"EQUALITY" MEANS DESTITUTION IN POLAND, LOCAL MAN SAYS

Paul Vogel Seeks Clothing Aid For Dispossessed Relatives In Communist Satellite Country

The philosophy of equality, carried to the bitter extreme in which no one is allowed to possess anything, is the misfortune of the people of Poland today, according to Paul Vogel, local rooming house proprietor, who bases his statement on letters from his relatives in that Russian-occupied land.

Clutching a letter from his sister in the town of Gostene, 12 miles west of the battered Polish capital of Warsaw, Mr. Vogel sought aid from the Daily News Friday in an appeal for clothing for his sister and a number of close relatives, who, he said, have been deprived of the chance to earn the barest necessities of life.

Prior to the Russian occupation, Mr. Vogel said, his family, and hundreds of others like them in the Gostene area, occupied their own farms and owned their cattle and farm implements. Now they have nothing.

The Russians, he said, translating the crumpled letter from his sister, had taken everything, including the land, making it the property of the new Polish state.

He translated his sister's appeal for clothing, in which she told of the virtual impossibility of ordinary Polish families to maintain their hold on decent living conditions in the face of a disorganized economy.

To many, including his three sisters and eight nieces, it is a struggle for life itself, in which he is seeking aid in the form of clothing.

A man or woman doing the heaviest type of physical labor is entitled to earn 30 zloty a month, according to Mr. Vogel's translation of his sister's letter. Under pre-war exchange rates, the zloty was worth eight to the dollar but has depreciated vastly since.

However, a pair of socks in Poland today costs 1,000 zloty, and two kilograms of black bread, about four pounds, is worth 30 zloty, or a month's wages. A man's shirt can be had in Poland—if a laborer or dispossessed farmer is willing to pay two and a half year's wages to buy it. Otherwise he does without.

Some of Mr. Vogel's relatives have managed to get to the British occupied zone of Germany, where things are not so bad, and he is hoping that his other relatives may be able to make the same move. So far, they have been caught in Poland.

"That is equality—Communist style," Mr. Vogel said with a controlled show of bitterness. "I am not in a position to supply clothing to all my relatives and I am hoping that some of the people of Prince Rupert might spare some garments."

Firm Hand By France

To Use Guns and Planes to Keep Empire Solid in Face Of Insurrection

PARIS (P) — Insurrection in Indo-China, now reported as having spread to the south, has forced France to realize that she must use guns and planes in addition to diplomacy to keep her rich 400-year-old colonial empire from falling apart.

Although permanent government under the Fourth Republic is not yet complete, this country has had to bring into play sterner aspect of a two-edged policy—loosen the bonds to hold colonials impatient for wider freedom but, when French authority is questioned, fight.

It is evident that France intends to meet force with force.

Today it was learned from Saigon that all commercial air services in Indo-China had been cancelled so that concentration may be made on transport of troops to the north where fierce fighting between the government forces and nationalist rebels continues.

TURNS DOWN PRESIDENCY

General Charles DeGaulle Does Not Intend to Have Position Without Power

PARIS (P) — General Charles DeGaulle said today that he would not be a candidate for president of France's new fourth republic. The French legislature is to convene January 16 or soon after to elect a president.

The wartime leader of the Free French and the first head of France's post-war provisional government said he did not believe, "according to my conscience," that it would be well for him to "preside with impotence over the impotence of the state." The presidency would be a position without power.

DeGaulle objected to the constitution of the Fourth Republic on the ground that it gives too much power to the legislature and too little to the executive.

ALASKAN LIKES B.C. PRODUCE

"Most of all, what we need is an auto ferry service to connect Prince Rupert with Haines, Alaska. I recently toured interior Alaska on the Alcan Highway, starting at Haines. Once you get on it, there is a thousand-mile highway, all in excellent condition."

KETCHIKAN HIGH SCHOOL TAKES FOURTH STRAIGHT FROM LOCALS

Stirringly Close Contest Climaxes International Series—Score 39 to 37

With both teams pounding at each other tooth and nail in one of the best games of the current season, fans were treated to a bang-up basketball tussle last night in the Civic Centre when Kayhi Polar Bears managed to squeeze out a narrow victory over the Bo-Me-Hi Rainmakers. Fighting right to the final whistle, Kayhi won by a final score of 39 to 37. This was the fourth straight win for the northern team and very deservingly it gave them the international championship for another year. In the aggregate they won only by a very narrow margin of 17 points. The final standings were:

Kayhi 146 points.
Bo-Me-Hi 129 points.

