IS, May 5 (CP) — All organized resistance forces commanded by General Dwight P. wer ended today except for a single German the Seventh. This came about when the First eteenth German Armies surrendered uncon- y to General Devenrs' Sixth Army group. An eme headquarters an- t tonight corrected a report that the Sev- had surrendered.

A few pockets facing the Americans in France remain to be cleared out but supreme headquarters, apparently, does not consider them in the category of organized resistance.

Already negotiations are reported well under way for the capitulation of the last two major enemy stands—in Norway and the shrinking CzechoSlovakia-Austrian front—and the realization of "V-E Day."

The Swedish Foreign Office said tonight that it regards as premature all reports of German capitulation in Norway. It had been said earlier that the surrender in Norway might come today.

Vidkun Quisling demanded in a broadcast over the Oslo radio tonight that Norwegians obey his government "until it is replaced" and pleaded for "help in preventing the country from becoming a theatre of civil war or other kind of warfare."

Today German High Command communique gave a summary of surrender terms in northwest Germany, Denmark and Holland but said "the war with the Soviets goes on."

A German High Command communique announced today that German capitulation in Denmark, Holland and northwest Germany "was agreed upon by Admiral Doenitz because war against the western powers had become senseless. An earlier broadcast said that Admiral Doenitz, who succeeded Hitler, had called upon the whipped Whrmacht to fight on against Russia "to save as many Germans as possible from Bolshevization and enslavement."

CONTROL BY AMERICANS IN PACIFIC

Unofficial British Support Is Given to Demand

SAN FRANCISCO, May 5 (P)—Unofficial British support has been given to an American demand to retain control over strategic areas seized from the enemy in the Pacific. Definite sentiment is forming among American delegates for retaining control over vital bases taken from Japan.

HEADWAY AT CONFERENCE

Molotov Is Seeking Further Instructions From Stalin

SAN FRANCISCO, May 5 (P)—The job of forging a peace structure is moving ahead at San Francisco as the Big Four United Nations complete amendments to the Dumbarton Oaks formula.

Foreign Commissar Molotov is believed to be seeking instructions from Premier Stalin on two key changes in the plan. Except for these two points, the United States, Russia, Britain, and China are in full accord on about twenty amendments to the Dumbarton security formula.

The exceptions entail provisions for reviewing international agreement and fitting regional defence treaties into the proposed world security council.

War News Highlights

Battle of Burma Over

Allied headquarters in Burma has announced the decisive defeat of the Japanese armies in Burma. The announcement came through as British and Indian troops completed a bloodless occupation of the great port of Rangoon. The Burma defeat cost the enemy 97,000 dead alone and untold numbers of wounded and prisoners. The end of the Burma campaign leaves strong British forces poised on the border of French Indo-China.

Okinawa Stalemated

The bitter Okinawa campaign still is stalemated, with both the Japanese and Americans throwing their full weight into attempts to make a decisive breach on either side. The Japanese have mounted a full scale counter-offensive by land, sea, and air, but have been repulsed.

Jap Homeland Bombed Again

Superfortresses have invaded Japanese homeland skies for another blow at southern Japanese air bases. Two airfields on northern Kyushu were under bombardment, and an official communique announced results were "good to excellent."

FIGHTING JOB DONE, RELIEVED CANADIANS TALK OF WHAT NEXT; MANY WILL BE DEMOBILIZED

WITH THE CANADIAN FIRST ARMY, May 5 (CP)—The first reaction of the weary Canadian First Army troops when they heard of the Nazi surrender in their sector was utter relief after months of costly fighting.

There was no boisterous jubilation. Talk in bivouacs was of home, demobilization, and the unfinished war in the Pacific.

To help in policing defeated Germany, Canada will likely have a force of 25,000 men. The Canadians are expected to control the area through which they fought — along the North Sea coast from Holland to the Weser River, with possible extension to the Elbe. Possibly the area may include the great ports of Bremen and Hamburg which were captured by the British Second Army.

The occupation force will be composed of men with the shortest overseas service.

Ross Munro, Canadian Press war correspondent with the First Canadian Army, wrote that the war was over on the Canadian front at 11 o'clock last night, Pacific Standard Time, when the "cease fire" order became effective.

Between 80,000 and 100,000 Germans in Holland fortress and possibly 30,000 in the northwest Germany pocket have surrendered to the Canadians.

