Dark Monday For Britain

Not Lightened By New and Heavy Snowfall—Country Faces Food Disaster

DEBATED TONIGHT

LONDON —During a critical debate in Parliament today, forced by the Opposition after the government would have postponed it until tomorrow, Prime Minister Clement Attlee told Commons that he could not forecast how long Britain's coal and power crisis would last. Attlee did not minimize the gravity of the situation. "If we are to maintain essential services, there must be drastic restrictions of consumption of electricity by the general public," he declared.

Mr. Attlee was challenged by former Prime Minister Winston Churchill, Conservative leader, and Anthony Eden. Churchill, criticizing the lack of warning given Parliament before steps were taken to cut all the electricity, asked Attlee why the decision had been reached so late. He joined the prime minister in asking for public co-operation.

There were cries of "Resign" as Emmanuel Shinwell, fuel minister, spoke, saying that, if the people would co-operate for the next four or five days, the country would get through.

LONDON—Even the whiteness of a new and heavy snowfall during the night did not alleviate the darkness of this "Black Monday" in Britain as hundreds of industries went silent owing to lack of fuel and power and domestic users of fuel and power had to go on an austere limitation, being put on their honor to turn off power five hours a day.

Londoners awoke to a fresh fall of wet snow from 5 to 8 inches, making streets a sea of slush. In Leicester there are drifts of twelve feet. The snowfall was general, further impeding railway and highway traffic.

Nothing short of a miraculous and immediate amelioration of the weather can now prevent a national disaster.

ASSESSMENTS ARE REDUCED

Redress Given in Seven Cases at Court of Revision

Reductions in assessments based on re-appraisals of property by George Lafleche and City Assessor H. D. Thain were granted in seven cases before the civic court of appeal this morning, while in two cases the original appraisals were upheld.

In all cases heard this morning, W. O. Fulton acted as counsel for the appellants. Two cases—those of Angus MacDonald and Robert Gordon—were deferred, Gordon's until this afternoon's session.

A reduction of from $9,300 to $8,400 assessment against property on Third Avenue owned by D. C. McRae was approved by the court. Counsel for the appellant disputed the decision.

Property of Jack Mussallem, Fourth Avenue West, from $6,000 to $5,500.

W. H. W. Murray, Fifth Avenue East, reduced from $2,880 to $2,210.

Max Heilbroner, Third Avenue, $29,550 to $24,000.

A. D. Ritchie, First Avenue, land reduced from $735 to $585.

Judge W. E. Fisher, Summit Avenue, land reduced from $550 to $410, no reduction in assessment of $1,800 on improvements.

Assessments of $2,500 against land and $5,620 against improvements owned by Mr. and Mrs. Nick Pawlucki were upheld by the court.

SHEFFIELD, Eng. — Three leading engineering firms have been allocated valuable German plant and machine tools from stocks acquired by the government as reparations.

First Train Arrives Here This Morning

First passenger train to reach Prince Rupert in 12 days came to a halt at the C.N.R. depot at 9:45 this morning bearing travellers, mail, express and a carload of meat as snow-removal crews succeeded at the week-end in fighting their way through snowdrifts and slides that have blocked the rails since January 29.

Superintendent C. A. Berner said this morning that "things are back to normal" and that tonight's train, due to leave for the east at 8 o'clock, will depart on time.

A crowd of about 40 railwaymen and other citizens were on hand to greet the nine-car train as it cruised up to the station. Many were greeting friends stranded in Terrace since a week ago Thursday when snowdrifts first blocked the track along the north bank of the Skeena River.

"It's a great day for Prince Rupert," cracked one old timer who had witnessed the arrival of the first train here in 1914. "It reminds me of the day we greeted the 'Golden Spike' express more than 30 years ago."

To mail-starved citizens the train's arrival had great importance and the downtown post office was the centre of much activity as busy mail clerks rushed to sort out the stacks of accumulated mail.

To the dozen passengers who were stranded at Terrace, some of them for the duration of the tie-up, the train's arrival here was a relief, even thoubh they had been living at the railway's expense at the interior town.

Butchers welcomed a refrigerator car of fresh meat which was the first to arrive in the city in two weeks. Their stocks, although bolstered by small meat shipments from Vancouver by boat, were extremely low.

The rails were finally cleared early Sunday when a rotary snowplow cleared the tracks at Kwinitsa of two slides that had come down after it left Prince Rupert more than two weeks ago.