Kayhi—Anderson (5) 5; Iversen (1) 12; Graham (5) 3; Vincent (1) 5; Markison (5) 1; Stenford (2) 2; Johanson (5- 2; Slatta, Bell (1). Total 39.

Bo-Me-Hi—Forman (4) 2; Lavigne (4) 5; Hartwig (5) 9; Ciccone (2) 8; Thompson (2) 9; Skog (1); Davidson, Flaten (2) 4; Intermela (2). Total 37.

Right from the start it was obvious that the Rainmakers were at last coming out of their slump. Showing some of their old form they edged out the Bears 9 to 7 at the end of the first quarter. Again in the second period they out-pointed their opponents to arrive at the first half post out in front of the 24-20 score. When the teams came back from their breather they both entered the third period displaying no mercy to the other squad and expecting none. But this half of the ball game was Kayhi's and by the end of the third quarter Bo-Me-Hi was behind 30-29. With the referee and umpire lashing out left and right with fouls, disaster nearly overtook the Alaskans when, in the closing minutes of the last quarter, four of their first line were banished from the game with five personal fouls. A total of 47 fouls were dished out—25 to Kayhi and 22 to Bo-Me-Hi but, by fighting desepately, the Bears staved off a last-minute desperate bid by the Rainmakers. However, the pace was too much and, when but two points behind, the bell sounded ending a hard fought battle.

The cheering section of the crowd that had journeyed down from Alaska with the Kayhi squad was well versed in the use of cheering for their team. During the frequent time-outs, the lull in the game was very aptly filled with the sound of this well organized vocal support section. The locals were treated to a display of Kayhi cheer leading when the king of the Kayhi rooters came down on the floor and led the crowd in a resounding cheer for the two teams.

MACEY'S BEAT METLAKATLA

In the curtain-raiser. Macey's led all the way to take Metlakatla 39 to 33. It was a fast and furious game but, in comparison to the main event, very clean with only 14 fouls being handed out. Macey's led at the first quarter 9 to 7. From then on they proceeded to increase their lead until at the half they were on the long side of the 23-14 score. In the third quarter Metlakatla came back and narrowed the lead by two points to come to the breather still on the short side 31-24. Again in the last period they narrowed it but only by one point to bring the full time score to 39-33.

Macey's—Menzies 2; Hougan 8; B. Pierce 6; Arnetsen 8; E. Pierce 11; Teng; Olafson; James 4. Total 39.

Metlakatla — A. Leighton 5; Robinson 2; Auckland 12; Wilson 1; C. Nelson 8; F. Robinson; E. Leighton 2; B. Nelson 2; S. Nelson 1. Total 33.

'XMAS ENTERTAINMENTS HELD; MILD WEATHER FOR SEASON

Christmas trees for the children of Terrace have constituted a major activity of the last few days. The Pentecostal Church had their Christmas Tree on Thursday evening;; the Catholic Church on Sunday afternoon; the Anglican Church on Monday and the Oddfellows on Monday evening.

Mild weather preceded Christmas at Terrace with the result that the snow disappeared rapidly. Although there was a strong wind, it was unusually warm for this season of the year and assisted the thaw.

Maurice Cote and Allan Dubeau are home from University of British Columbia to spend Christmas with their families.

Dr. Jens Munthe arrived Monday from Prince Rupert to spend Christmas in Terrace.

Estelle Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Johnston, spent Christmas with her family at Terrace. She is employed as a stenographer in Prince Rupert.

Miss Marion Miller arrived on Monday from Prince Rupert to spend Christmas with her parents.

Roberta Laird arrived from Prince Rupert a few days ago to spend the Christmas holidays at Terrace with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bremner of Prince Rupert spent Christmas with Mrs. Bremner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Sessions.

Francis H. Hamlin of Newport, England, arrived here a few days ago to visit with his brother, G. Hamlin. He expects to stay for about a month.

