STRIVING IN HUNGARY FOR PUBLIC SUPPORT

The Morning Post Correspondent Points Out Existence of Two Political Movements.
 London, Jan. 23.—The Morning Post prints a long article from its Hungarian correspondent in Budapest, who points out that there are two distinct and almost parallel movements in Hungary which are striving for public support.
 The first movement, according to the correspondent, is led by Count Tisza, the Hungarian Premier, who is desirous of counterbalancing the aims of the extreme independence party and building up a strong party to take advantage of the present situation to secure predominance in the dual monarchy, and the correspondent believes Austria will have to side with him, as should Count Tisza join the extreme independents the situation for Austria would be grave.
 The second situation, the correspondent continues, aims at realizing the views of Louis Kosuth for a completely independent Hungary, which is also supported by many influential men.
 "But," the correspondent concludes, "it should not be forgotten that such well known politicians as Count Andrássy Koluman, Szell and Count Apponyi are convinced of the righteousness of the Germanic cause and desire to see Hungary fighting it out to a victorious end."

HIS ARM BLOWN OFF IN MINE ACCIDENT

Alex. Lilja, a Blaster, Sues the Granby Consolidated Co. for $25,000 Damages.
 Vancouver, Jan. 23.—Alex Lilja, a Finn miner who was terribly injured in a blasting accident in the Hidden Creek mine at Granby Bay on April 19, last, is suing the Granby Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company for $25,000 damages. Lilja had one arm blown off by the explosion, and the other is said to be paralyzed and useless. He was loading the hole with dynamite at the time of the explosion, which occurred in a tunnel of the mine in the small hours of the morning. His helper, who was also injured, but in a lesser degree, recently obtained $3,500 damages from a jury.
 Lilja claims that the accident was caused by using dynamite that had lain so long in a warm storehouse that the nitro-glycerine had collected at one end, making it very susceptible to the friction of the rock when placed in position.
 The company denies that the dynamite was old or of inferior quality, and says that the accident was due to the negligence of Lilja's helper, who had neglected to have the drill hole properly blown free from grit before loading it. The men were were at work loading the last of eighteen holes when the accident occurred.
 Messrs. J. W. deB. Farris and John Emerson are appearing for the plaintiff, and Messrs. L. G. McPhillips, K. C., and H. S. Wood for the defendant. Mr. Justice Gregory and a special jury are trying the case

EYEWITNESS WITH CANADIAN FORCES

Some Severe Criticism of the Appointment of Sir Max Aitken.
 London, Jan. 23.—The London correspondent of the Yorkshire Post says that two opinions have been expressed in responsible quarters respecting the appointment of Sir Max Aitken as official eyewitness for the Canadian forces. Canadians take the appointment as a compliment to the contingent, and anticipate that special reports of progress at the front will be of much utility in Canada, while critics of the appointment object that Sir Max is not a qualified journalist, that he is one of the wealthy Canadians well within the military age, who after being specially successful in Canada have transferred themselves to London, and have conquered in politics and society. It is also objected, says this writer, that too many eyewitnesses may introduce confusion into the extended descriptive reports.
 The London Daily Citizen, the Labor party paper, is severe on Sir Max's appointments.
 "Apart from his triumph as a man of business," says The Citizen, "he has no great distinction except that he is a member of five clubs. He is only 35, and being wealthy, is naturally very much of a Conservative. We may expect from his articles not much better than those terribly feeble first messages from Professor Pares from Petrograd. It is astonishing that anyone should expect a man bordering on middle age to do well in a new profession without experience, but Sir Max will be discreet, and that perhaps is the first and only qualification for an official eyewitness."
J. B. HINCHCLIFFE, READ THIS.
 Chief Smith, of the Provincial police, would be glad to receive news as to the present whereabouts of James Baxter Hinchcliffe, late of Prince Rupert, but who was last heard of at Endako, B. C., which place he left last October, presumably for Harrison Hot Springs, he having been in ill health for some time.—Vancouver World.

HANG ON TO PONIES TAILS.
Caucasian Troops Scale Apparently Impassable Summit and Surprise Enemy.
 London, Jan. 23.—How the Russians obtained command of a most important position in the Carpathian passes by a daring exploit is told by the Petrograd correspondent of The Times. Native Caucasian troops, holding to the tails of their hardy mountain ponies, are said to have scaled by night an apparently impassable summit, thus gaining the rear of a Honved battalion, which was surprised, and surrendered. Grand Duke Michael was in the thick of the fighting.

A POINTED QUESTION.—Roosevelt: "Surely, you don't regard this as only another 'Scrap of Paper'?"—Cartoon by James Frise.

In the Letter Box

Editor, The Daily News:
 Sir,—While the Treaty of Ghent was signed on Christmas Eve, 1814, owing to the slow means of travel, the document did not reach Washington until February, 14, 1815, and was only ratified by the government of the United States on February 17, 1815.
 This is why the committees in America have selected Sunday, February 14, 1915, as the day for holding thanksgiving services. It is the nearest Sunday to the centenary of the ratification of the treaty.
 The present terrible war in which the British Empire is involved only increases the significance of the fact that we have a boundary of 3,810 miles stretching from ocean to ocean garrisoned only by the sentiment and good-will of two sovereign peoples.
 Yours faithfully,
 F. H. DU VERNET,
 Bishop of Caledonia.