The first trains to leave Prince Rupert were a passenger train that left at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon and two freight trains loaded with 60 cars of frozen Alaska fish which have been accumulating here for the last two weeks.

Railway workmen today were returning to the rails a snowplow that went into the ditch at Phelan, just west of Tyee, Saturday night when it struck ice-crusted rails on its way westward.

New British Plan for Moving 100,000 More Jews Into Palestine Is Doomed

LONDON —Britain's new plan for Palestine, reportedly the immigration of 100,000 Jews, was doomed to rejection today by Jewish and Arab spokesmen.

Meanwhile, Palestine authorities have not yet fixed the date for execution of Dov Gruner, Jewish terrorist, who is under death sentence for a police station attack.

Signing of Peace Treaty Leads to Demonstrations In Rome and Other Cities

ROME (CP) — Brigadier R. W. M. De Wenton, aged 39, commander of the British Thirteenth Infantry Brigade at Pola, was shot and killed there today by a woman, it was officially announced. Pola lies at the southernmost tip of the Austrian peninsula and is in the Allied occupation zone of Venezia Guilia. It becomes part of YugoSlavia with the signing today of the Italian peace treaty.

This was just one of many demonstrations throughout Italy at the signing of the peace treaty. In Rome there were several riots. An American flag was torn to shreds.

The mass evacuation of 28,000 of 33,000 Italians in Pola was under way as the shooting of De Wenton took place. As police and troops stood with machine guns and rifles before the American and British embassies, crowds of Italians, angered by the peace treaty awarding Pola to YugoSlavia, demonstrated before the YugoSlav legation and demanded that its flag be pulled down. A shot was fired from the legation by a guard but no one was hit. The mob entered and ran up an Italian flag on a balcony. Later the police demanded surrender of arms and that the flag be pulled down but the request was refused.

Masquerade Is Death Dance

Terrible Holocaust in British Occupied Portion of Death

BERLIN —A gay masquerade ball became a dance of death here Saturday night. It was being held in the British-occupied zone of Berlin. Among eighty-one men and women estimated burned or trampled to death in the holocaust were at least four British soldiers. The scene was the well known Karlsust dance hall.

Starting, it is believed, from an overheated stove or a short-circuit, the flash fire appeared first in the wooden ceiling and soon the place was engulfed in a seething mass of flames. A strong icy wind helped to speed the spread and intensity of the conflagration. The British fire control officer, Frank Waters, blamed an overheated stove. A German civilian, familiar with the structure, blamed a short-circuit.

A mass of bodies was found piled before the main entrance. Others of the masked merry makers lost their lives in trying to get their outer clothing to take with them.

The nature of the tragedy was much the same as the Coconut Grove fire in Boston four winters ago when nearly five hundred persons perished.

Survivors told of women being trampled to death and of others being stripped naked as they fought vainly to reach the main exit.

In addition to the British soldiers known to be among the dead, there were others among severely burned persons being treated in hospitals.

CRISIS IN BRITAIN

ALREADY in an industrial crisis, there is no doubt that the United Kingdom is heading rapidly for political showdown. Weather or not, when she has to close down her industries, discontinue her exports upon which she depends for food and economic balance, the situation becomes serious. When people get cold and hungry, and there is no longer the war and immediate physical salvation as incentive, they become impatient—even long-suffering Britons.

It is not unduly critical or even in an unfriendly spirit to observe that the Labor government is running into serious difficulties. Nor is it because of any spirit of inimicability to suggest that the force of circumstances of a hard winter—which admittedly, of course, accentuates the situation—is the sole cause of the rapidly deteriorating economic and political position. Members of the goverment themselves are frankly admitting the deterioration.

The experience of some countries in the past, on arriving at a situation of economic and political crisis such as the United Kingdom finds itself in today, has been to go to one extreme or another in political administration — fascism or communism. However, there is little likelihood of steady-going Britons, no matter how hard hit they may be, doing that.

Unless conditions improve unexpectedly and rapidly, the present Labor government will, it appears almost certain, be overthrown on some issue or other—either domestic or international. The probably is that solution and relief will then be found again, as it has been in the past, in some form of national administration with all reasonable elements combining in the face of emergency.