Fred Baker has purchased the Peter Nelson lot on Greig Avenue. Stan Olson is buying two lots on Greig Avenue East. These real estate deals were negotiated through the office E. T. Kenney Real Estate Ltd.

August Lips, J. Attwood and David Tumlinson arrived on Monday night from Ocean Falls where they are employed with Northern Construction Co. Ltd.

Fred Baker arrived from Ocean Falls a few days ago to spend Christmas and New Year with his family.

Miss Dorothy O'Neill arrived in the city at the first of the week from Port Alberni, where she is teaching school, to spend the Christmas and New Year holiday season visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. C. O'Neill.

Waterfront Whiffs

We Reflect On A Quiet Christmas Week Stroll—Just What the Great Waterfront Industry Means to Prince Rupert

Prince Rupert's waterfront this week has been in the grip of almost holy stillness, a Yuletide hush comparable to that emanating from the fish that in other seasons are handled there in such large numbers. As a matter of fact, it gives one time to pause a moment and consider those fish, the millions that have passed over the waterfront wharves. Considering that they have nothing to say when they are around, they are missed mightily when they are gone.

A walk along the fish wharves Friday afternoon in search of material to build this column was similar in its vast quietness to Thoreau taking a walk in the New England woods although it is doubtful if Thoreau, in his woodland strolls, ever had the distraction of worrying about slipping on frosty wharf planks. Nevertheless, it did give inspiration for some thought.

Consider, for instance, the hustle and bustle that pervades the fish wharves at practically every season of the year, except Christmas week, and which accompanies the first shore handling of Prince Rupert's prime commodity—fish in its many varieties. Those industrial overtones certainly are not made by the fish, which are either very limp, or very stiff in an ice coffin, but by several hundred men and women whose direct concern is the handling of the fish, or with assisting in its handling. But those noises—the hum of conversation on the filleting floors, the creak of cranes as the fish are unloaded from the holds, the thump of diesel engines, the roar of crushed ice tumbling into the holds of boats, and even the cries of seagulls are just the primary dirt of an industry which is the mainstay of this city.

The secondary chorus is provided by the sounds heard in machine shops, wooden boat shops, on the oil wharves and in many places where the gear and boats which serve the fishing industry are either bought, built or maintained. And assisting in the economic tune are the virile snorts of railway switching and freight engines which carry the product to its ultimate destination, some far-off consumer.

And making the sweetest diapason of all in this economic orchestra, is the quiet rustle of crisp, green dollars circulating in the industry and far beyond it, into hands whose owners fondly believe they have no connection with the fishing industry.

Things are quiet on the waterfront. The doors of most of the fish sheds are closed. About the only activity visible on Friday was at Atlin Fisheries where a few men were making fish boxes and even gulls looked lonesome. But happily, it was a brief period of quietness punctuating much longer periods of intense activity, and one in which the workers enjoyed the Christmas season. If it were anything more than that, Prince Rupert would have cause to be uneasy.

* * *

To the fishermen, the waterfront workers and all who take part in the city's marine activity, the Daily News waterfront columnist wishes a happy and prosperous New Year.

Miss Pat Timmermeister arrived in the city at the first of the week from Vancouver to spend the Christmas and New Year holiday season at her home here.

T. W. Brown returned to the city at the first of the week after an absence of over two months during which he made a trip to Panama and New Orleans.

W. Hart of the crew of the snag scow Essington sailed on the Catala Friday night on a trip to Vancouver.

SATURDAY SERMON

BE WISE

(By PASTOR A. O. AASEN, St. Paul's Lutheran Church)

"So teach us to number our days, that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom. —Psalm 90, verse 12.

It's at the end of the year. Take inventory! Foot up the number of days you have lived here upon the earth. There are 365 each year. Then multiply these 365 with the number of birthdays you have celebrated, and you have the number our text calls for. Then subtract this sum from the number of days in the Biblical three score and ten years, ordinarily allotted to us humans as our span of life. The difference between these two numbers, will then be yours and my life expectancy from now on. If you do this, you will be startled at the number of days already spent and the fewness of the days left.

