It is safe to say that no event which has yet transpired has had any deciding effect on the war. Indeed should the Germans take Paris they would only then be just beginning. This is a fight for race superiority. It is a fight to determine whether autocracy or democracy shall rule and in that struggle Britons will win or die. There will be no temporary or make-shift peace. It must and will be fought to a finish. The entire resources and strength of the British Empire will be thrown into the fight. Britain has always been noted for a slow and unsuccessful beginning. Her people have not lived for a military career but once they do get in they are hard to stop.

a victory for the Germans would only mean a prolonged conflict. Should this happen it will mean that Britain will have to put a million men in the field. The chief difficulty in the way of that will be the supply of arms and accoutrements. In that respect Canada can help considerably. They can induce some of the big American arms companies to open branches in Canada for manufacture guns and other requisites and duty could be taken off the products required. This is one of the best ways for Canada to help at present and it is to be hoped they will take it up. Besides supplying the needs of the army it would considerably help trade in this country.

The next few weeks will likely determine the length of the war. A telling victory for the Allies might compel the Germans to sue for terms, while

The recent drowning in the harbor shows the value of everyone taking the course now being given through the St. John Ambulance Association.

The man was only in the water for a very few minutes when first seen and had the needed care been taken his life might have been saved. There seems to be a foolish notion among a lot of people that a man found dead should not be interfered with until an officer appeared. In this case the order was given by a body of soldiers and those in attendance naturally did not want to interfere with that order. When a life is at stake nothing should be left undone to render immediate assistance.

The opening of the G. T. P. service through to the coast will give a feeling of relief to every man in the city. With a trade route open to the East there is every chance for this city to prosper. Under other circumstances a big celebration would be in order but as it is the best way is to go quietly about our business and make the best use possible of this great outlet. The difference in trade should be felt at once if every business man will show a little progressive spirit. Trade doesn't come begging to one's back door. You must go after it and if Prince Rupert's business men will do this there will be good times for all in sight.

STEEL GALENA AT THE SUNRISE MINE IS GOOD
Large Quantity of Very Fine Ore On the Dump and in Sacks Taking Out Rich Ore Right Now

(Omineca Herald)
The Sunrise is doing pretty fair work since the fine weather set in. They have a lot of very fine ore on the dump and in sacks. That which has been taken out lately is a steel galena and a beautiful sample at that. Good judges say it is the finest ever seen in this section. So soon as what is now out is sacked the mine will have to close, unless shipping instructions come forward. In case the ore is held it will have to be housed for the winter. If the prices change for the better and the smelters say so, then the ore will go forward at once.

The snow is off the ground in the interval since last report, exposing a ledge from six to ten ft. wide, carrying a good grade of silver-lead. This ledge will receive attention presently.

BRITAIN'S POOR FOOD LAWS
British Authority Says People Are Defrauded of 300 Million Yearly Through Adulterated Food

London, Sept. 1.—The United States' pure food laws are held up as a model by Mr. A. Moore, secretary of the British Pure Food and Health Society, who upbraids the Briton for his apathy along this line. The British public, he says, is defrauded of over $300,000,000.00 annually through adulterated foods, yet refuses to take the slightest interest in protective laws.

"In this country," asserts Mr. Moore, "the people seem to prefer to go on having plaster of paris in their flour, foreign fats and unwholesome preservatives in their butter, imitation cream, cheese with the rind made of barytes and talkw, re-dried tea leaves instead of tea, chicory instead of coffee, starch and powdered bean shell instead of cocoa, French chalk masquerading as rice, water and salicylic acid as wine, and so on ad nauseam."

Besides adulteration, Mr. Moore charges that the people also tolerate filthy ways of handling foods, such as carting meat uncovered through the streets.

Seven boys between the ages of 11 and 14 years were in the Montreal juvenile Court last week for crimes that would have sent adult offenders to long terms in jail. A boy of 15 is supposed to have forced the others to steal at the point of a revolver.
