Local Teacher Is Awarded Degree

Douglas George Bishop Receives Bachelorship of Education From Saskatchewan

Among those receiving degrees at the annual convocation of the University of Saskatchewan at Saskatoon last Friday was Douglas George Bishop, B.A., senior mathematics teacher at Booth Memorial High School in Prince Rupert.

Mr. Bishop was one of 11 candidates who received the degree of Bachelor of Education and one of four of that group to be further honored by receiving the degree "with distinction."

This degree represents the culmination of three summers' work at summer school combined with extra mural studies during the winter seasons. Mr. Bishop's Bachelor of Arts degree was obtained in a similar manner so that he has now a record of nine consecutive sessions of study at summer school.

Mr. Bishop plans to return to Saskatoon this summer to commence work leading to the degree of Master of Education. He will take classes from Dean H. M. Quance, head of the College of Education, Saskatchewan University, and one class in educational statistics to be given by Dr. Tyler of the University of British Columbia who is visiting professor at this year's summer school at Saskatoon.

PROUD OF THEIR SON

Private John McGuire, Not Yet 21, is Seasoned Veteran of Dieppe and Italy

Mr. and Mrs. John McGuire of Hays Cove Avenue are fairly enough proud of their son, Private McGuire, now serving with the Eighth Army in Italy, who, although not yet 21 years of age, is a seasoned veteran of the wars. Enlisting at MacLennan, Alberta, as he turned 18, John was overseas inside of eight months and went through the Dieppe affair. Starting at Sicily, he has been all through the Italian campaign and is supposedly today with the Canadians who are in the thick of the new offensive aimed at Rome.

A few days ago Mr. and Mrs. McGuire heard from their son and he sent a parcel which contained souvenirs such as penknives and commando dagger brooches, some fine Italian shelled almonds and a recent copy of "Red Patch," First Division newspaper published in the field.

John's little sister, Jean, is a member of the Daily News delivery staff.

HALIBUT BOATS LEAVE TOMORROW

Month-old Tie-up Due to Ceiling Price Dispute is Now Definitely Ended

Fishermen in three of the west coast's four major halibut ports have set the dates for their boats to leave for the banks to end the five-week old halibut tie-up.

Vancouver men, first to declare their intention to go to sea, presumably left last night and their first group of boats is probably now on the way to the banks.

Prince Rupert fishermen and boat owners met yesterday afternoon and decided that their first group of A-L boats will leave port at 10 o'clock Sunday morning. The second group, M to Z, will leave on Wednesday. Local shippers were busy getting clearances this morning. Loading of supplies and fuel promises to keep the waterfront busy this week-end.

In Seattle boat owners met with fishermen last night and decided that they would officially end the tie-up today. Their boats are expected to be ready either Monday or Tuesday.

No word has been received concerning the actions of Ketchikan fishermen but it is likely that they too have either left, or contemplate leaving shortly, for the banks.

The terms under which Canadian fishermen decided to sail are that they receive full ceiling price for halibut in all ports at all times and that halibut boats receive preference in unloading their catches. In this they will negotiate with fish buyers.

Seattle men, originators of the tie-up, are going to sea on an agreement that negotiations will begin immediately with the Office of Price Administration to raise the American price ceiling.

Lakehead Won Loan Trophy

WINNIPEG, May 20—The Devenish Trophy, donated by W. R. Devenish, vice-president, Canadian National Railways, has been won by the Lakehead division, according to an announcement made today by P. S. Chalmers, chief organizer for the company for the west in the recent Victory Loan campaign. Last year, Port Arthur won the trophy but the best they could do this year was second place.

The trophy is awarded to the division reaching the highest percentage of its quota in the selling of Victory Bonds. Keen interest throughout the west was stimulated as a result and eight of the twelve divisions captured "V" flags.

Many Cars Already Passing Over New Skeena River Road; Terrace to Vancouver Drive

SMITHERS, May 20 — Although the Skeena highway between Terrace and Hazelton is not yet completed, being still in the hands of the contractors, a number of cars have already passed over the road. To S. A. Cunliffe, public works engineer at Smithers, probably goes the honor of being the first to make the round trip from Smithers to Terrace and return. Austin Goodenough, superintendent of the Hanson Timber and Lumber Company, has driven through to Terrace and will shortly make the return trip.