Military Service

UNIVERSAL compulsory military service under any scheme of immigration is advocated as the key to rapid assimilation of newcomers seeking to make Canada their home, in an autobiography by the late Maj.-Gen. William A. Griesbach, noted soldier and legislator of Edmonton. It was he, who a few days after outbreak of war in 1939 urged immediate conscription in Canada and the despatch of an expeditionary force as soon as it could be trained and properly equipped.

The book, "I Remember," (Ryerson Press), is a graphic, witty narrative by a Westerner who lived through the frontier skirmishes of the North-West and served with distinction through three wars.

Variously, mayor of Edmonton, member of the House of Commons, the Senate and commander of the 1st Canadian Brigade in the First World War, General Griesbach was recalled from retirement in 1940 to become inspector-general of active force units in Western Canada, a post he held until ill health forced him out in 1943. The reminiscences he embarked upon in his book were cut short by death in January, 1945, before he had set down recollections of an eventual career during the last two wars.

Canada's best immigrants, he says, are Norwegians, Dutch and Danes, who come from small countries, learn English easily and are fully prepared for constitutional, democratic government. The German probably has it in him to be the best settler of all, but it is not until the third generation that he acquires loyalty and can be fully trusted.

"It begins to appear as though we shall have difficulty in getting any substantial British immigration in the future," he writes. "This, of course, is the ideal class. But I say, in handling immigration of any kind, universal compulsory military service is the key to a rapid assimilation of newcomers."

The expeditions undertaken by the mounted police is 1885 against Louis Riel and his rebel followers, he says, were largely based on bluff but bolstered by courage, physical strength and determination.

"Had the mounted police been, instead of 500 strong, more like 1,500, the rebellion might never have got under way at all," he wrote.

Although a lawyer by profession, "Bill" Griesbach was primarily a soldier, and most of his humor-laden anecdotes deal with men in the scarlet of the R.C.M.P. or the khaki of the armed forces.

Educational Balance

THE BALANCE of educational activity in the academic stages — High School and University — is a subject of popular discussion. The difficulty is that few students strike the true balance. Fetish is usually made of one phase or another—study, social, cultural activities or athletics.

The University should be a place to develop social and cultural activities as well as the primary academic ones. It is a mistake, of course, to make social life the main school aim. Nor is exam passing enough either.

Today as always, all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. The old idea was that pretty well everything we did at school and college was study. The new idea seems to be tending to the extreme in the other direction—sports and social activity are much emphasized. The thing is to strike the happy medium and, by education, become really rounded out.

RELIGIOUS FREEDOM?

Editor, Daily News—

Not long ago we saw advertising space being sold in a public place. A party bargained for a certain space. Two minutes later the proprietor approached the buyer asking: "Will this be used for religious purposes?" The reply was: "Scripture quotations might at times be displayed there." The proprietor then begged off the deal, claiming that the other advertisers might object.

On another occasion we were informed by an educator at a public meeting that in public school any religion might be freely discussed in class except Christian religion, discussion of which is forbidden.

Quite recently an educator known throughout British Columbia informed us that they didn't think anybody believed the Bible nowadays.

Now, sir, we would like to know what is meant by "religious freedom in Canada." As far as Christianity is concerned it is certainly not freedom OF religion. We suggest it may mean freedom FROM religion.

This is further borne out by the report we read in the Vancouver Sun of February 5 that a Reverend J. Burton Thomas, addressing a convention in Vancouver, said: "We go on bleating about freedom and democracy but our democracy has very little intelligence and almost no plan. To save itself from disaster the world needs a new policy that will conscript and compel every man to do his duty and to accept truth without fear or prejudice." (Desirable as it might be, the words "conscript" and "compel" indicate dictatorship, not religious freedom.)

Jesus said: "The time cometh when the true worshipper shall worship God in spirit and in truth for the Father seeketh such to worship Him." And again: "He that come after Me let him DENY HIMSELF and take up his cross and follow Me."

Again the "concerted drive by the Ministerial Association" re the Sunday concert evidently overlooks the instruction: "Who art thou the judgest another man's servant, to his own Master he standeth or falleth." They are not conceding much religious freedom to the man who believes "the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God."

"THE CARPENTER."

FINEST SALMON

WHAT PERSON IS ESTEEMED?