It is believed, went on Munro, that the Canadian Army has fought its last battles in Europe as it is not foreseen here that any Canadian forces will be employed in the elimination of various remaining German pockets or in operations against the enemy in Norway if these become necessary.

The Canadian Army therefore, is already switching its attention from war problems to those relating to returning its soldiers to Canada and demobilization.

There may be an immediate increase in the number of those going home on rotation leave which would be preliminary to a mass exodus of Canadians from Europe for demobilization in Canada.

Meanwhile on the front lines Canadians and Germans hold their respective positions for the moment.

It may be 36 hours before First Canadian Corps troops occupy west Holland and take over a huge bag of prisoners.

Railway Employees Over Top In Loan

Local Canadian National Railway employees are over the top in the Eighth Victory Loan campaign, the quota of $115,100 having been reached with the subscriptions of 82.6 percent of personnel.

Has New Fuehrer Power Over Remaining Forces?

HITLER'S BODY THOUGHT HIDDEN

MOSCOW, May 5 (P)— There still has been no trace discovered of Hitler's body. The Free German radio station in Moscow has quoted an aide of Hitler's as saying that the Fuehrer's body has been hidden. The aide, Dr. Hans Fritsche, had been quoted earlier by Moscow as saying that Hitler and Goebbels had committed suicide.

Rejoice In Liberation

Bells of Freedom Ring Again In Holland and Denmark

PARIS, May 5 (CP)—Supreme Allied Headquarters having announced the end of hostilities in northwestern Germany, Holland, Denmark, the Frisian Islands, and Heligoland with fighting ending at 8 o'clock this morning European Time (11 p.m. Friday Eastern daylight time), the bells of freedom are ringing in the liberated countries of Holland and Denmark. From jubilant Denmark, free of the Nazi yoke after five years, comes announcement that a new government has already been formed. King Christian of Denmark and the new Danish premier, Orla Buhl, spoke to their liberated nation at noon today.

AN AIRCRAFT AIRFIELD IN HOLLAND — One of the last "bomber" missions in the European war proved to be one of the most unusual. Hundreds of Canadian airmen flew into Holland as part of the Allied aerial grocery service with airborne deliveries of food for starving Netherlanders.

PIONEER WOMAN FLIER

LONDON (P) — Mrs. Dolores Charlotte Frederick Harding, novelist and playwright of London and Aylesbury, Buckinghamshire, has died. She was one of the first women to fly.

Allies May Soon Arrive in Norway—New Attempt to Divide Allies

LONDON, May 5 (P)—The Allies and the entire world are waiting to hear what the Nazis' second Fuehrer, Admiral Doenitz, may offer next. The question is whether the substitute for Adolf Hitler has authority extending to Norway and the fanatic divisions still battling in Austria and CzechoSlovakia. A German language broadcast today said Admiral Doenitz is calling to these last defenders to save as many Germans as possible from Bolshevism—the familiar Nazi propaganda attempt to divide the Allies.

Meanwhile in Norway, the German army commander has moved to protect the Quisling version of the Elite Guards from retaliation in event of surrender. A Swedish - Norwegian news agency dispatch says the Nazis apparently believe that Allied troops may soon arrive in Norway.

Meantime On Fighting Front

The largest R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. force ever hurled against enemy shipping knocked out at least 74 German vessels fleeing towards Norway yesterday. At least 13 ships were sunk and 61 damaged in spite of bad weather and heavy flak defences put up by the ships.

On the still active Soviet front, Russian troops are smashing forward through the Czech mountains after liberating all of Slovakia. The Germans assert that a new Red Army offensive is under way to link with American troops driving on Linz.

Austria has been bisected by American Seventh Army troops who captured Berchtesgaden in the Bavarian Alps, the Austrian bastion of Salzburg, and the key communications city of Innsbruck. Fifth Army veterans of the Italian campaign have been joined by Seventh Army columns after a sweep through the Brenner Pass 10 miles into Italy.

EDITORIAL

NO LET-DOWN IN VICTORY LOAN CAMPAIGN JUSTIFIED

It would be unfortunate indeed if an announcement of Germany's unconditional surrender attended by holiday and festivities should throw the Victory Loan campaign out of gear with possible let-down in public interest and easing up of the sales organization.