John DeKergommeaux, garage proprietor of Terrace, and party passed through Smithers on Thursday afternoon enroute to Vancouver and will probably be the first car to make that trip from Terrace.

The completion of the road is expected in the next six weeks when through traffic will become common within the limitations of the gasoline supplies available.

There is no doubt of the great boon that all places along the Skeena and Bulkley valleys will derive from the finishing of this highway. Terrace in particular should benefit enormously from the traffic that it will ensure and from the fact that that town will now have access to the outside world.

When the road from Terrace to Prince Rupert is finally completed the terminal city will also notice immediately the great benefits derived from highway communications with the rest of the country.

There is one part of the upper Skeena highway, however, that will have to have immediate attention before full benefit can be had from the newly-finished portion—and that is the road between New Hazelton and Cedarvale. Much of this road still remains as it was 30 years ago. Just a narrow winding trail with not room for two cars to pass in some places. It is a piece of road that should be taken in hand at once and improved to conform to the rest of the road. Interior people hope that the provincial government will give this part of the road immediate consideration.

Aged Private Sewer Seems To Be Orphan

City Engineer G. S. Hanes has given notice to the board of directors of the Prince Rupert General Hospital that a private sewer line from the hospital to Cow Bay has outlived its span and needs repairs, being now a nuisance.

In the course of discussion of the matter at Thursday night's meeting, the hospital board expressed some doubt as to who might be really responsible for the sewer now, particularly since many residences of that part of town were connected up with the line, none, apparently, with any permission from the hospital. Even the city's own isolation hospital is attached to the line.

It was left to the chairman of the house committee to interview Mr. Hanes with a view to definitely establishing responsibility as well as the status of the many other parties who are attached to the line.

The city of Loyang, although now surrounded by the Japanese, is still 80 to 90 per cent in Chinese hands.

STORY OF NORWAY—

Resistance Maintained Unto Death

Thrilling Address by Norwegian Newspaperwoman Features Independence Celebration Here

"My only fear is that the liberation of the occupied countries of Europe such as Norway may come too late," declared Else Margrete Roed, Norwegian woman's magazine editor in peace times and underground newspaperwoman since the occupation by the Nazis until her escape from the country, in speaking before a public meeting last night at First Presbyterian Church in connection with the observance of the anniversary of Norwegian independence. "There is a limit on how long they can continue to last out under hardship and oppression of the invading tyrants in their valiant fight from within for the maintenance of principles which are essential to making life for them as well as us worthwhile.

"These small nations," continued the speaker "have borne the direct brunt of the war and, with sacrifices and suffering which one must experience to realize, have played their part in bringing about ultimate victory by resisting the enemy while the forces from without gained strength. Let us hope that the day of liberation is not far removed and these nations will be soon accorded the share in the fruits of victory which they so richly deserve."

Miss Roed gave an interesting account at first hand of events and conditions in Norway as she saw them following the "stab in the back" invasion by the Nazis on April 9, 1940. Having lived so long in peace and culture every single true Norwegian was united in the fight against the aggressor. An eighty-year old man had expressed the true spirit of the Norwegian people when, on his arrest, had flatly told the Nazi officer that he would never be

Canadians In Italy

Most of Those in Fighting From Ontario and Maritimes

NAPLES, May 20 (CP) — British and Canadian infantry and tanks engaged the Germans as they attempted today to knock out the last remnants of the shredded Adolf Hitler Line, the Tyrrhenian Sea sector of which was breached by the Fifth Army. The Americans wiped out the last vestige of the Hitler Line in the west by taking the port of Gaeta and the vital road junction of Itri on the Appian Way. The Eighth Army shook the Hitler Line by attacking the town of Aquino and the mountain stronghold of Pontecorvo which has already been outflanked by the French. The Germans reported the loss of Campodimell near the centre of the Hitler Line. An Allied officer said the Germans were badly outmanoeuvred and that in 24 hours' fighting the enemy had been bounced off the line which he had spent months in preparing.