Asking his morning congregation as to whom of all persons topped the list for their respect and esteem, Rev. A. F. MacSween, at morning service in First Presbyterian Church, asked if it had not been one, who, depending upon divine sustenance, devoted himself to the unselfish service of others rather than whose main consideration might be dollars, and cents, tons, quarts, academic attainments or social values or the disillusioned person who, having found his own road of life had come to a dead end, cynically concluded that all roads led to a similar end. Mr. MacSween preached from John 7:37: "If any man thirst, let him come unto me, and drink," suggesting the need for spiritual guidance and solace was as great in these times as any but, possibly, too little realized. The pastor's subject was "The Great Invitation."

Memorial Service Held at Kincolith

KINCOLITH—A memorial service was held here for the late Mrs. Harry Moore, who passed away recently in Prince Rupert. Rev. G. S. Johnston, Anglican Church missionary, officiated and speakers were D. Watts, Herbert Doolan and Samuel Lincoln. The Kincolith Concert Band played the marches "Funebre," "Dolores" and "Blessed are the Dead." The church choir sang the anthem "What Are These?" Hymns were "Abide With Me," "Shall We Gather at the River?" "Nearer My God to Thee," "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," "Rock of Ages" and "Jesus, Saviour, Pilot Me." The organizations taking part in the service were Women's Auxiliary, Church Army Sisters, Senior Society, Royal Purple, Sons of Kincolith and Ladies' Aid. Others taking part were R. Watts and J. C. Benson. Relatives present included Mrs. Agnes L. Benson, sister of deceased, Edward G. Nelson, Chester D. Benson, Mrs. Essie Doolan, Mrs. Sarah Moore and Mrs. Rosie Stevens.

LIFE in this Prince Rupert

by BIDDEE JINKS

"Blimey—don't the wind blow cold!" That has been the first greeting and last remark exchanged between old and young alike for the past few weeks. It hasn't been as tuneful, perhaps, as George Formby makes it (if you find him tuneful), and it hasn't always been sung for it is as hard to sing while thawing out fingers and pipes as it is to whistle after swallowing a couple of dry crackers.

Whistling too has been reduced to a minimum although facial expressions might have warranted such expectation. More than once mine has been drawn into such knotty pucker—but only as I found parts of my anatomy particularly tender after an unpremeditated encounter with an icy street.

In the midst of such difficulties, it is surprising how many dormant, resourceful qualities come to the fore, of which we were totally unaware.

One man in town arose one beautiful but cold morning to find his taps no longer ran water. It was quite evident that the line was frozen and to reach that frozen portion meant a hole in the wall and various other disagreeable forms of work. By gently tapping along that wall, aided by the power of deduction, the exact position of the pipe was ascertained.

Meanwhile, the teakettle, which luckily had not frozen up, had come to a boil, the contents of which were hastily transferred from said kettle to one, a flat black object commonly known as a hot-water bottle. This was placed quickly against the spot marked "X" on the wall and held there by another ingenious arrangement. Results? Why, bless that bottle! After two or three replenishings, water gushed forth as in days of yore.

All the same, this cold snap has been hard on people, some more than others. The plumbers of the city felt the sting as much as anyone. Besides being heckled by phone calls and being rushed off their feet by irate customers, one or two were also unfortunate enough to rouse the fury of their employer.

One lady in the business section of the city found that Jack Frost was not above attacking her pipes also. A call to a reliable plumber brought the assurance that a man would be sent immediately to the scent. In a very few minutes, a grateful lady was showing a workman the solid water system which he viewed with the air of having seen others like them within recent times. Forty minutes later everything was back to normal and the plumber gathered his tools and left. Which was lovely—until the next day when the mail-box delivered up a bill amounting to the tidy figure of $5.70.

As perfectly formed as were those figures, and neat, there was that about them that made this lady annoyed. And each ensuing glance added to that annoyance. Finally, reaching full fury, the receiver came off its hook and a call was made in which "excessive charge" was in the first sentence.

When the receiver went back to its cradle satisfaction reigned at both ends of the line. The employer was glad the call had come in for a brief check-up showed a time-slip that said "three hours" instead of "forty minutes"; and the lady was relieved in a way that figured very definitely into a matter of dollars-and-cents.

And so we are forced to consider once more the old adage that says "It's an ill wind—" Many of us have received bills that floored us but, putting it all down to high wages and inflation, etc., we paid them no matter how hard it pinched. Perhaps it would do nobody harm to make certain gentle inquiries. Well! No harm to us, anyway.

