during the last two or three years, the farmers of Canada have been subjected for over twelve years to the most drastic economic distress. The price indices show that agricultural products have been consistently the lowest of all classes with, as stated above, some improvement in the last couple of years. They too are entitled to definite representation in the government of Canada.

"The Prime Minister of Canada is on the horns of a dilemma, which

MINISTER IS HEARD

Hon. J. E. Michaud Would Not Have Conscription Until Necessary—MacInnis Non-Committal

OTTAWA, July 7:—Hon. J. E. Michaud, minister of fisheries, speaking in the House of Commons yesterday, supported the government's conscription amendment although he believed it would be suicidal to impose conscription until its necessity had been fully shown. Mr. Michaud objected to any form of imperialism—German, Italian, Japanese or British — and mentioned how French-Canadians had never considered it their duty to fight overseas although they had volunteered in this war as they had done in the past.

Another speaker yesterday was Hon. Grote Stirling, British Columbia Conservative member, who supported conscription and Angus MacInnis, C. C. F. member for Vancouver East, who did not say how he would vote.

It is hoped that a vote on the conscription issue will be reached tonight, thus ending the debate which has been in progress since June 10. Passage of the government amendment would give authority to impose unlimited conscription.

NAZI PASTORAL TARGET

SOMEWHERE IN NORTHEAST ENGLAND, July 7: (AP)—Nazi conception of military targets changes with conditions and now, with German airmen lucky to skim over England, fire a few shells, and skim away again, one target here was a farm wagon and horses. No damage.

BRITON IS HEALTHIER

War Has Tendency To Improve Physique of People, Ministry Of Health Declares

LONDON, July 7:—War rationing and other war conditions notwithstanding, the British people have a cleaner bill of health today than they had in 1939 before the war broke out, Sir Wilfrid Jamieson, chief of the medical staff of the Ministry of Health, said yesterday. The women are "better looking, slimmer and more vivacious" and the men are more wiry and in better trim, Jamieson declares.

TOWN IS STRAFED

Northeast Irish City Is Target Of Luftwaffe on Monday Night

LONDON, July 7 — German air raiders attacked a town on the northeast coast of Ireland last night, it being the first raid in that area in over a month. Hundreds of bombs were dropped and numerous fires were started. There were few casualties and little damage. Anti-aircraft guns sprang into action and fighter planes went aloft. There were a few bombers over the northeast English coast last night but damage and casualties were inconsequential.

Royal Air Force planes laid some mines in enemy waters last night but bad weather held operations to a minimum.

W. M. Watts returned to the city at the end of the week from a trip to Lake Kathlyn where Mrs. Watts and family are in residence for the summer.

BULLETINS

JAP RAID FAILURE

MELBOURNE—Japanese bombers, coming over twenty in number, failed in an attempt to raid Port Moresby on New Guinea, being broken up by interceptors. United States planes made a raid on Tulogi, Solomon Islands.

MILLION JAP DEAD

CHUNGKING—Japanese casualties in the five-year old war against China have numbered one million dead, a million and a half wounded and 40,000 taken prisoner.

U. S. CONVOY HIT

BERLIN — The German High Command claims that a heavy United States cruiser and 28 transports have been sunk out of a convoy between Spitzbergen and North Cape of Norway. The convoy was bound for Murmansk. (There is no confirmation of the claim in Allied circles).

Army Week Was Great Success

Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence, Expresses Appreciation

OTTAWA, July 7:—Hon. J. L. Ralston, minister of national defence, thanked the people of Canada yesterday for having made Army Week the genuine success it was. As a result of the public interest, a new distinction and encouragement had been given the soldiers, Col. Ralston said, and a better understanding between civilians and soldiers had been developed. It would help if this interest would become a regular thing in the long pull ahead.

Canada's War Chiefs

MAJ.-GEN. W. A. GRIESBACH
Inspector-General for Western Canada

(By Frank Flaherty, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

A lean grey-haired fighting man with roots deep in the soil of western Canada is Maj.-Gen. the Honorable William Antrobus Griesbach, 64, inspector-general of the army for western Canada.