NAPLES, May 20—Men from Ontario and the Maritime Provinces make up the bulk of the Canadians who are now in the thick of fighting in the new Allied offensive in Italy.

The Fifth and Eighth Armies are fighting together for the first time under General Sir Harold Alexander.

The Germans are reported to have abandoned the port of Gaeta on the west coast to American troops.

The enemy is still falling back down the Liri valley as the Adolf Hitler Line cracks.

RELATION OF CHURCH-STATE

Should be Made Closer, Naval Padre Asserts in Address Before Rotary Club

Until principles such as those propounded by the church are practically applied in a more general way to the affairs of state there can not be much hope for better government and, in turn, more utopian conditions nationally and internationally, Rev. George L. Douglas, naval padre at Prince Rupert, told the Prince Rupert Rotary Club on Thursday in an address on "The Relationship of Church and State."

As matters stood today, there was a tendency on the part of the state to compromise between good and evil, a compromise which the church, by its very nature, could not countenance. The man in public life who was a member of the church and guided by principles of Christianity would naturally be influenced thereby in his statesmanship.

Mr. Dogulas referred to the early days of history when the church and state were practically one entity. Then there had been the breaking away of the state from the church in the time of Henry VIII. In time the state had come to take over the functions which had at one time been the church's sphere such as education and charitable relief.

The speaker envisioned a better day to come when the church would be a stronger guide to the state than it was today and Christianity would play a more active and practical part in government.

Mr. Douglas' address was listened to with interest and the thanks of the club were tendered by President A. S. Nickerson who was in the chair.

Speaking of Public Meetings . . .

The conduct of some public meetings at Prince Rupert leaves at least two improvements to be desired. One of the worst faults is that hardly any of them ever start on time. That is annoying and discouraging to those who observe the very desirable practice of punctuality. If meetings consistently were started on time those who now drag in late would soon learn to come on time and everybody would be happy. There is no good reason why those who come on time should be kept waiting for the benefit of the dilatory folk who always come late.

Another habit which is developing at public meetings in Prince Rupert is that of smoking. There was a time not so long ago when no one ever thought of smoking at a public meeting. A smoke-filled meeting is pleasant neither for the speakers or for the many people who do not smoke. Furthermore, smoking at public meetings is considered by many to have an aspect of danger.

The Old Men's Home . . .

The difference of opinion that has arisen between the city council and the people of Westview over the desirability or otherwise of an Old Men's Home being established in the choice residential area of the west end is causing a good deal of discussion. It is to be hoped that the aged pioneers may not be placed in the position of being shoved about from place to place.

There is not complete agreement on the view as expressed by some that presence of the old men may be offensive or detrimental to the standing of a high class residential area. No doubt, the people of Westview have other good reasons for not wanting the old men apart from the mere cold consideration that such an institution might decrease the value of their property by introducing an undesirable element. In fact we do not believe that the Old Men's Home would necessarily have any such tendency of depreciation to the neighborhood. Certainly no more than would a school, playground or military camp.

We do, however, feel that the government might well be called upon by the city to contribute to the establishment of the Old Men's Home and the maintenance of its inmates. The city council's argument that, if the governments contributed to the institution, the city would lose control of it and become obliged to accept government cases does not seem to be altogether appropriate.

If the government could be prevailed upon to establish some such institution in this part of the country which would be available to our old men it would, we believe, be a better set-up than the city essaying to make itself exclusively responsible for them—more particularly since the city admits by the fact that it is seeking the monetary assistance of local service organizations that it is not financially capable of assuming that responsibility.

STAGE SHOW FOR TROOPS

Massey-Harris "Combines" Paying Visit to Rupert—Entertainment Proves Popular

By Dorothy Garbutt

Last night at the Navy Drill Hall fourteen girls and four men gave us first class entertainment in a show that had speed and variety. This group known as the "Massey Harris Combines" consists of employees of the Massey Harris Company in Toronto. They are now in their second year on tour. Between tours they return to their head office, work at their own jobs for the time being, polish up and re-arrange their show numbers then off on another trans-Canada trip. None of them are actually professionals although their work belies this statement on their part.