TOUGH WINTER ALONG COAST

Veteran Missionary, Rev. Peter Kelly, Had Never Seen More Severe Weather Along Coast

Rev. Peter Kelly, missionary-skipper of the United Church missionary boat Thomas Crosby, has navigated the waters of the northern British Columbia coast in season and out all his life but "this is the toughest winter I have ever seen," he told a Daily News reporter in describing consistent heavy storms, high seas, strong winds and blinding snowstorms. However, the devout missionary and his staunch craft have carried on their ministrations faithfully and it is few calls that have been missed despite the severity of the weather which has tested navigating ingenuity of the skipper and seaworthiness of his staunch craft.

One call, however, it has been impossible to make—that being upon George Corbett, lonely trapper in Khutze Inlet, a short distance below Butedale, where there is a six-inch thickness of ice, typical of the inlets on that part of the coast as a result of the severe frosts. It is two months since the Thomas Crosby has been able to get into Khutze Inlet. Spring winds, however, Mr. Kelly expects, will soon be breaking up the ice. It is many years since these inlets have been so thickly frozen.

Mr. Kelly, who came north to attend sessions of the United Church Presbytery here last week, visited Port Simpson yesterday and returned to the city today. He will leave Wednesday for his base at Ocean Falls, making missionary calls enroute at such points as Hartley Bay.

Savoys Win as Rainmakers Quit—Co-op Beats Port Edward

Saturday night's main event in the basketball card at the Civic Centre ended in a win for the Savoy squad when Coach Alex Bill of the Bo-Me-Hi Rainmakers withdrew his team from the floor with less than half a minute left in the game. In the heat of the argument that ensued when the referee expelled the captain of the Rainmakers from the game, Coach Bill yanked his team "rather than have them seriously injured in such a rough game." That fairly well sums up the type of game it was—hard fought and rough. With only 23 seconds left and the score standing at 43-42 for the Savoy, Coach Bill made his decision, much against the desire of both the fans and his own players.

Both teams fought hard throughout the game and, from the opening whistle, it was close. Finishing the first quarter out in front 11-10 the students went on to lead at the half 19-15. In the third quarter Savoy came roaring back and took the lead 33-30.

In the last period, with all the spirit of the two teams put into the game, tempers began to get short and, consequently, the play roughened up. It was surprising that, in such a furious match, only 25 fouls were handed out by Referee Fred Calderone and Umpire Sev Dominato, 15 to the High School and 10 to Savoy. High scorers were Ted Arney of Savoy and Mel Thompson of the Rainmakers with 19 and 18 points respectively.

Rainmakers — Thompson 18, Hartwig 9, Lavigne 4, Ciccone 4, Forman 6, Skog, Flaten, Davidson 1, Intermela. Total 42.

Savoy—T. Arney 19, M. Holkestad 2, R. Holkestad 4, Davis 7, Vuckovich 4, D. Arney, Haugan 3, Murray 4. Total 43.

Co-op Beats Port Edward

Co-op came out of the doldrums to wallop the Port Edward squad 43-33. Two important factors brought on this win. One was the scoring spree put on by Ole Slatta and the other was the strong defence put on by the Co-op which held the usual big gun of Port Edward, Gurney, to a mere 9 points. It was Co-op out in front all the way but it was not until the last half that they were able to move well out in front. Leading 6-5 at the end of the first quarter Co-op lengthened the lead by half time to remain on top 18-14. Moving into the third frame it was Co-op all the way with Port Edward showing very little of their usual fight. The fourth period opened up 28-20 for Co-op with Slatta showing the way. Quite possibly Port Edward missed their defence man, Morven, who was forced to sit this game out on the bench with an injured leg.

Handling the whistle was referee Fred Calderone and Umpire Don Hartwig with Doug Shier the scorer and Vern Ciccone timer.

Co-op—Petersen 2, Menzies 2, Slatta 19, Sheppard 10, Leland 3, Wesch, Viereck 6, Lewis 1. Total 43.

Port Edward—Gurney 9, Clayton 4, Stevens 2, Barton 8, A Stevens, Alexcee, S. Alexander 1, T. Stevens 9, Zeesaw. Total 33

Another Upset By Watts and Nickerson

Coming up from behind the spirited Watts and Nickerson squad upset Grotto with a 33-30 score. It was the second time in as many games that Watts and Nickerson had pulled an upset. This leaves them still in last place but only one game behind the third place Grotto. Legion is next with Gyro sitting on top of the Junior League. The percentages are: Gyro .800, Legion .500, Grotto .400 and Watts and Nickerson .333.

