MORE OF THE EMPIRE THAN HE WAS BEFORE

How His Stay in England Has Affected the Canadian Soldier.

Montreal, Nov. 12.—In a letter dated October 20, a correspondent at Salisbury Camp of the Canadian expeditionary force, writing to the Montreal Star comments on the development of the Imperial idea among Canadian born members of the contingent. He says: "More especially this applies to the Canadian born, the men who know of England through books. I have asked scores, at Valcartier and on the ship, why they enlisted.

"Why! I kicked in to see the fun," was the usual answer. You could not draw from any one of them that he had come to fight for the Empire. They don't say those things now. There is the typical reserve on anything that approaches the sentimental.

"People wondered why the contingent did not go straight to France to train. They talked of the trouble and delay of disembarkation, and of then, a short time later, sending the troops on. But the stop in England is already justified. The Imperial idea has been crystallized. The Canadian born is more of the Empire than he was. He brings a wider and better understanding of the Englishman into his daily relationship. He is beginning to understand that impulse that sent him to the recruiting office.

"It is the essential antiquity of the landscape the new beauty of the fields, the historic and imperial significance of all that he has seen that has taught the Canadian.

"These things are more than the strains of 'Tipperary.' They go deeper than the roll of the drums. A corporal of the Fifth Royal Scots stood looking at the magnificent facade of the cathedral here today. He clenched his fists and said: 'Man! And the brutes destroyed one like that in Rheims.'

"SPARTACUS" AND THE BELGIAN WAR GAZETTE

At The Westholme a Great Success—Repeated Tonight.

A fine house greeted the first performance of "Spartacus" and the war pictures at The Westholme last evening. Certainly nothing finer has ever been seen in this part of the world than "Spartacus." To many it seemed better, if anything, than "The Last Days of Pompeii," or at any rate quite as good.

An important feature of the program was the excellent music rendered by the Westholme orchestra, including "William Tell Overture," Verdi's "Un Ballo in Maschera," and many other equally beautiful numbers. This program will be repeated tonight, and will start the same as last night, at 8:15. Doors open at 7:30.

PRECAUTIONS TAKEN TO FRUSTRATE THEM

Reported That Germans May Try to Lay Mines in the Bay of Fundy.

Ottawa, Nov. 12.—Disquieting stories have been heard of intended German raids on Canadian ports and the latest of them is one which is being taken more or less seriously. This is that Germans may attempt to lay mines in the Bay of Fundy, in anticipation of the use of St. John as a winter port, from which many shipments of grain, and other gifts to the Old Country of Canadian produce will be stored. It was learned at the Naval Service Department that precautions would be taken against any such attempt.

GREECE DETERMINED TO REMAIN NEUTRAL

London, Nov. 12.—A dispatch from Sofia to The Times says: "Bulgaria has received formal assurances that Greece is determined to maintain neutrality and has refrained from ordering a mobilization. The Servian minister here announces that Servia will offer Bulgaria her moral support should Turkey attack Bulgaria. No friendly advance has been received from Roumania."

INDIAN WEDDING ATTRACTS ATTENTION

A very interesting wedding was celebrated at Port Simpson a few days ago, when two of the best known members of the tribe were united in marriage. The contracting parties were Mr. William Benyon and Miss Sarah Musgrave, daughter of Mr. William Musgrave, one of the leading men of the tribe. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. H. Raley, who was in town for a few days.

The attendance at the wedding was large, there being about two hundred and fifty Indians and thirty whites present. Among the latter were Mr. A. Tyson, inspector of Indian agencies, and Mr. C. C. Perry, the agent.

During the evening Mrs. A. S. Dudoward, the wife of the chief, made a speech in which she expressed her disapproval of the way in which Indian women were referred to too often in the cities. She laid the blame upon the Indian women themselves for not commanding the same respect as white women in their conduct and their style of dress.

Chief George Legis backed up the statements of Mrs. Dudoward in this respect.

PRINCE RUPERT'S CONTINGENT HAD MEMORABLE TRIP

(Continued From Page One.) rounded up the amateur talent—and there is considerable in the contingent—and in the evening the boys gave a splendid concert of vocal and musical selections and recitations. Mr. Clement acted as chairman and for nearly an hour and a half the affair was carried through with a snap and vim worthy of an older organization.

Thanks to the efforts of the colonel, first-class berthing was had for over one hundred of the company and only six had to forego the luxury of sleeping between sheets. The boys drew lots for berths and the unlucky ones who bunked in 'tween decks were fully commensurated for their disappointment. The meals served below were excellent and every man aboard has been particularly cheerful in seeing the wants, if any, of the boys were looked after.

On arrival in Vancouver the company was paraded at the wharf and then marched along Hastings Street and up Granville Street to the Vancouver Hotel, where they were dismissed. The marching of the boys from the north, headed by a monster brown bear, attracted instant attention, and great crowds—being Saturday night—watched with interest the appearance of the new citizen soldiery.

Along the route traveled, every now and again a Vancouverite would shout a word of greeting to some friend in the ranks whom he recognized. The lusty strains of "It's a Long, Long Way to Tipperary" came as a vivid reminder to the Terminal City that elsewhere throughout the province men of all classes were ready to answer the call of the Empire and the spontaneous greeting given the marchers was an eloquent appreciation of the northern contingent. After being dismissed the members put in a jolly evening at the theatres or visiting friends and tonight the last leg of the voyage to Victoria is being completed.

Tomorrow we go into camp at The Willows and under strict military discipline and hard drill the veneer of ordinary work-a-day life will rapidly disappear and soon we all hope to be fit for the more strenuous career for which our new calling needs us.

AEROPLANE COLLAPSED OVER CANADIAN CAMP

London, Nov. 12.—A naval aeroplane collapsed over the Canadian camp on Salisbury Plain and the pilot, Flight Lieutenant David Murray, fell with the wrecked machine several hundred feet, landing within a few feet of an Ontario infantry regiment which was maneuvering. Canadian army medical corps men took him to the field hospital, where he died almost immediately. There was some alarm throughout the Canadian camp, as it was rumored that twenty Canadians had been killed by the debris of the falling aeroplane.

Have you tried the London Cafe. It's a clean, swell place. The meals served are the best in town and prices are low. 233tf