They have an excellent system of doubling in brass—featured numbers then returing to the chorus to swell its ranks. This padding adds greatly to the apparent size of the show and to the versatility and good sportsmanship of the members of the troupe.

The ladies of the chorus are June Huehngarde, Wilda Cosburn, Elsie Woodend, Shirley Anderson, Shirley Alexander, Norma Lawrie and Lillian Courage who are also in solo taps numbers and Grace McCutcheon who, besides doing a delightful Spanish dance, is also responsible for the dance arrangements of the entire "Combines." Miss McCutcheon has studied ballet since a child and, when the war broke out, was in London at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art. As is usual the chorus is on and off the stage all the time and the show is more or less built around them — or they highlight the show. They have two exceptionally smart dance routines, one an Indian dance in which, believe it or not, a tribal war dance melts imperceptibly into a jam session. Their finale is a military taps tribute to the three services.

Individual artists with the show are Pat MacIntosh, stage manager for the troupe, veteran of the last war and comedian. Pat also wrote the show, creating several of his own songs in humorous vein. He is a character comedian and comes out upon the stage in ludicrous costumes the very sight of which inspires laughter. His act was strictly last-warish but, judging from the gargantuan laughter of the audience, it has worn well and like all genuine humor it does not date.

There is the remarkably agile dancing team of Meta and St. John who do a really vicious apache dance. What a beating that girl takes from her Parisian boy friend! It had the jitterbugs in the audience goggle-eyed with envy. Their second number is and adagio dance. This is full of graceful gymnastics, beautifully timed (it has to be or the girl would break her neck) and is a delight to watch.

Talent with a capital "T" might be another way of spelling Beth Watson who is a show in herself. This lovely girl sings, dances and plays both the baby sax and its parent, the grown up variety. And how she plays! I don't know boogie woogie parlance well enough to give the correct interpretation of her artistry but she certainly "gave." Hot tunes, soft melodies, patriotic fanfares, poured from the sax in effortless succession, she even did a tap dance all the while playing her sax. As a finale in crescendo she took to the drums and gave an ear-splitting eye-appealing performance that took the boys out of their seats in spontaneous applause. The gal's a combine in herself.

With the show are two outstanding singers, Betty Spry and Douglas Rideout. Betty's voice is warm and rich and she sings all the favorite concert numbers —Love Sends a Little Gift of Roses," "I'll See You Again," "The Last Time I Saw Paris," "We'll Meet Again," "My Hero," "Sweetheart, Sweetheart." Betty is a very handsome young woman but, for some reason, they played a gruesome colored spot on her which washed her face clear of all color and expression. It was unfortunate but could easily be rectified. Betty, incidentally, is cousin to the Canadian economist, Graham Spry.

The other singer is Douglas Rideout, a young Canadian who has served with the forces in this war and is now giving his time and talents to this war services work. Possessed of a rich baritone voice he includes among his songs "My Little Grey Home in the West," "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," "Old Man River," the exquisite number "I Hear Music" ending with that sincerely patriotic song "This is Worth Fighting For."

Weaving the whole show together as well as doing her own individual numbers is the dainty little mistress of ceremonies, Betty Robertson. Betty's first number is an interpretation of Gracie Fields singing "The Biggest Aspidistra in the World" while later on in the program she plays an accordian. For this number she chose Liszt's "Liebestraum" and for her encore played and sang most charmingly "In My Arms."

The show carries no orchestra but the clever little pianist who accompanies is Dolly Moncrieff. She gets no spotlight, no glamorous build-up, but without her the show just wouldn't be. And don't think the cast isn't appreciative!!

As an additional act for the time being there is AC. Alfie Laidlaw. Alfie travelled all last year with the troupe, joined the R.C.A.F., was posted to Pat Bay and as proof that the powers that be are not always hard boiled Alfie was given two weeks to join the show and travel up the coast with it. It was a joyful reunion. Alfie is a tap dancer of no mean ability and I think myself he'd fit in nicely with Fraser Lister's "Jo Boys" the R.C.A.F. concert party which tours this coast.