The game was fast and well played with these junior teams almost stealing the show from the seniors. At the end of the first quarter Grotto was out in front 4-3. Then in the second frame they increased this to 12-8. After the half time breather Watts and Nickerson got rolling and nosed out the Grotto to lead 19-17. The last quarter almost ended in a tie as the wall scoreboards showed that the score was tied up but, on checking, the referee found that the score was officially 33-30 in Watts and Nickerson's favor. Once again Ray Spring of the Clothiers was high man with 12 points and again it was Webster and Scharff who stood out on the defence. But the usual spark plugs for the Grotto were very noticeable by their absence from the spotlight. At present Grotto seems to be in a slump but this will pass and should see some close battles for the playoff positions now that Watts and Nickerson is making a bid.

Watts and Nickerson—Spring 12, Bill 4, Laurie, Ratchford, Jones 1, Webster 7, Scharff 3, Kelly 6, Garner. Total 33.

Grotto—Hebb 6, Currie 5, Youngman 4, Owens 5, Graham 5, R. Anderson 1, B. Anderson 4, Johnson. Total 30.

GLASGOW (AP)—A £6,275,000 ($125,100,000) scheme to reconstruct Glasgow's great Queen's Dock has been approved by the Clyde Navigation Trust. The job will take eight years and the new dock, when complete, will have nearly 3,000 yards of berthage with depth of 32 feet at low water. Near the centre of the city, Queen's Dock will be provided with full shed and rail facilities and modern cargo-handling gear. Deep-draught ocean-going ships up to 500 feet long will be able to use the dock. There will be 13 ocean berths.

Mission Plea Heard, Brigade Sends Aid

Plane, Dog Teams Take St. John Ambulance Workers to Labrador

TORONTO (CP)—In response to an urgent appeal for staff assistance, Mrs. Audrey Sharpe of Georgetown, Ont., and Miss Muriel Low of Moncton, N.B., will shortly leave for the Labrador Grenfell Mission to take up auxiliary nursing duties at Harrington Bay hospital.

They will be met at Rimouski, Que., and will be flown to Labrador, making the balance of the trip by dog team and sled.

Both are members of the St. John Ambulance Brigade. Mrs. Sharpe was one of 221 members of the brigade who served overseas in the Second World War, as was Miss Low.

POLICE PREPARE FOR ROYAL TOUR

South African Force Sees Films of King and Queen In Canada

PRETORIA, South Africa (CP)—The most intense task of planning ever undertaken by the South African police is nearly completed in Pretoria, where all aspects of the force's duties during the royal tour are being carefully worked out.

The plans cover the duties to be carried out by the force ranging from motorcycle escorts to the commissioner of police himself, Maj. Gen. R. J. Palmer, who will travel with the royal party. In order to give policemen an idea of their duties during the tour, a firm of the royal visit to Canada is being shown to them. The Canadian government film gives every stage of the King and Queen's travels in Canada.

The police will also be helped in their duties of controlling crowds and maintaining security by South Africa's "Home Guard," called the Civilian Protective Service.

Scotland Yard is to co-operate with the South African Police on the security plans and six men from the Yard have been assigned for this purpose. One of them is Superintendent Leonard Burt who during the war was seconded to military intelligence as head of the anti-sabotage division.

Breakfast—London; Luncheon—New York

LONDON (CP)—Breakfast in London and lunch in New York will be the program for air travellers in the "not too distant" future, Peter Masefield, director general of long-term planning at the Ministry of Civil Aviation, told the Royal Empire Society.

"London and New York now are only 17 hours apart by regular air services," he said, "and the journey has been done in little more than 10 hours 'with the wind.'"

FLATTIES ARE TOPS

TORONTO (CP) — We think shank's mares are slick, and saddles send the pedals—flatties really are the feet flatterers.

Who said that? Why, The hi-crowd.

What did they chorus? Why, just that the average high school miss today prefers and approves the current fad for flat-heeled shoes.

First to accept new styles—and sometimes first to disown them— Canada's fair collegians presently are in the mood to tramp many a mile just to find a shop sporting flatties.

Loafers, last year's—or was it yesterday's?—favorite still lead for campus informality with brown, dark red and white doing top color honors.

Saddle shoes, collegian wardrobe decorator of former seasons, seem to be making a comeback with brown and white hues sought.

