Government Plans Legislation Before Railway Strike Occurs

To Head Off Tie-Up Says St. Laurent

By JOHN LeBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent, meeting railway and union heads here under the threat of a general rail strike, made clear to them today that the government plans to call on Parliament to legislate against a strike before it happens.

Officers of the major railways and their unions, summoned to the capitol Wednesday, heard the prime minister urge them to get back into negotiation and reach a settlement before Parliament intervenes at the behest of the government.

OTTAWA —Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, after meeting with railway union officers said today that he is optimistic about settlement of the contract dispute in which a general rail strike is threatened.

The prime minister did not propose either terms of settlement or a time limit for the reaching of an agreement.

SEEKS TO AVOID STRIKE

Mr. St. Laurent made it clear that the government—as of now, at least—does not intend to allow a strike to start as it did in 1950 when Parliament was called in to halt a nine-day tie-up.

After a cabinet meeting dealing with the strike issue, the prime minister Wednesday gave a clue to the cabinet attitude when he spoke, in a statement, of parliamentary intervention in connection with "avoiding"—rather than ending—a strike.

Mr. St. Laurent, asked about future moves if today's action fails to bring a settlement, would say only:

"We have given thought to further steps, but we are not jumping at anything yet."

Mr. St. Laurent and Labor Minister Gregg were to meet this morning and afternoon in two and perhaps three conferences with the railways and the unions representing 145,000 employees, chiefs of the latter group newly reinforced in their contract demands by a membership vote authorizing them to stage a strike that could tie up more than 90 per cent of rail transport.

The strike-empowering vote was announced Wednesday at Montreal by Frank H. Hall, head of the 14 unions' central negotiating committee. He leads the committee in today's conferences with the ministry. The union chiefs were empowered to call a strike if negotiations are not successful.

The negitiations started late last year for contracts to replace a series that expired last Dec. 1. The unions—representing workers who do not actually run the trains—want fringe benefits such as better deals on paid holidays, sick leave and vacations. Commercial telegraphers also are affected.

Salmon Catch Down

Yield Could Top Total From 1953

Preliminary figures from the Department of Fisheries in Prince Rupert show that catches of sockeye salmon on the Skeena River up to the last day of fishing, August 7, were almost 80,000 fish short of last year's yield.

Up to that date, only 543,504 sockeye had been caught as compared to 622,347 by August 8 last year. This year's catch is considerably under that of 1952, when by August 9, 1,259,660 sockeye had been taken.

However, this year's yield would likely surpass last year's 659,210 sockeye as 112,091 fish were taken in the week before salmon fishing operations were stopped. Total sockeye taken when salmon season closed in September 1952 was 1,204,486 fish.

The catch of pinks on the Skeena this year is also below that of last year. As of August 7, 235,392 pinks had been reported taken as compared to 278,616 by August 8 last year. In 1952, which was the brood year for pinks, 809,210 were taken by August 9. Of this amount 457,968 were caught in the week, August 2 to 9.

The last week of fishing this year produced 147,942 pinks. Last year a total of 425,897 were caught as compared to 1,450,970 for the 1952 season.

Fisheries Association Rejects Union Proposal

VANCOUVER (CP)—An attempt to end the five-day-old strike of 570 West Coast tendermen met with failure last night when the Fisheries Association of B.C. rejected a union proposal reducing its wage demands by $3 a month.

In announcing the rejection, an association spokesman said his group considered the union proposal "insignificant," and noted that it was the first change the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union (Ind.) had made in its original demands since negotiations began five months ago.

Meanwhile, in Prince Rupert, a B.C. Packers spokesman released the present wage scale of tendermen. The figures, including basic wage plus a $53 per month subsistence allowance, on a 24-day month, included: cooks and deckhands, $282; mates, $293.50; engineers, $324.50, and captains, $353.

When the men worked a 30½-day month, not taking days off, wages rose to $344.01 for cooks and deckhands, $358.63 for mates $307.02 for engineers and $434.25 for captains. An additional $23 per month is paid each of the crew when tending troll and halibut camps.