A very good show and once again our thanks to a group of talented troupers.

RESISTANCE MAINTAINED

satisfied until the Norwegian flag flew over Berlin.

There had never been any surrender by Norway, asserted the speaker. King and government had left their native land only because they could more effectively carry on the war from without. While the Norwegian air force and the merchant marine was carrying on the fight from without, the people at home, even though unarmed were fighting stubbornly and bitterly with a spirit that privation and starvation could not conquer.

"But you have to experience it to know how terrible it is to live in isolation in a subjugated country where the whole atmosphere is like a concentration camp, where there are no liberties, where there is continual persecution by the Gestapo, even to the extent of execution. However, the home front will never be broken by oppression and brutality."

SCORNFUL OF NAZIS

Many and subtle, Miss Roed said, were the attempts of the Nazis to win the co-operation of the Norwegian people but they were all treated alike with scorn and contempt. In their resistance against the aggressor, all the Norwegian people at home stood united. All political and social distinctions had disappeared. There was only one question asked: "Are you a good Norwegian?" In the face of this resistance, the Nazis had to large extent failed to influence the lives and ideals of the Norwegians. There was resistance and defiance in the face of most dire penalties, even death, regardless of starvation food allowances and loss of homes so that everything might be made available for the invaders.

The courage of the clergy and the spirit of the women of Norway were paid especial tribute to by Miss Roed.

"The hate of the enemy and the love of kin and country continues to make the people at home strong in their resistance," she declared.

Miss Roed's personal story of her own escape, how she obtained false papers and gave the slip to the Gestapo, made interesting telling. She described how she had made her way, much of it by foot over rough, mountainous country, to exhausted refuge in Sweden and thence from Stockholm to New York.

"But my heart is still at home in Norway," the attractive young woman frankly asserted.

Peter Lien acted as chairman of the meeting and, after Miss Roed's address, commented on how the people of this country, including the Norwegian citizens, were inclined to take their freedom too much for granted. It was evident from what the speaker said that one had but to lose liberty such as this country knew to appreciate it. There was little to complain about here.

The speaker was introduced by Dr. Jens Munthe, Norwegian vice-consul.

Mayor H. M. Daggett conveyed greetings of the city of Prince Rupert to Miss Roed as a visitor and to the people of Norwegian origin in Prince Rupert on the occasion of the independence anniversary.

There were several acceptable selections by the Varden Singers under the direction of Mr. Lien, the lady members of the choir being in attractive national costumes.

Terrace Farmers' Institute Now Branching Out

TERRACE, May 20— Business of the Terrace Farmers' Institute showing a steady increase, has necessitated more commodious premises. It was decided to dispose of the present premises on Lakelse Avenue and negotiate for a more suitable site. A committe has been named to go into this. At a meeting Wednesday under the chairmanship of J. Lips with a good gathering of members, Secretary Floyd Frank pointed out the desirability of looking ahead and branching out into other lines in addition to merely feed and fertilizers, helpful though that has been to local farmers. It would be very helpful, for instance, if the Institute were to go into the egg business and he was sure additional members would be gained if that were done.

Mother's Day Service Held

Canadian Girls In Training in Charge at First United Church

The Mother's Day service in the First United Church was taken by the Canadian Girls in Training. Miss Evelyn McNab gave the invocation and announced the hymns. The Scripture lesson was read by Misses Louise Patrick, Mildred Furness, Ethel Hemmons and Velma Ingham. The prayer was offered by Miss Frances Webber.

The offering was taken by Misses Kay Meredith and Jean McAfee.

A missionary theme was selected by the Canadian Girls In Training, the topic being "What Happened Because One Home Was Christian." This described the life and christianizing of the Soong family, that has helped to make China the great nation she is today. The reading was by Miss Deschka Penoff.

The poem and dedication to mothers was by Miss Astrid Carlson, "This Is a Home." A solo "Prayer Perfect," was beautifully sung by Miss Gladys Foster.

The choral numbers included the processional, "Praise My Soul," "The Song of Peace" (tune "Finlandia"), and the recessional, "Youth of the World Arise."

