REDISTRIBUTION BILL NOW READY FOR COMMONS

GALES STILL BLOWING AROUND SEATTLE—THIRD AVE. GAMBLING JOINT RAIDED LAST NIGHT

Campaign News and Views

It is a good thing to keep in mind an administration in whose hands the affairs of the city are perfectly safe.

The suggestion that all the bylaws be submitted on the 15th be voted down and further that the bylaws passed this year be rescinded would put this city in a pretty mess. It would mean that no new work whatever could go on except hydro-electric work and even hydro-electric work could not go on until new bylaws were passed and money obtained to carry out the undertaking. This would be a nice situation the very year that the railroad is coming through.

Our utilities are already overloaded and unable to take care of our present population, yet stop and think of what the condition will be next year if the proposed bylaws are voted down. No more telephone, light or water extensions in the city, no more sewers. McBride and Fulton streets where the plank roadways are already gone would have to be replanked at a loss of thousands of dollars in order to have them passable and the town would be in a state of general stagnation.

Those who are opposing the agreement with the hydro-electric company are ready to jeopardize the growth and credit of the city, not by reason of any necessity to protect any rights of the city, because he city is giving away none under the agreement, but solely to satisfy the sentimental idea that the city must generate as well as distribute its own electrical energy. Everything else according to these enthusiasts must cease. Next year instead of being able to invite people to come to the city we would, if the advice of the opponents of the agreement were taken, have to advise people that the city was not in a position to take care of their requirements. It could not give them either water, light or telephone. Those who are paying taxes in the outlying sections could get nothing; if industries want to come to Rupert with the completion of the railroad they will have to be told that no electrical power

(Special to The Daily News).

Paris, Jan. 6.—At the busiest hour last night the centre of Paris was plunged into darkness. The breaking of a cable at the electric plant was the cause. Restaurants and cafes were crowded at the time. Street traffic became dangerous and a bad tangle of the vehicles on the main streets occurred.

Ordered Out of City

Mary Matheson, a kloocheer who has given the police a lot of trouble, was up again this morning charged with drunkenness. She pleaded guilty. Officer Philipson asked that she be ordered out of the city. She has a large family in Metlakatla and will not look after them. The magistrate gave her until tomorrow to go home. If she ever comes back she is to be brought up for a jail sentence.

POLICE GOT FOURTEEN IN GAMING HOUSE

Raided Joint in Empress Block—Twelve Convictions and Outfit Confiscated

Police Constables Shiels, Carroll and Adams walked into Jimmy McAleenan's cigar store in the Empress Hotel block at 10:15 last evening. They found a game of poker in progress, with a number of players and a number of spectators.

"The joint is pinched," said some one, and it was true. Fourteen were enrolled on the police list and each was ordered to appear in police court this morning. They lined up on the benches at 10 a. m.

Harry Wagner was charged being the keeper of the house and was fined $50 and costs.

John Folch pleaded he was the caretaker of the place and was let go.

H. O. Smith was just in looking for a man to sign an agreement. He was let off.

J. Coffey just dropped in to see what was doing. He did not play.

"You should not have been in there. Your curiosity will cost you $10."

"Well, they ought to have a sign on the door so a fellow would know," replied Coffey.

Leon Rawluk had gone in to buy cigarettes and seeing no one in the store, had dropped in to the room behind to look for the clerk. The magistrate decided that he was too familiar with the place and imposed the fine.

The others who pleaded guilty were Carl Johnson, Nick Beiler, J. Margel, L. Disdler, Mike Buterlic, Jack Vurkin, John Conseil, John Suden and Frank Reed. They all were fined $10 and costs.

Messrs. Jamison & McMillan are opening a real estate and insurance office next to McCaffery & Gibbons on 3rd Ave. They are former residents of Edmonton and have great faith in the future of the northland. Mr. Jamison is very enthusiastic even about the climate of Prince Rupert. A sprinkling of rain off and on looks good to him beside the perpetual frosts. On the prairie he has suffered somewhat with rheumatism, but since coming to Rupert all this has disappeared.

STOP CITY IMPROVEMENTS TO CARRY OUT A HOBBY

MAYOR PATTULLO WARNS ELECTORS AGAINST THE ADVICE GIVEN AT OPPOSITION MEETING—WOULD JEOPARDIZE GROWTH OF THE CITY

I was not present at the meeting in the Empress Theatre Monday, but I read carefully the report of the meeting in the Journal.

The arguments which were used against the proposed agreement with the Hydro-Electric Company do, I think, furnish a very strong argument in favor of entering into the agreement.

I am very sorry to see from the report in the paper that one of the speakers advocated a course which I think would be a most serious setback to the city. The speaker was apparently in favor of rescinding the money bylaws which were passed this year, and concentrating all efforts upon installing the city hydro-electric plant. I do not think that the situation calls for so drastic action, nor do I think that merely because of a temporary worldwide financial stringency that we should be stampeded into a course which we would, in my opinion, beyond any question bitterly regret later on.

Property owners in Prince Rupert obligated themselves to the extent of millions in the original purchases from the government and the G. T. P. The railroad is now about to be completed, yet we are asked to now take a backward step instead of going forward. We are asked to do without any streets, sewers, water or light and telephone extensions for the sole purpose of carrying out a city hydro-electric generating plant.

It is not contended that the city plant will give us cheaper power and light. We are asked to go without all the things which we so badly need merely that it may be said that the city is generating its own electrical energy.

I would like to point out that unless the bylaws which are going to the people at this time are passed the people in the outlying districts cannot expect for a very long time to get any additional water, light or telephone facilities. At this moment all of our utilities are inadequate even for the present population. What will it be one year from today, and yet we are told that we must not only pass no new bylaws but should rescind those already passed.

I ask the sensible people of the City of Prince Rupert not to be stampeded by any such foolishness. This is the time to be a sane, sensible people. If the administration this year has been anything it has been a safe one. In spite of the most stringent financial year possibly within the lives of any of us the city is in a better financial condition than it has ever been before, and I ask the people of Prince Rupert to endorse the administration, which will continue to operate along the same lines; to have faith in themselves and in the future of this young city, and not to be unduly influenced by the pessimists, who would jeopardize both the credit and the growth of this city merely to carry out a hobby.

FAREWELL PERFORMANCES

Of the Josephine Deffrey Stock Co. at the Westholme Opera House.

Tonight and tomorrow night the Josephine Deffrey Company will finish their four weeks' engagement at the Westholme Opera House, appearing for the last time this season in the very popular comedy success "The Marriage of Kitty." This play was made famous by Marie Tempest and has a laugh in every line and a scream in every situation. It is a comedy of the better class, entirely devoid of horse play or rough house, but clean and wholesome throughout and at the same time exccrutiatingly funny.

Following the final performance of the Deffrey Company tomorrow night there will be a political meeting at the opera house on Friday, and on Saturday the house will reopen with moving pictures.

A splendid program will be shown, including one of the very best Keystone comedies ever shown at the Westholme, and a fine Weekly Animated Gazette. Admission, as usual, 10 and 15 cents.

A signed contract with a company which has the money is better than two promises from politicians who have neither money, influence nor resource. 3tf