There should be no erroneous idea gain ground that the urgency of the Eighth Victory Loan is any less or that the campaign may be slowed down.

On the contrary every dollar of the Eighth Victory Loan is as urgently needed as ever.

Huge fighting forces must still be sustained, transferred to Asia, repatriated, rehabilitated, hospitalized and pensioned.

Munitions and supplies already in process must be paid for and more provided for the war against Japan.

For humanity's sake and our own protection we must do our share in curbing plague and famine conditions throughout the world.

Victory Bonds prevent inflation, provide employment, future security and post-war purchasing power.

In short, the situation, Victory in Europe notwithstanding, is such that there must be no loss of focus on the importance of the Eighth Victory Loan.

The Meeting Proves Useful . . .

Community leaders of Central British Columbia all the way between Prince Rupert and the Alberta boundary, meeting in Vanderhoof under the aegis of the Associated Boards of Trade of the area, have found, our dispatches indicate, that the personal contacts which they have made have aided them in mutually and effectively considering their common problems.

The resolutions which have been passed by the Associated Boards of Trade will carry considerably more weight by virtue of pressing the views and representations of so many districts and communities in joint agreement thereon. The requests of Prince Rupert, for instance, will have the great chance of being implemented by the authorities to whom they are directed because they have the backing of the larger and more representative organization. The same applies to the representations of other communities which have won the support of the Associated Boards meeting.

From what we have so far heard from Vanderhoof, it has, apparently, been appreciated that it is mighty important to have an energetic district organization of this kind functioning actively. Those who attended at Vanderhoof will undoubtedly be resolved that under no circumstances should the Associated Boards body be allowed again to lapse as it did during the past six years.

Good News Re Housing . . .

It might have seemed a little indirect to hear by way of an official at the Associated Boards of Trade convention at Vanderhoof that Prince Rupert is to receive the benefits of the National Housing Act in the way of financial assistance for home building. The news is none the less welcome and we shall be awaiting with interest to hear more details.

As we have several times said before it was an unreasonable situation in Prince Rupert where homes are so badly needed and many people are ready, willing and able to assume the responsibilities of accepting the financing arrangements offered by the government yet, because of some technicality, could not have the benefits and facilities of the National Housing Act made available to them. Now, it seems, this is to be rectified.

Returning like old friends, the feathered messengers of spring are back. The first robins are bobbing and strutting on the lawns and scolding from the lower branches. The blue jays are emitting their harsh notes and flashing their electric color. The sparrows are chirping and twittering. The trees around our house these early mornings are filled with bubbling song and constant sound.

And so the miracle of their annual return goes on. With each arrival the garden, after the long winter, settles more and more back into its natural ways again. Indeed, if you listen closely, you may hear all its occupants, flowers, birds, humans, and other creatures, give out a sigh of relieved content, easily mistaken for a spring breeze.

CRUSADING YOUNG MEN

Junior Chamber of Commerce National Executive is Rotary Speaker

A crusading training ground for the young men in community and public service activity, the Junior Chamber of Commerce organization was the subject of an interesting explanation by G. M. Ferguson of Vancouver, comptroller of the B. C. Packers and national vice-president of the Canadian Junior Chamber of Commerce, in speaking before the Prince Rupert Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon.

Aims and objects of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, now organized in 72 cities with total membership of 10,500, were to promote better community spirit and make better citizens, Mr. Ferguson said. Inculcation of proper responsibilities of citizenship was another aim.

The speaker referred to some of the war campaigns which had been instituted by Junior Chambers—blood donor clinics, paint-up and clean-up, promotion of public health, naval ditty bags, magazines for the forces.

Post-war rehabilitation was also receiving the attention of Junior Chambers said the speaker who referred to the desirability of not only helping the returned men to find jobs but to give them a real welcome and help them to become reacquainted.

The necessity of supplying leadership for the youth of the country was another matter of importance.

Still another matter to receive attention at the hands of the Junior Chambers was that of getting out the franchise. If the people of a country were not interested enough to get out and vote, they had no reason to expect a high type of government.

Concluding, the speaker made an appeal for national unity and the promotion of better understanding to remove sectional prejudices and differences in Canada. "When I hear people in other parts of Canada condemn the French-Canadians, I cannot but think they are also condemning the brave French-Canadians fighting overseas," he said.