Gen. Griesbach is a fighter in politics as well as in war but he admits he has been more successful in war. In war he fought for efficiency in training and preparation and commanded a brigade in France for two years. In politics he fought for the doctrines of Imperialism and Conservatism.

"I believe the British Empire to be the greatest factor on earth for peace, justice and liberty and Canada's highest destiny to be an integral portion thereof and exercising in due course a dominating influence therein," he once said.

Born at Fort Qu'appelle, Sask., when that place was a trading post, he was the son of one of the original officers in the Royal Northwest Mounted Police. He interrupted his education to go to the Boer War as a private and afterwards became a lawyer in Edmonton. He was "boy mayor" of that city in 1907.

All the time he studied and worked with the militia. He went overseas at the start of the First Great War as second in command of the 19th Alberta Dragoons, returned to take over the 49th Battalion and commanded the 1st Infantry Brigade from February, 1917, to the armistice. Among soldiers he is famed for the brilliant action of his brigade in August, 1918, when one of the tough points in the Hindenburg line was cracked.

In 1917, while in France, he was elected to Parliament but did not take his seat till 1919 and in 1921 was appointed to the Senate.

Of medium height, clear-eyed, with close-cropped grey hair and moustache, Gen. Griesbach did not stop soldiering then. He saw another fight coming. In the Senate he fought steadily for adequate preparation by the nation.

A Liberal government appointed the Conservative Senator to the army. His job is to keep an eye on things in his territory and report direct to the Minister of National Defence.

Miss Norma Smith has been appointed to the staff of Seal Cove School. She has been teaching at Evelyn near Smithers during the past year.

KNOCKING OUT JAPAN

Chinese Military Representative At Washington Thinks This Could Be Done This Year

WASHINGTON, D.C., July 7:—The chief Chinese military representative in Washington says there are still good bases left in China from which air attacks may be launched upon Japan. He declares that United States and China could knock Japan out of the war this year. He suggests that the United States should put its full strength with China this year to defeat Japan. Germany cannot be beaten in any case this year, he believes.

NAZIS ARE ADVANCING

Offensive In Southern Russia Still Making Headway, Moscow Admits

MOSCOW, July 7:—The German offensive is still proceeding in the drive for the Caucasus oil fields and the enemy has reached the Don River, Moscow officially admits. The important railway centre of Voronezh is endangered and several populated places have been ordered evacuated by the Russians. In reaching Vorenzh area in fierce fighting, the Nazis have advanced 130 miles.

In London the potential danger of the situation in Russia is admitted. It is admittedly serious with enemy spearheads pointing dangerously towards the Volga River and the Caucasus. Vorenzh is regarded as important to the Allies as Alexandria.

OPENING THEATRE

Matter Discussed by Ministerial Association — Farewell Said To Pastor President

The question of the opening of the moving picture theatre in Prince Rupert on Sundays more particularly for the entertainment of the forces was discussed at the regular monthly meeting of the Prince Rupert Ministerial Association yesterday, the concensus of opinion that such opening of the theatre should at least be not permitted to conflict with the hours of church services.

There was a full attendance at the meeting of the Ministerial Association. It was the farewell meeting for the president, Rev. J. H. Myrwang, who is leaving the city, and due mention was made of the fact. There were general expressions of regret at Mr. Myrwang's departure and best wishes for the future were expressed. Election of a successor to Mr. Myrwang as president was deferred.

New pastors in the city were welcomed at the meeting in the persons of Rev. Magnus B. Andersen of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Rev. E. W. Scott of St. Peter's Anglican Church and Rev. J. Amundsen of the Pentecostal Assembly. Also in attendance were four army padres.

YANK TANKS PROVE BEST

General Grant Machines More Than Match For Axis—Engaged June 11

CAIRO, July 7:—In the first clash between Uoited States and German land forces in this war, American General Grant tanks on June 11 met in combat with their worth. The Axis tanks would come no closer than seven hundred yards to the Americans which showed they were a match with four Germans, having nothing to fear. The American tanks were hit repeatedly but were not damaged and there were no casualties.