If and when more supplies reach footwear stalls, hi-crowd misses are expected to cast welcome glances on shank's mares and their kindred patterns.

For the leggy, head-in-the-sky girl dressy flats remain the thing, what with criss-cross straps, sandal types and asymmetric patterns leading the way.

For that date: Flats are manna from the starland for tall misses when striding along with not-so-tall swains.

Other slick shoe dreams hitting new campus popularity include: Ballet slippers with black suede taking lead; ballet boot, slick ankle-hugging trick; kiltie-tongue oxfords and side-tie Tryolean shoes.

Diet Change Bring Cut In Death Rate

Wheat Flour and Peas Replace Highly-Milled Rice In Hong Kong

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Substitution of vitamin-rich wheat flour and blue peas for highly-milled rice, a staple diet which was deficient in Vitamin B, is credited by health authorities here for causing a decrease in the Hong Kong death rate.

Deaths, which in 1941 averaged 175 a day, now run at about 50 a day although the population is increasing steadily. It is estimated the total number of deaths for 1946 will be about 16,000 compared with 48,000 in 1939 and 61,000 in 1941.

Anti-epidemic units have also played an important part in lowering the mortality rate by preventing severe outbreaks of disease.

A campaign to make consumers vitamin conscious has been hammered home and police report thieves who raided warehouses took vitamin foods and tablets in preference to sacks of foodtsuffs.

Says Girl's Curse Blighted 10 Years

LONDON (CP)—A London woman who married a native chieftain in New Zealand blames a 10-year spell of bad luck on the curse of a jealous Maori girl.

The former Bertha Williams, now Mrs. Karehana-Koruarua, said that after her marriage in New Zealand in 1923 she was cursed by a native girl and "until she died 10 years later my life was dogged with misfortune." She claims to be the only white woman with full rights as a princess among the Maoris, to whom she is known as Mihi Moana, or "Sweet Weeping Cloud."

Furniture As Fuel Fails to Save Baby

BATLEY, Yorkshire, Eng. (CP)—Because their baby was ill with bronchial pneumonia and they had no coal, Mr. and Mrs. Ronold Palmer broke up all their furniture and put it, stick by stick, into the fire. Two days later the fire went out and their baby died. At the inquest Deputy Coroner S. H. Gill advised parents in similar circumstances to use hot-water bottles.

"Bread For China" Day February 17

Prince Rupert may formally observe February 17 as "Bread for China" day, according to E. T. Applewhaite, publicity chairman for the Canadian Aid to China drive, who said this morning that he plans to request Mayor Arnold to officially designate the day for that purpose.

Details of the plan, which has the official approval of Premier John Hart, have not yet arrived in the city, but Mr. Applewhaite anticipates that they will be such as to command the support of all organizations and individuals in the city.

It will be the climax of the Canadian Aid to China campaign which has been in operation during January and February. During that time, all banks in the country have been receiving centres for contributions to the fund.

"I am expecting more information this week but, from the information I have, I understand that churches in the province are using the 'Bread for China' theme as the basis for sermons on February 16," Mr. Applewhaite said.

Plan Four Billions For British Schools

LONDON (CP)—New schools costing $4,000,000,000 are to be built in Britain under the 1944 Education Act. This is the estimate of experts, formed to simplify and expedite the school building program. The figure includes the building work needed for all reform and development of primary and secondary education, new schools on new housing estates, new country colleges and the expansion of teacher-housing facilities.

SPALDING DEATH PROBE SET OVER TILL THURSDAY

Thursday evening, February 13, was set as the date for the hearing of evidence in the inquest of Peter Spalding, one of seven victims of a Skeena River boat tragedy, when the inquest convened here Saturday afternoon. The coroner's court adjourned until that date after viewing the body.

The five-day adjournment was set by acting Coroner Bruce Stevens in the hope that, in the meantime, the bodies of the other six persons who were on board the gillnet boat N.F.B which was crushed by drifting ice in the Skeena on January 25 might be found. The inquest would then inquire into the deaths of all the victims.

The body of Spalding, owner of the boat which set out from Prince Rupert for Port Essington in zero weather, was discovered lying on the ice-crusted beach a short distance above Point Lambert, where, it is believed, he swam after the boat sank under the pressure of drift ice. The boat, upturned and damaged, was found about 12 miles downstream.

