King Edward School Holds 'Xmas Closing

Closing exercises at the King Edward School prior to the Christmas vacation took the form of a concert given first of all for the pupils and then repeated for parents.

In her opening remarks to the pupils Miss E. A. Mercer emphasized the real meaning of Christmas and referred to its origin. The items included an impressive tableau by Miss May Martin's class depicting the homage to the Christ Child. Miss Telkla Fulton's class sang very sweetly and performed action songs cleverly. Miss Eleanor Moxley's class gave an amusing interpretation of "The Sorry Elf". Miss Mary Sim's class danced very attractively as did Miss Mary Easthope's division. Miss B. Walker's pupils sang and acted the "Christmas Stockings" to everyone's enjoyment. The last item was "The Greatest Gift," a Christmas playlet acted very effectively by Miss Mercer's and J. S. Wilson's divisions. The dramatization in this was very capably done and, with appropriate costuming and tuneful singing, provided a pleasing climax to an enjoyable concert.

Piano solos were rendered by Betty Charstad, Christine Currie and Ronald Davies, with Vaughan Tattersall playing a violin selection. Accompanists were Miss Mercer, Miss Fulton, and Miss Moxley. A choir sang "Good King Wenceslas" and, by way of contrast, a modern popular Christmas number "Santa Claus is Comin' to Town." Their singing of "Dear Land of Home" (Jan Sibelius was very impressive.