General Grant tanks are reaching the North African battleground in increasing numbers.

DAILY EDITION TUESDAY, JULY 7, 1942

The Duration Of The War . . .

Germany and Japan cannot win the war, for they are losing the race of war production.

Even considering our serious transportation problem, it still is not entirely impossible that the war with Germany might end in 1943. However, some time in 1944 will continue as a more likely "first" date unless the military news the rest of the summer is unbelievably good.

A real second front on the continent depends on what is now the worst bottleneck—shipping. In the meantime, increasingly heavy bombing and commando raids will serve a part of the purpose of a second front, and will pave the way for an invasion at a later date when the chances are improved.

There have been sufficient real improvements during the past year so that there is now less excuse than ever for being falsely optimistic about the nearby development of the war. Until American mass producton of weapons got under way, until lease-lend aid to Britain and Russia began to flow in large quantities, until fair-sized bodies of troops were landed in Australia with adequate bombers and fighting planes, until Madagascar was occupied, there were grounds for fearing that Germany or Japan might succeed in occupying one or all of Great Britan, Russia, the Near East, India, Australia, New Zealand, and even Alaska and South America.

Germany and Japan combined cannot hope to do all of this any more. Germany and Japan combined cannot in fact win the war.

An Englishman recently stated his belief that the war would end suddenly. Of course it will. All wars do. Fighting may go on for a year or for four years or for ten years, but when the end comes it comes suddenly. When it does come, an internal German collapse will be an important factor, But in the meantime the basic facts of the situation put it up to the Allies not only to continue increasing its record output of war materials but to solve the problem of getting them to the active fronts.

This transportation problem will be solved there is no doubt.New heights will be reached in aerial transportation in solving it. But to believe now that a problem so serious and difficult can be solved overnight, or that the German people will obligingly collapse within the next few months, seems to us to be wishful thinking of a most dangerous kind.

While the Russian Army will probably not be liquidated, it may be weakened considerably this year. It will be groggy at the end of the summer. Furthermore, Germany is making progress on the southern section of the eastern front. What is more significant, unfortunately, is that the German campaign in the Near East has made progress despite the fact that the United Nations have been strengthened in that area, particularly with American aid, and that the Italian position is so weakened that Italy may not be an important factor in the Mediterranean.

The failure of Germany to liquidate the Russian Army and to deal a knockout blow next winter will undoubtedly result in several important developments. The first is that by the end of the summer, with the Russians still holding out, the German military forces will take over in Germany and the Nazi Party will be ousted. Following past precedent, the military clique may offer peace to the United Nations. We do not expect that this peace will be accepted. Then Germany will go on the defensive.

There are no grounds yet for expecting a serious military defeat for Germany this summer. Many of the best of the German youth have been destroyed, it is true, including many ardent Nazi fanatics, but this class still forms a prominent part of total German manpower. A strong campaign is necessary against the German Army. Furthermore, the United Nations' strength in the Near East and Russias strength on the Eastern front are not yet ample for a decisive German defeat. In the meantime, the intensity of the U-boat attacks may have some bearing on additional aid to Russia and Great Britain.

We have indicated here some of the pros and cons affecting a termination of the war this year. It would seem from the analysis that the chances of the war's ending this year are just as remote as Hitler's chance of ever winnng the war.

We summarize:

1. We do not believe the war will end this year.
2. Germany's military position will deteriorate as the year progresses, and the military machine will take over from the Nazis and offer peace, which will not be accepted.
3. The German internal position will also deteriorate.
4. The prospects of peace in 1943 will increase as the year progresses.

Maybe the Egyptian campaign was, after all, a planned retreat to trap Rommel or draw the Axis forces into an untenable position. Signs are not lacking that we did have some strategy there after all.

