LIBERAL RALLY WAS HUGE SUCCESS—LARGEST MEETING IN HISTORY OF PARTY

Hall Was Packed and Crowds Turned Away Who Could Not Obtain Entrance—Enthusiastic Speeches And Entertaining Program

The people who thought there were no Liberals in Prince Rupert were sadly mistaken last night. The annual meeting of the Prince Rupert Liberal Association demonstrated that. Those in charge of the meeting, thinking only of the size of former meetings, decided to hold it in the K. P. Hall, where only a few hundred could be accommodated. Had they known the throng of people that were coming they would have chosen the Westholme Theatre instead. The place was packed to the doors, and chairs had to be secured from all the near buildings to pack the hall and there were crowds outside that could not get in.

The meeting was a great big protest at the profligacy and

AUSTRALIA CALLS FOR EVERY AVAILABLE MAN

(Special to The Daily News.)

Melbourne, Australia, Jan. 22.—William Morris Hughes, the acting Premier of Australia, has issued an appeal for more recruits, saying: "Every man available is needed for the front as soon as possible. The German power is by no means shattered and remains resolute with its strength unimpaired."

ALIEN ENEMIES INTERNED.

New Westminster, Jan. 22.—Predicting that in a little while the German flag would wave over the court house here and declaring that he was about to start an insurrection among the Germans, a German, bearing the Irish name of Steve Burke, has been taken in charge of by the police and sent to Nanaimo.

Baron Carl Von Mackensen, Dr. Ernest Edward Redlich and Hans Marcenich, the three Germans who have been detained in the provincial jail, have been sent to Nanaimo under armed escort, where their case will be investigated by the military authorities. The three are suspected of having aided German reservists to cross into the United States from the baron's ranch at Port Kells, B. C.

corruption of the McBride government. There can be no mistake about that. That the weakness of the Federal government was also behind the sentiment was likewise clearly seen. A large list of clear-headed and able speakers addressed the meeting, and their telling points against the governments were echoed and re-echoed throughout the hall. The beginning of the end has come and last night's meeting will become historic.

Mr. T. D. Pattullo, the capable president of the Liberal Association, opened the meeting with a rousing address. Mr. Pattullo has a record of good speeches behind him but last night he excelled himself.

He began by an attack on the profligacy of the McBride government in throwing away the land of the province to speculators. He reviewed the scandal of the Mackenzie & Mann deal with the C. N. R. Great as was the fraud perpetrated in this respect, the recent action of the Attorney General with reference to the Dominion Trust Company was even greater. The chickens, however, are coming home to roost, and Bowser knows they are coming. He is already protesting at the way the Liberals are exposing him, and in order to hide his villainy he is trying to cover it with a false patriotism. He is telling the people that the reason why New Zealand secured money at 4 per cent while we have to pay higher rates is because that colony gave a dreadnought to the Empire while Canada didn't. He has the audacity to say that Britain would discriminate against a colony that is today sending of her best sons to bleed and die for her cause. Australia has built up her own navy instead of contributing to the Imperial navy and yet Australia has not been discriminated against. "I say shame on the man who will stoop to such low arguments," said the speaker. "We must give no quarter to an enemy of this kind. There never was a time when Liberals had a greater task to perform than the present in British Columbia. We must stand shoulder to shoulder until the wrongs of our country are righted and victory is won."

Mr. George Nickerson was the next speaker. He dwelt chiefly on the fish question. He believed that H. S. Clements was doing all in his power to secure the fishery concessions demanded by Prince Rupert but the trouble was that the government he represented had wrong ideas about the freedom of trade.

At the close of this speech Mr. Dan Morrison, who represented himself as a fisherman who has toiled for many years on this coast, asked the chairman for a chance to speak. He stepped to the platform and if anybody thinks that a fisherman cannot make a good speech he is entirely mistaken. Mr. Morrison expressed himself clearly and forcibly and showed the difficulties they were up against. The business was hemmed about in such a way that a man had no chance to do anything. After twenty years at it the task almost looked hopeless to him unless something was done to improve them.

Captain Fred Stork was then called upon to take the platform. Fred can always make a good speech but he is at his best in a full house and the cheers which he received last night shows that he has lost none of his old popularity.

He began by saying that the Liberals were not confining themselves to criticism of the govern-

WORSE THAN GERMANS.

The friends of an officer in a well known British infantry regiment are laughing heartily at his experiences on the way to the front. After detrainning at the railway base his battalion, of which he was in command of the leading company, marched through several small French villages. At one larger place they were effusively greeted by the mayor and his charming two daughters, impulsive young ladies who threw their arms round the British captain's neck and kissed him on both cheeks. His Tommies took it all in with great glee. And all the rest of the journey, whenever any sort of petticoats hove in sight, that officer knew that all his men were looking at him quizzingly, while they emphasized the joke by whistling, "Kiss Me, Charlie," and "Who Were You With Last Night?" The embarrassed officer wrote home: "I am damn glad to get into the firing line—but my Tommies behaved splendidly all the same."

It is possible for a man to turn down his glass at a banquet and have a jug at home.

STEAM ROLLER KEEPS GOING—GERMAN FRONTIER IN DANGER

RUSSIANS HAVE MADE GOOD SUCCESSES IN LAST FEW DAYS—NEW FORCES THROWN INTO FIELD HAVING ENCOURAGING EFFECT.

(Special to The Daily News.)

London, Jan. 22.—News dispatches referring to the situation in Poland set forth that north of the Vistula in the vicinity of Lipno the Russian advance guard is within twenty miles of the German frontier, while in the north-east the Germans have evacuated Skempt, twenty-five miles from the Prussian border and due southeast of Thorn.

If the Russians follow up their success at Skempt and continue the forward movement it will give them an unbroken front, the British observer says, and dangerously near German territory.

GERMAN SUBMARINE SINKS A SCOTTISH PASSENGER STEAMER

(Special to The Daily News.)

Rotterdam, Jan. 22.—The British steamer Durward was torpedoed by a German submarine twenty-two miles off the Maas lightship. The crew was saved.

The Durward was owned by George Gibson & Co., of Leith, Scotland, being one of their regular passenger and light cargo boats sailing between Leith and Rotterdam. The Germans have evidently begun their threatened warfare on the British mercantile marine.

Copenhagen, Jan. 22.—A Berlin report states that the airships which raided England on Tuesday night were Zeppelins of the latest type.

TURKS HAVE PROBLEM.

The Turks do not quite appreciate the serious nature of the job that awaits them if ever they reach the banks of the Suez Canal. It is stated that the invasion of Egypt is now timed for the early part of February, and that the Eighth Turkish Army Corps, well fitted and well supplied, has left Damascus for the Sinai Peninsula, where Turkish engineers are building a railway to aid in the invasion. Besides the railway, 8,000 camels will carry supplies. There is something ludicrous in the Turks setting out to conquer Egypt with 40,000 men. There will soon be that many Australians alone along the canal.