An important aim of Junior Chambers was to build a greater and stronger group and assist in bringing about a unity in Canada which is so badly needed," concluded Mr. Ferguson.

President A. S. Nickerson was in the chair at the luncheon and guests included A. Russell, J. King and D. Brindle of Vancouver.

The club went on record as favoring the candidature of W. Harold Hicks for district governorship.

Martin Stewart reported for a committee which is going into the possibility of installing a children's ward at the Prince Rupert General Hospital. It was recommended that purchase of equipment be proceeded with preparatory to finding quarters for such a ward in the military hospital when it is taken over by the Prince Rupert General Hospital.

But a choking lump came in his throat at the thought of breaking old ties—the folks at home, his dog, Spot . . . yes, . . . and Sue. What if he didn't come back to them again?

Funny how things kept going through his mind that day when the shells were screaming down . . . Mom in the kitchen with her hands covered with flour, Spot chasing rabbits in the meadow, and Sue . . . that night . . . in the moonlight.

Of course he'd never admit it, but right from the start a quiet voice kept calling him—"There's a job for you to do; you can't shirk it." So he's out there doing his bit for his country, his home and his loved ones.

BLACK MARKETS ARE CONDEMNED

Parallel Judicial Remarks in Pouce Coupe and Sydney, Australia

From Pouce Coupe in the Peace River Block to Sydney, Australia, is about 7,000 miles. Pouce Coupe has a peace-time population of about 600 while Sydney is a metropolis of 1,300,000. By a coincidence judges at these widely separated points had almost identical comments to make on black market operations or people who violate wartime regualations.

In the Australian city Mr. Justice Marell, in confirming, on appeal, some stiff fines on violations of price ceilings, made this comment: "Penalties have to be severe for people who traffic in this way and make profits. The only way to check such a practice is to make it unprofitable for them."

In Pouce Coupe, Judge Eric D. Woodburn of the County Court, fined a trucking firm $1,000 and $75.00 costs for constructing two buildings without a permit. Judge Woodburn's comment was this: "Some of this Dominion's lower courts do not realize the seriousness of the situation and treat these offences absurdly lightly. As a consequence black markets flourish, rentals and ration regulations are beaten and ignored and the laws flouted."

GALLERY HOLDS ART CLASSES FOR GROWN-UPS

By JEAN THOMPSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, May 5 (CP) — Any Thursday evening you can see 50 grown-ups bent over drawing boards with the concentration of eight-year-olds at the Children's Art Centre here.

Sponsored by the Art Gallery of Toronto and organized primarily for enjoyment these evening classes are designated to stimulate appreciation of all forms of art. The evenings go far too quickly for the business girls, housewives, workmen, executives and professional people taking the course.

"The 10-week series provides a variety of means for artistic expression, such as drawing, clay modelling, oil painting and woodwork," said Miss Jean Lennox, one of the five instructors. "We do not aim at turning out artists in 10 easy lessons, but rather to enlarge experiences and lead people to use their eyes more widely and interestedly."

Night sketching outdoors with dark paper and light chalks took the general drawing group down some of the old streets of the city past a church dark against the sky and a factory lit with flourescent light. From their experiences the group undertook a co-operative mural in dye colors depicting a street at night. Another group developed a mural of women's activities, based on sketches made in figure drawing.

In Three Groups

Now in its second year the recreational course is divided into three groups, general drawing, oil painting and one dealing with general art activities in three dimensional materials such as woodworking and clay modelling. A survey of this year's group shows that the great majority have no previous art experience.

"The most interesting thing to me about the course," said a research worker in biological chemistry, "is that I now go ahead and draw what I would never have had enough courage to start to do. It has removed self-consciousness from my efforts."

Informality and self-expression make for an easy atmosphere in the classes. The instructors, members of the staff of the Art Gallery, suggest projects and give guidance, but stress particularly the participation of the individual in every activity.

When the course finishes, its members plan a display of their drawings and a discussion of progress and future undertakings. No great Canadian artist may ever emerge from the groups, but all agree that the winter's course has been entertaining and has widened their range of interests.