In a press release to the Daily News today, Tom Parkin, northern representative of the UFAWU, and William Beynon, of the Native Brotherhood of B.C., replied to a fish companies statement yesterday.

The local men termed as "hard to understand" a claim by Art Sager, executive assistant of the Fisheries Association, that the companies had made two separate offers which would give tendermen from $50 to $60 per month increase. If this was so, said the Rupert men, the tendermen would not be on strike for $30 a month. They reiterated that there had been no offer of any description from the operators since negotiations began in April, up until the strike vote was counted last week.

Meanwhile, the release continued, five months of negotiations for other sections of the industry, cannery, net, reduction and fresh fish and cold storage, have resulted in an offer from the operators of two hard hats for each watchman and free flashlight batteries.

The release charged the companies with an irresponsible attitude to negotiations, saying that proposals of the union have been in the hands of operators since February, and stated the provincial labor department has been remiss in its handling of the issue. Weeks had been lost in getting through the cumbersome machinery of conciliation and the strike vote, the statement said.

This afternoon, a meeting of the union and Native Brotherhood approved the signing of an agreement on exactly the same terms as those forming the basis of the tendermen's agreement with the Co-Op with J. Clausen and Sons and Chris Viktil, both of whom have fish camps in the northern area. About 60 boats would be affected by the back to work move.

Parks Workers Face Layoffs

"There is no other way," Mr. Webster said. "Our budget was cut to the bone last spring."

He was remanded in custody until tomorrow morning.

Latest Deal On Drydock Falls Through

Latest negotiations for sale of the drydock have failed, it was reported yesterday at a meeting of the city drydock committee.

It was disclosed that some of the negotiating parties were not prepared to make certain commitments considered necessary for continued operation of the drydock, with the result that discussions were called off.

Bernard Allen, CNR representative in sale negotiations, said that extensive advertising designed to attract purchasers for the drydock and shipyard had been carried out in Canadian and U.S. newspapers.

In addition, he said, individual notices were sent to industrial leaders and others who might be interested. So far, however, replies have not been encouraging, Mr. Allen said.

E. T. Applewhaite, MP for Skeena, said that if the plant was not sold by the deadline on September 30, the federal government would review the whole situation. He added it had not been determined what action would be taken at that time.

As chairman in the absence of Orme Stuart, Bill Vance instructed the planning and research committees to prepare a report in light of the latest developments for consideration at the next meeting. It is expected that this will be held next week.

Now about three months old, Woodie lives in a hole beside the porch and plays daily with the four Pecha children. While a tiny cub, he was fed from a tiny doll bottle but has now acquired a liking for toast with jelly on it, cereal and nuts, and will scratch on the door if his pan is empty and he wants a drink.

First Halibut From Area 3-A Unloaded Today

The first landings of halibut from Area 3-A at the Prince Rupert Halibut Exchange were reported this morning.

The halibutter Keare II sold 60,000 pounds of fish to B.C. Packers. It is reported that only three or four boats were fishing Area 3-A waters. The area was closed to commercial halibut fishing Tuesday. Halibut men fishing Area 2 waters reaped a harvest of more than two million pounds of fish in the eight days of fishing which closed Sunday.

Car Damage Set at $800

A car registered in the name of L. "Chapple" Smith of 1315 Overlook Street, sustained damage unofficially estimated at $800 this morning when it went off the road about three miles beyond the city limits on Highway 16.

The driver is not believed to have been injured in the mishap, although the 1952 car was damaged on the roof, doors and both windshields were knocked out. It came to rest on its wheels facing the road, a few feet from the black-top.

West Can Gain Nothing From War Molotov Tells Laborites at Embassy

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov voiced a grave warning against the dangers of a new war Wednesday night during dinner exchanges with the visiting British Socialist delegation headed by party leader Clement Attlee, it was learned today.

Molotov sounded the warning in one of eight toasts at the British embassy dinner attended by Premier Malenkov on the eve of the British delegation's departure for Communist China.