In the meantime, villagers of Port Essington continued their search over the week-end for the bodies of Mrs. Spalding, two Spalding children, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bennett and Matthew Wesley without success. The provincial police boat P.M.L. 15 left port here this morning to join in another sweep of the lower Skeena and offshore islands in hope of recovering the bodies.

ATTACK UPON HAWAII SOON

HONOLULU—Nearly 300 planes and 16,000 men from 65 ships will attack the Hawaiian Islands early in March in the first large scale Pacific fleet manoeuvres since the war, the Navy announces.

The first phase of the Pacific war games will begin in mid-February when the White and Blue task forces, commanded by Read Admiral F. W. McMahon and Rear Admiral O. B. Hardison, will oppose each other in a sea engagement.

In the second phase, to open during the first week of March, a combined naval force commanded by Admiral A. E. Montgomery will be hurled against Hawaiian defences commanded by Lt. Gen. John E. Hull.

The fleet units will anchor at Pearl Harbor March 11 for critiques and crew entertainment. They will leave March 13 for home bases or sea assignments.

Whifflets From The Waterfront

John Boden, who is off on annual vacation, arrived in port at 8:30 last evening from Vancouver and way-points, sailing at 10 p.m. for Stewart and other northern points whence she will return here tomorrow morning to sail south at 1:30 p.m. The vessel brought north as fair-sized list of passengers.

GERMAN FIRM IS SPLIT UP

I. G. Farben Holdings in United States Zone to Be Separated

BERLIN (Reuters)—I. G. Farben holdings remaining in the United States' zone of Germany after reparations and destruction of war potential will be broken up into 30 separate and independent economic units, James S. Martin, United States military government "decartelization" head, announced.

These units are to be operated under trustees, appointed by the provincial governments, until the I.G. Farben property is disposed of under regulations now being formulated, he said.

There are 850 plants in all four zones, Mr. Martin stated, and of these 40 per cent are in the Russian zone. When the I.G. Farben Trust was seized in November, 1945, it had a book value of some 7,500,000,000 reichmarks (approximately the same in dollars).

Measures to set up unit trustees were taken in conformity with decisions of the four-power I.G. Farben Control Committee, said Mr. Martin, who is the United States member of the committee. No similar action had yet been taken in the other zones, he said.

As part of a broad industrial program in the United States zone, limitations have been placed on the size of the units into which I.G. Farben property has been divided.

The plan is expected to demonstrate that units of enormous concerns like I.G. Farben can be operated as separate entities. Profits will go to the Allied Control Authority for distribution as it sees fit, while trustees' salaries will appear on cost sheets of the units.

Saving West Coast Fish

Washington-Oregon-California Pact Is Planned

OLYMPIA, Wash.—A move to safeguard the west coast fishing banks from any future encroachment by Japanese or Russian fishing expeditions was commended as the senate voted unanimous approval of a proposed Washington-Oregon-California compact.

The possible future threat of both Russian and Japanese fishermen was mentioned by Senator Barney Jackson and A. E. Edwards as they endorsed a U.S. claim over waters extending out as much as 200 miles.

Proponents of the bill, which still must go to the house, said the proposed three-state pact for conservation of fish far offshore would take effect only if congress takes action on pending legislation to legitimatize offshore claims.

Jackson and Edwards told the senate that the old three-mile limit was based on distance of cannon fire from the coast, and that in rocket era the 200-mile claim is warranted.

Jackson said the interstate compact had been needed for many years and conferences had been held by the three states on the issue.

NOVEL MAKES MOVING DRAMA

"Of Human Bondage" Showing At Capitol Theatre This Tuesday and Wednesday

A highly sensitive man's infatuation for a cheap, self-loving and vicious woman is the dramatic theme of "Of Human Bondage" which plays this Tuesday and Wednesday at the Capitol Theatre here. It is adapted from the classic novel of the same name by the noted British author, W. Somerset Maugham.

While studying art in Paris, Paul Henreid comes to the conclusion that he is not fitted for success there so he returns to London to use his meagre income to study medicine. He becomes enamored of Eleanor Parker, a cockney waitress to win whose love he abandons everything worthwhile. Meanwhile Alexis Smith plays the part of a novelist who has long since hoped for his love.

The supporting cast is headed by Edmund Gwynn whose gay warmth brings eventual joy to Henreid. Janis Paige and Patric Knowlees are other important members of the cast.