Next, ask yourself, why does Moses break up our time into such small fragments as days and not years, or decades of years? The reason will quickly dawn upon you. It is because time is so exceedingly precious. This was brought out when Mr. Carnegie offered to buy ten years of time in which to live. He said he was willing to pay 200 million dollars for them. That amounts to $54,794 for a day; or $2,283 for an hour; $38 for a minute. How much are hours and minutes worth to you?

Always remember that time is of all things the most uncertain possession you have, that the sand in your glass of time may be fast running out, that time flies, that time moves on with rapid pace, that time and tide waits for no man.

Remember that the last letter in the word time is the first letter in the word eternity, that death is only a new beginning either in heaven or hell, either in salvation or damnation, that death changes nothing and nobody, for, as you believe, so you live, as you live, so you die, as you die so fare, whither you fare there you remain forever and ever.

And here is the grandest thought of all. Listen! You and I have the privilege of shaping our own eternity just the way we want it to be. If in time, while it is yet time, if in this life, while we yet have life, if here, while we are yet here, we choose Christ as our Saviour, the church as our home, true Christians as our companions, we can be sure of an entrance into the new year of eternal bliss, when our days upon earth are all ended.

Therefore, eternity-bound fellow sojourner, be wise, permit the Holy Spirit—for you cannot do it yourself—to teach you, at this momentous hour, to number your days, that you and I may apply our hearts unto wisdom in Jesus name. Amen.

BOXING DAY AT CIVIC CENTRE

Nearly Two Thousand Persons Crowded Auditorium and Gymnasium

Feature events of the first Christmas season at Prince Rupert's Civic Centre were on Boxing Day when the Sons of Norway occupied the auditorium in the afternoon with their children's Christmas party and in the evening with their adults' dance. Simultaneously in the evening the first of the Kayhi-Bo-Me-Hi international High School basketball series was proceeding. Between the afternoon and evening events it is estimated that some 1800 persons visited the centre.

The children's party of the Sons of Norway in the afternoon was featured by singing of carols in English and Norwegian and dancing around the Christmas tree with Santa Claus paying a visit to distribute gifts. There was a great crowd at the dance in the evening when national dances were interspersed with modern. Buffet refreshments were served. John Fredheim was chairman of the committee in charge.

Although defeated in all three games by the Hell Divers last night, Gulls remained in the lead of the War Assets Bowling League. The win for the Hell Divers put them on even terms with Wasps, defeating Sharpshooters two-to-one, for runner-up position.

The evening's results were as follows:

Hell Divers 3, Gulls 0.
Mosquitoes 3, Spitfires 0.
Wasps 2, Sharpshooters 1.
Wing Dingers 2, Checkers 1.

The standings:

Hell Divers	22	14	22
Mosquitoes	20	16	20

Frank Comadina arrived home at the first of the week to spend the Christmas and New Year holidays here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Comadina.

SEA CADETS' XMAS PARTY

An enormous tree glinting with tinsel frost and decked with soft lights centred the spacious H.M.C.S. Chatham drill hall last night when Captain Cook Sea Cadets Corps of Prince Rupert staged a delightful formal dance which was attended by 150 patrons including a large proportion of interested adult patrons. Nor was the great tree the only decorative feature but the big hall was decorated throughout—walls and beams—with hundreds of evergreen boughs and festooned lights in Yuletide colors. Such was the scene for several delightful hours dancing to the strains of Bobby Woods' Orchestra with Lt. Cdr. Alex Mitchell, commanding officer of the corps, as a genial master of ceremonies who kept the proceedings moving with lively zest. A number of novelty dances featured the evening's proceedings.

At midnight refreshments were served.

Committee in charge of the dispensing of refreshments and handling the check room was comprised of L. S. James Hebb, Wrenette Petty Officer Lorraine Barbe, A/B Andy Owens, Bandsman James Hemmons and Bandsman Robert Currie. Looking after program arrangements were Petty Officers Robert McChesney, Lawrence Eddy and John Kennedy.

Among the special guests of the evening were members of the Kayhi basketball team from Ketchikan and of the local Booth Memorial High School team.

Bronson Bussey, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bussey, arrived in the city on the Prince Rupert Wednesday morning from Vancouver to spend the Christmas and New Year holiday season.