The Soviet foreign minister said a new war would bring "calamitous suffering" to Russia, Britain and France and the three powers could gain nothing from such a war.

This was taken by the eight-member Labor delegation as an oblique warning against the rearmament of West Germany—an issue on which the Labor party is divided.

It was understood that no specific proposal or new slant on Soviet foreign policy emerged from the long exchanges across the dinner table or in private talks between Soviet leaders and the Laborites.

SPEAKS ON RED CHINA

Molotov told the Britons there was a great need for Communist China's admittance to the United Nations and expressed the hope of closer relations between Britain and the Peiping regime. He wished the delegation success on their stay of about two weeks in China.

Attlee, left-wing rebel Aneurin Bevan and the other delegation members are travelling in a special Russian plane to China after a two-day stay in Moscow.

The central theme of the toast and discussion was understood to be a "re-emphasis by the Soviet leaders of Russia's desire for peaceful co-existence" and a denial of interference in the internal affairs of other states.

Communist party secretary Nikita Khrushchev told the delegation that Russia wanted a strengthening of relations with Britain.

Bevan said that peace was the wish not only of the Labor party but of the entire British nation, including the Conservatives and Prime Minister Churchill.

Let's Have More Immigrants

ALTHOUGH the population of Canada has just passed the 15 million mark, our rate of immigration will have to be stepped up greatly if the country is to keep pace with its opportunities.

This is the forward-looking view of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce on the basis of a report just released by its immigration committee. It is the Chamber's contention that to carry out an adequate program of development, Canada must double its population by 1975. At the present rate, however, the increase in population by that time will be less than four million.

"The need for greater population is based on primary requisites, such as defence, production and economic well-being," the Chamber remarks. "These requirements alone strongly indicate the need for an aggressive immigration policy."

But by no stretch of imagination does the present policy meet that description. Canada is now admitting fewer immigrants each year than it was before the first World War. In 1913 the figure was almost 500,000. In 1953 it was less than 170,000. In fact, it would appear that the country is laboring under the belief that the depression of the 1930's is still with us, for the immigration rate dropped sharply then and has never fully recovered.

The old bugaboo that immigrants cause a scarcity of jobs has no basis in fact. It is estimated that of every 100 newcomers to the country, about 50 are dependent or become self-employed. In other words, the number of consumers of agricultural and manufactured goods is twice the number of those added to the labor market. This does not take into account the new jobs made available by enterprising immigrants opening new lines of trade.

The immigration committee says its finding has been that greater stablity, higher efficiency and more production almost always have resulted in the past when there was a heavy inflow of immigrants. So let's abandon the hesitant approach and get new Canadians to help build the new country that we are looking for.

He landed here from the liner Georgic and proceeded to Tatamagouche, a village near the Northumberland strait in Colchester county.

Mr. Stuart, a Methodist minister, delivered a sermon at St. Matthew's United Church here in 1953 and remarked at the time he would like to settle in Canada. His listeners liked the sermon so well that when the Tatamagouche pastorate fell vacant he was invited to return from England to take it.

OTTAWA DIARY

By NORMAN M. MacLEOD

Ordinary the St. Laurent government doesn't cross bridges before it comes to them. But right now it is making an exception to this rule in the case of Communist China. The problem of diplomatic recognition of the Peiping regime is receiving a very considerable amount of forward-looking thought.

The PCs are facing up to the Peiping issue in similar fashion, despite the absence in Europe of Leader George Drew. And it is no less a subject of top-level importance with the CCF, who also are debating it behind the scenes in the absence of Leader Coldwell.

In brief, despite the absence of any press statements or publicity on the matter, Communist China is engaging more off-the-record activity on the part of all Parliament Hill political parties these days than almost any other single issue.

The basic reason for the problem of recognition being considered potentially "hot" by all the major political parties is Canada's involvement as a member of the international team to supervise the carrying-out of the Indo-China truce. In connection with its truce activities, Canada will be dealing, in effect if not always directly, with Communist China. In a sense such action already constitutes a form of recognition.