Letter Box

PASTOR'S FAREWELL

Editor,
Daily News:

Three years ago I came to take over the work of the local St. Paul's Lutheran Church. As I now leave the city of Prince Rupert in order to take over a pastorate in one of the suburbs of Seattle, Washington, I wish to thank the people in this city for all the kindness, goodwill and real friendship given my family and myself during this period of time.

Having lived for a long time in the central states, it was quite a change to come to this frontier community. Many things were different. A large number of friends were left behind. A certain loneliness was experienced at the beginning.

The three years have gone just like a dream. The work I was called to do has gone forward. The people I was to work together with have all been fine. There has been a steadily increasing understanding, goodwill and co-operation. True and fine friendships have been established. Most sincerely I thank all the people affiliated with St. Paul's Lutheran Church. In a prayerful way I wish them all blessings from God, individually, and in the life of their church. By sincere co-operation and Christian fellowship they will continue to complete the church building, now well established, and they will, under God, through Word and Sacrament, continue to build the Kingdom of God in the hearts and lives of young and old. I ask for the new pastor's family the same loyalty and goodwill the people gave me during my ministry among them.

I came as a stranger to the city. All the people, regardless of church affiliation or station in life, have received us as friends. Mutual respect, interest and goodwill have prevailed and increased. Truly, in all sincerity I want to thank the people in this city for the privilege I have had these three years, living here, working in my calling, and being granted such genuine cordiality and goodwill in all circles in the city. Kindness and confidence have been evident at all times.

It has been my endeavor in a small way to contribute something to the spiritual and cultural life of the city. I have discovered that there is receptive soil in hearts and minds, and most sincerely I wish all success in all good work in the years to come.

Please accept my sincere thanks, people of Prince Rupert, for the pleasant time and real happiness I have enjoyed among you. It is rather regretfully I leave these beautiful shores, hills, fjords and majesties of nature, and still more regretfully, I leave the people, and the church I love. But, as soon as possible I shall visit Prince Rupert again. Thank you. Goodbye.

J. H. MYRWANG.

NEWS FROM EDMONTON

Fresh from battle-scarred England and the biting sands of the Libyan Desert, Flying Officer Harold Sutton D. F. C. is home in Edmonton to spend leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Sutton of Wadhurst Road. Since joining the Air Force, Sutton, who was a prominent city athlete, has taken raids on Germany, enemy-occupied territory and shipping and has fought in battles over Libya. He earned the Distinguished Flying Cross for attacks on the warships Scharnhorst, Gneisenau and Prinze Eugen at Brest and Lapalice.

Flight Sergeant Laurence Swanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Swanson of Edmonton, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Medal for bringing home a bomber after battling flames, night fighters and mechanical trouble enroute back to England from a raid over the Ruhr Valley, according to an overseas announcement.

Jimmy Hoyle swept honors in the Civil Service Tennis Club's tournament here last week. He won the men's singles and paired the winning men's and mixed doubles.

As a special observance of Army Week all members of reserve army units in Edmonton wore their uniforms to work on Friday of last week.

Dr. William Crobko and Dr. Paul Hervieux, Edmonton dentists, have joined up with the Royal Canadian Dental Corps and will serve with the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Definite word is expected shortly from Ottawa concerning plans to take over two Indian schools in the Edmonton area for the housing of Japanese women and children from the British Columbia protected area.

Resident of Edmonton since 1873, W. J. McKernan, aged seventy, was drowned last week while fishing from a boat at McGregor Lake, about eighty miles east of Calgary. His body was found several hours later. A shipper for the past twenty-two years with P. Burns Co. Ltd., he had been a former proprietor of the Princess Theatre. He is survived by his ninety-two year old mother who lives at Calgary and who was one of the first white women in Edmonton.