Fish Packer Wrecked and Skipper Missing — Six Skeena Canneries to Operate — Trolling Commences —Halibut Fleet Delayed

The Canadian Fishing Co.'s fish packer Point Lambert is lying wrecked on a pinnacle known as China Hat on Truro Island north of Port Simpson and her skipper, Arthur Bolton, is missing. The Point Lambert had been missing since April 24 when she left Butler's Cove, Stephens Island, outside of Prince Rupert, bound either for Carlisle Cannery at the mouth of the Skeena River or Prince Rupert.

A few days ago, after the Point Lambert had failed to show up, a search started. Late yesterday searchers found the wreck but there was no sign of Bolton or the rowboat which was aboard the Point Lambert. Now the searchers are continuing to look for Bolton. It is thought he might have taken to the rowboat and be marooned somewhere. The belief is that the Point Lambert might have developed engine trouble and been carried north to Truro Island by a southeast wind. As far as is known only Bolton was aboard. He was an experienced native boatman and had been in the service of the company for some twenty years.

The process of centralization of canning operations which has been steadily developing on the British Columbia coast will result this year in only six canneries operating in the Skeena River area. Years ago at one time there were as many as 20. The growing tendency of late, however, has been to pack the fish in from further afield and process it in larger and more modernly equipped plants. The operating canneries on the Skeena this year will be Carlisle, North Pacific, Sunnyside, Cassiar, Inverness and Port Edward. In the Naas River area only one cannery, Wales Island, will be operating. Down the coast from Prince Rupert will be Butedale, Klemtu, Namu, Tallheo, Goose Bay and Rivers Inlet.

Early May sees the salmon trolling fishery out of Prince Rupert getting well under way for the season. There are a dozen camps out—Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co., three; B. C. Packers, one; Northern Fishermen's Co-operative, four, and Canadian Fishing Co., four. The camps are at Dundas, North Island, Squadaree, Warke Canal and Bernard Cove. Packing services are getting started. The most of the big trolling boats were out and the smaller ones are moving to the grounds. The actual fishing has been getting under way and the largest load to be brought in he first week of May was 8,000 pounds from North Island for the Co-operative. Opening prices for fish on the grounds were 24c, 20c and 17c.

Unfavorable weather following the opening of the fishing season at the first of the week has defeated the aim of the Prince Rupert halibut fleet to stagger its departures with a view to spreading out the landings and permit of more orderly marketing. The first group of boats—N to Z—was still tied up outside on account of weather when the second group—A to M—started moving out four days after the opening of the season. First halibut to be landed at Prince Rupert this season was 4,000 pounds from the native boat Benny T. yesterday. Today the first boat of the regualar fleet, the May West, came in with 20,000 pounds. The Co-op bought the catch for 18¼c and 16½c.

LOVE TALE OF LISBON

The Portuguese capital of Lisbon, transformed into a cauldron of romance and intrigue by a world at war, where spies and counter-spies, Nazis and anti-Nazis, soldiers of fortune and cringing refugees from the abattoir that was occupied Europe, rub elbows, is the stage for "The Conspirators," an absorbing mystery - romance and the pictoral journey into its seething environs is fraught with dramatic impact and emotional stimulation. The picture shows at the Capitol Theatre here next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Besides Hedy Lamarr and Paul Henreid, as the lovers beset by the fortunes of war, "The Conspirators" also boasts the presence of Sydney Greenstreet, Victor Francen and Peter Lorre, those exponents of evil and crime.

Adapted from the widely read Frederic Prokosch novel of the same name, the film travels the identical highway leading to romance, adventure and sudden death as set down in the book.

In the Renaissance whole dresses often were sewn with jewels.

HOUSTON CHANGES

John Goold Retires From Business—Harold Silverthorne Sells Out

There have recently been some changes in the ownership of business houses in Houston.

John Goold, who is the pioneer merchant of that place, having established himself there over thirty years ago, has now disposed of his general store business to Jan Koning who has been in business in a village north of Edmonton, but has now arrived in Houston to make his home there. Mr. Goold was in Prince Rupert in the very early days and in Kitselas for a couple of years. Following the railway construction he finally settled in Houston. He has been a successful and very popular business man and will be missed in the business circles of the interior.

Mr. and Mrs. Goold intend taking an extended trip to Ontario and the Maritime Provinces, but will return to Houston and continue to make their home there.

Harold Silverthorne disposed of his garage property to Helge Byman of Perow who will carry on the business there in the future.