But the St. Laurent government is looking forward a further stage. It foresees the possibility that the truce will be carried out quite successfully. That, in fact, was the hope upon which it accepted its present position. And if things turn out that way, the result will be a fairly convincing demonstration of the possibility of having very satisfactory relationships with the Chinese Communist authorities.

In such a case, what would be the justification for longer denying the Peiping government recognition and membership in the United Nations? Realists in the Department of External Affairs here believe that it would be extremely difficult to defend continued refusal of recognition on any logical grounds.

And having reached this conclusion, the St. Laurent government is said to be prepared to accept its consequences and recognize Communist China if its experience in dealing with Peiping over the problems of the truce is satisfactory.

The present indication is that the Conservatives will support such a policy. In his later speeches of last session, Leader George Drew suggested clearly that ultimate recognition of the Peiping government was inevitable, and that the question was mainly one of timing. PC sources say that good faith in carrying out the Indo-China truce would be accepted as an evidence that the time for recognition was ripe.

The CCF also will underwrite the policy. Leader Coldwell already has advocated recognition ere this.

"LIKE DRUNKEN SAILOR"

The Editor,
The Daily News.

It appears to me there must be a virus that effects the mentality of some people the moment they are elected to membership on the City Council.

To them there are no complex problems, to them everything is simple and only requires the clear "go-ahead" signal. Any reference in this letter is intended for the City Council. In no way is it intended for the City Assessor.

In my humble judgment the council has lost its mental balance and acts more like a drunken sailor with a barrel of money to spend, than a responsible administration seeking value for the money they spend.

At last council meeting another $5,000 was thrown into the assessment kitty that has been in operation for the past three years, a regular sump hole for our tax dollars.

At next council meeting I again will move a motion requesting the city's faithful work horse, Mr. Foote, city treasurer, to compile another report showing all expenditures in connection with assessment during the past four years that only increased the muddle and caused taxpayers to worry and wonder what it is all about.

A trout with a wanderlust that carried it 100 miles in two months was reported being caught to the Federal Fisheries Department in Prince Rupert. FAMOUS VENTURE

The Richard Wagner musical festival at Beyreuth was organized in 1876 by Wagner and King Louis of Bavaria.

McLeod-Tangen Vows Said At Cathedral Here Today

St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral here was the scene this morning of a pretty wedding ceremony uniting Marion Tangen, RN, daughter of Mrs. A. the late Mr. Tangen, and Archie Tangen of Camrose, Alberta, and Richard McLeod, son of Mrs. J. H. McLeod of Prince Rupert, and the late Mr. J. H. McLeod, MBE.

The Rev. Canon Basil S. Prockter conducted the ceremony for which white gladioli graced the church.

Given in marriage by Mr. E. W. McLeod, the bride was charming in a white linen dress with wide white picture hat and other accessories in red, with a nosegay of red roses.

Her only attendant was Miss Irene Aube, RN, wearing a frock of navy blue shantung topped by white bolero, white accessories, and carrying pink roses.

Mr. Edward Capstick was groomsman and usher was Mr. Liev Husoy. Wedding music was provided by Mr. Peter Lein, organist.

Following the ceremony, the briday party enjoyed a wedding breakfast at the home of the groom, where the toast to the bride was proposed by Canon Prockter.

For their wedding trip, by plane to Vancouver and by car to San Francisco, the bride changed to a smart suit of air-force blue with navy and red accessories.

On their return, the newlywed couple will reside at 305 Third Avenue West, Prince Rupert.

Vancouver Pair Much Impressed On Visit Here

Prince Rupert is a nice spot to spend a week's holiday according to a Vancouver couple who paid a visit to the Daily News offices yesterday to say how much they liked this city.

They are Mr. and Mrs. J. H Greaves who arrived here Sunday aboard the Princess Norah and will return south this weekend to settle an argument with friends as to whether or not Prihce Rupert is a suitable place for a visit.

They'll be ready to do battle for Rupert, armed with facts on the museum, the totem poles, the cold storage plant and other interesting items.