Mosquitoes And Fish Abundant

Local Angling Party Back From Trip To Babine Lake With Loaded Creels

Three intrepid anglers—Dr. R. G. Large, Joe Scott and Roy Nichols—returned home on Sunday night's train from a hurried week-end trip to Babine Lake. The expedition was made in jig time, the party having left here only Friday morning, but there was a full day at the lake. This was an ample period to more than fill creels with fine fish which averaged pretty close to three pounds each dressed. Mosquitoes, which may not have been as large as bombing planes but which made almost as much noise, were in keeping with the great outdoors of the hinterland at this time of year. Clyde Hunt of Burns Lake met the party at that point and went in with the other three from there.

STOCKHOLM, July 7 (?)—Due to
STOCKHOLM, July 6 (?)—Due to a vast increase in the acreage of edible oil-producing plants, Sweden in 1942 will grow enough to supply ten per cent of the country's margarine consumption, or 6,000 tons.

Guns—
TO BLAST THE AXIS

Mass production of heavy guns, already an accomplished fact, is one of Canada's most amazing war achievements.

In a scant two years new factories have been built, machine tools manufactured and installed, green hands trained—a whole industry created.

To-day Canada is producing in quantity ten different types of heavy guns, complete with all mountings and equipment, ready to fire. One Canadian factory, manufacturing artillery from scrap to complete gun, equals in size any similar plant in the world. One of the largest automatic gun plants in existence is located in Canada.

Production schedules for 1942 call for more than 400 anti-aircraft guns a month; 500 field guns a month; 150 naval guns a month, and over 1,000 extra barrels a month.

This advertisement is published as a contribution to the general knowledge of our country's war effort and as an inspiration through the days ahead. For reasons of security complete figures are not available. The facts presented, however, are impressive evidence of the growing might of Canada's war machine.

NATIONAL GOVERNMENT

is of his own making and due to his evasion of responsibility.

"Under the Constitution and in accordance with sound Parliamentary practice there is only one course open to Mr. King. That is, to tender his resignation to His Excellency the Governor General and to advise His Excellency to call upon someone to form a National government. It is the constitutional duty of Mr. King to name the person competent to form such a government.

"The House of Commons as now constituted does not reflect the true opinion of the people of Canada. The Liberal Party, which commands an overwhelming majority in the House, is torn with schisms and violent conflict of opinion, held together by only one tie—the sordid political principle of partisan control of national patronage. The Conservative Party is numerically weak in the House of Commons and under existing circumstances could scarcely expect to be called upon to form a Conservative government. Indeed, it is questionable if such a thing would be possible or desirable. The C. C. F. is but a small group in the House of Commons with a considerable following in the country. The New Democracy is also but a small handful with a much more limited national following. However, recognizing that the Liberal party under the leadership of Mr. King having lost a substantial proportion of its following in the country and its prestige at a low ebb, there is only one course, I repeat, open to its leader—and that is resignation and the formation of a national government.

"A government formulated on the basis outlined above would, it is confidently believed, rally to its support the majority of the people of this country and be in a position to solve the many problems which at present baffle a purely partisan government.

"The people of Canada have demonstrated, not only through the plebiscite but by their daily actions, that they are willing and anxious to make all reasonable sacrifices to win this war and to secure equitable and just conditions in the after-war period. Indeed, the average citizen is far ahead of Mr. King and his government in this respect. There is but one thing lacking in Canada at this time and that is dynamic leadership divested of partisan control, devoted to the most effective contribution that Canada is capable of making to the winning of the war."

The bride was given in marriage by Peter Jones. Mrs. Katherine Geddes was matron of honor and Jack Pollard was groomsman.

Alfred Adams presided at the organ to play the bridal music.

Later there was a reception at the Commodore Cafe.

The events include the 100, 220, 440 and 880 yard dashes, one and three mile races, 440 and 880-yard relays, one mile relay, shot put, high jump, broad jump and hop, step and jump.

The Naas River high boat for the first week is reported at 536 with the average three hundred.

