This afternoon's train, due from the East at 3.30, was reported this worning to be on time.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Carson, formerly of Prince Rupert, have moved to their new home in this city, 1705 West Thirty-Seventh.—Vancouver Province.

In the current number of Canadian National Railways Magazine is an article by Reece H. Hague entitled "The Pacific Coast Fisheries." Prince Rupert is featured in the article and there is a picture of halibut being unloaded at the Canadian Fish and Cold Storage Co.'s plant from the boat Inez H.

In the women's section of the current issue of Canadian National Railways Magazine appears an article by Pegi Nicol describing the interesting old native village of Kitwanga on the Skeena River. Novel paintings form the basis of illustrations which accompany the article. "Where Forgotten Gods Sleep," is the title of the article.

Three boys of juvenile age, who were found guilty recently on charges of theft at Cow Bay, came before Magistrate McClymont in city police court last evening for sentence. One of the boys, who returned home only recently after serving a term in the reformtory, was given a year's suspended sentence while the other two were given a severe reprimand.

Rev. Dr. H. R. Grant, formerly of this city, is broadcasting evening services on Sundays from St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Fort William over a newly opened radio station with call letters CKTR which is part of the Canadian Pacific Railway's transcontinental network. Dr. Grant's service has already been heard in Prince Rupert. The difference in time is two hours.

Ballad Was Subject of Music Club

The Ladies' Music Club held its regular fortnightly meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Donald Ross, Second Avenue. The subject was "Ballad" upon which Miss E. G. Lennox gave a very interesting paper.

One of the features of the afternoon's proceedings was the making of a small presentation to William Beaumont in appreciation of assistance he has generously given the club. The presentation was made with fitting remarks by Mrs. R. L. McIntosh, the president.

The afternoon's program was as follows:

Phonograph selections from "The Beggar's Opera." (John Gay.)

Vocal solo, "The Maiden of Morven," (Old Highland Ballad) (Malcolm Lawson), Mrs. William Millar.

Piano solo— "Ballad Troisieme" (Chopin), Mrs. Robert Bartlett.

Vocal solos—"Ingrid's Song" and "Raggle Taggle Gypsies," (Old English), Miss Halliwell.

Vocal solo—"Rendezvous," (W. Alleter), Mrs. William Cruikshank.

Piano solo—"Henry VIII. Dances" (Edaward German), Mrs. E. J Smith.

Vocal solo—"The Body Guardsman of King Erik", (Swedish) (Otto Lindvald), Mrs. F. W. Allen.

Vocal solo—"The Minstrel Boy," (Irish) Mrs. J. H. McLeod.

'Cello solo— "The Lost Chord," (Sir Arthur Sullivan), "The Last Rose of Summer," William Beaumont.

MOTHER OF HAZELTON MAN DIES IN SOUTH

Attacks Upon Manson and Wrinch

bring the most outrageous charges but the two members would have no right to reply without the unanimous consent of the House.

In certain emergencies, however, the rules are by common consent suspended. Most people who have any regard for fair play will be of the opinion that they should have been suspended on the occasion in question.

Apparently it had been decided beforehand that they should not be suspended and Mr. Shelly should be permitted to strike as hard as he liked, but that the men he struck should have their hands securely tied.

For when Mr. Manson and Dr. Wrinch rose to refute with indignation Mr. Shelly's assertions, they were forthwith shouted down by the Conservative rank and file, the Premier and Mr. Pooley signifying their agreement with this demonstration of British fair play.

To his honor be it said, one lone Conservative member protested, T. H. Kirk. He, too, was howled at by what was, for the moment, virtually a mob actuated by the mob instinct.

There was some excuse, perhaps, for Mr. Shelly, who, as he admitted, was smarting under the scathing criticism of Mr. Manson. That the former finance minister should seek to avenge himself was not unnatural. Unfortunately, however, he made a poor choice of weapons, as was disclosed next day, when Dr. Wrinch was permitted to make his quiet and complete explanation of a transaction which, as a matter of fact, had been disclosed to the Legislature in all its details two years ago.

Discredit Manson

The object of these manoeuvres, of course, is to discredit Mr. Manson in the eyes of the country—the attack on Dr. Wrinch was an unfortunate necessity, for nobody on any side of the House wants to discredit the member for Skeena, who is as generally popular as he is highly respected.

But, granted that they are successful, what will the government have accomplished beyond making it patent to everybody that it had no effective reply to Mr. Manson's criticisms of its profligacy and mismanagement? Dr. Tolmie and his colleagues are greatly mistaken if they think that by coupling Mr. Manson with the performances of Mr. Andrew Blygh they will divert attention from the five million dollar deficit or the universal income tax.

Dr. Wrinch' land deal and Mr. Blygh's efforts are ancient history and, in any event, neither they, nor the dismissal of Sir Richard McBride, have anything to do with the creation of the financial morass in which the government finds itself. It may be added for Mr. Shelly's benefit, that they have just as little to do with the Watt case.