They were so impressed with the museum after one visit, that they planned a second, and they were set for a visit to the Cold Storage plant today.

They also attended the Little Theatre's second-night presentation of "Blithe Spirit," and enjoyed it thoroughly.

But most of all they are impressed with the friendliness of city residents. They met Mrs. J. S. Black, through asking directions, and were marched off to the Canadian Legion for an enjoyable afternoon, with Mrs. Black telling them much of the history of the city.

Their impressions haven't all been favorable though. Mr. Greaves suggested that the city could use more tourist camps and laughingly remarked that a loaded paint brush "wouldn't do any harm on the back street."

SLAVES FREED

President Abraham Lincoln of the United States proclaimed the freedom of slaves Jan. 1, 1863.

"FISH STICKS? Never heard of the like! What will you Canadians think of next?" says John Cross of Colchester, England, as he learns how to eat them from his pretty instructress, Carol Sedgwick of Vancouver. John is one of a group of 50 students visiting Vancouver as a member of the Commonwealth Youth Movement. The above picture was taken during their tour of the B.C. Packers Limited plant at Steveston, who are, in conjunction with MacMillan and Bloedel Limited, sponsoring the tour.

Bloused Look Latest News In American Fall Fashions

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP)—It's going to be smart to be slouchy next fall, the international fashion press learned with the opening of the New York wholesale collections of fall styles.

Comfort also is given a large play by American designers, who are introducing the bloused silhouette after a session in which the tight midriff and princess lines made women suffer for the sake of fashion.

The newest dresses shown by leading designers have an easy, loose look above the belt, retaining the slim skirt for daytime. However, skillful use of pleats and flares has been made in some skirts, allowing room to move while preserving a slender appearance.

The bloused-back dress showed up in the Paris spring collections but was not generally adopted by American designers until now.

Suits for fall offer a wide variety of jacket styles, with the slim skirt still decreed for daytime wear and hemlines about the same or occasionally a trifle shorter than those of spring and summer. The "blouson" jacket seems a favorite. This is a bloused effect ending in a belt at the waist, similiar to the Eisenhower jacket of the Second World War.

The fur-trimmed suit and even the suit with reversible jacket lined in fur are seen frequently often as a part of the popular costume suit, which consists of a smart dress covered by a tailored jacket.

The costume is the favorite in practically every collection, shown either as dress and jacket, dress and matching full-length coat or suit with co-ordinated blouse. This is the highly versatile "breakfast-to-dinner" outfit which permits a woman to go from office to cocktail party or dinner perfectly dressed for the occasion when she removes her jacket.

Handsome fabrics make new headlines for fall, with much emphasis on tweeds for any hour. There are tweed dress-and-jacket combinations in which the dress emerges with open neckline and brief sleeves, ready for any after-five occasion. There are feather-weight silk-and-wool tweeds suitable for the dressiest costumes, and there are all-silk tweeds used for both suits and dresses. The combination of satin and tweed is a new note for fall, highly effective and apparently slated for wide acceptance.

"To sum up," continued Mr. Masters, "you should have known that Champion had only one diamond higher than the eight and that it was either the ace or the king or the queen. So why put up the jack unnecessarily? If you'd played your seven, nothing could have prevented us from winning three diamond tricks and two hearts."

Mr. New saw the logic of all this, and he admitted his error. He shook his head sadly. "These things are so darn much easier to see when you're sitting on the sidelines," he muttered.

Russian Morals Under Fire From Newspaper

By RICHARD R. KASISCHKE

MOSCOW (AP)—The big Soviet press campaign to clean up Russia's morals has taken a new tack. Cut out the cussing, the men are told.

Komsomol Pravda, the organ of the Soviet Communist Youth League, is spearheading the effort to shush profane and vulgar language.

A drive against drunkenness and hooliganism already has been going on several months and has had good results, newspapers claim.

Now Komsomol Pravda has cast a disapproving glance toward the Urals industrial centre of Swerdlovsk. The paper spread over two columns a letter from a Swerdlovsk citizen complaining of vulgarities heard about town.

