DAILY EDITION Wednesday, June 17, 1914

Prince Rupert will welcome today a very distinguished party. The most worshipful Grand Lodge of Ancient and Accepted Masons of British Columbia will convene here from Wednesday till Friday night of this week.

This institution is not only more ancient than the golden fleece and more honorable than the star or garter but it also contains within its ranks most of the leading men in every community where it is established.

While Prince Rupert feels honored by this visit and will do everything to make their stay a pleasant one, it is also a privilege for the visitors to see this city in the making and to understand something of the hopes and aspirations of the North.

It is quite fitting to point out a few of the things that will make Prince Rupert great. It is well known that the G. T. P. traverses the lowest grades on the continent, the maximum being six-tenths of one per cent.

than by any other route. This is partly due to a longer rail haul which is faster and partly to the curvature of the earth which is less as one approaches the poles.

The resources of Rupert are manifold. Fish, of course, is King, and one of the greatest wealth producers in the world. Conditions are so, too, that the fishing industry can be conserved.

There is another important factor to be considered. This city is 550 miles from Vancouver and therefore beyond the zone of competition.

MR. ROOSEVELT-- THE SPOILED CHILD

It was unnecessary for Mr. Roosevelt to issue a formal statement asserting that everything is wrong and that "when I return from abroad I shall actively take up the political situation."

Mr. Roosevelt is the spoiled child of American politics. He has been flattered and applauded and coddled and deified until he has come to believe that not only the Government of the United States but the Government of all the separate States is his personal plaything.

The Presidency is his favorite toy. The White House is his private property. Every drop of blood in his veins revolts at the thought of anybody else being the Chief Magistrate of the Nation.

Other Presidents after retiring from the White House have usually either given honest support to their successors or refrained from deliberately embarrassing them.

The same benevolent theory of political despotism is spread over the entire country. Governors and Senators in themselves make no appeal to Mr. Roosevelt's personal ambition.

The blame, however, does not rest so much upon Mr. Roosevelt as upon the elements of the American people who have so long inflamed his vanity and egotism.

Really great men like Washington and Lincoln are not spoiled by adulation, but in large doses it is dangerous medicine for smaller men.

egotism was always abnormal, but it has grown enormously on the food that popular folly and popular hysteria have fed to it.

It is a pity that Mr. Roosevelt has been so spoiled. He has unusual energy and unusual capacity for public service.