REPORTS ON CONVENTION

Prominent British Columbia Nurse Heard at Meeting of Local Association

The Prince Rupert Chapter of the Registered Nurses' Association of British Columbia, at its monthly meeting last night, had the pleasure of hearing an interesting report by Miss Margaret Kerr R.N., P. H. N., B. A. Sc. of the University of British Columbia on the recent convention in Montreal of the Registered Nurses' Association of Canada. Miss Kerr was also able to give the local chapter valuable advice and information on a number of matters pertaining to local nursing problems which were generally discussed including the matter of fees.

A motion was passed that, since the local association was affiliated with the Greater Vancouver District Nurses' Association, the official rules and regulations and rates of pay be adopted as follows:

Surgical and medical cases	$5
Maternity	5
Mental and Infectious	5
Alcoholic	6
(8-hour duty in Hospital.)
Home cases—
12-hour duty	$7.50
24-hour duty	8.50
(with 4 hours off daily and 6 hours' sleep.)

Hourly nursing, $1.25 for first hour and 50c each half hour or fraction thereof, and all expenses.

Also all relieving nurses be given one day off in six with pay.

Miss Eleanor Graham R.N., P.H. N., B. A. Sc., in her capacity as president, occupied the chair and there was a good attendance of nurses. Mrs. Forbes acted as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Brentzen. Mrs. Morrison was appointed corresponding secretary. A committee consisting of Mrs. Piper, Mrs. Murray and Mrs. Forbes was appointed to make arrangements for a projected refresher course this summer for retired nurses.

PASTOR IS INSTALLED

Rev. Magnus B. Andersen Assume Pastorate of St. Paul's Lutheran Church

The installation of Rev. Magnus B. Andersen as pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in this city took place Sunday morning. Authorized by the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America and of Canada, the installation services were in charge of Rev. J. H. Myrwang, retiring pastor of the congregation, who conducted the lithurgical part of the services, officiated at the installation rite and conducted the baptismal service. The members of the church council also took part in the installation of the new pastor.

Rev. Mr. Andersen preached the sermon, using as his text Rom. 1:16, "For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Jesus Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation to everyone that believeth. . ." In his first message to the congregation, Mr. Andersen sounded the key note of his ministry in the local parish and gave evidence that he stands firmly on the immovable foundation, the Word of God, and the atonement of Christ, as the only God-given wisdom and remedy in all spiritual matters and as the only God-given way of salvation of the individual and of society. The fundamental reason for difficulties was sin in the human heart and nature which had separated man from God. The solution was "back to God, through new birth, by faith in Christ, the God-sent Saviour." The Pastor declared that as he himself had accepted that Saviour and that message, so his aim in the parish entrusted to him in this community would ever be, in teaching, preaching and living, to proclaim the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

Mr. Andersen, who was born and raised in North Dakota, received his college, university and theological education at St. Olaf College, Minnesota, the University of North Dakota and at Lutheran Theological Seminary, St. Paul, Minnesota. He is an intelligent young man, very well educated and equipped to continue the ministry in St. Paul's Lutheran Church. He was graduated from the Seminary in May and also ordained to the Holy Ministry. His wife, who was also born in North Dakota, has been well educated and is qualified to assist her husband in the work of the church.

BLITZ FILM OF LONDON

"Confirm or Deny," With Don Ameche and Joan Bennett, At Capitol Theatre

Played against a background of bomb-wracked London in September 1940, "Confirm or Deny," feature offering on the screen of the Capitol Theatre here for this Wednesday and Thursday, is the thrill-packed story of a newspaperman who gives up the scoop of a lifetime for the love of a girl.

Don Ameche is starred as an American news scribe representing a large syndicate in London. Playing opposite him is Joan Bennett in the role of a courageous and lovely English girl whose loyalty for country surpasses her love of a man.

An excellent supporting cast includes Roddy McDowall, as a plucky English lad who scoops the world; John Loder, British censor fighting a strange battle 300 feet underground, and other favorites such as Eric Blore, Raymond Walburn and Arthur Shields.

Remarkable scenic effects are featured in "Confirm or Deny." Night bombardment of the British capital is a highlight of the film, an entire street being destroyed for the camera.