C.G.I.T. pledge — "Now We Unite to Pledge a New Allegiance"—was given.

Mrs. Clarence Sayer ably directed the large choir of girls and boys.

Mrs. Elmer Clausen is leaving tonight on a trip to Massett.

J. C. Brady, district engineer for the provincial department of public works, is leaving tonight on an official trip to the Queen Charlotte Islands.

SMITHERS

Many visitors from Hazelton and from outside points in the Bulkley Valley have been coming to Smithers to view the damage done by the recent fire. Among these have been Mr. Walker, R. Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Sargent, from Hazelton; C. H. Sawle from New Hazelton; and Billy Little from Woodcock.

H. F. Noel opened for business this morning in his new location on Main Street and will continue temporarily in that location until such time as he is able to rebuild on his old stand where his store was destroyed in the recent fire. He has sufficient stock which was saved from the fire to make a good start. Some of the stock was slightly damaged in the handling but much of it was saved.

Navy League W.A. Seeks Workroom

In line with the policy of distributing their work where it is most needed, the Women's Auxiliary to the Navy League of Canada distributed a large number of pairs of socks to merchant seamen recently, it was reported at the regular business meeting of the league, held this week.

The meeting was held in the First Presbyterian Church parlor under the chairmanship of Mrs. J. R. Elfert, president.

A report on a recent dance held by the Auxiliary indicated that the affair was highly successful.

The desirability of obtaining a suitable permanent workroom and meeting place was emphasized and efforts are being made to secure such quarters.

Work on ditty bags and other comforts is continuing without let-up.

Daughters Give Mothers Party

The East End Canadian Girls in Training group, under the leadership of Mrs. Thornton Hay, gave a delightful party with their mothers as guests on Monday evening last at the home of Mrs. J. A. Donnell.

The Misses Louise Patrick and Barbara Quandt were in charge of the entertainment which included a contest and an indoor golf tournament. A representative demonstration of the C.G.I.T. ceremony was given by the group for the edification of their mothers. Miss Betty Wright sang a solo, "Alice Blue Gown," and a quartette comprised of Misses Velma Ingham, Betty Wright, Barbara and Molly Quandt, "Mother." The piano accompaniments were by Mrs. Ingham. There was a piano duet by the Misses Joan Quandt and Velma Ingham—"Morning Prayer."

A reading by Miss Margaret Doiron, "Mothers Never Change," was acceptable. Miss Joan Croxford presented a corsage to Mrs. Fletcher Hemmons as the mother of the largest family.

The girls all sang "For She's a Jolly Good Mother," and led their mothers to the dining room where the table was beautifully arranged with Point de Venise cloth, pink and white carnations, and illuminated by white candlelight. Completing the motif was a specially decorated "Mother" cake.

Placed for each mother was a gift porcelain cup and saucer and a personal gift for the leader. Serving was in charge of Velma Ingham and Joyce McDonald and Molly Quandt.

The meetings will continue to be held at the Community Clubhouse, Hays Cove.

"HOSTAGES" CAPITOL THRILLER

A story of love, devotion and courage among those battling Adolf Hitler inside his own lines, "Hostages," coming to the Capitol Theatre here next Monday and Tuesday, tells a dramatic tale of the terror the Nazis are now experiencing in their own European fortress. It is an exciting and dramatic adaptation of the novel of the same name. Luise Rainer, returning to the screen after an absence of four years, shares stellar honors with Arturo de Cordova, Paul Lukas and William Bendix.

The story was inspired by fearless patriots in Europe who daily risk their lives to sabotage, murder and strike terror into the hearts of the Nazis. William Bendix is the leader of an underground movement. Miss Rainer is the lively daughter of Oscar Homolka, a Czech Quisling. She falls in love with Arturo de Cordova, one of the leading figures in the underground. How Miss Rainer, de Cordova and Bendix wreak vengeance for the mass murder of twenty-five of their compatriots forms the spectacular climax of the picture as an entire waterfront is blown to bits in the teeth of the terrified Nazis, the romantic couple giving the Gestapo the slip for an exciting finish.
