

GOING MAD FROM THE TERRIFIC PAIN

inent Merchant Thinks His Life Saved By "Fruit-a-tives"

OTTAWA, ONT., June 15th, 1913. In a general storekeeper at the address, and on account of the good I have experienced from "Fruit-a-tives", I recommend to my customers. They were a boon to me, I can tell you, for two years ago, I was laid up, for a long time, with a terrific pain in the base of my skull. The pain drove me mad. Doctors feared it would turn to inflammation of the brain, but I took "Fruit-a-tives" until I was cured. I have fifteen pounds since taking "Fruit-a-tives", and I verily believe I have saved me from a disastrous illness.

OPPORTUNITY FOR COAST FISHERIES

Halibut Selling for Fourteen Cents a Pound at Grimsby, in England.

Ottawa, Jan. 26.—The recent rapid increase in the value of fish in the markets of the Old Country will afford a splendid opportunity for the fishing industry of the Pacific Coast to work up a large and profitable trade.

Halibut is selling at Grimsby, England, for 14 cents a pound, and the price is likely to be maintained throughout the duration of the war. Fish can be carried from Vancouver or Prince Rupert to the old country markets at a cost of two cents a pound. At present prices, it is believed here, the Coast fishing industry should be able to reap a rich harvest in the British markets.

BELIEVES WAR WILL LAST TWO YEARS MORE

London Visitor Explains Why Germany's Resistance Will Be Long.

That the war will last two years longer at the very least, is the opinion of a London visitor in the city.

J. M. Mantie, a retired merchant, and a keen student of all the phases of the war, having himself two sons at the front, deduces the following as his reasons for his statement:

"Germany has been preparing for this war for years. Before the Agadir incident in 1911, when her ships were cleared for action on the sea for an attack on France she has been ready. In 1913 she increased her gold stock to the tune of a hundred million dollars, importing from various countries a total of 60 millions, and added to this 40 millions taken by the Reichsbank from circulation by the issue of additional notes. This, too, is altogether exclusive of what has been transferred to the war chest.

"This campaign to get gold into the country has been studiously followed during the past two or three years, their idea being first to prevent gold flowing out of the country, and, secondly, to induce it to flow in. This gold reserve has been carefully preserved, and the Kaiser's war chest at the present time must assume formidable proportions. Another way of centralizing the stock of gold that has been adopted is in paying all government and state employees in paper money instead of gold as formerly.

"The same pains and care have been adopted to conserve their food supplies. Grain of all kinds, and tea, coffee and cocoa and other necessities have been stored gradually but surely, with the perfect knowledge in mind that 'the day' would not be long in coming. Neutral visitors from Germany are nearly all agreed that the people have not yet begun to feel any pinch, and that the food looks like going round for an indefinite period to come.

"This naturally will have the effect of prolonging the war. In my own opinion, Germany, as a military power cannot be defeated in the time I have stated. She has armament and equipment superior to the Allies in many respects, and she seems to have an inexhaustible reservoir of men.

"It is going to be a long and hard struggle. The fighting of the last few months has shown clearly that any gains which have been made by us have been of a very slight nature. The enemy are literally dug into their 'funk holes,' as they call them at the front, and offensive movements against such positions are extremely costly.

"While Great Britain has got a strange hold on the enemy on the sea, and the blockade is now complete, yet in spite of all precautions I believe that foodstuffs are flowing into Germany from countries like Switzerland, Sweden

LAW IN ALASKA IS DEAD LETTER

Deputy Commissioner of Fisheries in Report to President Wilson Shows Bad State of Affairs in Territory.

Washington, Jan. 25.—A scathing arraignment of the conduct of the white man in Alaska toward the native is coupled with charges of wholesale and continual violations of liquor traffic regulations and laws to protect fish and furbearing animals of Alaska and the Pribiloff and Aleutian Islands, in a report submitted to President Wilson and Dr. E. Lester Jones, Deputy Commissioner of Fisheries.

Dr. Jones recently returned from Alaska, where he spent six months making a survey of the fishing and fur seal industries, and studying the administration of the various islands. He concluded that proper regulations would be facilitated by vesting in the Department of Commerce full authority over the industries. Immediate steps for the protection of the natives and rehabilitation of their morals are urged in his report.

"The white man's lack of care and regard for the sanctity of the native's home is the crime of Alaska," the report says. "In many sections the wife and daughter are dishonored, and any resistance from the husband, father or brother is overcome by threats and bribes and liquor, until even the men have all their best senses and impulses deadened and seem to be unmanned.

"Wherever the white man has settled the saloon prevails, and that has had more to do with the ruination of the Indian and the Aleut than all other causes. In sections where the saloon is not found liquor reaches the natives in the form of pay and bribes.

"I am advised on reliable authority that up to this year there had not been a single conviction by a jury in Alaska. I am glad to say that there has been a change of sentiment and feeling against those who do not regard the laws as serious, and recently the juries in two courts have brought in verdicts against those who had disobeyed the law."

In one instance, the report says, a commissioner, a deputy marshal and deputy clerk of court, "were actually interested in a cannery, and did everything in their power to see that their private interests were not molested, and that their company was not violating the law."

The report adds that it is absolutely necessary to have more boats and funds to enforce the laws, and Denmark with a great deal of facility.

"Normally I do not think the end is nearly in sight, and while I have no doubt of the ultimate conclusion of the war, I do not agree with those who believe it is only a matter of a few months when we shall have the Germans just where we want them."—Victoria Times.

laws. Without more vessels, it declares, it is almost useless to make laws to protect this great fishing industry, worth nearly $20,000,000 a year. A wholesale killing of fur-bearing animals by those who spend their time trapping and hunting, killing everything and anything at any time of the year, the commissioner declares, has been conducted in the section, until now it is necessary to go back into the unexplored regions in order to keep up the supply of furs.

The commissioner advises the adoption of closed seasons for salmon, and urgently endorses government inspection of the product of every cannery in Alaska.

FISHERMAN SHOT ON THE PESCAWHA

Elmer Lewis Is at Ketchikan Hospital and Not Expected to Live.

Vancouver, Jan. 26.—Mr. A. L. Hager, manager of the New England Fish Company, has received word that the schooner Pescawaha put in at Ketchikan last week and landed Elmer Lewis, a fisherman, suffering from a severe gunshot wound which has brought about paralysis and which will probably prove fatal. His nearest relative is F. E. Lewis, of the North Vancouver ferry service. Dr. Storey, in charge of the Marine Hospital at Ketchikan has wired him that the injured man will not live.

The accident happened when one of the fishermen was cleaning a gun, and the Pescawaha made all speed possible for Ketchikan, running with all sail hoisted as well as the gasoline engines working.

The schooner has had a very unlucky fishing venture. She was out from Ketchikan thirty-five days and during that time took no fish owing to bad weather.

To every person who needs a rest cure there are many who need a rust cure.