"Clean these evil words out of our rich, expressive language," the paper admonished.

NEW GIRL FLED

The letter writer had this to report about some workers in a big plant:

"One recently began to speak to a new girl worker there but the language he used was so bad the girl fled.

"There is also even a komsomol member who continually uses vulgar and abusive language, in serious as well as jesting conversation.

"And still another worker, only 17, who feels he shows he's grown up when he uses evil language . . ."

Little tenses with big bowlfuls don't give a pigtailed whoop that more families ran out of Corn Flakes this morning than any other cereal. But it does happen, because Kellogg's Corn Flakes just naturally taste best to more people. Always have. Still do. No wonder so many women pick up a spare package of Kellogg's Corn Flakes every time they buy any cereal of any kind. It's real good "tomorrow-morning insurance."

Called-Shot TKO Gives Moore Win Over Johnson

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP)—A spectacular "called shot" technical knockout over able Harold Johnson in the 14th round added lustre to light heavyweight champion Archie Moore's great record today.

Now the 37½-year-old fistic marvel will seek to fatten his bankroll with a Sept. 23 title fight in Omaha against either Joey Maxim or Jimmy Slade.

Maxim, beaten three out of three by the magnificent Moore, appears more likely to get the payday. His wily manager, Jack Doc Kearns will meet sometime today with Charley Johnston, Moore's manager, and members of the Omaha centennial committee to talk turkey.

Moore was ready when Johnston told him to go out and "get" Johnson in the 14th.

HE DID IT

"I'll knock him out in this round," Johnston said Moore calmly told him. He did, in just 53 seconds.

The crouching champion tore after Johnson, staggered him with a right to the chin, and then rained blows on his sagging rival. Johnson fell on his back in his own corner.

The Philadelphia Negro clambered up at six but his legs were rubbery. Then the aroused champion smashed his stricken foe with both hands. As Johnson started to sag again referee Ruby Goldstein stepped in and stopped the slaughter.

Although Moore was trailing going into the 14th—two of the three officials had him behind—the 175-pound ruler said he had no doubts about the outcome.

KNEW IT

"I knew I'd get him," said Archie. "He started to tire in the eighth. He got a little life back with that knockdown in the 10th but in the 13th I stung him and I knew then I'd catch him in the 14th."

Johnson, who had piled up points with his superb counterpunching against the ever-pressing champion, caught Moore in the 10th as Archie was charging in. He clipped him behind the ear and Moore went down for the first time in five fights with Johnson.

Moore bounced up at three but Goldstein, erring on the eight-count rule, continued counting until the bell rang at six.

The bout drew 8,327 and grossed $34,034. Moore supposedly got 40 per cent and Johnson 20 but it was believed that the champion got Johnson's share of the $50,000 TV money. All told Archie collected about $37,000 and Johnson about $6,000 under this deal.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE TEA FOR FLO BEFORE LEAVING

VICTORIA (CP)—Swimmer Florence Chadwick leaves Victoria today, three days after her failure to conquer the Strait of Juan de Fuca.

The famed swimmer had tea with Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace and Mrs. Wallace Wednesday and discussed her unsuccessful attempt to swim the 18½ miles stretch of chill water between Victoria and Port Angeles, Wash.

Meanwhile, it is reported Miss Chadwick's team is already making preparations to train here next year in a second attempt at the swim.

Paper Claims Marathoner May Have Run Final Race

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Vancouver News-Herald, in a front-page story today, says Jim Peters, tragic figure of the British Empire Games, may have run his last race.

"I think I've run my last race—it's my heart, you know," The News-Herald quotes Peters, English distance runner.

Peters led the field in Saturday's British Empire Games marathon, only to collapse repeatedly inside Empire stadium. He was grabbed by a trainer 185 yards from the end of the 26-mile, 385-yard event.

The News-Herald, which interviewed Peters in his Shaughnessy hospital room, quoted the wiry runner:

"You know, I've had to withdraw from the European Games. I had my heart set on that one. But I'll have to wait until the specialists at home have a good look at me. I rather think I've run my last race."

