FATHER DUNCAN'S TROUBLE SAYS INDIANS REBELLIOUS

FATHER SHUT OFF WATER SUPPLY AND TRIES TO DRIVE GOVERNMENT TEACHERS AWAY FROM HIS COLONY

Controlling the pipe line from the high mountains of Annette Island, Southeastern Alaska, Father Duncan, aged missionary to the Tsimpsian Indians of New Metlakatla has cut off the fresh water supply of the village as punishment for "his children" who have been rebellious, and as an expression of defiance to the United States government.

The white-haired priest deeply resented Uncle Sam's entrance into the Indian affairs. Since Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane's order was issued establishing a government school at New Metlakatla, a hostile move was expected from Father Duncan, for the government school robs the old missionary of his "children," but the shutting off of the water came as a paralyzing surprise.

In this extremity, the Alaska Native School Service and the New Metlakatla natives appealed to Governor J. F. A. Strong of Alaska and the territory's chief executive addressed a peremptory mandate to the old missionary ordering him instantly to start the mountain waters flowing through the pipes again.

But with the dignity of a ruler in his own domain, Father Duncan has completely ignored Gov. Strong, and made perfectly clear by his attitude that he also holds with as much contempt the powers that be at Washington, D.C. Meanwhile the waterbucket has come into vogue in New Metlakatla.

Determined that the new government teachers shall not suffer, the Indians themselves who petitioned Secretary Lane for the

with the guidance of United States school service, the younger generation of the Haida tribe of Southeastern Alaska natives have established an ideal municipality in which they rule themselves, operate their own lumber mill, general store and fish salteries.

Only twelve or fifteen of his old followers now remain with Father Duncan. His school has dwindled to almost nothing, while last week it was necessary to despatch an additional teacher to aid in handling the new government establishment.

But still there is a love and veneration among the Indians for the white-haired missionary who led them from barbarism to Christianity and a stage of civilization where, with awakened ambition, they now look for higher advancement. While openly hostile on week days, when the Sabbath comes around, all men, women and children of New Metlakatla gather for worship in the church that Father Duncan built and receive his blessing as they have done since 1887.

PICKLED HERRING ARE PUT UP IN NANAIMO

Experimenting With New Process in Fisheries of the Herring Town

Nanaimo, Feb. 18.—Another industry has been started in this city, with small beginnings it is true, but one that has all the earmarks of great possibilities. This is the pickled herring plant of the Great West Fisheries company, on Newcastle townsite.

The Great West Fisheries is a Victoria company that has decided there is a good market for pickled herring put up in Nanaimo. The herring will be put up in wooden barrels and kits.

Last summer nine young Scotch women, expert curers, were brought out to this country to assist in the plant. The plant expects to operate in some form the fisheries the year round.

100 SPITTERS ARE FINED

Maximum of Arrests Reached in Crusade in Chicago

Chicago, Feb. 18.—One hundred and ten men were fined $1 each today for spitting on the sidewalk. This is by far the largest number of convictions for a day since the crusade began a week ago. Municipal Judge Uhlir discharged five men who spent the night in the cells because they could not furnish bonds. He ordered that the men arrested for this offence hereafter be released on their own recognizance.

G. T. P. at Panama Exposition

The local agent of the Grand Trunk system has been advised by the head office at Montreal that the Panama-Pacific exposition management at San Francisco has approved of the plans submitted for the Grand Trunk building on the fair grounds. The design has been taken from the Spanish renaissance, following to a certain extent the general scheme of architecture of the main palaces of the exposition.

While listening to these arguments of the old priest, the Metlakatlians point to the village of Hydaburg, seventy-five miles away, on the west coast of Prince of Wales island. There,

THE ROAD TO THE RIGHT.

YOU'VE met at least one of those few good old souls, who are constantly getting the worst of it when shopping, who don't believe in advertising. A hundred disappointing and instructive experiences have failed to teach him their plain lesson.

When he bought his first watch he was beguiled into buying one without a known name or a trustworthy guarantee. That watch—a poor timekeeper—cost him dearly by reason of missed appointments and missed trains, and for frequent repairs. Yet he paid the price of a good watch.

It is the same story with regard to his underwear, his shoes, and his fountain pen.

This good old soul's case is not unique. Many of us, if the truth be confessed, resemble him; we allow ourselves to be sold merchandise with an unknown brand or trade mark instead of buying merchandise which is well known to us through the medium of advertising. In slang language, we get "stung" pretty often.

In most of these cases we have ourselves to blame, for "the road to the right" thing to buy has been made plain by advertising.

There is no good reason for passing by the known thing, soundly guaranteed, to buy a dubious article, which, quality for quality, cannot be cheaper than the known, branded article.

"It is better to be sure than sorry."

If you are doing a local business talk over your advertising problems with the Advertising Department of this newspaper.

If you are doing a provincial or national business it would be well for you to have the counsel and assistance of a good advertising agency. A list of these will be furnished, without cost or obligation, by the Secretary of Canadian Press Association, Room 503, Lumsden Building, Toronto.

A NEWSPAPER

for Prince Rupert and Northern B.C.

The Daily News goes into nearly every home in Prince Rupert. It is the popular newspaper of the city because it is clean and reliable. It has all the news of the city, and keeps in touch with events and topics interesting to Northern British Columbia. It treats these subjects with moderate optimism and reliability.

The Daily News is the most valuable paper to advertisers because it is read by the buying public. It has a bigger circulation than any other paper in the city. It is read by the class of people the advertisers want to talk to.