UNDERLIP BRUISED

A bruised underlip is the only outward sign of the ordeal he went through, continually falling to the track in Saturday's marathon, the story said.

"You know, I was winning. And I really didn't feel bad coming down the ramp to the stadium. They say it was 75 degrees in the shade. God, but it was hot."

The story said Peters was now sitting up and walking around in his hospital room which is filled with flowers.

"See these flowers? Aren't they lovely?" he was quoted. "They're from people I've never seen. And the countless messages that have come from well-wishers. The people of Vancouver and all over the world have been wonderful.

"One more thing . . . thank all the wonderful people for me. I'm going home."

Hospital officials have repeatedly refused to permit interviews with Peters and have issued bulletins saying only he was "progressing favorably."

Lions Take 22-0 Whipping In Pre-Season Exhibition

By KEN METHERAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)— Football, major-league style, returned to British Columbia Wednesday night with a record turnout of fans and a stinging 22-0 whipping of B.C. Lions by the air-minded Montreal Alouettes.

Lions, making their gridiron debut, absorbed a decisive defeat on the field but scored a smashing success at the box office. The 19,371 fans who paid their way into Empire Stadium for the pre-season exhibition game set a record high for western Canada football.

Besides a game that provided plenty of thrills and excitement despite the one-sided score, the fans were entertained by six bands, including four from Washington state, in one of the classiest half-time displays ever witnessed on a Canadian gridiron.

WON AS THEY PLEASED

Alouettes entered the game 100-1 favorites over the babes of Canadian football and won as they pleased.

The British Columbians showed their fans, who stayed glued to their seats until the final gun, flashes of offensive brilliance and a powerful line. But their inexperience showed up in ragged timing on key plays and a woeful lack of pass defence.

Etcheverry was a standout for Alouettes, who move on to Calgary for an exhibition against Stampeders Friday night. They complete their western tour at Regina Monday.

The Montreal signal caller tossed a touchdown pass to rangy end Hal Patterson for Als' first touchdown in the opening period and his aerial artistry set the stage for the two that followed in the second and third quarters. Jimmy Robinson plunged over from the one-yard line early in the second and Abe Webster scampered 10 yards for the final major.

Ray Poole converted all three touchdowns and added a third-quarter field goal. The 22nd point came in the fourth when Tex Coulter's booming punt from the centre field strip went far behind the Vancouver goal line and Lions' George Klein was rouged.

Best for Lions were former New York Giant Arnie Weinmeister, who repeatedly broke through from his tackle position and halfbacks Jerry Palmer and Pete Thodos.

Alouettes showed their mastery in the first five minutes as they rolled 70 yards on six plays for their first major. The final three plays were passes by Etcheverry, to Patterson, Red O'Quinn and Patterson again. Three times during the game Etcheverry passed on third down and moved the yardsticks.

Sea Kings Gain Play-Off Spot

By BOB MORRIS

Lipsetts Sea Kings earned a spot in the Little League final tonight with a 4-2 win over the Kinsmen at Algoma Park last night. The Sea Kings win centred around the steady pitching of right hander Mike Greene who allowed only two hits and gave only one walk, hit one batter and struck out thirteen.

Stew Duncan pitched for the Kinsmen allowing four hits, hitting one batter and walking three while striking out four. The Kinsmen committed only one error while the Sea Kings slipped on two plays.

Tonight at 7:00 p.m. Sea Kings and Super Valu will meet at Algoma Park in the final game of the Little League year.

Gondola Player Given Thumb

Pete Delgrosso, Gondola Cafe wingman was ordered from the field last night by referee Danny Morven in a district soccer game in which the cafemen bested General Motors 3-1.

Delgrosso's eviction followed a brawl with motor's centre forward Rod Tait, following a decision by Morven which was objected to by Gondola players.

The game, which was marred by other lengthy delays, saw an outstanding performance turned in by motor's goalie Frank Neil, who robbed the cafemen of sure-fire goals on three occasions during the second half.

Censor Bans Review Song About Eden

By EDDIE GILMORE

LONDON (AP)— The plight of Anthony Eden—slated to become prime minister if Sir Winston Churchill ever retires—has been chronicled in song, but the British censor says it can't be sung.

Under the title, "Right Hand Man," it was to have been one of the featured tunes on a new London revue, but the censor banished the verses; there were seven of them, with a stroke of his official stamp, "Deleted by the Lord Chamberlain."

The censor is the Earl of Scarbrough, a former Conservative member of Parliament. His job is to license theatres and censor all plays, usually looking for obscenity.

CONVERSATIONAL TOPIC

The long years through which Eden, 59, has patiently waited to take over from the 79-year-old prime minister is a ripe and favorite topic of the British people and press and the producers of the new revue though it topical. They handled it this way:

Thirty-one years in the business,
Years of unselfish devotion,
Nearly 20 years in the same old job
With hardly a hope of promotion.
People did say the old boy might retire,
And though we'd all hate to see him put on the shelf,
If he doesn't make up his mind pretty soon
I'll be too old for the job myself.

After this verse, the song refers to Churchill's becoming a Knight of the Garter, and to his painting and his brick-laying of which he is considerably proud, and to slips and pieces of poor political judgment that his critics accuse him of.

The old man's a genius—none would dispute,
Though at times he's a bit of a tartar;
I recall he once said, "We must pull up our socks"
At that time he hadn't a Garter.
As an orator, author, he's second to none;
Painter—and builder—brilliant as any;
But I feel I could lay bricks almost as well,
And perhaps without dropping so many.

"U.S. WHIPPING BOY"

The song also refers to recent American criticism of Eden, the foreign secretary.

But I'm a sort of permanent fixture—
No power and not much glory,
America's favorite whipping boy,

And, the song ends, as one might imagine:

Thirty odd years of frustrated desire
Waiting for senior men to retire,
Assistant, adviser, consultant and guide;
Always the bridesmaid—never the bride.

Donald Monat, 26-year-old producer of the show, "Light Fantastic," said the cut came three days before the show was to open. He said he protested, but the lord chamberlain insisted it had to go, unless Eden gave his permission. Eden was busy at the Geneva conference.

"We had no alternative but to cut it," said Monat.

The Daily Mirror, front-paging the affair, called the lord chamberlain's action "ham-handed and stupid."

Speedy Jaunt Keeps Duke Out of Date

By DAVE STOCKAND
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—The Duke of Edinburgh, covering so much of Canada's North in so little time, is finding it hard to keep track of the days.

While visiting Churchill Wednesday, the Duke toured the little Eskimo museum crammed with exhibits gathered by missionaries of the Roman Catholic Oblate Order in their wanderings over the face of the Arctic.

He was asked to sign the guest book. He picked up the pen, then paused.

"What is the day?" he asked.

As soon as he got an answer he signed "Phillip, 11th August 1954."

TO QUEBEC TODAY

The Duke flew into Churchill Wednesday from Yellowknife in the Northwest Territories. The day before he was in Port Radium and in Coppermine, on the coast of the Arctic. Today he flies to Quebec.

The sailor with the pilot's licence who also has a liking for fast cars, had a new experience on the barren tundra outside this port on Hudson Bay.

He took over the controls of two pitching, slithering Arctic troop carriers, the Canadian penguin and the U.S. Otter, in a three-mile trip through water and spongy, muddy muskeg.

Said Pfc. Robert Geys of Washingtonville, N.Y., driver of the Otter: "I explained once what each thing was and he took it over just like it was made for him."

More presents poured in for Princess Anne and Prince Charles. Two beautiful polar bear skins were handed to the Duke by two Churchill youngsters. Making the presentation on behalf of Churchill's children were Winnifred Brown, 16, who has lived here all her life, and Jimmy Hayden, 13, of Boston. He is the son of Lt. Col. R. H. Hayden, the officer commanding U.S. forces at this base.
